100th Anniversary Celebration of
Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith

Oh my, what a book! Did you ever think for a minute two years ago when we started planning this project that we would produce a monster book with almost 600 pages over a thousand pictures, over 140 families, several stories, much research, many typed words and dates, copies everywhere, pictures everywhere, ideas floating around, and to come to a finish with not even a divorce. If any of you have inherited Bobby Jack's patience and understanding, you are indeed blessed. Anyway, you are in for a surprise with a grand celebration of Grandpa Charles Martin Galbraith and Grandmother Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith 100th Anniversary.

From a start in Tennessee to a continuation in Arkansas and on from there, we are a family well blessed. As you look at family members and read about them, we see a strain of togetherness among us all... You see some family facial resemblances, but a physical one is a very dominate trait. Charles and Rachel probably never visualized this crew of about 300 to come from a union 100 years ago. This book has taken on a new life from the simple one that was compiled in 1993. It is dedicated to a family that has remained close to each other, to your love for each other through good and bad times, to the two remaining sisters, Madeline Galbraith Spears Cox and Jo Galbraith Gilbreath who both have that same spirit of family that we so readily see in each other and to my husband and family. It is very interesting to see the group we have become. Madeline and Jo, you are, like your brothers and sisters, the glue that holds this spirit together with love and kindness. Generations now and ones to follow will need to look to you as examples and follow in your footsteps, just as you did Charles and Rachel's. You learned early in life that when you follow God and live in the shadow of His love, He works out good things in our lives.

This book is written for each of you and especially for my family, Bobby Jack, always so supportive, Marty, Jeannie, Mark, for all your support and for Marsha, Monica, Sara, Stephanie, Sonny, and Baby Williams, to help you better understand who your are and to give you examples of love and kindness to mold your life around. Your Nanny Cox and Aunt Jo are indeed a blessing to us all.

As you read and look, if you need to correct, please let me know. This book is yours, for your enjoyment. If you want to copy and pass on to others, feel free. I have a firm conviction that genealogy information is to be shared, so all can benefit. Use this as a beginning and be sure to share with us your research.

A special thanks to those who helped and especially to Jeannie for the pictures and Pauline for all her help, Christy for our copies and to Aunt Jo, the one I call when things do not seem to fit just right and I need moral support. When you use our index to look up members, thank Pauline for her patience and endurance.

Enjoy your book!

hundred years from now it will not matter the sort of house I lived in, what my bank account was, or the kind of car I drove, but the world may be different because I was important in the life of a child.

We, VIRGINIA MADELINE GALBRAITH SPEARS COX and would like to add this PROCLAMATION to the book honoring the 100th Anniversary of Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith compiled by my daughter-in-law Shirley Jeanne (Martin) Spears. For the many hours she has spent gathering the information, the long distant telephone calls, the trips to other surrounding areas and the many, many hours at the computer we say thank you. Since there are only the two of us (Madeline and Jo) left we know what she has done and can tell her personally, but to those of you afar (who incidentally have so generously helped in gathering material) and to those of you yet to come, when you read this book, please have a warm place in your heart for Shirley and an appreciation for her hard work. Her contribution to our family history shows a wonderful loving person that we are proud to have in our family.

We would also like to salute Jeannie Spears Williams for the hours she has spent reproducing pictures for our family. Her contribution has added so much to our history collection.

Margaret Temple Galbraith Seratte Mapes' daughter, Pauline Seratte Abraham knows and has shared so much with Bobby Jack and Shirley and we both want to thank her for the many hours on the telephone and at the computer writing to make this book a success.

For this great work we the undersigned would like "you" to know how much this has meant to us.

Love,

MOVIN' ON

by: Shirley Martin Spears

As I look out on the fields on this February pre-spring morning and work on our Galbraith History Book many thoughts run through my mind and take me back to years gone by. We have to wonder as we read and research our ancestors what their living conditions were in Pennsylvania, Tennessee, and here Arkansas. How things have changed in our lifetime and even more since theirs.

Pennsylvania, it seems as this may have been a beginning place, but even then we know they had to come into port, where? Did they settle other places before Pennsylvania? One historian from Pennsylvania told me that they could not have been there as early as 1713, but there are some records or statements that have been printed on that date. They thought that these Scotch-Irish settlers came through New York, Delaware and then into Pennsylvania to their permanent settlement. What did they envision when they cleared a little bit of virgin land and fought the Indians for possession of their piece of America. What did they see in their minds when they looked over the banks of the Delaware River and saw what would become Easton, Pennsylvania. These first settlers helped form that town, churches and government and we can see from this that they must have been far sighted people. When the Martin and Miller side of that family settled about the same time and built a mill on Martin's Creek that at one time served as a fort in an Indian War, they indeed were survivors. That seems so far in the past, but as they had an opportunity to move on, they seized that opportunity and started again. One historian thought part of the reason they moved out of Pennsylvania was the influx of German immigrants into their area, but perhaps the general overcrowding and land grants played a bigger part.

When Mark and Christy Spears traveled to Maine in 1993 and then back through this part of our country, Mark saw the similarity of the land in Pennsylvania and here in Northwest Arkansas. Was the land they came from in Ireland and Scotland similar also? As land was granted and they moved into what is now West Virgina in Berkley County at Fallings Creek, they again made their impact on the communities where they lived. This seems to be a forgotten part of their migration, but they lived there when attached to the Kings Mountain Regiment where they fought for our independence and our freedom from England. They were granted land for their battles in this war in the new country of Tennessee. The eastern part at one time was a part of North Carolina, then a new and short lived state of Franklin, and later made into what is now Tennessee. They settled in Greene county to begin with and in 1793 they were land owners in Knox County, on the Turkey Creek (Tennessee River). Knox County was made from part of Greene County. Some 2,000 acres encompassed their acquired land. The Galbraith family grew and multiplied, but again they were the beginning of new communities, new states and new government.

Many things change over time and we can not imagine what inspires people to pull up stakes in a large farm to move on to other states, this time Arkansas. When Charles Martin Galbraith was married to his first wife, Mary they had come into this area of Arkansas for a few years. Already, Uncle Hat Gilbreath's family had settled here in the middle 1800's. Charles and Mary did not stay too long, but long enough that a son was born to this couple and buried in Old Union Cemetery in Cincinnati, Arkansas. They had buried twin daughters in Tennessee, and now another death. We often forget the conveniences of modern time compared to the more primitive earlier times. Hospitals were rare and infant deaths were a tragic part of their life. For whatever reason, they traveled back to Knox County, Tennessee and lived there again. Another child and of four, Jennie was the only one to survive. Charles lost his wife, and after a few years he married Rachel Winfrey. Rachel's families had moved into Tennessee from North Carolina and Virginia. This was the beginning of our family, but also the start of another move. Charles and Rachel lived there in Concord, Tennessee where five of the children were born, Sanna, Winnie, Jack, Floyd, and Bill. About this time, the need to move on must have been strong again. They left the property in Tennessee to Charles's daughter Jennie and moved to Arkansas one last time.

A few miles north of Summers, Arkansas became their home about 1910. A small farm was purchased and typical living at that time with a team or two of horses or mules, a large garden, a small orchard, a few cows, a small flock of chickens and some winter grain, was a normal way of life. Often we wonder if times should become different than now, could we make a living on a few acres and lots of determination. I'm sure some could, and many could not. More children were born to this family, Margaret, Walter, Madeline and Jo. We know most of the stories from there.

I have to wonder back from the first of this writing about the roads they walked, the fields they plowed and the creeks they forded. What make a man tough enough, and a woman too for that matter, to forge ahead to open up new territories and eke out a living on land you had to make into a productive farm. We live in this area and so we know first hand, the paths that lead from one place to another in days when you walked or rode horseback from place to place. We still see the springs that furnished their water and the creeks that watered the livestock. The Spears, Gilbreath, and Galbraith families have all entrenched themselves in the land here in this area. I see a sameness and yet a difference in the friendliness of neighbors in rural communities. You become a part of a working network that needs and depends on each other. Your churches and community events center around those people that have been willing to put out that extra effort to not only accommodate themselves but others too. We see the results of the hard work and farsightedness of those that paved the way before we were born.

Do we see this again, the need to see and do and settle new places? Maybe so, maybe to towns instead of country settings, maybe to industry instead of rural ways of life to feel the pull of you inter-self to find the place were you belong. We, each in our own way, need to find this place and feel the place we are living is the place God planed for us to find. Our ancestors traveled many places, Scotland, Ireland, American, into Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Franklin, Tennessee, Arkansas, and now we again have scattered many different directions. They used these moves wisely to establish new beginnings. They were a part of the communities and fought to gain the liberties we have today. They established town, schools, churches, and became states everywhere they lived with the exception of Arkansas, it was a state before they came. Their Christian lives were important as we see in research over and over the establishment of churches and towns where they lived. They were tough individuals with a vision. As we look over their lives, we need to be sure that in our own, we have the same drive and determination to become productive citizens where we make our homes.

As you can see in the time table that follows, many years of steady progression, has served us well. May we continue in their footsteps with determination and undaunted spirit.

CHARLES MARTIN AND RACHEL ANN WINFREY GALBRAITH AND CHILDREN

By: Madeline Galbraith Spears Cox

My daddy, Charles Martin Galbraith, was 60 years old when I was born. As early as I can remember I always thought he thought more of me than the older children. Looking back now, I realize he only had more time for me and Jo because he had several heart attacks and was around the house more. He was never cross with me but he had his rules that we all tried to live by, such as, scripture reading and prayer each morning at the breakfast table (we all had to get up and eat breakfast together). Then it seemed terrible, but now it was great.

Mama, Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith, was a happy person. Even when she was punishing us she was smiling or laughing (I think I know why now) since I had to spank one of my great grand children one time and I cried. So, I guess Mama laughed to keep from crying because she said it hurt her more than it did us.

I don't remember Sanna at home. She was married before I can remember. Before she and Walter went to South Carolina we always looked for them to come spend the night every Saturday night. Many years later when they came back to Arkansas to live, we lived next door to them. She was such a consolation for me. She was like the mother I didn't have while I was growing up.

It was the same for Winnie. She also married before I can remember. I can remember Winnie and Lee with Lynn and Mary Jo coming to spend the night on Saturday night. Then Sunday when they hitched the mules to the wagon to go home I would cry for her to stay and keep Lynn and Mary Jo and let Lee go by himself (maybe that's why he didn't like me very much).

Jack was our big brother that really held the family together. He always had the "were with" to help out when no one else had the money. He was there all the time for the rest of us when needed. Jack was such a tease, we never knew what he was going to do next, but he always had candy and gum for me and Jo when he came home from work.

Floyd left home and went to South Carolina with Uncle Jim Winfrey to work for the railroad. He didn't come home very much and he wasn't the tease Jack was. He always ask what we needed or wanted, for he really didn't know.

Bill picked at us more than any of them. He always had Jo and me in trouble. We were not allowed to laugh when we were eating (another of Dad's rules) so he would always make Jo and I laugh so we had to leave the table (Mama always fed us later). Bill was always there for us, like carrying me thru the mud holes to and from school. He didn't have to carry Jo because Highway 59 was graveled and cars could go thru even when it rained. Also Jack had a car by then and we didn't have to walk in the rain.

Margaret was my big sister I can remember at home. I loved to catch her not home and wear her high heels. I broke a heel off coming down the stairs one time before Mama caught me. When I told her she said that she would let Margaret take care of me. Which she did. Can you imagine 9 kids under foot 24 hours a day? Really, Margaret and I got along real good.

Walter was the easy going one of us. He always did what Dad told him and never fussed about it. When he worked out (like on the road or for the neighbors) (Park Parks), Walter always brought his pay check home and gave it to Dad. All the income we had when we were growing up was cream and egg money and a few old hens to sell now and then when they quit laying. Later on there was a milk route came by our house and we sold milk. This was easier than taking care of the cream. Walter took care of the stock, horses, cows, and pigs with me and Jo helping.

Madeline, when I was at home, I too had some of the older ones around here to tell what a sweet thing I was as I grew up. I don't remember ever being mad at any of my brothers or sisters.

Jo was another story. She was younger and so glad when I went to school so she could loose my ring (birthstone ring) in the creek. (I never wore it to the creek or too school) or so she could poke my favorite doll in the well. By the way, she says if Charley Washington ever cleans out that well, be sure to look for a China doll.

Jo and I had a rough time trying to make ends meet with buying the groceries, clothes and books for school and Dad was sick a lot. We were always worried about him. Dad always worried that we wouldn't have enough money for the winter. He tried to sell enough cows and hogs to tide us thru, but we never had any money left. I guess Jo really had the hardest time of any of us because I tried to make her do what I wanted her to do. Sometimes it really wasn't what she wanted to do. I did what I wanted to do - or could afford to do.

GALBRAITH FAMILY
SOME OF THE THINGS I REMEMBER
by: Jo Gilbreath

DAD: My daddy, Charles Martin Galbraith, was 62 years old when I was born so I didn't know him as a young man. One time we went swimming and some went fishing down on Cincinnati Creek. I didn't know that dad could swim, he dove in clothes and all, stayed under so long I didn't think he would ever come up. When he did, well he could swim like a fish. Afterwards I found out that before he moved to Arkansas, he could swim the Tennessee River at Concord, Tennessee. Another time I remember, I was playing basketball at Summers. We had to play on an outdoor court. Dad walked two miles and a half to watch me play and my old dog Bum came with him. Bum came right out on the court with me. Madeline had to hold him while I played ball.

MAMA: I was only eleven years old when mama, Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith, died but I remember her really well. She was a very sweet lady and never saw her out of humor or angry. She always had a smile for everyone. She loved flowers and always had the prettiest red Geraniums. I guess they were her favorites but she always had a big pot of Christmas cactus that bloomed at Christmas every year. I remember as well her egg custard she would make. I can taste it today... really good. She would always make it for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

BROTHERS AND SISTERS: Of my brothers and sisters, of course, the three little ones of Dad's first marriage died as babies. Jenny, I really didn't know her very well. I didn't see her until she and Uncle Joe Galbraith, Lynn, Lois, Jack and Mildred came out and spent a week with us. Then Jenny, Marvin, Mack and Jack came back in 1937.

Sanna was married before I was born so I didn't know her very well because she moved to Spartanburg, South Carolina and could not come home very often. When she did, they would come by train and Brother Jack would go to Westville, Oklahoma to meet them. I was always glad to see them. Her daughter, Hattie Lee was two months older than I am.

Winnie was a hard working lady. She could always have a good meal. Sometimes she would churn the cream in a half gallon fruit jar while she took the old cows to pasture. She and Lee lived on the Agnes Gilbreath place when John Loyd was born and Mama came and stayed a while. When Mama came home she rode Old Doll home. "Doll" was our old bay horse.

John Winfrey or "Jack" as everyone called him worked for the Highway Department. He run the grader and helped build Arkansas 59 from Summers to Siloam Springs. He was a good man and was always ready to help anyone that needed help. He was also a big tease and loved the children. Everyone loved him.

Floyd was a very handsome young man just didn't know him because when he was very young, he went to South Carolina to live with Uncle Jim Winfrey. He worked for the railroad.

William, guess you could say was my buddy and when I was little I called him Brother Bib. He was so good to me. He would take me fishing down on Coon Creek. He spent most of his time baiting my hook because I couldn't get the worm on the hook. Jack told me just to start them on head first and they would crawl on. I tried that but it didn't work.

Margaret was a very thoughtful person, always remembered everyone's birthday, and anniversary, and always had big dinners until she moved away. When Ed and Velma were little, I would go stay with them to baby-sit while Margaret helped put up hay or canned vegetables. She taught me how to bake cakes, but forgot to teach me how to bake pies. (ha)

Walter was good to Madeline and me. He would always go with us because we had to walk everywhere we went. He was a hard worker.

Madeline and I were and still are very close. She could always get Dad to let us go places so when I wanted to go, I would let her ask him. We always went together when we were dating. Ross and Harnage liked to play baseball, that is Ross did, so we went almost every Sunday afternoon. We had some very good times.

Chrissie Jo, "well", I really don't know if I am at the top or at the bottom of the totem pole, anyway, born in Summers, Arkansas on November 29, 1920, I am the baby of thirteen children of my Daddy's. I remember them telling that Madeline would come to the bed and say to Mama that she wanted to see the white baby and the black baby (that was me and Hattie was the white one).

Harnage "Hat" and I got together when I wanted my best friend to go with him so I introduced them. Well, it backfired, and I wound up with him. some of the family said we would never make it because we were both the baby of the families, but somehow we did. We'll have been married 58 years April 28, 1997. That is longer than any of the others.

1-20 RACHEL ANN WINFREY GALBRAITH

GRANDMOTHER

RACHEL WINFREY GALBRAITH

by: Pauline S. Abraham

Grandmothers are very special people, and I always felt unfortunate that I never knew either of mine. Daddy's Mother died before he and Mother were married and Grandmother Rachel died over a year before I was born. When I was young I felt that I was missing something when I saw my friends with their grandmothers and I didn't have one. I did have a Granddad and a Papa and lots of Aunts and Uncles that filled that void by their love and attention (even if most of the time it was teasing, especially from the uncles). As I grew older I would sometimes remark that I never had the opportunity to know my Grandmother Rachel, but now as I reflect on my life, I realize that really wasn't true and I did know her. How is that possible, you ask? .... From stories I remember that was told to me by Mother, Uncle Jim, Aunt Sanna, Uncle Bill, Aunt Madeline and Aunt Jo and some other people that knew Grandmother Rachel, I discovered I knew her through her children.

Rachel Ann Winfrey was born September 6, 1877, she was the youngest child and the only girl in a family with three older brothers born to John D. and Mary Braxton Winfrey. Her mother Mary Braxton was of the Virginia Braxton's and was born in North Carolina, the eldest child of Jesse and Rachel Parker Braxton. Rachel's three brothers were Shaner Winston, John Johnson and James Hardin. Her parents were farmers and they lived in a small community in Tennessee. Rachel was a pleasant happy child and was idolized by her brothers.

When Rachel was about 18 or 19 years of age she met Charles Martin Galbraith who was a night constable for the town of Concord, Tennessee and was also a farmer. He was over 18 years her senior and was a widower with an eleven year old daughter named Jennie. Information does not divulge How? or Where? they met but it is a well known fact that her parents and her brothers did not approve of their friendship, mainly because of his age and the fact that he was a widower with a child over half the age of Rachel. In spite of all the objections, they continued to see each other and eventually slipped off and got married. (one of the stories is that he came by her house one evening and she climbed out her bedroom window onto the back of his horse and they rode away into the night...) however it happened, they did get married on November 16, 1897.

Amidst all the resentment and anxiety over their marriage, they moved into his farmhouse in Concord, Tennessee where Rachel went from being a farmers daughter to a farmers wife. The next year they started their own family, Sanna Madura was their first child, then came Winnie Davis and John Winfrey (Jack), Floyd Lee and James William (Bill). As time went by and her children grew and became playmates and friends with cousin Hal Winfrey's children, the animosity diminished and the sister and brothers and parents became close again. In later years Winnie and Sanna remained in touch with Mary Bea Winfrey who lived in that area until her death.

About 1910 Charles decided to come back to Arkansas where he had previously lived prior to his marriage to Rachel. (We are not sure of his reasons but it could have been that more farmland was available and it was less crowded here in Arkansas). The facts of how these events occurred are very vague, but from some of the stories that are remembered, this is what some of us think happened. Charles had evidently communicated with Charley Angel, an old acquaintance of his and made arrangements with him to secure a temporary residence and meet them at the Rail depot when the family arrived in Arkansas. Charles, Rachel and family packed all their belongings, (leaving the house there in Tennessee to his daughter Jennie who was already married to Marvel (Marv) Stone Greene) and came by train to Summers, Arkansas. Rachel was the typical pioneer woman, she may not have traveled by covered wagon but nonetheless, she did pack up her children and all their worldly possessions, leaving behind all the things that were familiar to her including her brothers and their families and all the Winfrey cousins (both her parents died in 1903) to follow her husband into an unknown almost primitive land. As stated before, they traveled by train and it took them several days to make the trip. (Can you imagine being on the train that long with 5 children under the age of 12 years and being able to keep them entertained).

Rachel was up to the challenge and was able to keep the family occupied and fed during that time. I can just imagine how thankful she was to come to the end of their journey and to be met at the Rail Station in Summers by Mr. Angel and his wagon to transport them to their new temporary home. They did make the last few miles in true pioneer fashion in a wagon loaded with their possessions. The trip probably took them at least an hour to get to the old Hodge Smith place (on WC 814 south of the Old Cincinnati Road just past where Mark and Christy Spears now live) as there were no well traveled roads, only horse or wagon trails. They soon bought a farm mid-way between Summers and Cincinnati and the family settled into their new home, apple orchards were established, land was tilled, corn and wheat were planted and horses and cattle were accumulated. Other children were born into the family, Margaret Temple was the first child born in Arkansas. Then came Walter Barnes and Virginia Madeline and Chrissie Jo. By this time Sanna and Walter Moorman were married and Hattie Lee was a couple of month old when Chrissie Jo was born.

Another hill she climbed with her usual wit and serenity was the "children leaving home syndrome" as her children grew and started that journey. Floyd went with Walter Moorman to South Carolina at the suggestion of her brother Jim who worked for the Southern Railroad Lines with a promise of work opportunities. Sanna and the children were moved to the Morris Place just across the road while Walter found work and a place to live, then Sanna, Hattie and James (Robert) left to join him in Spartanburg, South Carolina. Winnie and Lee were married in 1923 and started their family. The residents of the Morris place played a very important role in Rachel's life. First the Gardisser family moved there around 1918 and became lasting friends, then Sanna and the children lived there for a short time and in 1923 the Seratte family moved there and through that acquaintance three of her children married three of the Seratte children. First, Margaret and Finnis got married, and it was almost like history repeating itself as both families were not pleased with Margaret marrying Finnis for some of the same reasons the Winfrey family had not wanted her to marry Charles (Finnis was eleven years older and also he had been in a logging accident and his ability to work and provide for Margaret was in question) Nevertheless in August 1927 they were married and then in April 1928 William and Mary were married. Now her household was down to four children left at home but her extended family began to increase by leaps and bounds as more grandbabies came on the scene. Travel was still fairly difficult even though Jack did have one of the first automobiles in this area, visits were few and far between. Rachel had 13 grandchildren,(John Lloyd was less than a month old and Velma and Charles were around a year old) when she died. Jack and Daisy were married three years after Rachel's death.

All the memories and stories told about Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith paint the picture of a fine upstanding hard working lady that tended her family well by teaching them to be ladies and gentlemen and to find happiness in all they did. She set the example by always finding the time to have fun with them and she would create entertainment out of the materials she had at hand. The girls remember her making hickory nut and holly hock dolls for them to play with. She also saved thread spools and taught Walter how to make tractors from the spools and some sticks and rubber bands. All the children remembered special things she taught them, always laughing and having fun even though the times were hard and this was BMC (before modern conveniences) there was no electricity or running water in the area and no stores close by to run to. (No Wal-Mart or Super Centers) They had to raise their own food and she had to can enough fruits and vegetables to last through the winter. Rachel made all of her children's clothes and drew and boiled water to wash them on the rub board and heat irons on the stove to iron them. Kerosene lamps had to be kept clean and trimmed for light. Through all this she always had a smile and a kind word. She was a good neighbor and each of the families that lived across the road on the Morris Place looked to her for her friendship. Aunt Madeline remembers when the Serattes moved there. The mother, Melissa Taylor Seratte had just died and Ophelia was only 3 years old. Papa Bob's mother stayed with them and also Grandmother Taylor would come to visit and she would only be there a short while before she came across the road to visit Rachel for her support and friendliness.

Mary Gardisser Clark recalls that "Mrs Galbraith" was a pleasant woman always laughing and happy. She was large of stature and always seemed to have fun no matter what she was doing". When "Miss" Mary was about 10 years old in 1918 the Gardisser family moved to the Morris Place across the road from the Galbraith Place. She was about the same age as William and a couple of years older than Margaret. She remembers that Madeline was just a baby. When Mary played with Walter and Margaret sometimes they would watch the baby and she would carry Madeline on her hip as they played or took care of her. She has remarked several times to Madeline that if she walked funny, it was from carrying her around as a baby. "Miss" Mary remembers that Winnie loved to dress up and come over and try to fool them as to who she was, she also remembers one time she and Margaret dressed Walter up in a dress and tried to fool their mothers into thinking he was one of the Mensch girls. Mrs. Gardisser accepted that but Grandmother Rachel saw right through his disguise and laughed with them. She remembered Mrs Galbraith making hickory nut dolls for them and she taught her and Margaret how to make holly hock dolls which they passed the art on down to their girls. (Miss Mary later taught school in several rural schools in Washington County and taught a few of Grandmother Rachel's grandchildren).

As I said in the beginning, I feel I did know Grandmother Rachel through the gifts and traits she passed on to her children. Sanna had her pioneer spirit, stature, faith and inner strength in times of adversity as well as her positive outlook; Winnie inherited her cooking ability; Jack and Bill got their height from the Winfrey family as well as their fun loving natures; Margaret got her fun loving spirit and her love for people and her yen to make toys and gifts (her famous pot holders) for her children, grandchildren and their friends; Madeline received a very strong helping of her optimism, happiness, sweetness, graciousness, ability to always find the best in everyone; Chrissie Jo has her benevolent spirit and infectious smile.

A lot of Rachel's legacy can be found in her grandchildren and great grandchildren... to list a few, Joye Moorman Ryan has been told by several people that she has the looks and build of Grandmother Rachel; Anna Mae --Inner strength, strong faith and mischievous wit; Velma Seratte Reece --Serenity and quick wit; Pat --Graciousness; Peggy --Friendliness; Floy --home making and cooking talents; Elva Jean and Glenda --Spontaneous smile and helpful spirit; Hattie --infectious laugh; Velma Ruth and Mary Jane --Happy smiles; Melba --- Humor and love for family; Sue --Spontaneous enthusiasm; Sharon and Pauline -- Love for, and ability to relate to children; Charles and Ed --Strength of character and mischievousness; Bobby Jack and Roy --Infectious smile and benevolence to people; Frank --Dignity and leadership if not from Rachel then from the Winfrey family; a lot of her descendants got the Winfrey family height. She was almost 6 ft and all three of her brothers were over 6 ft. All of these traits I believe could have been inherited from Grandmother Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith. Each of her descendants may have some of her love for life, warmth and ability to find fun and happiness and to look for the best in people, etc. We each have to choose to develop these trait that she left us and we have, some more than others.

Grandmothers are special people and I believe the descendants of Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith had one of the best even though we may not have known her personally, we have been privileged to get glimpses of her through her children.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR PARENTS AND GRANDPARENTS

We raise our children and pray with God's help that they will grow up and be happy and healthy adults and maybe if along the way they can make some small achievement to mankind (such as another Madam Curie, Albert Einstein, First Woman President), etc., then this is an added bonus. In today's world with all the unrest, the controversities, crime, drug addiction and other threats our society seems only to recognize those that are bad or the ones that have excelled, or those the news media or Senate Investigation Committee, etc. are trying to cut down. Society tends to over look the Scott Humphries, the Jon Serattes, the Paul and Jason Moormans, the Steve and Scott Serattes, the Jeff and Gregg Woods, the Carol and Billy Butlers, the Bobbie and Bonnie Hastings, the Suzanne Smith, the Amy and Aaron Bakemans, the Dale and Brian Watkins and yes, even the Charlie and Joye Ryans and the Russ Abrahams.

Folks, even among the disappointments we think we have, I really believe that God has truly blessed the union of Charles Martin Galbraith and Rachel Ann Winfrey and their descendants and I think it is evident that they left behind, maybe not a legacy of greatness or great or over achievers, but as Scott Humphrey so aptly stated last night, "This is a family of love". We know how to compete with love, disagree and yet love, squabble and still love, and love continues to bring us together year after years (whether the reunion is every year, two years or every five years) the spirit of love is there. This spirit was very evident yesterday when Uncle Bill offered to sacrifice his glass eye to help Ed in his painful decisions of doing the dastardly deed of First Base Umpire. We love each other in spite of our differences. We laugh together, we cry together, hurt together and share joys and accomplishments together but when it comes to playing softball at the family reunion all that togetherness sometimes is challenged.

I have said all this to say THANK YOU to our Heavenly father as well as our forebearers, Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith and their children, Sanna, Winnie, Jack, Floyd, William, Margaret, Walter, Madeline and Chrissie Jo. To you, we and the coming generations say a hearty Thank You for your love, prayers, help, discipline and tears. Uncle Bill, Mother, Aunt Winnie, Aunt Madeline and Aunt Jo we salute you and to those that are no longer with us physically, but are very evident in spirit. Thanks.

CHARLES MARTIN GALBRAITH

by Pauline S. Abraham

Not a lot of information is recorded about Charles Martin Galbraith but there are two things for sure that we know about him, he was a staunch Democrat and that he and Rachel had strong family values. We know this because one of the ways they perpetuated this family connection was to include in most of their children's names one of the family surnames that is a part of our ancestry. They named them: Sanna Madura, Winnie Davis, John Winfrey, Floyd Lee, James William(s), Margaret Temple, Walter Barnes, the last two Virginia Madeline and Chrissie Jo were named after long time friends. Also the one grandchild we know that he was instrumental in naming, Franklin Braxton Seratte carried the name of our President at the time, Franklin D. Roosevelt (Franklin) and a family surname (Braxton) typifying both of the above concepts.

My early memories of my "Granddad" Charles Martin Galbraith was of this tall stately white headed gentleman that lived with Aunt Madeline. (He really wasn't that tall only 5" 10" but he held himself so erect and had this aura of dignity that I thought he had to be at least 10 feet tall) He had his favorite chair (a straight back rocker), and we could only sit in it when he was out of the room. When he came back in the room if some of us were sitting in it he would humph (which was a loud clearing of his throat) and we would scatter and if we came close to him he would thump us on the head with his thumb. (it didn't hurt for it was just Granddads way of acknowledging us) He called us all granddaughter or grandson and I always thought this made us special (but it was probably because he didn't remember our names, by the time he died there was 25 or more of us grandchildren). I feel that part of our heritage that we received from Grandad Charlie was his ingrained belief in God, family and his country.

LIVING IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS
By: Madeline Galbraith Spears Cox

As far back as I remember Mama and Dad (Charles and Rachel Winfrey Galbraith) never quarreled or fought. I don't remember them ever arguing. They were strict as to what we should or should not do. They never spanked or "beat" us. Our punishment was to sit and be still either on the steps outside, or in cold weather, we sat in a corner.

Dad was a farmer raising corn, wheat, oats and cows, hogs, mules, and horses. We had a brood mare, Kate, that had a colt every year. Sometimes we kept them and other times Dad sold them. We always had at least two teams, like two mules or two horses and two horses to ride or hitch to the buggy only. A buggy was our transportation. Our wheat or corn was used for feed except the "best" was taken to the mill at Cincinnati (Mr. Barton was the miller). We never bought flour or meal. We milked two or three or four cows. We kept the milk in the well house in water to keep it cool. We had a diluter cream separator to separate the milk form the cream. We had a special cream bucket that mama put the cream in to take to the grocery store at Summers along with the eggs to sell or trade for things we needed. Mama always set hens (later we had an incubator) and raised chickens. She kept the pullets and we ate the roosters as fryers. Then when the pullets started laying, Mama sold the old hens to buy our clothes. She would keep ten or twelve hens to lay eggs to set for the next spring. We didn't buy much at the grocery store, only spices, sugar, salt, baking powder, soda, cocoa, coffee and tea. We raised the potatoes both sweet and Irish and kept them in a potato house heated with a wood stove to keep in the winter. Mama always canned apples, peaches, plums, strawberries, blackberries and vegetables such as tomatoes, corn, peas, green beans, cabbage, kraut, and pickles (both beets and cucumbers). We never bought meat, we raised and butchered hogs and beef. We would cure the hogs and Mama canned the beef. Mama made the soap we used both to wash and bath with. This is the way Mama made it and the way I make mine today.

Rachel's Lye Soap:

Use an old black wash kettle in the yard over a small fire-add
- 3 - gallons of hog cracklins - rendered in an old black pot out in the yard
- 3 - gallons of water - drawn from a well by hand or carried from a spring
- 3 - cans of lye - at one time make lye from ashes from cook stove or fire place but Grandma Rachel used bought lye Madeline remembered. They had an ash dump in the corner of the garden, if needed.

Cook over open fire in kettle until the lye dissolved the cracklins
- Stir slowly while this is cooking
- Keep your fire fed evenly with small sticks of wood
- When soap begins to thicken, cover and cool until the next day
- Grandma Rachel placed her lye soap to dry in the smoke house on a board
- Store until needed for baths, dishes, and washin'

Madeline's Lye Soap:

9 Cups thin grease
11 Cups cold water
1/2 Cup ammonia
1/4 Cup Borax
1 Can of Lye
1/4 Cup of Glycerin

- Mix Lye and cold water in an iron or granite container.
- Let cook to luke warm. Add Borax, glycerin and ammonia.
- Slowly add thin greese and stir until thick.
- Pour into lined wooden box and let set about 24 hours.
- Cut and let dry.

I only remember William, Margaret, Walter, Jo and myself hoeing corn and helping in the fields. As soon as I could follow Mama, I started helping milk the cows. I liked to. We milked all our cows by hand, morning and night. I don't remember Margaret or Bill helping, but Walter always helped with the cows. Jo was always out there, but I don't remember her milking. I think she helped Dad feed, shuck corn and mix brand with the yesterday's milk from the dilutor. They would feed hogs and shell corn for the chickens along with soaked oats. Dad never milked a cow as far as I can remember. Mama also raised turkeys that were hatched in the spring and sold in the fall just before Thanksgiving. That was to buy our winter clothes. The rest of the time she saved the money each week that was left from buying groceries to buy our school supplies with.

As far back as I can remember we all had to get up and eat breakfast together. Dad always read a scripture from the Bible and we had a prayer. No one ever missed this as long as I was at home. On Sunday (weather permitting), Mama got up at 4 o'clock to make dinner before we went to church. Dad would hitch up the team to the buggy and it would take us about an hour to drive to church. I think this gesture instilled in the whole family a closeness that has always remained.

Charles Martin Galbraith and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith came from Concord, Tenn., with their family about 1910 to live in the Cincinnati and Summers communities. They lived one mile east and one-half mile south of the Old Union Cemetery when they first came to this area. Later they bought a farm two and one-half miles north of Summers. They had nine children. Sanna, Winnie, Jack, Floyd, and William were all born in Concord, Tenn.; then Margaret, Walter, Madeline, and Jo were born in Arkansas.

Sanna married Walter Moorman and had eight children. Winnie married Lee Eneks and had six children. Jack married Daisy Seratte and had one child that died at birth. Floyd married Ester Hightower and had one child. Margaret married Finis Seratte and had 10 children. Walter married Lavon Burk and had 9 children. Madeline married Ross Spears and had one son. After Ross's death she married Jack Cox and they had a son. Jo married H.L. "Hat" Gilbreath and had four children.

Floyd, Sanna, Walter, and family moved to Spartanburg, S.C. where Walter and Floyd worked for the Southern Railway. Floyd went to Washington D.C. and became chief accountant of the Purchasing and Store Department. He was granted a leave of absence during World War II to serve as an industrial analyst in the Transportation Equipment Division of the War Production Board. He served in a similar capacity during the Korean Conflict. He died in June 23, 1962.

Sanna and Walter and family moved back to Lincoln where they lived until their death.

Jack worked for the Highway Department. He had a heart attack and died July 14, 1945. Daisy lived her remaining years in Westville, Okla.

Winnie and Lee and their family lived in the Lincoln area most of their lives. Their children still remain in the area. They were farmers. After Lee's death Winnie lives with her children.

William moved to Westville, Okla., where he ran a service station for years. He is still living. Mary died a few years ago.

Margaret and Finis moved to Wichita, Kans. Finis died. Margaret remarried Melvin Mapes.

Walter moved to Oklahoma and raised his family. He died of a heart attack and is buried in the Old Union Cemetery.

Madeline lost Ross in 1940 from a fall that resulted in his death. Their son Bobby Jack Spears lives on the old Dr. Powell place east of the Old Union Cemetery and farms. Madeline married Jack Cox when he served in World War II. They moved to Lincoln and the Gem Community area. They have a son Kenneth (Bud) Cox. He is the vice president of the Bank of Lincoln.

Jo and H.L. "Hat" still live on the Gilbreath place east of the Old Union Cemetery. They are retired dairy farmers. They have four children and nine grandchildren.

Rachel Galbraith died while some of the children were still at home. Charles lived in Summers for a long time and then moved to Cincinnati to live with his daughter Madeline after Ross died. They are both buried in the Old Union Cemetery.

RACHEL AND CHARLES; A PLAY
by: Galbraith Clan 1990

NARRATOR: Many, many years ago in a far and distant land called Tennessee in the County of Greene there lived a family named Galbraith. The fathers name was Lee Temple Galbraith and his lovely wife was Nancy Ann Galbraith Galbraith. It was the year 1858 in the month of February, a son was born to this family. They named him Charles Martin Galbraith. When Charles was around two years old, the family moved to the town of Concord, Tennessee in the county of Knox, about 30 miles south and east of Knoxville. There were seven other children born to this family. Four more boys and three girls. Their names were: Joseph Lee, Madura Katherine, Franklin Pate, Babee (who died young), Robert Moore (who also died young), William Bruce and Mary Margaret.

ENTER: Carrying sign that says "Years" walks across the stage.
FEATURE: Charles walks center stage pauses reflectively then exits.

Years pass by---At the age of 21 Charles was a stately young man and well respected in the community. He courted a young lady from a well established family and in October 1879 he married Mary Altoona McLin. The family was blessed in a couple of years with beautiful twin daughters named Maggie Irma and Pearl. Tragedy struck and the twins died in 1881....Saddened and weary, Charles moved his wife to Arkansas in the County of Washington. In Arkansas a son was born and January 1887 another daughter named Jennie was born to the family (Really, Jennie was born in Tennessee). Misfortune struck again and the young son died and is buried in Old Union Cemetery at Cincinnati, Arkansas. The next year Charles, Mary and baby Jennie moved back to Concord, Tennessee in the County of Knox. Tragedy struck an even harder blow for in November 1889 Mary died leaving Charles with a two year old Jennie to raise.

ENTER: Charles walks across stage with 2 year old Jennie.
FEATURE: John & Mary Winfrey, Jim, John, Shaner, and Rachel center stage.

Now, there was in this same town of Concord, Tennessee in the county of Knox a family of noted worth by the name of Winfrey. John Winfrey and wife Mary Braxton (of the Virginia Braxtons) had four children: three sons, James H., John, and Shaner and a lovely daughter named Rachel Ann who was born in 1877. Rachel grew into a statuesque young lady. One day when she was almost sweet sixteen, (really 21) Rachel and a friend were walking down the street they met this handsome man in his late 30's and he seemed to be giving her the eye so she smiled sweetly at him...

FEATURE: Rachel and friend walks across stage, meets Charles who is looking at Rachel so she turns and smiles sweetly at him and all exit the stage.

Now as in all small towns everyone knows everybody so it wasn't hard to find out that his name was Charles Martin Galbraith, he was 39 years old and had a 10 year old daughter that was living with her grandparents William Oliver and Margaret McLin. As it so happened Charles also liked what he saw and he wanted to know who she was and where she lived. He learned that her name was Rachel Ann Winfrey, she was 21 years of age (almost 18 years his junior) and here was the zinger- -

she had three older very protective brothers. And it soon became apparent that Rachel's parents and brothers would not approve of them seeing each other. So as love would have it, they managed to court each other and decided to marry. - - Because of the disapproval of the Winfrey family Plan "B" had to be put into effect. - -
One dark and cloudy evening when the moon was low, Charles came with ladder in hand to Rachel's bedroom window. (We found out later that the window was on the ground floor, but it makes a good story)

FEATURE: Charles down in front of stage with ladder in hand and tosses a pebble at Rachel's window. Rachel comes to the window on right side of stage with large suitcase in hand (too big) picks up small case and climbs out window down ladder and they cross below stage to the left.

A pebble gently thrown attracts Rachel's attention for she had been waiting anxiously for his arrival. She gets her suitcase - - No, No, that one is too big, Woman you can't get that out the window, much less down the ladder. And besides that we are only going to be gone a couple of days. Yes, that will do. Come on down we must hurry.- -
Now as elopements go, theirs was great. Rachel got down the ladder without falling or dropping her suitcase and they got to the JP's without being stopped. So far, so good. - -

FEATURE: Justice of Peace, Charles and Rachel holding hands facing him. They shake head yes when asked "DO YOU"

On November 16, 1897 the Justice of Peace said, "Do you Charles". Charles said, "Yes, after all I have gone through I can't stop now"; The Justice of Peace said, "Do you Rachel", and Rachel said, "Yes" and the JP said, "Done" and this was the beginning of the "Galbraith Clan"

SING: Chorus "The Galbraith Clan" (words at end of play)

On October 13, 1898 a young daughter was born to this newly founded Galbraith family. They named her Sanna Madura. In a couple of years on February 16, 1901 another daughter, Winnie Davis came along then on January 18, 1903 a son John Winfrey (Jack) made his arrival known followed by Floyd Lee on August 18, 1905 and James William came on September 9, 1907. Wanderlust struck Charles so again the picked up his family and moved to Arkansas and acquired land about 2 1\2 miles north of Summers in the County of Washington. Charles built a home there on a hill and worked hard and his family grew and prospered. The first little Arkansaw-yer to join the family was Margaret Temple on August 9, 1911, then Walter Barnes on January 23, 1914 and Virginia Madeline arrived July 20, 1918 and the last straggler was Chrissie Jo on November 29, 1920.

SING: Chorus of "The Galbraith Clan" (twice)
FEATURE: Carrying sign that says "YEARS" walks across stage.

Time passes by- - The children grow up and marry and start families of their own. Sanna married Walter E. Moorman around 1919; Winnie married Robert Lee Eneks in 1923; Jack married Daisy Adeline Seratte on September 10, 1934; Floyd Lee married Easter Pricilla Hightower April 23, 1930; James William married Mary Susan Seratte April 25, 1928; Margaret married Finnis Edward Seratte August 27, 1927 (Finnis died in July, 1962) Margaret married Melvin Mapes in March 1975); Walter married Lavonne Jane Burke on May 1, 1943; Madeline married Ross Spears June 23, 1938 (Ross died December 19, 1940) Madeline married Columbus Jack Cox August 5, 1943; Chrissie Jo married Harnage Lester (Hat) Gilbreath April 28, 1939.

SING: Chorus "The Galbraith Clan"

In the midst of this growth, Rachel died in 1932 leaving Charles alone with Walter (18 years) Madeline (14) and Chrissie Jo (12) to raise.--

FEATURE: Charles, Walter, Madeline and Jo looking sad.
FEATURE: Carrying sign that says "10 years" crosses stage.

Ten years pass by and the families grew and prospered. In December 1942 Charles Martin Galbraith died and joined his family in heaven.- - In our imagination we can see Rachel and Charles in heaven now some 50 years later reminiscing and their conversation could go something like this. (Charles and Rachel are seated in rocking chairs as if on a cloud effect)

RACHEL: Charlie dear, isn't it great how well our children turned out and how beautiful and talented our grandchildren and their children are. Look, (point down) see what fun they are having getting together every year or every other year. I believe they started this family reunion event in 1978 didn't they. - -

CHARLES: Yes, Rachel, I believe they did and as you say, they do have such fun playing, swimming, competing in sports events (especially softball), expressing their musical and acting talents, and cooking and eating together and swapping tall tales.

RACHEL: They each have accomplished something in their own special way. They may not be the greatest or the most important people in this nation, but they are ours and I am proud of every one of them.

CHARLES:Yes, Rachel they have made us proud, but they might have been more successful and dignified if you had not been quite as permissive. Admit it, you were too easy on them. You let Jack buy one of the first new cars (I believe it was a "Model T") in our community. He was so proud of it he was always talking everyone for rides in it. He was only 16 or 17 years of age at the time. Why in my day we walked everywhere. I can remember walking miles to.....

RACHEL: Now, now, Charles we have heard those stories many times, but I wasn't the only one that was indulgent and turned their head at some mischief. Remember when Winnie wouldn't do her share of helping Sanna with the laundry. - -

FEATURE: Sanna & Charles and Winnie comes in almost in tears carrying her stiff bloomers.
FEATURE: When Rachel says "Bloomers" she puts hand to side of face and whispers in a loud voice.

(She was busy primping or cooking something, Winnie so loved to cook and was real good at it). Anyway Sanna got tired of doing the laundry alone so she starched Winnie's "Bloomers" so stiff they could almost stand up by themselves. Now what did you do when Winnie confronted Sanna about it in front of you?

CHARLES:You know very well I couldn't take sides as they were both in the wrong. But remember the time that Jack, Floyd and William and a couple of other neighbor boys late on evening, when the moon was low--

FEATURE: Watermelon patch Parks hides behind chair with a sign that says "BUSH" with a B B gun. Jack, Floyd, William and two neighbor boys come on stage and go over to "Neighbor's Watermelon Patch" and do a little horsing around. As they start to leave they are startled by a yell and turn and see a man with a gun. Jack throws melon at them and runs off stage and others run off stage dropping their melons as they run.

ignoring our own perfectly good melon patch sneaked over our neighbor's fence and into his watermelon patch to swipe some of his melons. Now, old Parks was tired of the young wippersnappers in the community taking his hard worked for melons and wasting them, - - so he and his trusty shotgun hid in some bushes at the side of the watermelon patch. When the boys came to the patch laughing, and playing around with no regard for the melons or the vines and had picked a few of the watermelons, broke one or two open and ate part of them, and were getting ready to leave, Parks stood up and yelled and pointed his gun at them. It really frightened the boys because they didn't think anyone was around. Jack threw his Watermelon as he ran away and William and Floyd and the other boys dropped some of their melons as they were running and lost the others as they were getting across the fence back onto our property. Who was it that said - "Boys will be boys", when Parks laughingly told us about it a few days later.

RACHEL: Yes, Well who was it that laughed behind his hand when Finnis was courting Margaret and they would sit in the parlor and talk and this particular evening Madeline and Chrissie Jo had sneaked into the parlor and hid behind the davenport. - -

FEATURE: Feature a couch (chairs with blanket over them) angled side stage: Cast: Madeline, Jo sneak across stage and hide behind couch. Margaret & Finnis come in, sit down and are talking.

Where unknown to them the mother cat had moved her newborn litter of kittens. Remember the furor that was caused when Jo stood up behind them and dropped this scratching meowing, slimy newborn kitten down between Margaret and Finnis.

CHARLES: It really was amusing, you should have seen the look on Finnis' face. And Margaret was pretty upset with her young sisters.

If I recall Madeline and Chrissie Jo did make themselves scarce for the next few days.

RACHEL: Talking about looks on faces, I will never forget the look on Sanna's face and my face also probably showed some anxiety when Sanna and Walter and young Hattie Lee and baby Robert came home for a visit it was probably in 1922 or 1923.

FEATURE: Sanna, Rachel walking across back of stage and Walter, Madeline, Jo and Hattie are playing stage front.

We were all out in the yard, Sanna holding baby Robert and you and I were waling across the yard where Madeline Walter, Chrissie Jo and Hattie Lee were playing. The play was getting a little rowdy. As was your usual way of settling the youngsters down, you walked over to where they were playing and drew a line on the ground and told the chidren to "toe the line".

FEATURE: Charles walks closer draws a line on ground with finger and points for them to put toes on line.

Walter, Madeline and Chrissie Joe ran up to the line and put their toes to it as they knew to do.

FEATURE: Madeline, Walter, and Jo put toes on line but Hattie stops puts hand on hip shakes head NO.

Now Hattie Lee was only three and wasn't familiar with your method of discipline and she said, "No, No, Drandpa, I no want to toe de line". Even Madeline and Chrissie Jo were scared Hattie Lee was in trouble for disobeying you (No one was allowed to do that) But I looked at you and saw the twinkle in your eye and I knew she had escaped your wrath...As we have seen other grandchildren do where the children were never allowed as much leeway.

CHARLES: Rachel all this remembering has made me tired, I think it is about time for a nap. (Charles stifles a yawn)

RACHEL: On, my stars! Just look at the time. I had better hurry or I will be late for my Harp lessons. (both exit off stage left)

NARRATOR: There are many other stories we could tell about the Galbraith Clan, for we all have our special memories of days gone by but this is our imaginative interpretation of some of the background to the beginning of Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraiths very own "Galbraith Clan"

SING: ENTIRE SONG "The Galbraith Clan" once and repeat chorus twice.

ALL CHARACTERS GO STAGE CENTER AND TAKE A BOW.

Play has been retyped to conserve space, and a few dates and spelling has been added to the original document. (SMS)

THE GALBRAITH CLAN THEME written by: Jon & Cindy Seratte tune: "Brady Bunch"

Here's the story of a man named Galbraith
Who started with four children of his own
(and his wife)
Then one day misfortune came a - knockin'
Took his wife, the twins, and baby boy.

Here's the story of a girl named Rachel
Who lived with her three bros. In the Winfrey house.
She met Charles, and fell in love,
They eloped and she became his faithful spouse.

Rachel's parents, were pretty steamed,
In fact, they plain just didn't like their plans,
But the loving couple, and nine kids later,
Were the beginning of the great big Galbraith Clan.

Chorus:
The Galbraith Clan, The Galbraith Clan,
That's the way we became the Galbraith Clan.

GALBRAITH FAMILY REUNION BEGINNINGS

My first memories of family gatherings were in the 1940's & 50's the Galbraith & Seratte families would get together once a month to celebrate all the birthdays for that month. We would meet on a Sunday at one of the homes and everybody would bring pot luck. I remember Mother always fixed eggless cake (Papa Bob Seratte could not eat eggs) and Jello and Papa Bob always fussed about that jiggly stuff but he always ate it. After lunch we always played softball (maybe that is where in recent years the Bill Galbraith and Margaret Seratte families were so competitive in carrying on this tradition). After some of the families moved away that tradition faded but didn't die as the families still living in this area continued to get together on special occasions but maybe not as often. In Wichita Kansas, Daisy Dutton kept suggesting to Frank Seratte that since we all liked to get together in Westville, Okla to meet with Aunts, Uncles and cousins, Why not set one time a year and everyone could take vacations etc. and meet for one weekend a year and see everyone all at once. In July 1977 when Elva Jean was in Wichita, she and Frank discussed it and started making plans. Since Elva Jean lived in Westville at the time, it was suggested the she try to secure a place in the area. She reserved the Westville Community Center and Swimming Pool for the 4th Weekend in June 1978 and thus began the official start of the Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith Family Reunion.

THE SERATTE CONNECTION

George Robert (Bob) and Melissa Grovena Taylor Seratte were married in the late 1890's and had eight children, five boys and three girls. From the eldest to the youngest, they are: Finnis, Clyde, Mary, Daisy, Virgil, Tommie and Ophelia. Ophelia was only three years old when her Mother died in 1923. Bob's mother, Grandma Seratte came to live with them and help with the family. Some of the family recalls she was a "fiesty" little old lady that smoked a corn cob pipe. Grandma Taylor would come and stay with them part of the time, but this still left a lot of the responsibility of caring for Ophelia and the family to Mary and Daisy who was only 18 and 15 years at the time of their mother's death.

In the mid 1920's The Bob Seratte family moved to the Morris Place, just across the road from the Charles and Rachel Galbraith home. Thus began a lasting friendship that resulted in three children from the Seratte family marrying three children from the Galbraith family. Finnis, the eldest Seratte, and Margaret Galbraith who was only 16 years old were married August 27, 1927. William (Bill) Galbraith and Mary Susan Seratte the middle children were married April 25, 1928. John Winfrey (Jack) the eldest of the Galbraith boys married Daisy Adeline, the youngest of the three Serattes to marry Galbraiths, were married in 1935. Papa Seratte (when the first grandchildren were born, he said he was to young to be called Grandpa , therefore everyone called him Papa) moved again and eventually moved to the Rule place, close to the Arkansas/Oklahoma state line where they were living when Uncle Jack died in 1945. They later moved to a farm a little closer to the State Line and about a mile from Highway 62, where it crosses the state line.

Because of their lasting friendship and the grandchildren they had in common, Charles and Bob remained friends irrespective of their strong political differences and the fact that neither parent wanted Margaret to marry Finnis who was eleven years her senior. He had been hurt in a logging accident which left him with a limp and thus might hinder him from getting jobs that would help him provide for Margaret in the fashion to which she had become accustomed (Jack and Bill spoiled her, giving her anything she wanted that was within their means).

As the grandchildren arrived, Vera Kate Galbraith was the first and then John Edward (Ed) Seratte was born in 1929 and then every two or three years Finnis and Margaret and William and Mary had a child giving each child a "twin" cousin. Velma Seratte and Charles Galbraith were born in 1931. Grandmother Rachel Galbraith died in 1932. Pauline Seratte was born in July, 1933 and Anna Mae Galbraith was born in February 1934, Floy Kate Seratte was born in January 1935 and Wilma Sue Galbraith was born in July, 1936. Jack and Daisy Galbraith had their only child, Shirley Jean born in September 1937 and only lived a few hours. Franklin Braxton Seratte was born in January 1938 and Shirley Marie Galbraith was born in January 1939 and died in February of the same year. In 1940 Velma Ruth Galbraith and Melba Ruth Seratte made their appearances and three years later in 1943 Elva Jean Galbraith and Sharon Louise Seratte were born. In December 1945 William and Mary had their last child, Mary Jane. Glenda Ellen Seratte was born October 15, 1946 on Aunt Daisy's birthday. Two years later on October 13, 1948 (Aunt Sanna's 50th birthday) the last of Finnis and Margarets children was born. Since William and Mary had quit and in order not to have a lone child, Margaret had twins, Peggy Jo and Patricia Ann Seratte. Grandpa Galbraith died in 1942 when Velma and Melba were only two years old but Papa Bob lived until after the twins were almost two years old. He died in 1950.

As the grandchildren came and the families grew (Madeline, Chrissie Jo and Walter Galbraith married and had families and Virgil and Ophelia Seratte married and had families) also the automobile became more available and the roads were better so traveling was easier and faster. The families started getting together at least once a month to celebrate all the birthdays for that month, sometimes there would be as many as 50 or 60 kinfolks present and sometimes a few neighbor kids. There was a lot of ball games played and horse shoes pitched and a lot of stories told. The few times Uncle Jim Winfrey or Aunt Jennie and Uncle Marve Green or Aunt Sanna and Uncle Walter came for a visit was also another good opportunity for a family gathering of both clans.

The families have changed over the years by children marrying and having children of their own, and of course we have lost several by death, but because of the relationship of three Seratte's marrying three Galbraith's the family ties have grown stronger over the years and the closeness will always be there. Thus explaining the "Seratte" connection.

GALBRAITH FAMILY REUNION

The 1985 Reunion was held June 23 & 24, 1985 at the Westville Community Center with 123 present but the softball game was held up by the Activity Chairman as he arrived late with some of the needed equipment along with some special uniforms (Bright Gold T-Shirts with "Margaret's Marauders" emblem on the left front and family numbers on the back) for Margaret's team. As the Bill's team were warming up Margaret's team went to the dressing room and put on their "uniforms" and marched on the field in unison and there was almost another delay of game because of the friendly remarks made before the umpire could call "Play Ball".

The Saturday evening entertainment was emceed' by Rusty Abraham and Scott Humphrey and was a musical rendition by Charlie Ryan, Jon & Cindy Seratte and Scott and Lewie Humphrey. This could have only been topped by the impromptu performance of the Boog-A-Loo Brothers. This year it was also decided to have the reunion every year again and those that could not come each year could continue to come every other year. The officers elected for the 1986 Reunion were: Charles Galbraith, President; Murle Gilbreath, Vice-President and Diane Moorman, Secretary\Treas. A challenge was presented by Mike Reece of $20.00 to the scholarship fund if Rusty Abraham would not tell any more Cajun Jokes and the challenge was met by Gayle Strahan of $21.00 if he would tell another Ca-jun joke. GALBRAITH FAMILY REUNION

The 1985 Reunion was held June 23 & 24, 1985 at the Westville Community Center with 123 present but the softball game was held up by the Activity Chairman as he arrived late with some of the needed equipment along with some special uniforms (Bright Gold T-Shirts with "Margaret's Marauders" emblem on the left front and family numbers on the back) for Margaret's team. As the Bill's team were warming up Margaret's team went to the dressing room and put on their "uniforms" and marched on the field in unison and there was almost another delay of game because of the friendly remarks made before the umpire could call "Play Ball".

The Saturday evening entertainment was emceed' by Rusty Abraham and Scott Humphrey and was a musical rendition by Charlie Ryan, Jon & Cindy Seratte and Scott and Lewie Humphrey. This could have only been topped by the impromptu performance of the Boog-A-Loo Brothers. This year it was also decided to have the reunion every year again and those that could not come each year could continue to come every other year. The officers elected for the 1986 Reunion were: Charles Galbraith, President; Murle Gilbreath, Vice-President and Diane Moorman, Secretary\Treas. A challenge was presented by Mike Reece of $20.00 to the scholarship fund if Rusty Abraham would not tell any more Cajun Jokes and the challenge was met by Gayle Strahan of $21.00 if he would tell another Ca-jun joke. The festivities began Saturday morning with some of the families fixing breakfast in their cabins and some going to the Recreation Center. Lunch was to be at noon but some were out on the lake and Aunt Jo and Uncle Hat came with coleslaw and deviled eggs that kept some of the family from starving until the others came with food (there was a slight mis-communication about the time the meal was to be served). The arts and craft sale was set up in the center along with an auction. The business meeting was called to order by Velma Reece. The Treasurer, Diane Moorman reported $894.00 as memorials to Margaret Mapes, Vera Kate Lynn, Bill Galbraith and Janetta Pearson was given to the scholarship fund. GALBRAITH FAMILY REUNION
August 20-21, 1994

The fourteenth Galbraith Family Reunion was held at Tenkiller State Park August 18-20, 1994. Due to the Executive Committee for the Galbraith Family Reunion some time elements were changed to accommodate check in and out time. The family began gathering Friday afternoon and there were 13 or 14 cabins full of people. There were approximately 60 spending the night and an estimated 100 in attendance at one time or other during the weekend. Roy Moorman and Marty Spears were in charge of frying the hamburger and Floye and Jim Hlad and Melvin Mapes were in charge of the ice cream. There was a slight to do about one person that was suppose to get there before dark and didn't make it until after 10:00 p.m. and there was some talk about calling the police, but she eventually turned up unaware of the turmoil she had almost caused. Saturday's schedule was very flexible, with breakfast in various cabins and a lot of visiting, some swimming, a little jumping off the cliff etc. and a lot of cooking. Lunch was ready at eh Community Center at 1:00 p.m. There were spontaneous games of volley ball, horse shoes and some children's games like drop the handkerchief etc played. The business meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. It was decided that since the only time the Tenkiller facility was available would be the last weekend in August 1995 and since school is already started by that time, it make it too inconvenient for some of the families to take vacations to come. The Location Committee was instructed to look for another facility to have the Reunion preferable the third or fourth weekend in June. The representatives to the Board of Governors are Hattie Strahan representing Sanna; Lynn Eneks representing Winnie; Pat Hodges representing Floyd; Charles Galbraith representing Bill; Ed Seratte representing Margaret and Cathy Clark representing Walter; Madeline and Jo Gilbreath. The Executive Council for 1995 will be: Robbie or Dean Moorman; Mae Watkins or Carol Butler; Rusty Abraham; Jeannie Williams; and Murle Gilbreath. A total collected from crafts and the donations for the Rocking Goose, donated by Bud Moorman (won by Sue and Otis Hardcastle) for scholarship was $106.00. There were no scholarship applications presented therefore no funds were awarded.

Sunday morning began with the Worship Service at the Recreation Center with Eva Seratte playing music on the keyboard and Diane Moorman and Mae Watkins leading in singing several hymns. Frank Seratte taught the scriptures and led in a prayer time in memory of J.D. Watkins who died March 29, 1994. After the service we went back to our cabins and prepared brunch which looked more like a feast. After we ate and checked out of our cabins we came back to the center and ate some more and visited and played games etc. with most of the families leaving around 3:00 p.m. Those signing the guest book were:

The Galbraith Family Reunion met at the Westville Community Center June 24-25, 1995 with ---signing the guest register with an estimated ---present. The Saturday activities started around 10:00 a.m. with games, swimming and a lot of visiting. The business meeting was called to order at 7:00 p.m. The Executive Council for 1996 were: Robbie Moorman; Billie Joe Butler; Mike Reece; Bud Cox and Lonnie Gilbreath. There were no scholarship applications received therefore no funds were awarded. A reminder of the project of a Galbraith Family History Book commemorating the 100th Anniversary of Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey's marriage November 16, 1897, and a plea for everyone to start collecting pictures and writing stories, it is not too early to start. Shirley has graciously agreed to donate her time to this project and Jeannie Williams has agreed to reproduce all the pictures and even take some if we need to. This is going to take a lot of help on everyone's part. Following church Sunday morning the family again gathered for pot luck lunch at 1:00 p.m. Frank Seratte led in a memorial prayer time in memory of Otis Hardcastle who died October 10, 1994. SANNA MADURA GALBRAITH MOORMAN
"AUNT SANNIE"
by Pauline S. Abraham

Sanna Madura Galbraith (I called her Aunt Sannie) was the first child of Charles Martin and Rachel Winfrey Galbraith. We don"t know or can remember a lot about her childhood but that she was the eldest of 9 children. All of her brothers and sisters remembered she was a pretty young lady and she had a great inner strength. One of the stories she told us about her younger years must have happened sometime just before she and Hattie and Robert moved to South Carolina to join Uncle Walter. She related how this one day a car pulled into their yard and some men got out and wanted to know if they could get some water from their well to drink and to fill the radiator of their car. She remembered that after they had all had a drink, filled the car and left she remarked to her mother, "what a pretty boy and so polite", about the young man that seemed to be the spokesperson. Later the sheriff and some of his men came by and said they were looking for "Pretty Boy" Floyd and his gang and thought they may have come that direction. The sheriff asked if they had seen them? This was her one claim to notoriety (that she gave a drink of water to Pretty Boy Floyd and his gang).

Aunt Sannie worked as an apple inspector riding a horse through the apple orchards checking that everything was alright. One day in the course of her duties she saw Walter Erwin Moorman who had a new wagon and a fine team of horses. She decided he was the man she wanted to marry. Walter owned some land out from Cincinnati, Ark. on what was later referred to as the Burk's place on what is now called the Hat Gilbreath road. He and his mother and sister Virgie lived there for a little over a year then he sold it and his mother and Virgie went back to New Mexico.

Walter and Sanna were married November 27, 1919. Later they moved to Castle, Oklahoma where their first child, Hattie Lee was born in September, 1920 and two months later in November, Chrissie Jo was born, an instant aunt. Before James Robert was born in October, 1922 they moved back to Summers, AR and lived down by the creek. Uncle James (Jim) Winfrey who lived in South Carolina and worked for Southern Railroad lined up a job for Uncle Walter and Uncle Floyd (only 17 at the time). So Walter moved Sanna and the children to the Morris place, right across the road from Aunt Sannie's mother and dad and went on the train to Spartanburg, South Carolina were he and Uncle Floyd went to work for the Southern Railroad, he in the shops and Uncle Floyd in the offices at Southern Shops. After a short time Uncle Jim and Aunt Edna encouraged him to bring the family out to South Carolina. Uncle Walter rented a small farm house at Sigsbee, S. C. (which was in walking distance of the Shops), and sent for Sanna and the children and they traveled out on the train taking with them only what they could carry. Uncle Jim and Aunt Edna helped them get settled in their new home.

Hattie remembers when she was 4 years old, her mother and Uncle Floyd brought her and Robert back to Arkansas on the train (it took 3 days to get here) for a visit with Grandmother and Granddad. She also remembers Uncle Jack Galbraith had a new car and he was dating Daisy Seratte at the time. He took Aunt Madeline, Aunt Jo and Hattie & Robert for a ride in it over to the Serattes to play with Ophelia and Tommy.

Lynn Baxter (L.B.)was born in November of 1925 and when Hattie started to school, the family moved to the Southern Shops area to be closer to school. Charles was born in October 1927 and shortly after that L. B. contacted rickets and were it not for the Shriners he might not have survived. He was in the Shriners hospital at Greenville, S. C. he underwent surgery where they removed a bone from his leg and put it in his back (he was only 3 or 4 years old and he had to walk with a limp for the rest of his life) They thought of him as their "miracle child".

In 1951 when I graduated from High School, Aunt Sannie, Uncle Walter, Bud and Roy came to Arkansas on the train and they asked mother and dad if I could go back with them. I was so thrilled with the train ride that still took the better part of 2 days, we had an eight hour lay over in New Orleans. After we arrived in Spartanburg, the entire family took me in and treated me like a sister. Hattie Lee's girls called me "Aunt" and still do. They all helped me look for a job but when I was not able to find one, L.B. encouraged me to go to Cecil's Business College where he had attended and I did, of course Aunt Sannie and Uncle Walter financed it. After I finished school and was working, I offered to pay them back and Uncle Walter said "just help your other brothers and sisters along the way and that will be payment in full" I always remembered his words when someone in the family needed help.

L.B. was an accountant and worked for Skoloski Insurance and Real Estate and was robbed and killed in August, 1952 while on a date. They were parked close to the airport watching the planes, come and go. A black man walked up beside the car with a shotgun and told them to give him their money or he would shoot. L.B. didn't think he would shoot and he tried to start the car but the man shot him through the window in the head and then robbed him and raped the woman. By the time she got L. B. to the hospital he was dead. I never will forget that night as long as I live. I stayed with Uncle Walter and Roy while Bud and Aunt Sannie went to the hospital. It was a terrible time but God's strength and family love got them through it. The grieving process was slow due to the time it took to catch the man, then the ordeal of the trial. Then there were the appeals that prolonged the sentencing and final closure went on almost five years.

Bud was determined to follow in Robert's footsteps so he joined the Marines and later Roy joined the Air Force and they both served over seas; Bud in Korea and Roy in Okinawa in the mid and late 1950's. When Bud got out of the service, he joined the National Guards in the late 50's and in 1990 and 1991 participated in the Gulf War, "Desert Storm" campaign with the Arkansas National Guard 142nd Service Battery from Lincoln, AR.

Uncle Walter retired in 1956 and they came back to Arkansas and bought a place with about 20 acres located on Sugar Hill Road in Lincoln, AR. Aunt Madeline and Uncle Cox moved next door to them, just across a little bridge. The sisters loved living close and getting reacquainted in their adult years. It also made it real nice for the out of town families, they could "get two visits for the price of one". When Bobby Jack and Shirley Jeanne Martin married in 1960 and lived there it was still "two for one". Uncle Walter had vegetable gardens & corn planted all over the place for a few years until it was hard for him to walk around outside. He had hardening of the arteries and lost his left leg and was in a wheel chair. He soon learned how to maneuver it and could get around as well as the rest of us.

In March 1959 Walter Ezekiel Jr.(Bud) and Carol Ann McLaughlin were married. A son Robert Everett (Robbie) was born March 18, 1961, Aunt Sannie & Uncle Walter's first grandson. Their second son Erwin Dean Moorman was born June 6, 1962.

Roy married Elizabeth Diane Clark in 1962 and they had three children, Joye Elizabeth born May 14, 1963 and Paul Baxter born March 3, 1968 and Jason Roy born June 20, 1971.

After Uncle Walter died in 1970, Aunt Sannie sold their house and land and bought a house trailer and put it on Roy's lot where it still remains and Charlie lives in it.

WILLIAM ROY and ELIZABETH DIANE CLARK MOORMAN

William Roy Moorman first met Elizabeth (Diane) Clark when he came to Arkansas on furlough with the Air Force in 1959. He was at Aunt Madeline's house and Diane had spent the night with Janetta Carol Gilbreath (Roy's cousin) and Janetta wanted to go by Aunt Madelines to visit with Roy. They didn't say much to each other as he and Janetta and Aunt Madeline were visiting. No other information is available but it went from there. Roy and Diane were married in 1962 in the home of Walter E. Jr. (Bud) and Carol Ann Moorman. Roy worked temporarily for the Arkansas Highway Department and went to work for Standard Register as press operator in 1967 and is still there after 30 years of service. Diane was a technician for Baldwin Piano Company where she worked from 1961 to 1971, (give or take three pregnancies). She got her Real Estate Broker's license and worked at that from 1976 to 1986. She went to work for the U. S. Post Office in 1983 and is now working at the Fayetteville Postal Distribution Office. Roy and Diane were both involved in the Lincoln Jr Chamber of Commerce (Jaycee's) in the 1960's and 1970's. They managed to find time to have three children, Joye Elizabeth born May 14, 1963 and Paul Baxter born March 3, 1968 and Jason Roy born June 20, 1971. In 1967 they bought some land on Sugar Hill Road and built their home, where they still live.

Joye Elizabeth Moorman is the eldest child of Roy and Diane Clark Moorman and she never let her two younger brothers forget it. She attended all 12 years of school at Lincoln and was a star basketball player in high school and was salutatorian of her graduating class. The summer after she graduated from high school she was chosen to represent Arkansas in the Student Exchange American Field Service program. The selected group went to England and built bridges and other repair work across the country. This was in 1981 at the time of Prince Charles and Lady Diane's wedding (they were not invited to the wedding) but they did experience a lot of the excitement that was created by it and they brought home souvenirs to prove it.

Joye attend Hendrix college at Conway,(a United Methodist college) her first year. She then attended and received her Bachelor's degree in Education (BSEd) from The University of Arkansas at Fayetteville in May, 1985 and she and Charlie Ryan were married in Central United Methodist Church at Lincoln, AR June 29, 1985.

Joye got a teaching job at Central Jr. High in Springdale, AR in the math department where she taught for 10 years. They attended Wesley United Methodist Church in Springdale. They have two sons, Tyler William Ryan born October 25, 1990 and Jared Charles born March 8, 1994.

When Jared was only a few months old, Charlie was transferred with Sam's as Assistant Manager in the Meat Department to Memphis, TN, so the Ryan's moved to Memphis where Joye secured a teaching job in the Sr. High School's math department in Marion, AR. They later bought a house and moved to Marion where Tyler is in Kindergarten this year. Tyler loves to come back to Lincoln where he loves to visit with Grandma Nina and Grandma Diane and "Pa Pa" Roy and he also loves to go to Pauline's house and spend the night and have his "beers" (that is what he calls the "Teddy Graham" bear shaped cookies that she keeps for him) you can imagine the look on his mothers and Grandma Diane's faces when they were going somewhere and he said something about Pauline always giving him "beers" he was only 3 at the time. Pauline sure had a lot of explaining to do. Oh, well what's new!

Paul Baxter Moorman, the "middle child" of Roy and Diane's three children. He was very athletic and played on one of Lincoln's "winningest" Basketball teams, they won District and Regional titles in 1986 but got beat out for State Champions. Paul was selected as a member of the KURM Dream team that year and won the Tyson Achievement Award. He also won all state that year. Paul was valedictorians of his graduating class and was accepted at West Point. He got homesick after a few months and came back to the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville where he received his Bachelor's degree in Business. He went to work for Walmart and is Assistant Manager at Idabel, OK. He married Mandy Jones in 1995 and they have a son Zachary Paul born February 14,1996. He is Grandma Diane and "Pa Pa" Roy's little valentine.

Jason Roy Moorman was the youngest of Roy and Diane's children. He also was a basketball player for Lincoln High School and Jason and Becky Cox were both selected on the KURM "Dream Team" in 1989. Jason also received the Tyson Achievement Award that year. He attended the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville and received his Bachelor's degree in Agri Business in August 1994. During his high school and college years he worked summers for Latco and Sun Best. He is now working as Sales Representative for Vigertone Ag products. Jason married Julie Blount in October 1995. Julie received her BA in Criminal Justice from U of A, Fayetteville May, 1995, and works for the Fayetteville Police Department. Jason and Julie presently live on Sugar Hill Road in Lincoln, AR. They have 40 acres out from Cincinnati, AR close to Grandma Mary's place (the old Gardisser home place) They have cattle on the land at present and hope to build a home in the country in the future.

WINNIE DAVIS GALBRAITH ENEKS and ROBERT LEE ENEKS - 50th ANNIVERSARY

GREAT PEOPLE
by: Shirley Spears
and Wanda Eneks Allsup

Our parents, Lee and Winnie Galbraith Eneks were two great people that we love very much. They taught us moral values, work values and an enjoyment of life. We had a good time growing up. Time and again when I hear the family speak they always mention Winnie and her hard work and her great cooking abilities. The talk comes back to these subjects and her deep love of family. She and Lee seemed to always have a group of people around them and enjoyed their visits. Lee could spin a tale with the best of them and you could see that twinkle in his eye, knowing you might not quite believe all of that, but you were afraid to ask for sure. Winnie, of course, would be at his side fussing a little about what he might be telling, with a chuckle in her voice, and knowing all the time you thought it made for a great story. Lee was indeed a master story teller.

Lynn started working for Jap Spears when he was just 12 years old. Always a hard worker ready for a challenge. He joined the Navy when he was about 17 or 18 and married Lucille Preston at 20 years of age. He has one son, Dean and one granddaughter, Melissa.

Mary Jo graduated at Summers with six other students. Betty and Roy Douglas, her two children, has increased her family to with seven grandchildren. She and her husband, Marion Blagg retired and live on Flint Creek near the Arkansas and Oklahoma line.

Anna Ruth and Harold Hyler have lived and raised their family on a farm south of Prairie Grove. They have three children, George, Wayne and Bobby and seven grandkids. Ruth worked for several years at the City Hospital in Fayetteville.

Loretta and Garland Spinks lived south of Lincoln and started their family, later moving to Goose Creek and farmed there also. Their children, Vickie, Keith, Debbie, Stacy and Michael were raised at both locations with some graduating in Lincoln and others in Farmington. Loretta now lives in Fayetteville. She has seven grandchildren.

John Loyd married Francis McCratic and lived in Morrow and Lincoln most of their lives. They have two children, Gene and Blendia and four grandchildren. John retired from the city of Lincoln and they are enjoying some travel and relaxation.

Wanda and Lee Roy Allsup married in 1955 and were in the Navy for 20 years. Lee Roy retired and they moved back to Arkansas. Love at first sight must work sometimes, they went together two weeks before they married and have been married 43 years! They have one son, Roy Lee and three grandchildren, Robbie, Dana and Dusty. They make their home in Prairie Grove, Arkansas.

We talked on the phone for quite some time and Wanda told me that her dad, Lee Eneks, was a wrestler when he was young. Uncle Hat would go with him and watch. Some of our backgrounds holds some interesting stories. It would be nice if we knew more about things like this.

I can remember as a small girl when Aunt Winnie and Uncle Lee lived above us about one half mile. (Of course, they were not aunt and uncle then, nor did I know their nephew Bobby Jack). Lee would come by our house with his horse hitched to his wagon and ask three little kids to come along....we thought he was the greatest! He would tell stories to entertain us and we loved going to their house. Winnie always seemed to have a house full of family and company and one or two more did not seem to matter. We went there as often as my parent would allow. Later it seemed to bridge a gap when I married into the family. It was as if I already knew Bobby Jack's family, some anyway. My parents enjoyed these neighbors and were pleased at another time when they lived below our house about the same distance. Wanda was about the age of my sister, so we visited quite a bit.

John and George Schooler would go hunting behind our places and stop by our house to show my Dad, John (Shorty) Martin their game and would leave some squirrels for us too. They enjoyed visiting and we enjoyed their visit. Wanda talked about playing on the rocky hillside at our place and the fun we had. She also told about the time Loretta was shot in the foot by one of those guns that was not loaded.

Wanda also talked about visiting with family and the importance of children now days learning about playing, being outside, learning more about nature and their heritage, not just spending their time in front of a TV set. She and Lee Roy go out with their grandchildren often to prowl around in the country. Every child should be proud of grandparents like that. I have always enjoyed the company of Winnie and Lee's family. It is interesting to see and talk to them about time that seem so long ago. We get caught up in the busy way of life and seem to miss some of the good visits.

They have always been very good to stop by and see Madeline. She enjoys them very much. Wanda had stopped just the other day to leave pictures and was telling her about the house where they lived. Madeline was impressed that Wanda could remember so plainly living there when she was so small. They talked about the old well house-smoke house and the flowers Grandmother Rachel had, especially the hollyhocks on the side of the yard. Of course the house burned years ago and these memories are all that is left of a part of their lives.

VICKIE SPINKS WESTLAKE
By: Beverely Davenport

David, Vickie, and Ashley Westlake live in Harrisonburg, Virginia. David is President and CEO of Advantage Foods in Petersburg, West Virginia and Vickie is a stay at home mom who is involved in a lot of church activities. Ashley, their daughter, is now 16 and is a cheerleader, sings in the choir, has graduated from modeling school, and has signed with an agent in Washington, D.C. to pick up some local jobs. David likes to hunt and owns a cabin in the West Virginia "woods" where he hunts turkey and deer. The whole family enjoys snow skiing and David and Ashley love scuba diving. They have been to the Cayman Islands a couple of times to swim with the stingrays. Vickie snorkels on the surface and watches them. Ashley will graduate from Harrisonburg High School in a couple of years and is looking at some colleges in the south. She thinks she might like to go to Baylor to seek her fame and fortune. The Westlakes visit Arkansas at least twice a year where they visit with Vickie's mom, Loretta, in Fayetteville and see David's parents in Plainview. They always try to see as many friends and family as possible, too. April 1 of 1997 is their most recent visit.

I would like to thank the Galbraith family. Not for riches or gold but for my height. Yes, I know that the Galbraith genes that I was passed from my Grannie (Winnie Galbraith Eneks) are what makes me 6 foot 5.

The height, raw bone characteristics are things that money can not buy. I hope as you read this book of stories and pictures that you realize that when you see people that look or have a build like yourself that these Galbraith genes are what makes us alike.

I see Uncle William, Bobby Jack Spears, Bud Cox, all the Gilbreath boys, the Moormans kids, Uncle Lynn, Uncle John and me---we all are built alike. Thanks to the Galbraith family.

I may not know everyone who reads this, but I want you to know I thank this branch of my family tree for my height and slim build. Remember we are family. You can tell.

JOHN WINFREY (JACK) GALBRAITH
"UNCLE JACK"
by Pauline S. Abraham

John Winfrey Galbraith (Uncle Jack) was the third child of Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith. He was the first son and had three younger brothers and three younger sisters. He attended school at Summers and he was said to have spoiled his younger sister Margaret by getting her most of the things she wanted. If he didn't bring her silk hose each weekend when he came home he had to go back to town and get them.

Uncle Jack had one of the first cars in the Summers, Arkansas area, it was a 1926 Model T Ford coupe. He later had a 1929 Ford 3- door touring car. Uncle Jack worked for the State Highway Department and he lived away from home during the week and came home on the weekends. He helped build Arkansas Highway 59 when it was only a dirt road from Siloam Springs down past Dutch Mills almost to Evansville before he died.

He was working in Bentonville when Grandmother died in 1932 and Aunt Madeline was only 14 and Aunt Jo was 12 so he felt like he had to teach them how to take care of the house as Granddad had heart trouble and wasn't able to do a lot (and of course that was not man's work) Aunt Madeline remembers he was very particular that things be done right and she knew he would check everything when he came home every weekend.

Jack married Daisy Adeline Seratte September 25, 1934, they were the last of the two Galbraith brothers and one sister that married the two Seratte sisters and one brother. Finnis Seratte & Margaret Galbraith married 08/27/27 and William Galbraith and Mary Seratte were married 04/25/28.

They lived in Bentonville and later in Fayetteville during the week and came back to Summers on the weekend to Papa's house where Aunt Daisy felt she needed to check on her dad and two younger brothers & a sister. Aunt Ophelia was only three when her mother died so Aunt Daisy & Aunt Mary felt they had to fill in for the mother she never got to know.

Aunt Madeline was staying with Uncle Jack and Aunt Daisy in Fayetteville and going to Fayetteville Business College, when their only child Shirley Jean was born September 18. 1937. She only lived a few hours and is buried in White Rock Cemetery.

Uncle Jack loved to fish and he would go with Tommy and Jay Seratte every chance he got and later with Ed & Charles. One of my memories of Uncle Jack was his love to win. Papa Seratte lived on the Rule place just north of the Arkansas-Oklahoma state line where they had an area in the side yard that Uncle Jack had brought the road grader out and dug up the side yard and packed and leveled the dirt. They outlined it with railroad ties and set up a croquet game, where many games were played. There was also a lot of teasing about who was the expert player and Uncle Jack usually proved he was one of the best.

He loved children and loved to tease them. He always had a pocket knife and he would threaten to cut our ears off, of course we knew he was teasing. I remember he was always bringing us toys and candy and material for mother to make us girls dresses.

Uncle Jack and Aunt Daisy were members of the Pentecostal Church and I can remember staying with them when they lived in Fayetteville when I was 7 or 8 years old and going to church with them. With all his teasing and his mischievousness, he had a strong faith in God that he got from his parents.

One weekend in July, 1945 he and Aunt Daisy had come home to Papa's and had gone to Westville that Saturday afternoon. When they got home he and Uncle Tommy were going to shoot chickens for Sunday dinner. They had been joking about who was best shot, etc when he put down his gun and said he had indigestion and went in and took a dose of soda but didn't get any better so they started to Westville to the doctor but he died before they got there.

Our memories of Uncle Jack are all special and varied, but there is one thing I am sure of, was his love for God and his family.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD FOR J. W. GALBRAITH

John Winfrey (Jack) Galbraith was born January 18, 1903 at Concord, Tennessee. The oldest son of Charlie Martin Galbraith and Rachel Ann Winfrey. Jack professed faith in Christ and united with the Pentecostal Holiness church in September, 1933, and was married to Daisy Adeline Seratte September 25, 1934. To this union was born one child, Shirley Jean, who died in infancy.

He was a good Christian man and a devoted husband, a loyal brother and true friend. He had worked for the Arkansas highway department for the past 22 years, and the fact that he worked on the same job and did his work well, speaks better for his upright character and manhood, than words.

Funeral services were held at the Pentecostal Holiness church at 2 p. m. Tuesday by Rev. Ira Fahnestock of Westville, assisted by Rev. Charlie Cook of Lincoln. Burial was in the Lincoln cemetery under direction of the Luginbuel Funeral Home.

Survivors are his wife, three brothers, Floyd, Washington, D. C., William of Westville, and Walter of Summers; five sisters, Mrs. W E. Morman, Spartenberg, S. C.; Mrs. Lee Eneks, Summers, Mrs. F. E. Seratte, Westville; Mrs. Jack Cox, Lincoln; Mrs. H. L. Galbraith, Summers; and one half sister, Mrs. Jennie Green of Concord, Tenn.

JAMES WILLIAM (BILL) GALBRAITH

BILL

Writing about James William Galbraith is not an easy thing to do. He was several different people. I first met him as a service station operator. In fact, he operated many service stations over the years. Each station was a popular "hang-out" for young people...especially boys. Here we worked on our bicycles; using grease and kerosene supplied by James William - better known as Bill. For each boy there would evolve a story. For each station a multitude of stories. In each instance the central character would always be Bill.

Bill was also a deacon and Sunday School teacher. As a deacon he served His Lord through the local church. I have seen him wash the grease from his hands as he hurried off to church following a day of hard labor in the station. He always stood behind his pastor. Even if he thought the pastor might be wrong; yet Bill loved and supported him. As a Sunday School teacher he set a record of never having to promote a child from his class without that child having become a believer in Christ. This the fruit and reward of a faithful man who loved the Word and loved to teach it. When the pulpit became vacant Bill was usually the first one mentioned to serve on the pulpit committee. The church had confidence that he would find the right man that God intended to resume the duties as pastor. Bill was never too busy to stop and help someone having difficulties along the way.

Bill was a friend. Not the fair weather kind; but true friend. He was always the same wherever you met him. He was a common man with uncommon knowledge and understanding. It is said "to have a friend you must be a friend" This proved true in Bill's life and he had many, many friends from all walks of life. Whether a person was rich or poor, high on the social scale or down and out on the bottom; yet he was Bill's friend, and Bill treated them all just the same.

Bill was a husband, a father and a family man. He loved all his children and worked hard all his life to provide for them. While there have been rumors that his only son was the most brilliant of the children; yet Bill loved them all equally just the same. No doubt he had a special love and a special place in his heart for his sweet Mary. When he lost her, he lost more than any of us will ever know.

Having grown up from my boyhood around Bill to the latter years when we would sit together on his front porch and talk about the "old days", I always saw him as my friend, my pal. When I drive by there today I can still "see" him sitting in his chair, fly swatter in hand, watching the temperature rise on the big thermometer affixed to the tree in his front yard.

Not only was Bill several different people, but he had several names. I never heard him addressed as James William but mostly as Bill. He was also known as "Shaw", "Shaw-Shaw", "Ger Shaw" (which was started by Charley Biby because Charley couldn't pronounce correctly the French word le gersau which meant "the boy"). Brother Bill and of course "daddy". I'm sure his heart was glad when he heard that name.

But the sweetest name could only be spoken by his beloved Mary when she would smilingly look into his face and call him "William". For indeed he was her William and she was his Mary.

It has been a source of comfort to me personally since Bill and Mary passed away to know that now they are forever together.

Some day those of us who remain here, will finish our course and go to be with them there. I'll not be surprised at all when I mention some beautiful aspect of Heaven to have Bill walk up to me and say "shaw, you haven't seen anything yet".

BILL, THE GAS STATION ATTENDANT FONDLY REMEMBERED
by: C. V. Lennuel

The warm May sun finally edged its shaft of light across the boy's bed and into his sleeping eyes. Those eyes flicked open with the realization that this was Saturday -- NO SCHOOL --and it was his day to talk to Bill at the gas station. The boy hurriedly slipped into his jeans, T-shirt and tennis shoes and stepped into the kitchen for breakfast. His breakfast was waiting for him under a tea towel on the kitchen table. His Mom always saw to it that he had a special breakfast on Saturday.

As soon as he finished off breakfast with a cold glass of milk, the boy bolted out the back door and immediately stepped on "Old Smokey's" tail. The old dog let out a terrible yelp but fell right in behind the boy as they raced down the street to Bill's gas station. As they sped across the station drive, the boy shouted "Hi" to Charlie, the hired hand that worked at the station on Saturdays. Charlie waved back as he wiped the windshield of an early morning customer.

The boy stepped through the front door of the station and took in the familiar smell of tire patching, oil and grease. He continued on into the back of the station building and said good morning to Marion and Pearl who ran the laundromat complete with the latest in wringer type washers. Now on Saturday morning the boy helped clean up around the station for the privilege of having access too Bill's pop box and old fashioned candy case. The pop box was one of those filled with cold water that always kept the soda pop just right. The candy counter not only held a good variety of candy bars but you could also find boxes of valve cores, cold patching and stop leak mixed in among the goodies. On top of the counter there always stood two "Tom's" jars filled with penny jawbreakers and those big five cent bags of peanuts.

The boy looked up to see Bill smiling down at him from under the bill of an old red baseball cap. Bill was already at work on the tire repair machine called a vulcanizer. Tires were very expensive at this time in the early fifties and repaired or vulcanized tires were very popular with area farmers. Bill was considered by everyone to be the best tire man in Westville and in the boy's eyes, Bill was the very best at everything. He was absolutely convinced that Bill could fix anything that had ever been made. Bill even kept the boy's old junky bicycle in first class running order. It was a lead pipe cinch that the boy was going to grow up and be just like Bill.

Bill was a real family man with a houseful of kids. The boy heard lots of folks wonder how Bill managed to take care of all those kids on what the station made. Even though times were hard for Bill, once in awhile, he was always ready to help someone he thought needed it worse than he did. Bill always told the boy that a feller should never worry about money. "If you share what you have with the Lord", he would say, "the Lord will always take care of you". The boy supposed that both the Lord and Bill held up their end of that bargain because Bill never seemed to have a worry in the world.

Bill greeted the boy with his familiar "What's up?" and the boy always felt warmed by that crooked grin. Now Bill was a giant of a man standing well over six feet with hand big as a meat platter worn rough with work. Those hands were gentle though as he roughed up the boy's hair and sat down in the rickety swivel chair behind the grimy roll-top desk to take out a few minutes for the boy. The boy would pull up a Grapette case for a seat and they would commence their Saturday morning talk.

The two good friends--the giant of a man and the small boy--might argue about who was going to win the World Series. The boy was a Duke Snider and Brooklyn Dodger fan while Bill thought no one could beat Yogi Berra and the New York Yankees. Or they might laugh about the time the boy stuck his tongue to the refrigerator coils in the pop box and Bill had to pour warm water on his tongue to free him.

Though there was much joking and laughing in these Saturday morning sessions., Bill always provided an interested ear to hear any problems the boy need to talk about and always had a soft word of advise or encouragement for the boy. Just having Bill for a friend made a lot of things right for the boy.

They always ended their little discussion with an R-C and a Baby Ruth just as the station driveway was filling with customers and Charlie was yelling his head off for some help. Finally Bill would grab the boy up, rub his whiskers on the boy's face, slap him on the rump and say, "See you in Sunday School tomorrow."

Many of the boy's youthful memories have faded into the busy world of adulthood, but these cherished memories of Saturdays mornings at Bill's gas station will linger indefinitely.

BILL GALBRAITH'S TESTIMONY
September 6, 1992

The following is a testimony by Bill Galbraith, a long time member of First Baptist Church in Westville, Oklahoma. He starts out by talking about an article on the back of the bulletin and I want to read you this, here's what it says:

> I love my church. I was in a revival when I was seventeen years old when I came to know the Lord as my personal savior in this church. I was probably the most unlikely one among the teenage boys here in the community to be saved. Through the love of the people of this church and through the efforts involved in that revival meeting I came to know Jesus, my personal savior. A few years later it was in this church, I met and begin to date a young lady who later became my wife. It was here in this church we were married and all four of our children came to know the Lord in this church. One of them surrendered to full time Christian service. Through the years members of this church have visited me in the hospital, prayed for me when I had special burdens, given me an opportunity to serve others, to learn about God's word, to teach God's word, and to share in telling the story of Christ through missions and mission giving around the world. A little over a year ago my wife went home to be with the Lord. The church family again reached out and ministered to us and are continuing to do so to this day. Because of the administration of this church all of my children are saved and my wife is at home with my Father in Heaven. I now am 67 years of age and for fifty years this church has made a difference in my own personal life. As a part of my gratitude to God and a part of my devotion and commitment to this church I plan on, I Love My Church Sunday, to give the largest gift I have ever given to God's work. I'll be praying with you that on, I Love My Church Sunday, will be one of the highest days we've every known in the life of our church. Yes, I do love my church.

This is a reprint of an article with the author unknown, but that's what Bill is referring to when he begins his testimony. Listen now as Bill gives a testimony of what this church has meant to him in his life.

Somehow or other the Lord just gave me a thrill when I accepted him as my personal savior. And this little article on the back of the bulletin, it touched me very much. It says, I love my church, and I do, I tell you, I sure love this church and you know what makes the church, the people and they are what has given me the courage to go on. You know back in nineteen hundred and twenty six on the 27th day of November I slipped of to the woods hunting. My folks were going on a wedding party and I didn't want to go. I felt so blue, you know, and just down hearted--I got my gun and slipped off to the woods. I thought I went off alone, but when I can back, I wasn't alone, I found out that the Lord was with me all the way. I haven't always been what I should be just like our children, they don't always do just what we want them to, but still they are our children, and I have been a child of God for 65 years.

I... to start in with, when I was 12 years old there was three of us boys sitting on an old freight cart over at Summers, Arkansas and they said, lets go to church tonight and join the church. We did. We went up there and joined the church, and I was just as lost as I could be. And somehow or another people would talk to me about my life, you know, my Christian life and I would tell them, Oh yea, I belonged to such and such a church. I'll tell you, church membership won't make it your way to heaven. You've got to do something else. You've got to accept Jesus Christ, for he bled and died on the cross and every time that I have a spell of sickness or suffering, I come out stronger for Christ before I went in.

I was in the Veterans Hospital one time and thanking the Lord for being there. One of my buddies laying over there said, what are you thanking the Lord for you being in the hospital. I said, I wouldn't have been able to witness to you if it had not been for this. And he was just like I had been, a Christian, but he had drifted away. Just exactly like what we have been studying in 2nd Kings, how that the people..., one king would come along and he'd take up where his father had cut off and the evil things that he had done and we see what happened to them. Are we going to let that happen to America? It looks like it very much. I tell you, it grieves me to think when you pick up your paper or turn on your radio or TV about all you see is crime and how long is God going to put up with it. We don't know. But He says His time is coming, He's going to send judgement upon sin and we can really count on that because I think his word is true. and I just want to tell you people how much I appreciate just like this article on the back of your bulletin there. I thank God that he led me here.

I wasn't saved here in this church I was saved out on an old flat rock over here in Arkansas. (chuckled) Blessed, I tell you that it's, I thought I was having a lot of fun back before then, but I didn't know what joy was until Jesus came into my heart. And there was years then after that I failed to attend church. I drifted away, just let something else get into my mind, but still yet, God was after me all the time. And I had a rough time, I worked day and night nearly, thought I had to, to support my family and God took a little baby girl away from us and something said to me, you're not fit to raise her the way you're living. That changed me, I'll tell you. I got to going to church and for the years there I'd laid out and never contributed a thing at all to God's work. But after that he laid on my heart that I must give. I started tithing and thing went to changing and I told my wife, bless her heart, that we could do more than that, we could do more than tithing and we just doubled what we were giving. And we went to prospering, bought a home. Before that I hadn't be able to buy a home, but bought a home, paid for it through the will of God. He's the one that supplied my needs. I promised Him right then, I said, God as long as you supply the need, I'm going to contribute to this church. To Your church. Because... you know we can't buy our way into heaven though. We've got to show it other wise and I don't give because I'm trying to win my way to heaven that a way, but I try to live a life every day as if anyone follows me they won't go astray.

I taught Sunday School here in this church for little better that twenty years. I started in with the little Junior boys. As I told sister there awhile ago as she brought me a handful of cards from her junior GA girls. I said, I thank God for them. You know, they are going to be the church of tomorrow. I see young faces around over the auditorium here now that were in my Sunday School class and grew up right around me and it just means so much to me to know that some of the words of the Lord drifted back to them and it has just been a blessing to me. But as I say, you can't out give the Lord. I don't care, He says I'll meet your every need. He don't say I'll give you everything you want, but He says, I'll meet your every need. And He has proved that over and over to me. I've, as I said, in 1926, the 27th day of November which was on a Thanksgiving Day... I'll tell you I get so spiritually filled along about that time, I just get to bubbling over. I just was telling brother Doug here some time back about how long the Lord had been looking over me, he said, why Bill, he's been watching over you longer than that. He's been watching over you all your life. I hadn't thought about it that a way, but you know that's the reason we're all here right now, is through his will. and He sometimes..., we suffer for him sometimes. I was telling one of the men here while back, I was a feeling pretty uncomfortable and I said, sometimes we bring these things upon ourselves. And I said lots of times God puts them on us to test us, look what Job went through and he hadn't sinned. It wasn't for sin that he was suffering but God let the devil test him, to prove to him that he was faithful. And that's what we've got to do through our lives not trust anything on earth, but trust in God. He'll see and do what He's promised you He'll do. My prayer has been answered many a time for what this church has meant to me. I thank God for each and every one and I want you to continue to pray for me. See, I'm not just as active as I used to be and I don't know, I don't think it is because of sin this has come upon me, but I think God is just testing me to prove to the people what He can do. There He's left me stay here fifteen years on his time. You know He only promised three score year and ten, which is 70 years and He's given me an extension on life. Well we see in our Bibles if we study, how one of these kings wasn't as faithful as he had ought to have been, maybe, but God extended his life 15 year. So I don't know this may be the end of time for me, but it's not for a lot of people. If he takes me home now, I know it will be much better than I have had here on earth.

One gentleman that came to my party yesterday, was telling the lady sitting next to me, one of my old friends, you know he tried to kill me. And I got to thinking, how in the world did I try to kill you. He said, you tried to work me to death. He said, I used to work for you and the first thing I got to do when I went to work for you was you had a stack of flats there to fix. I told him back then, it did not make any difference how much money you had you couldn't buy a tire. They were rationed and we had to make up, make do. It... they talk about the good old day, you younger generation don't know what the good old days was. We had it rough. I ask him, do you remember how much I paid you a week. I was giving salary more than any business in town and he said, yeah, you gave me twenty dollars a week. How many of these younger generation will remember them good old days. I'll tell you, you don't know what it is. I've got a grandson, he draws more in an hour than I made in a week. So that you can call that good old times if you want to, but we elderly people know what those good old times meant.

We knew one another. I talked to a fellow from California here while back and he had worked for six years, with a man right by him, and didn't even know his name. That is the difference then. People mix and mingle together then and knew one another. I look over the congregation here now and there's people that grew up right here in Westville and I don't know there names. Times have changed.

Well, I've took up enough time I think, but I just want you to know, what God has meant to me... how he has given me the opportunity of being here all these years and I hope and trust that through my life, has led a many a one to believe in Him. That's the testimony that I want to... give. I tried to live that kind of life. I was telling someone about a song I want sang at my funeral. There's two. One of them is "Life's Railway to Heaven" and 'Throw out a Life Line" is the other. They were sang at my mother's funeral by a lady that she said, why Mrs. Galbraith, I can't sing, but I'll tell you, that was the sweetest music I ever heard because that was Mother's life. She tried, she kept her eye on the kingdom of heaven just like in the song of her's in "Life's Railway to Heaven" and "Throw out a Lifeline" is another one of my testimonies, I may not be able to speak but I try to live a life that will lead them in the right direction.

The following is the Nashville Singers singing:

"Life's Railway to Heaven".

Life is like a mountain railroad, with an engineer that's brave.
We must make the run success, from the cradle to the grave.
Watch the crew that builds the tunnel.
Never falter never fails, keep your hands upon the throttle and you eye upon the rail.

Chorus:
Blessed Savior, thou wilt guide us 'til we reach that blissful shore where the angels wait to join us in thy grace forever more.

You will roll a bridge of trial, you will cross the bridge of strife.
With Christ as your conductor, on this lighting train of life.
Always mindful of obstruction,
do your duty, never fail.
Keep you hand upon the throttle
and you eye upon the rail..

Chorus

As you roll across the trestle, slanting Jordans swelling tide.
You'll behold the union depot, into which your dream of life.
There you'll met the superintendent,
God the father, God the son.
With a hearty joyous body, weary pilgrim welcome home

Chorus.

TESTIMONY: BILL GALBRAITH
Taped message: by Bill Galbraith

I just like to tell you a little bit about my experience in tithing. When I was a young man I worked almost day and night. I didn't attend church regular and I didn't tithe, I didn't give any support to the church. I just thought it took everything I made to make a living for my family. Through all this I lost all interest in church, I just wandered away, in what you might say, in a back slidden condition. I didn't seem to want to go to church..didn't have a desire to go. But, the Lord finally opened my eyes. He took a little baby girl away from us, only 16 days old. It meant a whole lot to me to have that precious little thing. The Lord told me, you're not fit to raise that child, I'm going to take her home, and He took her away from us...took her into Glory. That begin to open my eyes. I began to pray to the Lord that he would give me a stronger understanding of what he was trying to tell me and how he was going to prove to me how I could make a living for my family and support them without all the money I could make. But, I found out that once upon a time, back there years ago, the Lord laid on my heart to start attending church. After I moved to Westville, I'd bring my children to Sunday School and church, but I didn't come. I didn't think I had time to. But still yet, God was working on me all the time. Finally, I started going to First Baptist Church here in Westville. I would come into the opening exercise in Sunday School and sit there. No one invited me to a class, but still I knew there was something I needed to do. One Sunday morning, brother Dennis Bushyhead came to me and said Bill, come up and sit with our class. I had just been sitting back in back of the auditorium and not attending any class. But, I accepted that invitation and went up and sit with the class and the first thing I know, God began to open up my eyes and enter into my heart the spirit of the Lord that He would use me in some way, so I gave a little bit to the Sunday School class, but I didn't contribute regularly to the church. Then after awhile one Sunday morning I was coming into church and the tie rod broke on my old automobile and when I wound up finally stopped, I was sitting with one front wheel on the curb of a culvert which was across a little creek and it was about 4 or 5 foot from the top of that culvert to the bottom of it. If I'd a went off of there, I would have probably lost maybe myself and three of my children that were in the car. But, somehow the Lord spared us; give me another jar right there and opened my eyes right there a little more. So I came on in tidied up and got the children to Sunday School and went to the shop and repaired the car. But the next Sunday morning I was in Sunday School and begin to attending regular and begin giving to the church. My wife she finally got to where she could come and we both attended pretty regularly that is we...well we didn't exactly tithe, we were so far behind sometimes we were giving more than a tithe. And you know what, God supplied us with the money that in just a few years we were able to purchase our own home with God's help. He opened my eyes and I seen then that we couldn't outgive Him. Whatever we done he would more than repay it. So, I begin praying and Mary and I both prayed and we begin to give way above our tithe. Now folks, I don't mean to be a boasting, but I just want to show you what God will do if you will turn it over to him. When we started to build this new auditorium the Lord said, you can do more. Mary and I prayed about it and we just doubled what we were giving. The Lord just begin to prosper us and we raised our family without any burden and when it was all over, said and done, we even had money in the bank. We didn't have very much, but the Lord supplied our every need. I promised him then that what every happened as long as he supplied our needs, I would give still yet the same amount that I had been giving. And thank the Lord, He has wonderfully blessed and supplied me of that need. Now, I'm still yet giving, trying to catch up with a tithe that I missed that long years of service. I want to thank the people here in this church and ask them, dear Heavenly Father that they would only give accordingly to whatever they receive. Young folks, you may think that you can't give a tithe, but whenever you receive your allowance, just set aside one tenth of it and see what God can do for you. He will make you a blessing that you can't begin to count and he will guide you and give you strength and courage to teach others to tithe. You know dear Heavenly Father that these still mean so much to me and opened my eyes and showed me how I was drifting away, when I was drifting away and how you brought me back into the fellowship and now Lord I'm just leaving it all up to you to lead guide and direct me. Thank you. For it is in Christ's name, AMEN

MY FAMILY
By: Betty Hicks

Vera Kate Galbraith Lynn was the oldest child of Bill and Mary Seratte Galbraith. Kate was born in Summers, Arkansas on February 10, 1929. She graduated in 1947 from Westville High School, Westville, Oklahoma. On December 16, 1958 Kate married Dearl Lynn in Odessa, Texas.

There are five girls and one boy in my family, I am the 4th oldest or 3rd youngest (which ever). There are three of us that are Dearl and Kate's. Betty (me), Billye and Dearla. Two of the kids are Kate's. Odessa and Randy. Then one daughter is Dearl's, Debra.

Mom (Kate) would kid around and tell people that her family was his, mine and ours. But, we were raised "Brother and Sisters". We were never half or step. It never mattered how many miles away from each other we were. We were still Brother and Sisters and still are.

In January of 1991 we all had to pull together. Our mother, Kate, had cancer. We all watched our mother go from that outgoing person to a very sick person. Before she passed away we all knew she loved us very much. Then April 29, 1992 she passed away in Lawton, Oklahoma and was buried on May 2 in Snyder, Oklahoma. It was the hardest thing that had ever happened in our family.

Mom (Kate) was with Civil Service 20 years. She had worked through all kinds of things. She was in a tornado that tore up Altus Air Force Base. She said that it was scary. They didn't get to come home. She had to stay and work even after the storm. They didn't let anyone on or off the base. When she did get off she had to drag a 2 X 4 out of her back window on her car. It beat her car up and a lot of other peoples car's too.

I hear Mom (Kate) was a good basketball player. She went to school at Westville. She had a chance to join a women's basketball team, "The Red Heads", but she went to Business College instead.

Mom (Kate) and Dad (Dearl) was married 34 years. My Dad (Dearl) was a roofer. Mom (Kate) was a mom and housewife until 1971 when she started work with Civil Service.

We all miss her very much. She wasn't just our mother, she was our best friend. We see her in her loving family.

Note:
Betty Hicks wrote a letter and talked about putting in her two cents worth on the family stories. Betty is the daughter of Kate and Dearl Lynn and Granddaughter to Bill & Mary Seratte Galbraith. She lived two years in Westville and thought they were the best years of her childhood. They lived next door to Grandma Mary & Grandpa Bill Galbraith. Betty told of Grandma & Grandpa having the kind of Christmas you always dreamed of. Her grandparents were everything to Betty and her family. She wanted to share a few stories about the Galbraith family with you. SJS 8-95

THE BLUE CROSS

I remember Mom and Aunt Jean use to take us riding around on Saturday nights. One night they were going to show us a blue cross on a mountain somewhere in Arkansas. This cross was lit up with blue lights. We drove and drove. Bonnie (cousin, Jean's daughter) wasn't but about 4 or 5 years old. Bonnie would keep asking, are we lost. Mom and Aunt Jean would say no. Bonnie started crying. Aunt Jean said, "Bonnie, we're not lost." We found that blue cross. Poor little Bonnie was right, we were lost and the cross was on the other side of the road from what it should have been. Because Aunt Jean and Mom had gotten lost and found it on accident, and on top of it all, Bonnie fell asleep and never even saw the Blue Cross. By: Betty Hicks

KICK THE CAN

Aunt Jean would play games with us kids until one night and a game of Kick the Can. We didn't know how to play so Aunt Jean was showing us how to play. You know we never did learn how to play Kick the Can. You see, Aunt Jean missed the can and fell and hurt her arm.

So the game was over. She hurt it bad enough she had to go to the doctor and had to keep it wrapped. She never would show us again. By: Betty Hicks

THE COUCH

Let me warn you about my Aunt Sue. Don't let her fool you with all that sweetness. Don't talk back or pester her while standing around the couch.

One day I did just that and she wrestled around with me and threw me behind grandma and grandpa's couch. I think it stunned Aunt Sue as much as it did me. Still to this day she tells me she'll throw me behind a couch. By: Betty Hicks

SCAREY THINGS

Odessa and Randy use to scare me when I was little. They would want me to watch scary movies on T.V. The scary part would come on. I would cover my eyes. Odessa would tell me the scary part was over, I'd uncover my eyes and there would be the skeleton or monster. Grandma Mary would get onto them then watch the show with me.

They also would lock me in Grandma and Grandpa's bathroom. They would turn off the light and hold the door shut on me, and tell me ghost or monsters were in there. I would scream until someone came and saved me. By: Betty Hicks

MY DOG BILL

I know some of my family thought I was crazy. I had a little dog named Bill when we lived next door to Grandma Mary and Grandpa Bill. I used to dress him up like a baby. Yes, even a diaper. I would cut a hole in the diaper so his tail would fit through. Then I would make him stand up and I would hold his paw (hand) and make him walk (all over the neighborhood). Aunt Jean would tell me if I didn't quit dressing him up like that the other dogs wouldn't play with Bill. I got Bill when I was in the second grade. He died when I was a senior. I play with that dog hour after hour. When I got in trouble, he was who I turned to.

There was a time the youth group was at the Pentecostal church next to Grandma and Grandpa's house. The town sounded off the siren. A tornado had been sighted. Well, the only thing I could think of was Bill was tied up and couldn't help himself. So when the church let us go home, I ran to help Bill. By the time I got the Grandpa's I was really scared and crying. There Mom (Kate) was with her arms wide open waiting to comfort me. And I ran around her and went straight to Bill. They (the family) really gave me a hard time about that.

Odessa saved old Bill from the dog catcher. Bill had killed the neighbors chicken, so the neighbor called the catcher. The catcher was a big man. that Odessa just flat told him he wasn't getting Bill. so I had to keep him tied up. By: Betty Hicks

TRAINS

I remember riding a train to Odessa, Texas. Grandpa Bill stopped a train there at Westville one night so we could go home. We got to ride on the caboose because my sister Billye got motion sickness.

I've wrote things I can remember. Aunt Mae, Aunt Mary Jane, Aunt Velma and Uncle Charles didn't live close enough to tell things on them, but I've been told there are stories on them too. Maybe someone else can tell on them. by: Betty Hicks

CHARLES ROBERT GALBRAITH

I was born Thursday, October 1, 1931 at the home of my paternal grandparents, Charles Martin and Rachel Ann (nee: Winfrey) Galbraith, who lived two and one-half miles north of Summers, Washington County, Arkansas. I was the second child and only son of James William (Bill) and Mary Susan (nee: Seratte) Galbraith. Vera Kate was my older sister and I was followed in birth order by Anna Mae; Wilma Sue; Shirley Marie; Velma Ruth; Elva Jean and Mary Jane.

My early years were spent in and around Summers, Arkansas with my earliest memories of a home called "the hollow" surrounded by a host of aunts, uncles and cousins. Almost all of the Galbraiths and Serattes had made their homes in Washington County, Arkansas.

I started school in a one-room-eight-grade school named Eureka, but we moved to Summers within one month. I finished my first year at Summers then we moved to the Pleasant Hill Community where I completed second grade in another one-room-eight-grade school. Our family moved to Oklahoma and I attended third grade at Chouteau. We moved to Westville after one year, and I completed the rest of my public school years at Westville, graduating in 1949.

My first college years were spent at Connors College, Warner, Oklahoma. I finished my undergraduate years at Northeastern State College, Tahlequah, Oklahoma, in 1954 with a B.A. Degree in social Science Education. I finished my formal education at the University of Oklahoma where I completed a Master of Education Degree in School Administration in 1960 and a Doctor of Education in School Administration and Educational Psychology in 1966.

I spent the years from April 1954 to April 1956 in the United States Army as an agent in the Counter Intelligence Corps (CIC). My duty stations were Fort Bliss, Texas; Fort Holibird, Baltimore, Maryland; and Old Customs House, Denver, Colorado before being discharged at Fort Carson, Colorado.

My work history includes:

1958-1961 Prague Public Schools, Prague, Oklahoma - Head Coach in Football and Basketball and Social Studies Teacher.

1961-1963 University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma - Teaching Assistant and Research Assistant for the College of Education.

1963-1966 University of Oklahoma, Norman Oklahoma - Director of Financial Aids.

1966-1969 Northeastern State University, Tahlequah, Oklahoma - Professor of Education.

1969-1970 University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma - Director of the Liberal Studies Program.

1970-1980 Northeastern State University, Tahlequah, Oklahoma - Professor of Education and Chair of the Department of Education.

1980-1987 Northeastern State University, Tahlequah, Oklahoma - Professor of Education.

1987-1997 Sam Houston State University, Huntsville, Texas - Associate Professor of Education, Department of Curriculum and Instruction.

Most of my life has centered around education. The things that have come of which I am most proud have usually been associated with schools. I was a Co-Captain of my high school, junior college, and college football teams; Student Senate President at both Connors College and Northeastern State; On the Dean's Honor Roll every semester of every year in college; Sponsor of PeEt (Male Leadership Honor Society) at the University of Oklahoma; Faculty Senate; Member, Faculty Senate of Sam Houston State University. Perhaps the greatest honor that came to me while teaching at Sam Houston State is that I was asked to develop a skit and to dress as Sam Houston to present at numerous schools in the Huntsville area.

My students have usually regarded me as a good teacher who is fair and who wish them well while maintaining high standards. I have always tried to demonstrate dedication to my profession and have called on my students to do their best.

I met my wife, Alura Cole while we were students at Connors College. We dated some while there then found each other again in 1954 in Washington, D.C. where she was a FBI clerk and I was in the Army. Most of our courtship headquartered out of Uncle Floyd and Aunt Easter's home in D.C. Alura returned to Oklahoma Baptist University to complete her Bachelor of Science Degree. We were formally engaged at the Luther Brown home at Alva, Oklahoma at the President's Mansion. We were married August 6, 1955 in Alura's home church, the First Baptist Church of Porum, Oklahoma.

Three children came from our union: Stephanie Lynne, born August 19, 1957; James Albert, born July 21, 1959; and Jon Mark, born September 11, 1963. Our children have been our pride and our joy. Stephanie has a Master of Library Science Degree from NSU and is a Middle School Librarian at Jay, Oklahoma. James Albert (Jim) graduated from the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado and served 12 years as an Air Force officer before resigning his commission to return to college to study to be a Physicians Assistant at the University of Central Oklahoma. Jon Mark completed a Medical Doctor Degree at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center. he will complete a Residency in Sports Medicine at Ohio State University starting in 1997.

Our grandchildren are: Tara Christine born July 29, 1988 and Joshua James born on September 6, 1991. They are the children of Jim and Barbara and both of them are beautiful and highly intelligent.

NSU professor likes to keep busy

By PHIL BURROWS
Assistant Sports Editor

TAHLEQUAH — Whether it's in his classes or at home, Dr. Charles Galbraith's job never seems to be completed.

Galbraith, professor of education at Northeastern State University, likes it that way. He keeps himself busy.

"I hate to give up the class I'm teaching because I think I have them thinking in the same philosophical direction I'm going," said Galbraith, who's been in public education more than 30 years. "They understand where I'm coming from.

"But I look forward to the next class coming in. I can't wait to get started with them.

"There's never a day so bad that I don't look forward to the next one."

Galbraith still works on remodeling his home 5 miles east of Tahlequah, a project he started 16 years ago. He and his wife, Alura, and their three children moved there then. The first step was replacing the termite-infested floors. Ever since, Galbraith has remodeled every room.

"Charlie's always doing something," Alura said. "If he's not working on the house, he's tending the few cattle we have, painting or cutting wood for the stove.

"He's easy-going and very caring."

Galbraith was an original board member of the Briggs Rural Water District's recently-completed self-help project, which took three years. He spent more than 120 hours and vacation time digging ditches for a water line.

Besides his normal teaching load, Galbraith served as NSU's faculty athletic representative since 1982. One of his duties in that capacity was to study issues and make recommendations to the university president concerning athletic policies in the Oklahoma Intercollegiate Conference.

Galbraith recently resigned that post, saying he wanted to go out the same time as former head football coach and long-time friend George Elliott. He and Elliott played on Redmen conference championship teams in the early '50s.

"I hate to see Charlie get out as faculty rep," said NSU Athletic Director Dr. Jack Dobbins. "He's been very valuable because he interacts well with other representatives from other universities.

"Charlie has strong work ethic and academic principles. He was

(See GALBRAITH on Page 2A)

Dr. Charles Galbraith

ideal as a faculty athletic rep."

Another vehicle Galbraith used to stay close to athletics was being a high school football official. He refereed games for 18 years.

Galbraith said his work ethic developed from experiences with his Westville High School football coach, Woodrow Bowles; former NSU president Harrell E. Garrison and former University of Oklahoma president George Cross.

"We went 2-7 my senior year at Westville but coach Bowles produced a dozen college football players from that team. He stressed doing the very best you could and loved to work with kids.

"As director of financial aids at OU, I listened to Cross' philosophy and admired his attitude toward life.

"Garrison was a young, dynamic president. You'd see him everywhere, from athletic contests to wiener roasts at the foot of the campus. I looked at him and decided I wanted to be a college president. That's what pushed me into higher education."

Last fall, Galbraith designed and held a workshop for "Strategies for Teaching the Gifted" at NSU.

"To work with those kind of people was the most challenging thing I've done in awhile," he said.

Two years ago, Galbraith attended an American Standard Curriculum Development Institute in Surrey, British Columbia. He's since created and teaches "Instructional Strategies" classes for a certified graduate program.

He advises more than 100 graduate students and 40 to 50 undergraduates. But the classroom provides him a chance to teach his "spiritual children".

"I like the teaching of teachers; the challenge of continuing to learn how to learn," he said. "You're perpetuating yourself because the next generation is watching them teach.

"I call them my spiritual children. If I have an influence on them, my philosophy is passed on. They might pass it on to the next generation."

Jim Galbraith, a senior at Tahlequah High School, has been named to the Big Eight Magazine's Schoolboy Superstars football squad.

Galbraith, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Galbraith, was also selected to the Oklahoma High School All-State Team by the publications which hit the news stands earlier this month.

The 6-3, 200 pounder landed a berth on both teams at a linebacker position. Galbraith started at linebacker on last year's 6-4 Tiger squad and will see duty there again in '77. He is also expected to lineup in the tailback slot on offense.

According to Tahlequah athletic director and head football coach Kent Lashley, Galbraith was named to the teams because of his size and speed. (4.7 in the 40)

"Jim has been working hard this summer and we're expecting great things from him this fall," Lashley explained.

Galbraith, who has been contacted by numerous major universities, is the second Tahlequah player to be recognized by the magazine in the last three years. Ed Culver, now at Oklahoma University, was named in the 1975 edition.

The Tiger senior joins Yukon's Steve Holmes and Ken Muncy of Shawnee as the only Oklahoma players selected on the defensive team.

Larry Stephans, 6-1, 185 pound quarterback, was the only other Tahlequah player listed in the publication. Stephens received Honorable-Mention honors to the pre-season All-State squad.

Galbraith, Stephens and their Tiger teammates begin fall practice August 9, and the '77 season starts Sept. 2, at home against Owasso.

Local Athlete Appointed To Air Force Academy

Congressman Ted Risenhoover has announced the appointment of a young man from Tahlequah to the United States Air Force Academy.

James Albert Galbraith, 18, son of Charles and Alura Galbraith of Tahlequah, will begin his education at the academy late this summer, Risenhoover said.

Galbraith, who graduates this spring from Tahlequah High School, is in the top 10 per cent of his class academically, with a grade-point average of 3.83. He has been active in sports and elective school offices.

Risenhoover also announced that a 17-year-old from Bartlesville, Mark Tillman, has been appointed to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

"I'm proud of both of these young men," Risenhoover said. "They have demonstrated through academic excellence and their interest in military service a sincere desire to improve America."

Galbraith named All-State

By Mike Meigs

Mark Galbraith, 6-3, 215 lb. tackle from Tahlequah has been named to the 1982 Oklahoma Coaches Association All-State team.

Mark is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Galbraith of Tahlequah. Pre-season polls listed Galbraith a second team Blue Chip football prospect. Galbraith admits this factor was one of the main reasons he pushed so hard to become an All-Stater. Mark's brother, Jim, was an All-State linebacker in 1978, and now plays for the Air Force Academy. "Jim has been a positive force behind my determination as a football player," Galbraith said.

Tahlequah's head football coach and Athletic Director Charles Cooper said, "Mark possesses good strength and he's intelligent. He reads blocking schemes very well and is a good pass rusher."

Galbraith plans to sign a national letter of intent next week, either with TU or OSU.

Galbraith led Tahlequah's defense with 16 tackles a game last season as a senior. He played both linebacker on defense and tackle on offense.

Galbraith, in addition to being named All-State, was also All-Conference and All-District this past season. He is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the Psychology Club, the T-Club, and a past Boy's Stater.

The coaching staff, faculty, administration, fellow students, and community join in wishing Mark congratulations for this honor.

Tahlequah's Galbraith gets lift

By PHIL BURROWS
Assistant Sports Editor

Tahlequah's Mark Galbraith suffered a letdown at Christmas time in 1980 when his older brother, Jim, came home for the holidays from the Air Force Academy.

Mark, an offensive-defensive tackle, wasn't discouraged to see his brother but a metropolitan newspaper had Mark — then a junior — rated a second-teamer on its Blue Chip football prospects list.

Jim, who was a senior fullback for AFA in Colorado Springs, Colo., was listed as a first teamer on the same newspaper's honor roll and went on to be an All-State linebacker for the Tigers in 1978.

"It was really a downer for Mark to pick up a newspaper and see he was a second-team pick," said their father, Dr. Charles Galbraith, who was a lineman for Northeastern State in 1952-53.

Mark Galbraith, however, equalled his brother's feat being named to the 1982 Oklahoma Coaches Association All-State Team as a tackle.

Galbraith, who led Tahlequah's defense with 16 tackles a game last season as a senior, admitted Jim's success inadvertently put pressure on him to succeed.

"I felt I had to do my best and at least do what Jim did," said Mark, a 6-3, 215-pounder. "When I saw I was second team on that Blue Chip list I, I put a lot of pressure on myself."

The younger Galbraith dedicated himself to the sport.

"I thought about football every spare minute," said Galbraith. "I looked at a team's tendencies and was playing ahead."

The mental preparation paid off. Galbraith averaged one tackle for a loss of five yards each game for Tahlequah, which was 5-5.

And Mark attracted scouts from the Air Force Academy, Tulsa and Oklahoma State as a defensive end prospect.

"He's an outstanding lineman on both sides of the football but his love is defense," said Tahlequah coach Charles Cooper said about Mark, who has narrowed his choices to TU and OSU. "Mark possesses good strength and he's intelligent. He reads blocking schemes very well and is a good pass rusher."

Charles Galbraith said

Mark Galbraith

Cooper and two of his assistants, Chris Gwartney and Bob Stinnett (now at Pryor), were positive influences on Mark.

"Mark was discouraged as a sophomore," the elder Galbraith said. "He made the statement, 'If I'm going to be good at something, I'll have to do it just with my brain.'

"But Cooper, Gwartney and Stinnett joined the coaching staff before the next season and gave him confidence as a leader."

When hearing he was named an All-Stater, Mark was humble.

"He came in the room and calmly announced it," Charles Galbraith said. "I'm sure he was tremendously excited within. He seemed to talk more than usual that afternoon."

I wanted to write about all the special people in my life but when I started to list them, I realized there are a lot of "special" people, because as I get to know different people each with their own unique qualities, they all become special to me. God has blessed me with the opportunity to meet so many people, and like Will Roger's I have not met many people that I did not like.

Most of the people I have come in contact with either wanted to give me something or wanted something from me, whether it was from love or necessity. There is one person that stands along in my admiration outside of my siblings that never asked anything from me or offered me anything, we just were. Whatever each of us wanted to give or take was just how it was. I always felt fortunate that we were related and about the same age. The fact I was seven months older than she never intimated her in the least. We argued and tried to one up the other as children growing up but I always felt a bond that words or actions could not transcend. I have always been happy just being around her no matter what we do. There always seems to be a peace knowing she was there whether it was a happy time or a sad time. She is a quieter more serene person than I am but that doesn't take away from my excitement and it adds a calming effect to my fears and anxiety or grief. There has always been a feeling of rivalry yet contentment and approval.

We have laughed so much together and a lot of times when others wondered at our sanity but we understood. In all of my sad or happy times she has been there, if not in person, I knew her thoughts and prayers were there. Our parents gave us a Christian background but we each have had our own personal relationship with God and she has such a strong faith that I get strength from that.

Anna Mae Galbraith Watkins was my nemesis as well as my inspiration while growing up and nothing has changed. Daddy was the oldest of his brothers and sisters but Mae would argue with me that her mother knew more than my daddy did about the pronunciation of our last name but when we went to Papa Seratte who was the father of my daddy and her mother and I was so proud that he told us that the original pronunciation was Seratte but after coming to Arkansas the people here called it sea rat. But do you think that stopped her, she even taught her son to pronounce it wrong. Mae has been an encouragement to me. She sang at my wedding - we made some wild trips together whether it was from Wichita to Westville or from Wichita to Emporia - on our way to K.C.

Her strong faith in God and her inner beauty has always kept me in awe of her faith, humor, wit and tenacity. I can only thank God and our parents that they made it possible for me to have a special cousin, friend and confidant and someone that I can say is and has always been an inspiration to me. Her strength in times of adversity has always been amazing to me. Her ability to sing hymns to J.D. in his last minutes here will always be an indication of her faith and inner strength. Mae has taught me to treasure life to its fullest and be thankful to God for all his blessings.

ANNA MAE GALBRAITH WATKINS
by: Mae Watkins

I was born the third child, second daughter of James William and Mary Susan Seratte Galbraith. The first years of my life was spent at "the Hollow". We children spent a carefree life which I thought it was the best life anyone could have. We always had food to eat and something to wear and wonderful parents, so I was content. Looking back I now know how hard Dad and Mom had to work to keep us going.

When I was about four years old we moved to Summers, Arkansas where I started 1st grade. We moved in the summer to Pleasent Hill where I went the first half of the second grade. We moved to Chouteau, Oklahoma and I finished 2nd grade there. We moved to Westville, Oklahoma where I finished grade and high school. After high school I went to Conners Jr. College. Then I went to Northeastern at Tahlequah for one year and one summer. I decided to go to Kansas and start teaching as you could teach in Kansas before you graduated from College.

I got a job at Haysville, Kansas teaching 3rd and 4th grades. I taught there 4 years. My weekends were spent with my second family, Aunt Margaret and Uncle Finnis and their children. My girl friend Thelma Moore taught with me and always went to "Miss Margaret's" house with me. We had many adventures, like the time Thelma had a date and we sewed up her P.J.'s. We all wanted to get in on the fun so all five of us including "Miss Margaret" were in one double bed. As "Miss Margaret" had been feeling bad, when Thelma came in she didn't want to wake us up so she undressed in the dark. When she started to put on her P.J.'s she soon begin talking to herself as she ripped the stitches. That Mae, just wait till morning, rip-rip, I'm going to tell her what I think rip-rip. Well we were really laughing to ourselves. That old bed was really rocking. Aunt Margaret couldn't hold her laughing any longer so she tried to make it into a cough. Thelma said, Oh! Miss Margaret, are you feeling worse. Well that did it, we started laughing. I though she would kill us.

I finished my last year of college at Emporia State Teachers College in the summers and got my B.S. in Education in the summer of '58.

I started dating J.D. Watkins while I was in college. He was older and in the Air Force. Each holiday and summer we dated. Then when I graduated from college we got married. We were married in the First Baptist Church at Westville and then live in Okmulgee where J.D. taught at Okmulgee State Tech.

Our first child, Dale Wayne was born there. I taught one year then we moved to Tulsa where J.D. worked for a car dealership until we bought 20 acres in the country between Bixby and Mounds.

Our second son, Brian Keith was born there and J.D. went to work for McDonald Douglas building airplanes and I stayed home and was a mommy to our sons. The "boys" became the focus of our lives along with our church work. We spent many happy days going to their little league baseball games. Then when they went to school there were ball games, P.T.A., holiday programs along with Sunday School and church, Scout meetings and everything else including week-end camping, fishing and hunting. Our lives were full.

When Brian started Kindergarten I went back to teaching. I taught 2nd grade at Bixby for 21 years until I retired. J.D. use to tell everyone it took me 21 years to get out of 2nd grade.

By this time the boys were married and we planned to do some traveling but J.D. got sick and had two operations. It turned out he had cancer. He passed away in March of '94.

When Sue's husband passed away in October we decided to live together. We spend most of our time back and forth between Westville and Mounds.

Life has been good for me and God continues to Bless me with good health, a wonderful family, and friends who care.

Brian was the second son of J.D. and Anna Mae Galbraith Watkins. He started and finished his school years at Liberty Mounds School. Most of his life was lived on our farm in Mounds, Oklahoma.

During school he was in sports, scouts, and band. He loved to ride his dirt bike, giving his mother many gray hairs.

He was a loving and giving young man who reminds me of his grandfather James William Galbraith not only in looks but also in actions. He's always ready to help anyone who needs help, friends, neighbors but most of all his mother. I don't know what I would do without him as he's always there when I need him. Since Dale is in Texas he gets more than his share of honey Do's to fix. He's very dependable just like Dad was.

After school he worked with J.D. for a year then joined the Air National Guard. He is still a weekend warrior and during the week he works full time as a civilian at the Air Base in Tulsa.

Brian married Julie Eskirdge. They have two children, a girl Briar Marie Watkins and a boy Cullen Jerl (C.J.) Watkins.

Brian and Julie loves to hunt and fish but children have put a dent into Mommy's fun. However Grandma helps out so she can go with Brian part of the time. They live in Bixby and help look after the home place when Grandmother, Gramie, to the children goes to stay with Sue.

WILMA SUE GALBRAITH BUTLER HARDCASTLE
by: Sue Hardcastle

I was born the fourth child of James William and Mary Susan Seratte Galbraith, there were four more siblings younger. The oldest Kate was good in sports, Charles was good in sports, smart and very easy to be proud of. Mae was one sister that was smart and I couldn't do with out. As you see we ran together so when she went to college in 1953, I met J.L. Butler and got married, her fault. To that marriage there were six children born but only three survived.

Mary Lorrine the oldest was my buddy and pal, because her Dad was a truck driver and was gone a lot. Carol Gayleen, the second to live was really the first I practiced being a Mother to. I love her dearly, but poor child she was so much like her Mother she was always in trouble. Billy Joe, the only boy to make it and baby for life poor child, no hope. All three turned out very well. Mary went on to marry Henry Buford Sumrall and gave me two wonderful grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Carol is my career child. She went to college at Conners, OSU and then went to work at Silcam Springs Memorial Hospital and set up their Public Relations Department. After that she went back to school and got her RN degree. Now she is a nurse at Washington Regional Hospital in Fayetteville, Arkansas.

Billy Joe, my son, after high school which he graduated Salutatorian, went to work on an oil rig offshore. He then went to school at Okmulgee State Tech. After graduating he went to work at Cherokee Nations Industry at which he still works. He married Robin Waterfield and they have two great children.

In 1987, J. L. Butler passed away from cancer and also that year I married James Odis Hardcastle. We lived together until he passed away in 1994. Now it's back to Mae and I living and running around together.

MARY LORRINE SUMRALL

Mary Lorrine Sumrall, the eldest daughter of J.L. Butler and Wilma Sue (Galbraith) (Butler) Hardcastle, I married Henry Buford Sumrall from back-in-the-boonies, at Laurel, Missouri. We have two children a son, Shannon "Scott" Sumrall of Sandersville, Mo. and a daughter, Stacey Dawn Coates of Laurel, Mo., which both are good kids. Now lets talk, GREAT! We have two grandkids, a grandson, Nathaniel Austyn Sumrall from Scott and April Jean (Thornhill) Sumrall; and a granddaugher, Taylor Cheyenne Coats from Stacey and Freddy "Jason" Coats. As the saying goes, "If we knew having grandkids was going to be this much fun we'd had them first". Buford is in oil, usually on the bottom of his boots...seriously, he's a self-employed contract pumper in the oil field. Me, well I'm a ex-plant worker who is now a volunteer counselor at the Laurel Crisis Pregnancy Center. I love crafting, plants and poetry.

A special memory from a time in the past is the time that a couple of the girls from the Galbraith clan was in the kitchen area talking a bit loud and Grandpa (Bill Galbraith) was watching television - the television kept getting louder and we in turn increased our volume. This happened about three times when Grandpa decided enough was enough, he promptly herded us out on the porch and locked us out. Leaving a group of stunned conversationalist.

MY STORY
By: VELMA RUTH GALBRAITH HUMPHREY

I was born on June 3rd in the year 1940, into a family consisting of Dad, James William Galbraith, (9-9-1907 - 9-23-1992) was called "Bill" by everyone, except Mom. She always called him William or "daddy". Mom, Mary Susan Seratte Galbraith, (3-10-1903 - 6-16-1983), three sisters Vera Kate (2-10-1929 - 4-29-1993), Anna Mae (2-21-1934), and Wilma Sue (7-12-1936) and a brother (Charles Robert, (10-1-1931). There had been another baby born to them on January 29, 1939, but she died on February 13 of the same year. Her name was Shirley.

Of course I don't remember, but they tell stories of the older girls taking care of me when Mom was busy. One story happened while Mom and Dad were running a store. Mae was carrying me and Charles tripped her. She threw me into the bread basket. "And people wonder why I'm the way I am." Ha! There are a lot of memories as I got older. Another that happened after I had two baby sisters, Elva Jean (7-25-1943) and Mary Jane (12-3-1945). Jean will probably remember this. As Mary Jane was the youngest, we always sent her to ask permission to do things. We had a neighbor (an older lady) we called "Granny" Rather. We loved to visit with her, so we sent Mary Jane to ask permission. She came back and said it was okay. Well, when we came back home a couple of hours later, we were in trouble. They had been looking all over for us. They had not given permission for us to visit her. Dad gave us each a swat as we came in the door. This is the only time I remember him laying a hand on me. He could talk to you and make you wish he had spanked you and got it over with. Ha!

Mom and Dad were great parents who taught us right from wrong. They brought us up to use our own mind and to trust in God to help us live our lives. But, best of all they set a good example for us.

We had double cousins. Our Dad and their mother (Margaret) were brother and sister and our Mom and their Dad (Finnis) were brother and sister. We were so close and spent so much time together, that people in town didn't always know to which family we belonged. We had some wonderful times together.

After some fun times growing up with a great family and friends, I met my future husband in August of 1957. His name was Eugene Register Humphrey (2-1-1933), but friends and family call him "Gene". We were married in Tahlequah, Oklahoma on October 9, 1958. My sister Jean and a cousin, Paul Meyers, were our witnesses.

Our oldest son, Llewellyn Mealey Humphrey II was born on August 16, 1959 at Siloam Springs, Arkansas. He was named after his grandfather. he was a good baby and a joy added to our lives. We moved to Little Rock, Arkansas where I worked at Woolworths and Gene was working as a draftsman. He took the Civil Service exam and put in for government work. He has worked for the government except for about seven years, since that time. Our first job was in Omaha, Nebraska. This was where our second son was born on May 15, 1961. His name was Michael Eugene and was also a good baby and his older brother thought he belonged to him. They were very close. Then we started moving around a lot with Gene's work. On April 4, 1963 while we lived in Chatsworth, Georgia, we had another little bundle from Heaven, named Gregory Scott. His older brothers really thought he was grand. Now they are all married.

"Lewie" to Nita Ingram (5-4-1968) on March 21, 1987 and they have given us two grandsons who are all we could have hoped for. Joshua Lewellyn was born December 2, 1988 and Eugene Register II was born July 24, 1990. We call him "Reggie". Michael (Mike) was married to Chantal Gouraige (4-29-1961) on March 9, 1991. They have given us two beautiful granddaughters. Emma Claire was born April 21, 1993 and Alexandra Rose was born August 8, 1994. Everyone except her grandpa calls her "Alex". He says that is a boys name. Ha! Scott married Tonjua Leonard on August 11, 1990. As of yet they haven't had children, but it is the Lord's hands. With a lot of God's help we have raised three great boys of who we are very proud. We will retire on November 29, 1996 and hope to spend a lot of time with Gene's Dad who is 93, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, cousins and friends as well as our sons and daughter-in-laws and especially GRAND children.

MARGARET TEMPLE GALBRIATH SERATTE MAPES

FINNIS EDWARD and MARGARET GALBRAITH SERATTE

MY MOTHER, MARGARET GALBRAITH SERATTE MAPES
by Pauline S. Abraham

Mother had a great capacity for "LOVE" I believed that the 13th Chapter of I Corinthians was a scripture she lived by without even thinking about it.

She loved all her 10 children each in her own way. She loved some of us more at the times we needed it most and she got angry and exasperated at us at other times, always expecting the best from us. Sometimes, it seemed she was never happy with what we accomplished, no matter how hard we tried, always challenging us to do better. She had this uncanny way of always focusing on the one thing that we didn't get done...

Mother always had plenty of charity for those less fortunate than us (sometimes we felt it could not be possible that anyone could be less fortunate than we were), and would do or give anything she had to help others. As we each grew up and married and had families of our own, she still had plenty of love for her newly acquired children. Granny or "Miss Margaret" as she was called, made room in her heart for them and they became part of our big happy family (that included the families of the in-law's as well).

Her brothers and sisters always came in for a big share of her love as she always missed them and wanted to visit them as often as possible. Mother loved to have fun and if it wasn't happening, she created it.

After we had moved to Wichita, she loved going back to Arkansas to visit. Especially to Aunt Sannie's where they planned together things to do for others, like making pot holders, tea towels, or her famous baby bonnet out of dish cloths for the new brides. (it had a little poem with it that teased for a while then in the last paragraph it stated "after all the fun is over take out the ribbons and wash the dishes") There wasn't a niece or nephew or any of the young girls at her Church that got married without getting one of her special "gifts". Mother loved to tease and she received joy from being teased, she enjoyed being the center of attention (something that a lot of the others in the family seem to crave). Aunt Madeline, Aunt Jo and Uncle Bill also came in for a lot of her love and visiting.

Mother was the happiest when she was helping someone whether it was teaching Sunday School classes and playing with her "children", or having the pastor's family over for a meal or baking a cake or cookies for a neighbor or a special pie for her pastor. She also had plenty of time and love for her grandchildren of which she had many. Gary Dean Reece was the first in 1954 (in later years he had her first great grandchild Bradley in 1977). Then Russell E. (Rusty) Abraham was born in 1957 then after that they sometimes came by two and threes in one year. Vicki Ruth Seratte and Kenny Adkerson was born in 1958 then Michael (Mike) Kent Reece & Paula Rene' Abraham in 1959 and then Steve Edward Seratte was born in 1961. Scott Seratte, Cindy Seratte and William Jay Faulkner was born in 1965 and Jeffery Allen Wood, Jon Franklin Seratte and Ronald Keith Adkerson were born in 1968 and Tabrina Michelle (Shelly) Scharff and Richard Dee Faulkner were born in 1969. Katrina (Trina) Lynn Scharff and Gregory Brian Wood came along in 1971 and Amy Suzanne Bakeman was born in 1973 and Aaron Bakeman was the last one in 1978. By this time the great grandchildren were arriving. First there was Bradley Reece then Darcy Nichole Keling then came Matthew Reece, Heather Orr, Courtney Burkart, Trevor Keling, Chelsea Waite, Joshua Reece, Sydney Seratte, Culea Renee Abraham, Kyra Burkart, Amanda Faulkner, Russell Dalton Abraham, Zachery Braxton Reece, Jonathan Waite, Daniel Braxton Orr, Rachel Waite, Jacob Seratte and Carter Burkart. Amanda Faulkner was the baby when Mother died in October, 1991 so the younger ones missed the joy of knowing Granny.

Mothers great capacity for love encompasses this land. She didn't travel much until her last 15 or 20 years but the persons she loved and called her "Granny" go from New York to the tip of Florida and from South Carolina to California and up the west coast to Washington and as proof of those that knew her great ability for loving and giving there are Granny Seratte Mapes pot-holders everywhere in the continental USA and some in Hawaii.

After Daddy had been gone almost 13 years, a beautiful thing happened to Mother, she met, fell in love with and married the "best Grandpa" most of our kids know. (Steve was a baby when Daddy died and all those after that never knew him). On March 14, 1975 Melvin Mapes was a widower with no children and the next day he was married and had 37 children & grandchildren but he handled it well and over the next 16 years he and Mother traveled all over visiting many of the states and Canada and Hawaii. Mother always loved to go and Melvin saw to it that she did a lot of it, they bought a Mini Home and joined a camping group and mother extended her love to even more people. The first year they were married they traveled to Mineral Wells, TX for Rusty Abraham's graduation and the next year they had two graduations to attend in Lawrence and Wichita, Kansas. It seemed like some years come May, they met themselves coming and going attending graduations from Wichita to Denver to Little Rock, AR then to Watauga, TX and back. Melvin not only is our step-father and "grandpa" to our kids, he has been one of our best friends and confidant and he is one of the best things that has happened to our family in the last 21 or so years. "He is a Keeper". We Love you Melvin.

Mother's potential for loving and giving didn't stop with her own family. She was Auntie Margaret to many of her nieces and nephews and their friends and "Miss Margaret" to others then she became Granny to a multitude of her grandchildren and many that adopted her and others that she taught in Sunday School and Bible School. These were all part of her big extended family and there was a saying around Wichita, Kansas "Let any of the family come to town and it was always time for a Seratte family reunion.

Mother, theoretically speaking I know as sure as I know there is a Heaven is now having a great reunion with those she knew and loved that have gone on before, there is Granddad, Grandmother, Papa, Uncle Tommie, Uncle Jack, Uncle Floyd, Uncle Jay, Daddy, Aunt Sannie, Uncle Cox, Matthew and Aunt Mary & Uncle Bill too name a few and I can just see Russ Abraham as he greets "Miss Margaret" with that mischievous grin and I know Rene' will be pleased to be held in "granny's" arms again.

Margaret Galbraith Seratte Mapes, "my mother", like so many of the others that are gone, is missed and even though the last few years have not been the most fun without her, we still remember all the good times and the happy times we had together. We can say as with the author of Proverbs "We can tell of a good woman, (who was a good wife, a good mother, a good friend, aunt and Granny). She is far more precious than jewels. Charm is deceitful and beauty is vain but a woman who loves the Lord (and all those she came into contact with) is to be praised. Give her of the fruit of her hands and let her own works praise her always".

MARGARET TEMPLE GALBRAITH SERATTE MAPES

My mother had the spirit of a sixteen-year-old as she approached life. She loved to be around people and wanted them to be happy. Whenever we gathered at her house, there were always games to play and Mother was right there in the middle of them.

Hospitality was truly her gift. She always enjoyed herself when any of her children invited their friends over for Sunday dinner. She could make a meal out of the littlest amount of food than anyone I have ever seen. One year my son, Jon, decided to take a couple of his friends to Lincoln, Nebraska for the OU-Nebraska game. He called Granny -- a title Mother wore with pride; she was so pleased when her first grandson was born so that she could be a granny; all of our friends called her Granny as well -- to see whether it would be okay for he and his friends to stop by for a few minutes on their way. Mother was tickled to death to have them stop as she always welcomed any of her grandchildren. She told Jon that she would have a snack ready for them when they stopped. Jon's two friends still talk about the "little snack" that his grandmother prepared for them. One asked if they could go back just to Wichita to visit Granny and forget about going to Nebraska.

Family was important to Mother and I think she instilled that belief in all of her children. I received a letter from her while my family was living in Canada and she was writing about a friend she had met. After reading the letter, I called her to kid her about having a boyfriend. She was so pleased to find out that we "approved" of her actions. Her thoughts were not so much of her happiness but how were her children going to accept this change in her life. When she found out we approved, she giggled like a sixteen-year-old on her first date. Her marriage to Melvin Mapes was the best thing that could have happened to her at that time. Not only did she find a good companion for herself but she found a wonderful stepfather and grandfather for her family.

Mother was sensitive to the needs of her family, children and grandchildren alike, and if it were in her power, she would see that the need was filled. Many times she has done without so that her children could have something they thought they needed. Our daughter, Cindy, wanted contact lens and we did not feel they were necessary. Granny realized how important it was to her and on her sixteenth birthday, she provided for the contact lens.

Mother had a heart that included everyone. She became a second mother (not a mother-in-law) to the spouses that her children married. She encouraged them as she would encourage one of her own children and scolded them as if they were her own. She listened, gave advice (when asked for), instructed the young and immature, provided support when comfort was needed and was a friend to each one that needed a friend.

The greatest tribute that her children and grandchildren could pay her would be to emulate some of these same traits in their lives.

MARGARET TEMPLE GALBRAITH SERATTE MAPES

Margaret Seratte Mapes loved owls and had a very large collection of owls probably over 200 or more from all over the world. Her children and grandchildren and friends collected them for her from all over the United States, Germany, Italy, Cuba, Mexico, France, England and Switzerland. It was fitting that her Memorial Service Bulletin depicted an owl and that Reverend Ron Rich likened her to the owl as guardian of the garden.

The following is the transcription of selections from a tape of Margaret Galbraith Seratte Mapes Memorial Service October 24, 1991. The first selection is by Rev. Gordon Dorian Retired Pastor of Olivet Baptist Church, Wichita, Kansas.

"It was my privilege and my wife's privilege and also our little kids in 1955 to literally be adopted into the Seratte family. As I come this evening to read some scripture and share just a few words with you... I guess Auntie Margaret was one of the longest time great friends (along with her children and their spouses) in my 35 years of pastor of Olivet Baptist Church. I have lost count of how many of the children I have performed marriage ceremonies for through the years.

The more I have thought about this evening in one manner, the heavier my heart has become on the other hand, the rejoicing that goes on in my heart too- - - a sort of a pull and a tug. I don't know when we started calling her Auntie Margaret, but for years and years and years she would never let me call her Mrs. Seratte or Mrs. Mapes just always Auntie Margaret. In 1955 when the troupe came to church and they came down and joined our church, how thrilled we were. How many wonderful, wonderful meals together? I remember many times she would say as she was going out the door after Sunday morning service "now you all are coming home to eat with us, you're coming home with us O K"! I think not only was the food great but I liked to be with all those kids. I enjoyed that so thoroughly. Being an only child, you can imagine how I loved it and just ate it up. Also, the way you all baby sat our children and how you looked after them in those early days and all the kindness that was bestowed upon our family by your family.

Then when your dear Daddy died I remember that. Those were tough days weren't they? But the Lord saw us through it. Then some twelve years later Auntie Margaret told me about Mr. Mapes. She was so thrilled about him and you know I even had the privilege of preforming that wedding ceremony. Your pastor here, I think was out of town so I had that privilege. There have been just so many great days to look back on and so many wonderful things. I'll miss her as you will. Many, many times we talked on the phone or we would have a third-handed telephone conversation through my wife. Doris would tell me, Auntie Margaret called today and we had some good time together on the phone. Then there were the trips to the hospital and the longevity of her life and how we would thank God for so many times sparing her and raising her up and bringing her home again to love us some more and treat us so graciously.

As I said at the very beginning I was one of those ones and I am sure there were many others that was unofficially adopted into the family. I have sort of kept up with the kids. I have lost where some of them are and they have had to remind me. All the way from Omaha to Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and of course Kansas. Another thing I have appreciated so much and I am quite sure you all have had a lot to do with it. But I was invited to so many of your family reunions and to your birthday parties and Frank (where's Frank) and Ed, Oh I had better stop mentioning names here or I'll get lost. But those are good times to remember. Let me tell you young folks, wherever you live now please treat your pastors the way you all treated us for many, many years from 1955 until now. That's a long time isn't it.

The pastor here was very gracious to ask me to be a part of this... I want - - (Pastor if you might allow me to do so) to call it the Coronation Ceremony for Margaret Seratte Mapes. "Can I do that", it's usually Jesus we refer to the coronation but if you can look over the portals of heaven, which I like to think you can. I think she is watching us tonight and I think she knows what is going on and we would like to say to her 'Thank You Auntie Margaret', 'Thank you Mom', 'Thank you dear wife', 'Thank you Granny', Thank you dear sister', 'Thank you dear friend, dear loved one', for all you meant to us. Oh!, Auntie Margaret wasn't perfect, neither am I. None of us are but you know when we look back and add it all up aren't we glad we've all belonged to Jesus for all these years. He's been our mainstay and he's been our rock. He's been the one that we know we will get to go and spend eternity with as we join with her one of these years. Let me read again the scripture I read out at the cemetery this afternoon but let me read it a little bit slower and let's just let the Lord talk to us right now, alright. Its from the 14th chapter of John. Many of you know it very, very well. (after reading the scripture) - - - As we look ahead, I hope that we will have had the influence that Auntie Margaret Seratte Mapes has had on all you children, grandchildren and great grandchildren and all you dear, dear family and friends".

This selection is from Rev. Ron Rich, pastor of Dawson United Methodist Church, Wichita, Kansas.

Thank you Gordon for your words to the family and to each of us. To hear a part of Margaret's life that for some of us We didn't know, myself included. Even though I have known her now for the last 13 years here at Dawson and the relationship we had. You may have thought it interesting to find a folder with an owl on the front of it. If you know Margaret you know she collects owls. and so whenever I was out somewhere and I ran across an owl or our family found an owl, we would say, Oh! we've got to give this to Margaret. and so it seems that everyone should have an owl. But there is another reason to have an owl. An owl was known as the guardian of the garden. I didn't know this when I started working on this and until the service and I began to check out about owls and some things. Owls were the guardians of the garden. The one who stood guard while others were away. The ones to watch the rodents and not to allow them in. The guardian of the garden and I got to thinking, yeah! that's Margaret, for me. You know there is something missing up here Melvin, We've got a picture of her and we've got a lovely quilt that Margaret made. She gave it away and you know what's missing. It's her hat. I need a hat on top of that picture. She sat out there on Sunday after Sunday with a hat on and I could always find her and it just dawned on me this afternoon when we were working and wanting to use a symbol.. a sign, one that we could remember and that's it, we need a cock-eyed hat. But that's alright, We can look at the one we want that way and use our imagination. There was another thing about Margaret and Melvin and I have to put them together at this point because they were our lay members to annual conference when I came here. We would go to annual conference together and camp beside each other. She is the only lady that ever got me to eat carp and to this day I still remember the taste of it. I was never sure if I really liked it or whether I disliked it but I would never tell her that. But I was always leery about what it might be that she was going to bring to the covered dish dinner next Sunday. She always threatened to bring some carp. I don't think she did but she always threatened to. That was a part of Margaret that I really appreciated, her humor. Even in her times of illness the last few years when there would be a time together there was some bantering back and forth. Either I would say it or she would and there was that sense of caring and giving. That's why I kind of see the image of the guardian of the garden as a good image for Margaret but also for Melvin for the garden is continually being tilled and being guarded, now guarded in a different way in a different garden but Melvin is there and he will be there and he will be the one but the spirit of Margaret will be with him and with all of us as we see pictures or remember her. Margaret was one who believed that it was important to give. One other story that is personal about Margaret. As you know my wife, Carolyn and I work here together. Carolyn as Secretary and I am the pastor. I think that the first time we got the phone call was that first year after annual conference or somewhere along in there. Margaret called and said, "are you going to be there a while", and we said we'll be here until noon and she said well I've got something I want to bring to you. I thought,"what has she got". In a little while here she comes in, Melvin too with a "sack or box" and you can imagine what was in it. She opened it up and there was a meat dish and usually a vegetable or two and then if it was in season there was a strawberry rhubarb pie. She had heard somewhere that I liked that kind of pie as well as our daughter Dawn and the family and when they were in season there was almost always a strawberry rhubarb pie. But it was in those kind of simple things that you begin to see and experience the love of God that Margaret had. As Gordon said, She's not perfect... She was a child of God like you and I. We all know that for Margaret, she lived her life and wore her body out and it is not our wish for her to be back in pain but our wish is for her spirit to be alive and continue to touch and to teach and to truly be a guardian of our gardens because she was a guardian for each of us.

BIG BROTHER ED
by Pauline S. Abraham

John Edward (Ed) Seratte was the firstborn of Finnis & Margaret Galbraith Seratte and therefore became the authority over the other siblings and he never let us forget it. Growing up within the extended family, he and Charles Galbraith were the older boys and they were stronger and tougher therefore we did what they told us to...

I remember as a small child Ed, Velma and I playing together (in the road in front of the house we lived in, close to Whiterock cemetery) with some toy road building equipment that Uncle Jack had brought us. Ed and Velma started to school at Summers then when Velma was in first grade the family moved and they went to Glendale School which was just down the hill from where we lived. I thought I was as big as they were so I tried to learn right along with them as we were doing our chores of feeding the animals, drawing water from the well and milking. My memory is that they did the work and I pestered them by quizzing them on the states and capitols, presidents, etc or overwhelmed them with my expert knowledge of the subject! (I hesitated from pestering Ed while he was milking though because he had a mean aim with a stream of milk).

By the time I started to school at Renic School (which was a one-room school house with only one teacher, Mrs. Mary Clark, for all eight grades). I already had it made as I had an older brother and sister to pave the way and I had nothing to fear because they would protect me. I guess that has been the way it was all through life as I knew all would be well for Ed and Velma were there to run interference and they always have.

When Ed quit school in Jr. High at Westville and went to work at the Service Station where Dad and Uncle Bill worked we could always depend on him to help us with money for school supplies and we didn't have to bother Daddy (as there never seemed to be enough money to go around). Ed never complained about the money and always gave it to us. I did not say he never complained though, for sometimes he was very quick to remind us that his sisters did not date two different boys in the same week, or wear slim sweater dresses that was the latest style (and by the way they looked sharp on other girls) but not on his sisters. Ed also picked up some of Daddy's prejudices about girls wearing shorts in public places at least not his sisters.

When Ed and I lived in Tulsa with Doris and Jim Seratte I had several girlfriends that thought Ed was pretty "sharp" (that was the in word for cool in the 1950's) and they wanted to date him. I was real proud of him, but I wasn't to sure that some of them were good enough for him so I screened them very carefully before I let them meet him.

After we moved to Wichita and Ed met Eva Caywood at Olivet Baptist Church, he was sure she was the "one" but he had a little trouble getting her to date him in the beginning, and only through continued encouragement from Russ (Ralph) Abraham did he persevere and get her to date him and of course there was the little matter of "Miss Thelma", Mae's teacher friend who taught school with her at Haysville, KS. They would come in to Wichita and stay at our house on the weekends. Thelma liked Ed and wanted to date him and because of his kindness it was a little hard to get away from her and also to convince Eva that she was the one he wanted to date.

Ed was sure Eva was the one he wanted to marry but I wasn't that easily convinced. Russ and I were married & living in Kansas City when they became engaged. They came to Topeka to her sister Ruth's house for Thanksgiving and invited Russ and I to come down and have dinner with them. While Ruth, Eva and I were doing dishes,Eva related what her mother had told her about being sure that Ed was the one she wanted to marry (several of her pastor friends had advised her against marrying someone with such a limited education background) Mrs. Caywood told her if she decided to go ahead and marry him, nothing was ever to be referred to again about the difference in their education and Eva said "Ed had more common sense than many of the college professors she knew" and I agreed with her.

All the years since they have been married I have never heard Eva put Ed down or say anything negative about him. In my estimation, he chose the best wife any man could have (and he deserves the best).

Ed & Eva have three lovely children (and six grandchildren). Vicki Ruth is the eldest and was the first granddaughter to Mother and Dad and she was the flower among all the boys that we all seemed to have... She later had two brothers, Steve Edward and Scott Wayne to help guide down life's path.

Ed and Eva will celebrate their 40th Wedding Anniversary (March 30, 1957) in Lawrence, Kansas with a celebration at First Southern Baptist Church April 5, 1997.

All three children are married. Vicki Ruth to Kyle Keling and they have 3 children, Doug, Darcy and Trevor. Steve is married to Christina (Chris) Bonham Seratte and they have Sydney Kay and Taylor Edward. Scott married Heather Gay Fitzgerald Seratte and they have Jacob who was 1 year old in December, 1996.

One of the favorite stories that mother's grandchildren love to tell about their Uncle Ed is the one about the Christmas when all the families were gathered together for Christmas dinner and Ed was asked to say the blessing. All the children were gathered around the table with their parents and four year old Rusty Abraham was sitting next to his Dad with his head bowed, he was very hungry and as the prayer went on after a while he said "Amen, Uncle Ed Amen", undeterred Ed continued praying until he had finished. Sometimes we tease about this and say "If you are hungry don't ask Uncle Ed to say the blessing". Ed has a strong faith in God and family ties are of great importance to him. His prayer and support has been a strength to all his brother's and sisters and to his children and nieces and nephews even though they tease him, they know if needed, Uncle Ed will be there.

Ed is our "big" brother, the tallest and straightest that can ever be found and I am so proud of him, even though he still has the strongest hands ... you don't mess with him.

A TRIBUTE TO MY GRANDMOTHER:
MARGARET GALBRAITH SERATTE MAPES
She was always just what a GRANNY should be.

As a young child she was strong arms and a big soft lap. She had an easy laugh and loved me no matter what. I knew that was the way a Granny should be.

As I grew older she would sew clothes for me, cook my meals, lived in great big, wonderful old homes that were terrific to hide in. She always knew what present I would like and loved to play games. Of course, that was the way a Granny should be.

As I entered my teens, I saw her for the youthful spirit that she had. She enjoyed the 13-year old loudness and seemed tickled by most of the things I would do. The fact that she could relate to all of that didn't seem strange to me at all...that was the way a Granny should be.

She remarried when I was 17. To see your grandmother fall in love and act as a newlywed was a real treat for a romantic teenager like myself. I remember teasing her about having "stars in her eyes" and being "blinded by love", but inside I was thrilled. Not many people get to see their grandmother like that, but that was my Granny, just being the way she should be.

I reached adulthood and found her to be just as much able to relate to me then as she had when I was young. She became my friend, I told her my hopes and dreams, she shared with me a lifetime of experience. She remembered things about my father when he was a baby that I can only hope I'll remember about my own children when they reach 50 or 60. But to me that didn't seem incredible...that's the way a Granny should be.

She touched many lives in many different ways. Everyone's memories will differ. Not only was she able to meet each person's needs in different ways, I find that in my own life she was always what I needed her to be. I miss her. But knowing that I will see her again one day makes me smile. She'll be waiting with arms open wide...just the way a Granny should be.

VELMA REECE - MY SISTER
by Pauline Seratte Abraham

I am not sure in the book of name definitions, what the name "Velma" means but in my book it means a beautiful, smart, loving, caring and "bossy" elder sister.

Velma always knew the right and proper thing to do. I could never quite achieve her expectations but I always tried. Mae and I, as we reached our pre-teen and teen years didn't worry as much whether we were doing the right things our parents wanted but whether this was what Velma expected. She really wasn't "bossy" but she very diligently (one time only) explained the facts of life to us...What kind of boys and girls we should be friends with. What proper young ladies did and did not do (sometimes her version). Velma always knew everything (and still does) and this is the truth... because if she didn't know it she would tell you a story or definition that proved that she was right. In later years I believe one of the reasons she and Russ (Ralph) Abraham got along so well as in-laws was because they were both good at convincing you something was right with such authority you had to believe them. Evidently they were real careful never to challenge each other and therefore neither had to back down.

As the older sister of seven younger sister and one younger brother she had to assume a lot of responsibility and took a lot of the brunt of what happened as children growing up. She was the buffer as Ed was the one that helped us financially while we were in school. Velma was very disappointed that she did not get to finish college so it became her goal that the younger ones would have that opportunity and become college graduates and she worked hard toward that purpose... Through no fault of hers that goal was not achieved. Frank came the closest as he attended two years at Friends University in Wichita... Velma was very influential in both her boys, Gary and Michael (Mike) attending college. Mike received his Bachelor's degree from Pittsburg State University, Pittsburg, KS. She also encouraged all her nieces and nephews to attend college and several have received their degrees or are still working on them.

I feel Velma has always shown her pride in our accomplishments (even if we sometimes fell short of her expectations), she always encouraged and influenced us to "pick yourself up, brush yourself off and start all over again".

She has always encouraged and praised us but still reminds us from whom we were taught... like the time in Bible School when we were to get a prize for memorizing the most Bible Verses and all afternoon of the last day of the contest she encouraged me to study and even helped me recite verses as we went about our chores and the next day when we were to say our verses I had memorized almost 30 verses more than anyone else except I had memorized 20 less than one person and as usual I came in second to my very special sister Velma (at the time I may have had a differnet word than "special" for it).

Velma moved to Wichita, Kansas in 1952 and in April, 1953 she married Gerald Reece and their first son, Gary Dean was born July 25, 1954. Floye graduated from high school in Westville in May 1954 and moved to Wichita to live with Velma and Jerry. Their first son Gary Dean was born July 25, 1954. Velma began to encourage Ed and I who lived in Tulsa at the time to move to Wichita. Ed worked for an oil company and I worked for Commercial Credit Corporation and we were both able to transfer from Tulsa to Wichita in September 1954.

Ed, Floye and I got an apartment together and after three months of sharing expenses, Ed and Velma decided we could probably get a house and move the entire family to Wichita and Mother could manage the money and feed and clothe the entire family on less than we were spending and at the same time it would give the family better job and educational opportunities. We found a house in West Wichita (next door to Rolland and Daisy Dutton, whose younger brother Ralph, just home from the Navy, lived with them). We lined up a job for Dad with the Johnson Oil Company, so at Christmas Time Ed went to Westville and rented a truck and moved the Finnis Seratte family to Wichita, Kansas in January 1955, thus accomplishing one of Velma's primary goals.

Their second son Michael Kent was born April 20, 1959 and they moved to Nevada, Mo. in the fall of that same year as Gerald secured a teaching job at Nevada Jr. High School. Velma became a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority in 1960 and went to work for Sears in Nevada, Mo. in 1966.

Velma has always been ahead of the times and who could have said that her dreams and high goals for her family and brothers and sisters would be the same goals that President Clinton in his 1997 Inaugration Speech declared for our nation when he said "the very goal that our nation must strive to achieve in this age of computer technology and the magic of internet is better education and better job opportunities". He went on to say "the greatest progress we have made in our nation over the last few years have been made in the human heart and by doing so we have attained the strength and decency of the human spirit". So Velma when she accomplished her goal in the early 1950's, with a little help from Ed and Pauline, to move the family to a place where more jobs and educational opportunities were available and the family could be together in the same vicinity was fulfilling the same dreams that the President of the United States has for our entire nation some 40 years later.

All of her brothers and sisters will rise with one accord and say "Thank You" Velma for with God's help and your encouragement we have come this far...

Velma has always been there for me in the learning and the fun times, in the good and not so good times, in the happy and in the sad times. She was maid of honor at my wedding, she was there when I brought Rusty home from the hospital, in fact I brought him home to her house. She was there when Rene' died and we were together at the hospital after Dad's accident and when he died. She was there in "spirit" when I was awarded "Secretary of the Year". She was there when we arrived in Wichita after Russ died and she was here for me when Uncle (Cox) Jack Cox died and I needed her to run some interference for me. She let me be there with her when her grandson Matthew was killed and she represented me when Mother was ill and died. There have been many other times that whenever I needed someone she was always there.

For over 60 years I have had this very special friend, teacher, confidant, psychologist, jester, mentor and above all sister and you spell that: V E L M A.

VELMA SERATTE REECE

I was born the 2nd child of Margaret Galbraith Seratte & Finnis Seratte, later to become sister to eight other siblings. This had a lot to do with who I became. I think I have a great sense of humor, not always funny... but a great sense of humor. (you had to have it in order to survive in a large and poor household).

I am a survivor__ even if I didn't know how or was afraid__ I did what was expected of me or what I had to in order to exist. I left college after one year at Oklahoma A&M at Stillwater, Oklahoma and eventually moved to Wichita, Kansas worked at Beech Aircraft where I met and later married Gerald Reece in 1953.

We had two sons, Gary Dean Reece born July 25, 1954 and Michael Kent Reece born April 20, 1959. We moved from Wichita, Kansas to Nevada, Missouri where Gerald was Jr. High Teacher and I went to work for Sears in 1966. When the Sears store in Nevada was closed I was transferred to Wichita, Ks. in 1983 and Gerald and I went our separate ways. I worked for Sears in Wichita until forced to take early retirement in 1992. I currently am employed for American Family Insurance as girl-friday and work evenings and weekends at Montgomery Wards in Wichita.

For the most part... the brothers and sisters are very close and supportive of each other. While we couldn't take our problems or concerns to our parents we could to each other and the support has remained this way into our old age.

The one constructive thing I did in my life, with the help of Ed & Pauline was to get the rest of the family to a place where there were more job and educational opportunities.

TO BID FAREWELL!!!

This evening after returning from a walk with our grandsón, Sheila and I learned that Matthew Nickolas Reece had been killed in a tragic accident. My first response was it can't be. Yet the news is true. It has happened. Even as I write this many thoughts are racing through my mind. I tried to call Mike and Lisa, and Larry and Betty but was not able to get them. My heart goes out with all the love it can feel for them and their torment.

In February of 1986 I was given the privilege of conducting the dedication service of Matthew. He was Mike and Lisa's first. The second grandson for Larry and Betty. It was a proud day for everyone. If ever there was a heart likened to Hannah of old I believe that Lisa possessed that heart in giving her son unto the Lord. Dedicating him and pledging to raise him in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. I was allowed to watch him grow and even begin his walk for God. Matthew was a very capable child and I was surprised how much he was learning and how quickly. I remember one time when I saw Lisa and Matthew at the grocery and Matthew quoted some scripture verses he had memorized. He shared some other things, that he had learned with me, though many of those things have now escaped my memory.

I can remember Sister Laura Keiths' (great-grandma) comments on how much she enjoyed keeping him while Lisa was working. Also, the times she would comment how bright he was and how much she would miss him when she was not taking care of him.

There were also the times in youth when during the refreshments Matthew would start crying when he realized his kool-aid had ice in it and he didn't like ice. I told him one time just ask someone to take it out, and he said "would you please take the ice out" and the matter was resolved. There was also the times when a question was asked during children's church and he would have a special story to tell and also the times when he had already taken his shoes and socks off and come running up barefoot.

I've also watched Grandpa (Larry Nickolson) carry him around or after church on Sunday tell Matthew to be sure it was alright with mom and dad if he road home in grandpa Nick's truck. Larry has commented so many times of how proud he was of all his grand children.

When you give a child to God you place him or her in God's hands. When I pray I ask God's protection, care and love. I expect that that child will grow and do great things for the Lord throughout his life. I place them in God's presence. I can do no greater thing for them, nor can their parents.

To Mike and Lisa, to all mom's and dad's who are hurting. I don't know your hurt. I can't feel the depth of your emptiness. The throb of your pain. or torment. God only knows with what depth your loss goes. Because He knows He is there for you to lean upon. "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy ladened, and I will give you rest." We all love you and share your grief. You are never alone.

Father, I thank you for the gift of life and for all the joy that our children bring us. Please help me to say my farewell's in complete confidence of your will and love. Thank you for allowing me to know the warm tender embrace of a child, their trust and confidence. Help us to see a child as your greatest treasure and give to them all of our love and support. Please fill now the emptiness with your presence and warm embrace.

Farewell to those who begin their eternal journey. We shall soon follow but until that time know for certain our love is great and your place in our hearts has not been filled by anyone else. That is your space and yours alone.

Matthew Reece 7-29

PAULINE SERATTE ABRAHAM

I was the third child of Finnis Edward and Margaret Temple Galbraith Seratte. I had a brother and sister older than me and a brother and six sisters younger. We were a family that was fortunate in many ways but one of the ways was that Mother had two brothers that married two of Daddy's sisters. Uncle Jack and Aunt Daisy only had one girl, Shirley Jean that died as a baby but Aunt Mary and Uncle Bill had a cousin for each of us until the twins. This made us special for not everyone had double first cousins that were about the same age as you. We moved a lot when I was little and I went to four schools before we moved to Westville when I was in the 3rd grade and I graduated from High School there. I went to South Carolina and lived with Aunt Sannie & Uncle Walter and attended Cecil's Business College. I returned to Oklahoma and worked for Commercial Credit Corporation in Tulsa, Oklahoma then in 1954 I transferred to Wichita, Kansas and the family moved there in 1955, next door to Daisy Dutton who's brother Russell Ralph Abraham lived with them. (our families called him Ralph but his Navy and employment records listed him as Russell R. and after we were married I had to learn to call him Russ). Russ had just returned home from 4 years in the U.S. Navy during the Korean conflict and was employed second shift at Boeing.

Russ and I were married in October 1955. We moved to Kansas City, Missouri. where he enrolled for a 2 year course at Central Technical Institute and I transferred with Commercial Credit Corporation to Kansas City office. Russell E. (Rusty) was born in February 26, 1957 and Russ graduated from Technical school in December and went to Work for Electra Mfg. Co. in Independence, KS. under government contract to research and develop a metal film resistor. We moved to Independence, KS. in February 1958 & were members of Chestnut Street Southern Baptist Church. Paula Rene was born June 18, 1959 and died of staphylococcus pneumonia in August 3, 1960 and is buried in Whiterock Cemetery.

Electra Mfg. Company (now called Mepco Electra) moved to Mineral Wells, Texas in 1968 and later became an affiliate of North American Phillips Corporation. Rusty graduated from Mineral Wells High School in 1975 and joined the U. S. Navy under a 6 year Educational Plan. I took some college courses in Business Law & Public Speaking. I worked for Chilton Corporation as Manager of the Mineral Wells office until they moved the office to Fort Worth then I went to work at Mineral Wells Savings and Loan as Secretary to the President. I was a member of Zonta International and Professional Secretaries International and was selected Secretary of the Year in 1980. Russ received a 22 year service pin from Mepco Electra just before he died in April of 1981. He is buried at Rest haven Cemetery in Wichita, Kansas. After Russ died I remained in Mineral Wells until June 1984. I was fortunate to be able to take a tour of London & Paris with my friend Evelyn Busby. Her daughter Susan and family had lived in Paris and London while her husband Jack was in the military and Evelyn had visited there so we decided to travel on our own rather than take the guided tours and that is the best way to go. We were able to take our time at the places of interest to us and we were able to connect with a group of 12 high school students from Pittsburg, PA along with their History Professor and English Professor that explained the history behind the happenings that occurred in the early centuries. This along with our tours in Paris made some of the history we studied in high school come alive.

The high lights of the Paris trip was the visit to the Louvre and the night we went to Moulin Rouge. It was fascinating to climb the Eiffel Tower and walk down the Champs Elysees and ride a boat down the Seine and see Napoleon's Versailles . The day we visited Notre Dame a children's festival was being held, The grounds around the cathedral was packed with children carrying banners and singing and dancing, all this was such a thrill just to watch and be a part of their celebration. It seemed everywhere we went there was some sort of celebration going on all the time

In June 1984 I married Gaylan Cope, the pastor at Lincoln United Methodist Church. We moved me to Arkansas in July, of that year and then we moved to Springdale Ark in September of 1984 where Gaylan was pastor of Wesley UMC. In February of 1986 Shirley Bolen, Gaylan's Aunt Velva Wiseman and I went to Hawaii for 10 days and visited the islands of Oahu, & stayed at Outrigger Hotel on Waikiki Beach in Honolulu then on to Kauai then to Maui and back to Honolulu before flying back to Dallas then back to Arkansas. Rusty got out of the navy in 1982 and attended two semesters at University of Texas at Arlington, Texas. He left school in the summer of 1983 and went to Wichita, Kansas where he worked at a couple of places. Then he moved to Arkansas in the fall of 1986. Rusty went to work at Kearney Electric in Fayetteville. He married Lisa Marlow in April 1988. Gaylan and I were divorced in July 1989 and Rusty and Lisa's first child was born (on her Granddad Russ's birthday), October 25, 1989.

I attended Northwest Technical, Springdale and completed a Micro Computer Course and went to work At Mount Sequoyah Conference and Retreat Center in March of 1990. Rusty & Lisa's son Russell Dalton was born January 7, 1992. He is a little toughie and is very athletic. He is a great Chief, & Cowboy fan but he has a problem when the Cowboys and the Packers play as Green Bay Packers is the Marlow's favorite and there is a good amount of rivalry there. Spending time with the grandchildren has been very important to me for they grow up so fast. I believe I have helped instill a love for reading with Culea maybe more so than Dalton but I have enjoyed reading to and listening to them read their favorite stories. When we took a trip to Texas together for Rusty's 20 year class reunion we read "Sam & The Firefly" several times on the round trip. We saw a Ranger game and spent some bonding time with Jonathan, Chelsea and Rachel. I have always loved relating to children, traveling and visiting with my family and I have been fortunate to have had many opportunities to do all these.

God has blessed me greatly with friends and family but I think of all the beauty of his handiwork, the flowers, trees, butterflies, birds, rainbows, sparkling diamonds, vibrant rubies etc. none can compare to the smile and small voice of a child saying "I love you Mommy, Grandmother or Aunt Pauline"

Secretary of the Year

The Resort City Chapter of the National Secretaries Association, International has again chosen a "Secretary of the Year" to honor and give special recognition to. Pauline Abraham, secretary to Paul Schneider and Brady Tennison of the Mineral Wells Savings and Loan Association has been chosen for this honor.

The 1980-81 "SOTY" was born Pauline Seratte in Washington County, Ark., third in a family of seven sisters and two brothers. The family moved to Westville, Okla. where she attended school and graduated from high school. She went to live with relatives in Spartanburg, S.C., and attended Cecil's Business College. After graduation there, she worked six months for Willis Insurance Agency, becoming homesick, and returning to Oklahoma. She became secretary to R.E. Cole, office manager for Commercial Credit Corp., Tulsa, Okla., staying over two years. Her parents moved to Wichita, Kan. and Mrs. Abraham transferred to the Commercial Credit Office there, becoming secretary to the loan manager. It was in Wichita that she met and married Russell R. Abraham who was just out of the Navy and enrolled in Central Technical Institute studying radio, TV and electronics in Kansas City, Mo. She transferred to Commercial Credit Office No. 3 in Kansas City, Mo. She worked there until her husband finished school, taking a leave of absence to have their son, Russell E. (Rusty) returning until her husband was hired by Electra Mfg. Co., in Independence, Kan. Mrs Abraham retired from the business world to the homemaking world for approximately 10 years. When Electra Midland Corporation decided to move their Independence operation to Mineral Wells in 1968, like a good "Ruth" she followed her husband to Texas.

In January 1969 with her son in junior high school, she decided to resume her business career. She was employed by Juanita Burnham who was then the manager of the local credit bureau. She later became assistant manager, and the manager, when Mrs. Burnham opened an employment service in January 1976. She remained manager until the local office was moved to Fort Worth in November 1979, becoming secretary - receptionist at her present job.

Mrs. Abraham and her husband Russ live at 902 S.E. 16th Avenue. Their son Rusty is in the U.S. Navy and is presently home on leave from 20 months duty at GTMO Bay, Cuba and prior to that 18 months in Sigonella, Italy. He will be stationed in Charleston, S. C. for the next two years.

She joined Resort Chapter, NSA in April 1973, and has served as chapter president, vice president and also treasurer. She has chaired and served on most all committees. Her hobbies are macrame, collecting bells and thimbles, reading and visiting with people. We feel Pauline Abraham deserves our recognition and honor as our 1980-81 "Secretary of the Year." April 23 will begin her year of honor, with a "Coffee" at the First National Bank, highlighting the day with a reception at the Holiday Hills Country Club at 7:00 p.m. where she will receive the traditional dozen red roses, plaque and be crowned the new SOTY by outgoing secretary of the year Shirley Huckabay, chapter president.

PAULINE SERATTE ABRAHAM

When I first met Pauline and her family, I knew why they all thought so much of her. Warm and outgoing, she just kinda fills the room with her contagious spirit. A little later, I met them again and this was such a tragic time in their life. Pauline, Rusty and Rene came to visit in Arkansas and during that time Rene became very sick. This was in 1960 shortly after Bobby Jack and I were married. Ralph had stayed at home and the decisions of what to do were left for Pauline. She had come with her parents, Margaret & Finnis Seratte.

A trip to the doctor and an admission into the Prairie Grove Hospital seemed to help Rene. The next day, Madeline and I went over to see the family and offer to do anything we could. The sight we saw was not good. Little blond headed, pretty Rene was fighting for her life. It seemed that in spite of all they could do, it was not going to be enough. Her little ragged breaths and pale color was something I will never forget. Later that day, she died. What a sorrow struck such a young family. Family came in and stayed in our house and Aunt Sanna & Uncle Walter's next door. It was such a sad time.

Time begins to heal, and although you can never forget, life does go on. They raised Rusty to be the fun loving, joke telling, family oriented person that he is. When Pauline and Ralph would come back to Arkansas, our family always enjoyed them so much. She had so much fun with our children. Marty (Tiger) and Mark loved to play with Pauline and when Jeannie arrived, that same feeling was there. She always made them and others around her feel very special.

Over the years, Pauline lost a husband, remarried, and lived in Northwest Arkansas. Her marriage did not last, but we have kept her in Arkansas. She and her Aunt Madeline have always been close as she is with all the family. Pauline had stayed for a time growing up with Aunt Sanna's family, so that close bond is there with them too. Pauline has been so good to Madeline and they share many things together.

Our Jeannie lived a semester with Pauline while she attended the University of Arkansas. They had a great time together and they also have that special bond that Pauline seems to be a master at generating. She and Jeannie are a little alike and are very close. Our grandchildren treat her like an aunt, with a special closeness. She often eats Sunday lunch with us and is a friend to all. Pauline worries about imposing herself on us, but in fact it is just the opposite. We love her company and try to make her feel special.

THOUGHTS ABOUT MY FATHER

MY FATHER WAS A MECHANIC.
Not the best mechanic in the world,
BUT OUR CARS ALWAYS RAN.

HE WAS A CARPENTER.
Not the best carpenter in the world,
BUT WE ALWAYS HAD SHELVES AND TABLES AND WELL FITTED DOORS.

HE WAS A PLUMBER.
Not the best plumber in the world,
BUT THE FAUCETS ALWAYS WORKED AND THE PIPES DIDN'T KNOCK.

HE WAS AN ATHLETE.
Not the best athlete in the world,
BUT HE COULD PLAY BASKETBALL, BASEBALL AND FOOTBALL WITH ANYONE HIS AGE.

MY FATHER WAS ALL THESE THINGS AND MANY MORE...he may not have been the best of these things...
BUT HE WAS A FATHER, AND HE WAS THE BEST
FATHER IN THE WORLD.

OUR SONSHINE, "RUSTY"

by Pauline S. Abraham

Russ and I had been married a little over six months and I was under a doctors care for a thyroid problem. I had been told before we were married that I probably couldn't have children, so think how excited we both were when we discovered I was pregnant. I had written and told Aunt Sannie, but we had not told our folks. Aunt Sannie, Uncle Walter and Roy came to Wichita on their way to New Mexico and Russ and I were there from Kansas City, I remember that a whole lot of whispering was going on and Uncle Walter slipped me a poem he had written (I didn't save it, much to my regret) but it talked about the beauty of having children and I remembered how much that meant to me. Russ's favorite song and one he was always singing to me was "You Are My Sunshine". On February 26, 1957 when Russell Eugene (Rusty) was born it became "You Are Our Sonshine", and on June 18, 1959 when Paula Rene' came along she was "Our Little Sunshine".

There are so many memories of Rusty's childhood that it is difficult to choose only a few. We were so grateful to have such a beautiful child. When he was born there were 14 other babies born in St. Francis Hospital Wichita, KS that morning. I thought all the rest of them just looked like little red babies but Rusty was the perfect baby and all through his early years I was so afraid of being too proud that even though I told him how much I loved him I did not praise him like I should. He never knew how proud and thankful to God I was for him, he had his cute little ways of doing things like wanting to "nice" the fur collar on my coat or the inside of his Dad's fleece lined jacket... There was also the Woodpeckers that he called "Peckneckers".

He was the typical mischievous boy and minded well but sometimes Russ had to get emphatic with him. He was very creative and detailed in his play. When he played Cowboys he had to have his jeans, cowboy boots, western shirt & gun & holster. If he was playing football he had to have his jeans or football pants, pads & helmet. Even in the winter time if he played boxing or basketball he had to have his shorts on. If there wasn't anyone to play football with, he played both teams and made enough noise for 3 or 4 children. When he played football by himself he played for the Coffeyville, KS team & then he was the Independence, KS team, it was kind of strange but the Independence team always seemed to win (we lived in Independence, Kansas at the time).

He took good care of his toys and when he outgrew some of them he would pass them down to his cousins. Ed and Eva got him his first drum set and they thought it was so cute when everyone was playing the drum at Granny's at Christmas but a few years later when Rusty had outgrown it and handed it down to Steve they decided they might need to rethink the kind of toys they bought for the nieces and nephews as they might return home to you.

Rusty was two when his little sister Rene' was born and he loved to entertain her. She would lay in her bed or sit in her playpen or stroller and laugh at him while he played around her. He was three and a half when she died and he gave us strength by his faith that she was happy in God's arms. The morning after she died , Rusty woke up with a swelling on his neck and Donna had a fever, so we took them to Elizabeth Hospital in Prairie Grove to the doctor's office. (We had told them that Rene' had gone to be with Jesus) When we drove into the parking lot of the hospital, Rusty wanted to know if this was where "Jesus Lived". We never knew how he knew that this was where we had brought Rene' and it took us a few minutes to get over the amazement of his insight. Again, he strengthened our faith when his granddad died and in the midst of our tears he looked up and said "now Rene' won't be lonesome, Granddad is with her". With the scripture in mind, "And a child shall lead them" and his strong faith, how could we believe otherwise?

All through his formative years his compassion, sensitivity and caring for people was always the source of pride for his dad and I. It sometimes made him cry as a little boy if he thought people were being mistreated, like one Sunday we were in Wichita and went to church at Olivet with Mother and the girls and an elderly gentleman was going to sit down in front of us. The people sitting there were saving the seat for someone and he had to go on to another seat. Sharon was sitting beside Rusty and noticed he was crying and when she asked him what was wrong he said he felt sorry for the man because he had to walk farther down the isle to find a seat.

Rusty was also thoughtful & protective of his little friends, like the time he and Rusty Kelly wanted to keep a neighborhood cat so they were going to shut it in the Kelly's garage and he was to hold the cat in there while Rusty Kelly pulled the door down then he was to run out but the door hit him in the top of the head and cut a big gash that required taking him to the Doctor for stitches but the first thing he said when he came in the house with blood streaming down his face was "Mother, Rusty didn't mean to do it". There was also the time after we had moved to Texas and his friend Ricky Wood's little nephew Scotty was visiting his grandparents and did not have a bicycle to ride. Ricky would not share his bike but Rusty would either take turns with Scotty or they would ride double. Russ didn't always tell Rusty how proud he was but his buttons would almost pop when he would tell me or Rolland as he bragged about his son.

Rusty had a strong sense of family and a love of tradition. At an early age he developed a sense of pride in our country's history and a respect for its leaders. When he was 5 years old we went to Washington D.C. on vacation and we stayed at Aunt Ester's (it was just after Uncle Floyd died) and Pat and Pam were there and Aunt Ester tried to get Rusty to eat breakfast before we started out on our tours of Mount Vernon, Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, The Capitol Building, The Library of Congress, The Smithsonian, etc. When she told him that if he didn't eat, she would call President Kennedy and tell him, Rusty quickly ate his breakfast because he didn't want to disappoint the President.

Two or three times a year Daddy & Mother would come to Independence,Kansas and take Rusty back to Wichita with them. While he was at Granddads, he loved to help him in the garden and also feed the rabbits Dad kept in hutch's out behind the barn. Rusty admired his Granddad so much that he would try to walk like him, (Dad had a limp that he got from a logging accident in his late teen years). He and Granddad were buddies and many were the times that Daddy (a very stern disciplinarian to his children but his grandchildren were different) would take Gary or Rusty to the garden or to see the rabbits to keep them from getting punished. If he could not divert them from their forewarned danger of punishment, he would leave. Dad very seldom scolded them and could not stay around and see them get into trouble. (typical grandparents).

Rusty would spend part of the time with Mother and Dad and part of the time with Daisy & Rolland. Randy and Ruth were the closest to a brother and sister he had especially after his little sister Rene' died. After he started to school he always spent a week or two each summer in Wichita with Granny Seratte and the girls and Grandma Abraham and the Duttons. Randy & Ruth would come & stay with us a week or two each summer. They came to Arkansas with us several times and they thought Granny Sannie, Aunt Madeline and Aunt Jo was their aunts also. Rusty loved people and always loved being around them. He always had his aunts doing whatever he wanted them to and when we were in Wichita or Arkansas I knew I didn't have to worry about him as someone would always watch out for him. I didn't say I didn't worry, I just said I knew I didn't have to.

One of Rusty's other pleasures was to come to Arkansas and see Granny Sannie & Uncle Walter and Aunt Madeline & Uncle Cox (This was when they were neighbors then later Bobby Jack & Shirley lived next door to Granny Sannie. One of the special things he liked to do when we came to Arkansas was to visit with Uncle Cox and ride "ole Lou" the old white horse of Bud's, Bobby Jack's & Uncle Cox's, he really wasn't sure who Lou belonged to but he did love for Uncle Cox to tell him how the animals sounded, especially how a horse sounded and there was a secret involved with that sound that only "the boys knew about". The other special thing he loved to do was stay over at Uncle Hat & Aunt Jo's and help Lester, Murle and Lonnie do the milking. There was a lot of special bonding that went on during those visits that he still carries with him, in fact he and Harold referee ball games in the same area. He loved the times he could stay over night or a few days with them by himself.

When we moved to Texas Randy went with us and stayed almost a month and we initiated both boys to the Texas barber's version of a flat top (which was a G.I. burr) I believe it was several years before Randy ever got another haircut. We had several struggles with the haircut situation as this was the late 60's and early 70's, the beginning of the long hair trend and as I stated before the barbers in Mineral Wells Texas only knew one hair cut for boys and some of Rusty's friends were either going to Fort Worth to get haircuts or going to the beauty shops and Russ Abraham's son was not going into a women's beauty shop and no son of his would wear his hair any longer than collar length. After some cajoling I was able to convince Russ that it was either the beauty shop or a trip every month to Fort Worth at $10.00 a haircut compared to $3.00 at the beauty shop and any one that knew Russ knows that I got to make an appointment at the beauty shop for Rusty's haircuts. Even then he was a "ham" and much to my chagrin, he and Judy the operator that cut his hair would get into some of the wildest discussions and he kept the entire beauty shop entertained. The owner of the shop was about ready to either pay Rusty enough to go to Fort Worth to get his hair cut because he was distracting her operators (Judy was her daughter) or she would start charging admission for his haircuts.

His first car was a used 1966 Ford Galaxy. He and his dad overhauled it. Russ did most of the work but he wanted Rusty there to watch, well that didn't last very long and Russ could never understand how boring it was for Rusty if he wouldn't let Rusty do anything. Rusty has always been a person of action as well as words. If he is going to help then he wants something to do.

Rusty always knew how to save his money. He would drive his car until it was almost out of gas then he would borrow Mom's and I would have to drive his and barely make it to the gas station and of course I would fill it up and it didn't cost him a thing for another tank of gas. Also like the time when he was only 6 or 7 years old and he wanted to buy his dad a pipe for Christmas. When we got in the store he didn't have his billfold with his money with him so I bought the present and had it wrapped and when we came back to the car his billfold was in the car and I proceeded to take the money to pay myself back and he started crying and saying I was taking his money away from him and of course a policeman was walking by the car and he checked the situation out to see if I was harming the child. I was so embarrassed but Rusty still contended that the gift was already paid for so his money was still his money. I think it was one of the traits Aunt Melba helped the nieces and nephews to learn.

One of the last trips Rusty and his dad made together was when he came back to Mineral Wells and bought his new 1980 Ford Futura and Russ had a couple weeks vacation that I didn't have so he and Rusty went to Wichita then down through Arkansas and on to South Carolina and visited family on the way. A stronger bond developed between them and they made some specific plans for when Rusty got out of the navy they would open an electronic business together. This never came to fruition as Russ died of a heart attach almost two years before Rusty's service was completed. This was a terrible blow to him but his family pride and belief in God may have been challenged but he has worked through it.

Rusty loves sports and he has played and been involved in games as umpire for little league each summer.

Rusty is the "sonshine" in my life and after his dad died we had some rough times but God's love and family has helped us grow closer together. His Aunt Daisy and Uncle Rolland were strong influences in his life and in 1996 when we lost both of them within a months time he was again able to provide strength and support to his cousins Ruth and Randy and again my admiration for his strength of character was rewarded.

Rusty moved back to Arkansas in 1987 and lived with Gaylon and I in Springdale. He met Lisa Marie Marlow and they were married in Wesley United Methodist Church in Springdale April 9, 1988. Their little daughter Culea Renee was born on her granddad Russ's birthday October 25, 1989. Then on January 7, 1992 their son Russell Dalton was born making me the proud grandmother of two of the greatest grandchildren in the world (I get an argument from some of my cousins children about this) but the truth will always tell. Culea Renee would have been the apple of her granddad's eye for she is a little sweetheart and so smart. She was reading and doing simple math before she even started to school. If Russ were here, he would probably have her reading the encyclopedias already. Dalton is his father's son and loves sports and has a little "ham" in him also and he has a little of his dads ability to argue a point. He loves to play games with grandmother and Culea but he prefers to win at all times.

Rusty is my "sunshine" and is the source of all my love and respect for he may not be the greatest as the world measures greatness but he is the greatest as a mother's heart measures importance and I believe that his love for God and his respect for family puts him in our "hall of fame" as the sonshine in my life.

MY FAMILY
By: Rusty Abraham

Since this is a book about my family (something I know a lot about) I figured I'd better put in my two cents worth. Of course, I have a lot more than two cents so this could run a little long, which kind of runs in the family (more for some than others).

I have always known that I have been extremely fortunate to be blessed with such loving families from both of my parents. There are just not many people (and becoming less and less) that have aunts and uncles and grandparents from both sides that know and get along with each other. So it's natural for me to have fond memories of loving, happy friends and relatives and want to tell people about them. But being from such a big family, I could write a book by myself so I'm going to write about my five favorites (there is no way I could pick just one). Now if you ask me later I might have five different favorites but right now I have these thoughts.

As I said my life has always been surrounded by love and one of the greatest sources of that love was my Granny, Margaret Temple Galbraith Seratte Mapes. Not only was she always a great source of love but joy, kindness and mostly fun! All the memories I have about Granny are filled with fun and happiness. No matter how long it had been since she had seen us she acted like it was the happiest thing that ever happened to her. "Well I'll Swan", was her favorite expression or at least my favorite. Even though I knew she would say that it was still exciting and exhilaration to have her open the door and be so excited to see us. That's the way I remember being at Granny's house, exciting, fun and full of love. We played and talked and laughed and I could get away with more mischief because she was my Granny. She lived in the neatest houses for kids, too! Great big many roomed places where cousins could play hide and seek all day. But the best thing about Granny (besides the special dispensation from punishment for being a kid by Mom and Dad) was cooking. Cookies, cake, pies and whatever else was cooking always seemed to smell better at Granny's. That of course is not to say that Mom can't cook. (She will be reading this!)

I know how pitiful an attempt this is to convey all the love and fondness I have for Granny but I don't have the words to describe it. If I did I guess I'd be a millionaire novelists or pulitzer prize winning author. Anyway, having a loving, kind and fun Granny like her means more to me than I could ever express.

Well, if I didn't have such a big mouth (or pen in this case) you wouldn't have to hear (or read) any more from me, but I do have a big mouth (pen) and I am going to say (write) some more.

I don't remember a lot about my Grandad and I think some of my memories are enhanced or fabricated or initiated by pictures and stories. But pictures and stories are not how I know he loved me but when I sat on his knee at about five years old sipping hot black coffee I felt as safe and happy as anyone ever can. I don't have all the facts about him, but I know he had a cane (which was cool) and I used to walk around behind him imitating the way he limped, not out of spite or disrespect, but out of pure respect and love and just because it was the way my Grandad walked so it must be cool. I wanted to be like him. Now as I think back and look at the pictures I'm reminded of sitting on his lap on the porch at the house on 13th street even though there are no pictures of that. The one story I've heard about my Grandad that I really don't have any memories of, is about him reading his coffee grounds. Seems he incorporated this into his normal routine and was an act he did almost without thinking. Then one Sunday morning after coffee he saw something in the grounds that he never told anyone about, but he insisted that he be the one to take Melba to work. That of course, was the day he was in a car crash coming back from Melba's work place that ended in his death a few days later. This as far as I'm concerned is also very cool.

Columbus Jackson Cox another cool person in our family, tall dark, handsome and soft spoken. Very cool attributes to begin with but add to that a unique sense of humor and keen sense of life and you are describing Uncle Cox. Even though I used soft spoken he could talk your ear off if given half a chance and if you have any sense at all you'll enjoy it and maybe even learn something. Like when I was about 3 or 4 years old, he taught me exactly how a horse goes (Information just for men) is what he told me, but being young and proud I passed this information on to our Pastor when he asked me after having Sunday dinner at our house, much to the dismay of Mom. But even if you didn't learn anything just listening to the stories was great, like the one about the farmer that had an apple orchard just for his own consumption. He didn't sell any apples, he just grew them for his own use. Then he went to check the mail one day and was hit by a truck which killed him instantly -- but it took 3 days for his heart to stop. This of course was much better when Uncle Cox told it but I write it here to illustrate the kind of stories he would tell. Not all of them were funny at first, but the more you thought about them the funnier and more ironic they became. When listening to Uncle Cox talk it was hard to tell if he was telling a true story or just a joke and sometimes it would be both, now that's cool.

Not everybody who reads this collection will know the person about whom I'm writing now and the most of the people that did know him were just acquainted with him and mainly just know what family member he belonged with. But my dad, Russell Ralph Abraham was a very special man. Yeah, I'm very biased in this opinion, but just about everyone who knew him would probably agree. He was well liked at work and at church. He was funny and smart with a quick wit and slightly mischievous sense of humor. I could go on and on about all the good things that I remember about my dad, but I already have a list of thoughts about him in this book, so I'll just tell you the best information and the guidelines he gave me to live by. First he told me that I could do anything in this world I wanted to as long as I was willing to pay the consequences. Second, whenever I was hurt (anything from a scratch to serious bruise) he would always tell me that it would feel better when it quit hurting. Then the motto's I have used often throughout my professional life:

(1) If it won't go - force it.
(2) If at first you don't succeed - get a bigger hammer.
(3) If all else fails - read the instructions.

These few truths have served me well and I am both glad to have been told them and proud to pass them on to whoever reads this article. The last thing I want to say about my Dad is something that my Uncle Jerry Faulkner reminded me that I had left out of the thoughts I had written down after he died. His natural aptitude for music. He never had a piano lesson but could set down and figure out tunes by ear. He taught himself how to play a guitar with those home study books after he was 40 years old. He also had a good singing voice and sang several old songs without music and kept the right tune. Something my mother or I can't do. So, to me, my dad will always be cool.

One of the most important people in my life has not always been on my top five favorite list, but always should have been. Even though I am everything I am mainly because of this person, I have tried my hardest to prevent her from influencing me, all the time being influenced by her. Of course I am talking about my mom, Pauline S. Abraham. She has been the cause of some of my greatest triumphs, my protector, my defender and one of my biggest fans. Without her I wouldn't be here today and I am very sorry I didn't listen to her more often and fought so hard against her to achieve my manhood. But now I know what I thought of then as being a "mother-hen" was her overpowering love and compassion for me. I love her very much and hope that she knows that, even though I don't always show it. Because we are so much alike, we sometimes don't always get along. There have been times that we couldn't stay in the same room together for five minutes. But there have been times when we were having the best times of our lives together. All of my birthday parties, whenever I was in need of a shoulder to cry on, or a hand to get up, are just some of those times. There are so many memories and instances, it's hard to describe the impact on my life and the connection that we have. But of course everybody knows that feeling because they have it with their mothers which is why this family is so close. And everybody in this family knows my mom and probably has several warm and fuzzy memories about her, which just shows what a special gift she is to this family! Very cool!

I know I was just gong to write about my five favorite people in this family, but I have seen some of the things Mom wrote about (boy, I thought I was long-winded) and decided I couldn't be out done. Besides there's three special people I didn't write a lot about that just have to be mentioned in this book. That would be of course my wife, Lisa M. Marlow Abraham and our two children, Culea Renee and Russell Dalton. All three are the best things that have every happened to me. When I met Lisa, I was out of work living with my mother definitely needing a change and someone to help me get my act together and that's exactly what she did. She made me whole, gave me a purpose in life and helped me achieve that purpose. Together we fulfilled dreams I'd had my whole life. A farm, or at least ten acres, and a house with a barn and some cattle, and of course children. And Lisa is a great mom -- caring protective and very loving. These are just some of the attributes of her personality but here's a story that describes her a little better. We had been dating for about a month and there was a family get-together at Granny's to paint her and Grandpa's house on Memorial day. So for the first time I brought a girlfriend to meet my mom's family. And at first she was shy and quiet keeping close to me, but around dinner time she pitched in in the kitchen and helped serve and clean up right along with my aunts. Being raised the youngest of 12 with 8 older brothers had a lot to do with her fitting in so well and was just another reason I love her so much. As for the kids -- Culea is such a sweetheart - smart, pretty with a quick wit, she reminds me of her mom, my mom, Pat, and Peggy all at the same time. Being in the first grade all of her grades so far have been straight A's, with a 92 being her lowest grade. Her teacher just raves over her. Makes her dad and mom pretty proud!! Dalton also gives me a lot of pride and a lot of heartache. He is stubborn, hard headed, argumentative and so much like me I just have to laugh, grin, and bear it. And he has so much energy, a better natural baseball swing than I ever had, and has such a cute smile, he has his mom (and me) wrapped around his little finger. All in all I feel very fortunate to have been blessed with these people as my family and I thank God for them all.

Well, that's about all I have to say bout specific member of this family, but if you think I'm finished, somebody better check your ID because you're probably not part of this family.

Anyway, now I want to tell some of my favorite memories. First had to have been Granny Sannie's old farm house on the corner of Sugar Hill Road. That big front porch and the Bunkhouse were the best places to play with Robbie and Dean because Granny Sannie wouldn't let us play by the creek, might get snake bit. (That doesn't apply to the hooded snakes we found underneath the porch). That sure was a great place to play and eat - from collard greens to squirrel stew, it was always good. My fondest memory of Granny Sannie was when I came back from Charleston after getting out of the Navy. I had driven all day and got to Lincoln about 3 p.m. in the afternoon, and when I got there she was taking some cornbread out of the oven to go with the turnip greens she was cooking on the stove. Man, it was one of the best times of my life. Granny Sannie has always been and to me always will be very special and very cool.

Anytime I remember good times they usually start in Arkansas, close to Cincinnati down a country dirt road in and around a stone dairy barn, watching the cows and playing in the barn were always fun but, shooting bullfrogs with Lester at the pond and playing baseball in the backyard with Lonnie and Murle were some of my happiest memories. Though getting up at 4 o'clock to the smell of bacon and eggs being cooked by Aunt Jo is up there too. So many good times and fond memories are associated with Hat and Jo's farm it's hard to pick certain ones to write about. They are not just my childhood either, sitting up watching election return when Carter beat Ford with Uncle Hat telling me Carter was going to win and me hoping against odds Ford would come back. We've had fun with that one for a long time.

PAULA RENE' ABRAHAM
"Our Little Angel Unaware"

In Hebrews Chapter 13, Verse 2 It says "Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unaware".

In our age of the television and movie industry's trend of producing shows about angels and their relationship between God and people in need. ("Highway to Heaven"; "Touched by an Angel"; "Promised Land"; "Michael"; etc). I can remember a time when this was not the case and this type of show would not have been accepted by the general public. In the 1950's and early 1960's there was some skepticism when angels were mentioned. Dale Evans Rogers wrote about their daughter Robin Elizabeth who was born a mongoloid baby. in a book entitled "Angel Unaware" I have borrowed from the verse in Hebrews and the title of Dale Evans Roger's book, to express my feelings that we have angels among us. even though we are not always aware of them.

One thing I do know in my own heart was that we had an angel that was in our midst for a very short time. She was a beautiful blond baby girl that Russ and I and Rusty were blessed to have for a short while. She was the little "sunshine" in our life and the little sister that Rusty loved to play with and entertain. Even at that early age he was a performer and entertainer. Rene' was his first audience and she was very receptive. She would laugh and clap her hands when he would play around her with such enthusiasm. He played basketball or kicked the football or would do all sorts of things to get her to laugh.

When Rusty was little he hated to be left in his bed or play pen when he was awake but Rene' didn't mind. She would wake in the morning and play with her cradle gym and sometimes she would wake us up laughing or cooing at the bird mobile she had over her bed. During the day she was content to lay in her play pen or later to sit in her stroller and let her big brother entertain her with his play.

She loved to crawl up in her dad's lap when he came home from work and let him sing to her while waiting for dinner. She would snuggle in Russ's arms and he would sing some of the old songs his mother use to sing to them as children. Rusty would wander by and climb up in his dad's lap for a while and she was always glad to share with him. Of course she knew he wouldn't stay too long for he was too busy to sit still for a long period of time or he might fall asleep and he didn't have time for that as long as he could keep on the move.

One of our summer treats after Sunday night church was to go to A&W Root Beer and get a frosty mug of Root Beer for a nickel or dime. If the parents bought a mug then they had tiny mugs they called "dinks" for the children under six years of age free. Rusty never was able to drink all of his until Rene was old enough to have one. She would usually drink all of hers and get a refill from Mom or Dad. It didn't take long for Rusty to make a competition out of it and he would try to drink faster and get the first refill before she did.

She was always a happy smiling child, except one time when we kept our pastor's little girl (that was a month younger than Rene)' overnight when the pastor and his wife had to be out of town for a meeting. Karen was not a real healthy baby for the first 6 months of her life and she cried all the time. I spend most of the night in the living room either walking the floor or rocking her. About midnight I looked up and Russ came in the living room carrying Rene' and laughing. He said she had been laying in her bed attempting to cry to get some attention also. She must have decided that if Karen cried and got to be rocked that she would try it. Of course she accomplished her objective as Russ rocked and sang to her and in just a few minutes she was sound asleep, which is more than I can say for Karen.

When Rene was a year old she received a doll for her birthday that was as big as she was. (It passed down to Ruth Elaine, then back to us when she outgrew it. Culea and Dalton still play with the doll when they come to grandmothers house). One of the families of our church had a little girl Joyce that was a couple of months younger than Rene. Joyce and her mother was at our house for Rene's birthday and we took pictures of the two girls with the doll sitting between them. When you first looked at the picture you wondered who the other child was.

The tradition at our church was on your birthday you put birthday money in the Children's Home Bank. So on the Sunday morning after her birthday I dressed her up in her new blue birthday dress and curled her hair and she looked like a little doll when I brought her from the nursery and let her put her birthday money in the bank. Many of the people there commented that she looked like a little angel. At the time I did not comprehend the validity of that statement but in a few short months I realized the full impact of it.

Russ and I had some tough hills to climb but God carried us through the bad times with the assurance that he is always there.

Rusty has always been our "Sonshine" but Rene was our little angel unaware, here on earth for only a short time (almost 14 months) but a beautiful memory that will last a lifetime. As time has passed and memories have faded there is still this feeling that heaven will be sweeter because Rene Our little angel came into our lives.

FLOYE "SPICED"

by Pauline S. Abraham

Floye Kate Seratte was born the fourth child with two other older sisters, What Glory could she attain! Well she did... Aunt Madeline remembers when she came to take care of her older sister and her children either. when Frank was born in the home or later when he was little and Mother was real ill that Floye was the quite little girl that sat in her little rocking chair facing the wall and rocked quietly admist all the turmoil that was happening with a new baby brother. Aunt Madeline was not aware of the little mother attitude Floye developed as more children came into the family and Floye was always the one that watched the children when it was time to cook, do dishes or other household chores... but of course when they were finished, it was her turn to go play and others to watch the children.

I'm sure that Melba will always be grateful that Floye was not a real assertive person in her younger years, because when Melba was born and they were trying to decide on a name for her, Floye came running in one day real excited for in her little five-year old mind she had come up with the perfect name, aren't we glad that we have a Mel-l-l-ba and not a Katie Rouge !! Floye was somewhat of a loner as a child but she became a sports participant, very athletic and strong. She played Basketball in Jr High and High School (and was one of the star players for the Westville Girl's basketball team) and could toss her older sisters around if the occasion arose. After High School and the family moved to Wichita she was a very diligent worker and her employers always used her as an example to the other employees and she very quickly advanced to a leadership and training role. Floye married Bill Adkerson in April, 1957 and they had two sons, Kenneth Duane born August 25, 1958 and Ronald Keith born August 31, 1968. Her home has always been open for family dinners and after Bill died and she married Jim Hlad she still carries on the tradition of being a great cook and mothers us all, this even extends into the families of the cousins, Roy Moorman always loves for Floye to come to his house because he never has to fix any meals for himself when Diane is at work. We all depend on her and we know when Floye is around, we will be well fed. In the Seratte family Floye is known for her mexican cuisine. One thing you will want to remember when you eat her mexican sauces, is to be sure and find out whether they are mild, hot, really hot or Floye spiced...

Dad always planted big gardens wherever we lived and Wichita was no different. He always rotated his crops every year and in 1962 he planted his bell pepper plants in the same spot he had his hot peppers the year before and they must have cross pollinated because he had a beautiful crop of everything that year and after he was gone the family was inundated with all kinds of vegetables and Floye's son Kenny was almost 4 years old and loved all the vegetables that came out of Grandad's garden, especially the bell peppers but he did not inherit his Granddad or Mothers love for hot spicy foods. This one particular day we were at Mothers and Kenny was eating his favorite peppers and he kept complaining that they were too hot but Floye assured him that they were not hot so go ahead and eat them but in a little while his little face was red and splotchy and one of the other children tasted them and said they were hot but Floye was sure they were not but when she tasted them she decided that these peppers could possibly be a little "Floye spiced" as we so frequently dubbed the extra extra hot stuff. So now we know...

CINDY KAY SERATTE ORR

I was born July 13, 1965 and given the name Cindy Kay, the first of Franklin (Frank) Braxton and Carolyn V. Anderson Seratte's two children. I have one younger brother, Jon Franklin. We were both born in Wichita, Kansas.

I attended schools in Kansas, Colorado and Calgary Alberta, Canada then Omaha and Lincoln, Nebraska and I graduated from Southeast High School in Lincoln, Nebraska with advanced classes in English and American History. I took all the classes I could in music including lettering in the Marching Band & Symphonic Band. I was a member of Court Choir & Queen's Court, accompanist for Knight Sounds Show Choir and Church accompanist for four years. I was also a member of Key Club, French Club and Honor Roll and a Twirler my senior year.

I attended William Jewell College, Liberty Missouri for four years and Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Oklahoma two years, receiving my Bachelor of Music Education degree in 1989 and did graduate work at Oklahoma University at Norman, OK. My college activities included Alpha Phi Omega Service Fraternity; Tatler Review; Confronters' Ministry Team and Symphonic and Pep Bands, Percussion Ensemble and a member of Chapel Choir. I am currently employed as Music Educator at Lincoln Elementary School, Ponca City, Oklahoma.

I was married in 1986 and divorced in 1989. The one good thing to come from this union was a beautiful daughter Heather Kay, born June 10, 1987. On June 1, 1991, Kenneth (Kenny) Eugene Orr and I were married at First Baptist Church in Ponca City, Oklahoma. Kenny adopted Heather in July 1992. Then April 22, 1994 our son Daniel Braxton Orr was born.

Kenny was born February 22, 1967 and is the son of Kenn and Deanna Orr. He graduated from Ponca City, Oklahoma High School in 1986 and attended Northern Oklahoma College at Tonkawa, OK. He is currently employed at First Baptist Church in Ponca City in charge of all the sound and electronic equipment and has his own Electronic Business at our home.

Heather is in the 4th grade at Roosevelt Elementary school and loves to read, she is reading books on the 7th and 8th grade level. Daniel is very active "all boy" and will very quickly tell his aunts or anyone that makes the mistake of calling him Dan or D. Braxton, (very emphatically in his two and a half year old vernacular) his name is "Daniel Braxton Orr".

Music and working with the youth of the church plays a very important role in both Kenny's and my life along with activities of our children. My other hobbies include Church choir, accompanist, children's & youth choirs, teaching piano lessons, reading, writing, family, friends and pets. Also redecorating our house, one room or so per summer. Another special project is restoring a very special piano that belonged to Dad's Uncle Harnage (Hat) Gilbreath's family.

JON FRANKLIN SERATTE

Born: May 11, 1968

Place: Wichita, Kansas

Lineage: Son of Franklin B. Seratte & Carolyn V. Anderson Seratte, grandson of Finnis Edward Seratte & Margaret Galbraith Seratte Mapes. Sister Cindy Kay Seratte Orr.

Status: Single but always looking (the right one just hasn't come along just yet).

You could summarize the twenty-eight years of my life in one, no, ok two words. Change and adaptability. The first seventeen and one half years my family moved eight times within the Central Plains ranging from the north, Alberta, Canada to the south, in Norman, Oklahoma. One learned to adapt to the surroundings and make new friends quickly (something as kids we hated but later discovered was a blessing and growing process from God). And being older have looked back and found that in each move God was and still is in control of our lives.

Speaking of God. I have to admit that I have been blessed with the best parents anyone could have. Sure they're not perfect, but who is? The one thing that sticks out in my mind about my parents is that they are committed to their marriage and committed to raising their children to be people after God's own heart. No, they didn't cram it down our throats (I did have a drug problem since I was one year of age, my father drug me to church for all that time) but instilled a good moral foundation by example. I owe almost everything I believe in to my parents which God has used to bring me up and protect me and to help me grow in my walk with Him. And still in my later years, I can always go and talk to them about almost anything. Like I mentioned before, this is not a perfect family. No family is perfect. We all have some sort of "dysfunction" in one way or the other. But we have one source that keeps us in line and on the straight path. That source is the power of the almighty God who, through His Son, has given the hope of eternal life with Him in His kingdom.

I am the second child of Franklin B. Seratte, which means that I got to learn from the mistakes of my older sister Cindy. I may not have applied what I learned but in the long run it has helped me out quite a bit.

I am currently working for Oklahoma Respiratory Care Inc., delivering home medical supplies. Before that I was a letter carrier in Oklahoma City for four and half years. I attended Oklahoma Baptist University prior to that for two years studying business and accounting. To wrap up my employment years, prior to college, I worked for a family owned IGA store for four years as a department manager in the dairy and bread section.

Sports have been an important part of my life. I played most every major sport in high school (football, basketball, baseball, and wrestling). Not necessarily in that order. I have used the knowledge from sports to witness to kids on over thirteen years of mission trips. Nothing satisfies me more than sharing the gospel with people. Through sports I have learned that we can reach a whole different type of people as they are not so shy towards a ball field as they are a church. My church I attend is blessed to send groups on several mission trips throughout the year. We go and meet the people where they are. If you haven't been on a mission trip, or just visitation you are missing out on a very rewarding event.

Lastly, I would like to talk about how God has given me the talent of music, both playing and singing. There is nothing I'd rather do than to sit down at the piano in our house and play and sing. There just seems to be a peace that God brings to my heart every time I am alone with just my music and God. It's indescribable! I am currently in a rock band with a group of guys that have become some of my good friends. It's a good time to release when we play our music. But I believe that God has been telling me for some time that I need to be using my talent in another way. So, I have started to venture into the youth and university crowds doing either mini-concerts or just some praise and worship music.

If there was one thing that I wanted to be remembered by it would be a man who was after God's own heart, which encompasses the spirit of God in me and the love and compassion for my fellow neighbor.

AUNT MEL-L-L-BA

by: Pauline S. Abraham

Melba Ruth Seratte was the sixth child of Finnis and Margaret Galbraith Seratte and had two older brothers and three older sisters. She also had a double cousin named Velma Ruth Galbraith that was almost three months older and they even shared the same middle name. Melba was such a pretty happy child, she loved to rock in her little rocking chair and she would sing little songs to Charles Galbraith when he came by on his paper route.

Mother worked at Walls Grocery Store after we moved to Westville and Daddy worked at Carrington Service Station. From the time Melba was about three years old, I always seemed to have "a little shadow". Most of the time this was a joy as people loved her and we received lots of attention everywhere we went as she was pretty, bubbly and never knew a stranger and this was good except when Mother would send us to the grocery store. First, I had to go to the station to get money from Daddy. He always needed to know what I wanted the money for and he would only give me exactly what the items would cost. As my little shadow, Melba always went with me and when we would get in the store she would either want an ice cream cone or some candy. If I told her we didn't have money to buy it, she would throw a little tantrum and usually one of the clerks or Mr. Walls the owner would go ahead and let her have it. I would be so embarrassed and wanted the floor to open up and swallow me but it never did. This one particular day Daddy had just given me barely enough money to get the items mother sent me after from the drug store. It made no difference to Melba that this was a different store than we usually went to. She still preceded to demand an ice cream cone as usual. I didn't have any money so I was trying to appease her but she was in rare form and was giving it her best performance when Jackie Wilt came in and assessed the situation and instead of giving her the ice cream cone, she picked her up and swatted her and told her to go on home with me. I don't know which was more surprised, me or Melba but she left with me without another word. We never told mother about it, but of course Jackie did.

Melba attended school at Westville through the first semester of the 9th grade. When the family moved to Wichita, Kansas in January, 1955 she attended the remainder of the 9th grade at John Marshall Jr. High in Wichita then high school at Wichita North High. After Melba finished school she worked several years in the restaurant field.

In the summer of 1964 she and a couple of friends went to Colorado then out to California and was gone about 3 months. They stopped in Tucumcari , New Mexico and she worked at a restaurant there for three weeks. It was now time to go on to California . Melba always had a dream of being a movie star, she thought that would be a glamorous life so they went to Hollywood where she interviewed for a stand-in part and while on the movie lot, she achieved her one claim to fame, she met and shook hands with John Wayne...

In 1968 Melba again traveled to Colorado and worked all summer at a restaurant there. She went to work at Coleman in Wichita in 1971 making camping supplies. Then in 1973 she went to work in the aircraft field at Cessna and Boeing then in 1975 she went to work at Beech Aircraft (now called Raytheon Corporation) and has worked there for 22 years.

Melba married Charles David Hornecker July 15, 1970 and they were divorced in January 1975. Her family now consists of Maurice who will be 12 years old July 3rd. (she has had him for over 11 years) and Chelsea is 9 months. They are both blonde Cocker Spaniels but they don't know they are dogs, they think they are "people in a people house".

Telling stories and relating every day happenings are some of the favorite things she likes to do especially when all the families get together. She sometimes has to remind at least one of her older siblings when they try to tell her that she isn't telling it right, that this is her story and when she finishes they can tell their version and see which one gets the most laughs. She loves talking and visiting with family and friends.

Every one of her nieces and nephews have unique and individual stories they can tell about her but she and Trina have a very specific relationship as they had season tickets in 1982 for all the Wing's Soccer home games when the team was MISL. After the games they would go to the locker room and meet some of the players. Trina's favorites were Norman Piper and Kim Roentved.

Trina also holds the record of spending a dollar the most times (Rusty, & Greg managed three or four times, but Trina's record is 13 and still undefeated) when shopping with Aunt Melba, each time she saw something she wanted she would say if she had brought her dollar with her she would buy this, and of course Aunt Melba would buy it. Thirteen times Trina spent that same dollar until her mother caught on and made sure she had her dollar with her the next time they went to the store and thus ended her shopping spree.

Melba's hobbies include bowling (she has won several trophies) and her annual Christmas ski trip to Colorado. A very special "dear to her heart" accomplishment has been her special time with each of her nieces and nephews and several young cousins that she has taught to call her Aunt Mel-l-l-ba , beating on her chest to get the echo sound while saying the word "Melba".

SHARON'S STORY

by: Sharon Louise Seratte Faulkner

I was born September 11, 1943, the fifth daughter yet the seventh child of Finnis Edward and Margaret Temple Galbraith Seratte. There was some controversy about my name. Mom and some of my older sisters wanted to name me Sharon Kay but Dad said no, that Kay sounded to much like Floye's middle name Kate so I was named Sharon Louise. Yet, all the years he was alive if Dad didn't call me "Sis", he called me Sharon Kay.

Growing up in a large family (along with double cousins living in the same town where many people weren't sure which of us belonged to Margaret or which belonged to Bill), was a rich and rewarding experience (good and bad) that I wouldn't trade for anything. Elva Jean Galbraith is just a couple of months older than me and we were called twin cousins in school. We talked and shared secrets and did everything together, until I was 11 years old and our family moved to Wichita, Kansas. I was very shy so at first, it was very hard to go to school without Elva or Paul being in class with me. Although when we were in Westville and in the same class it was usually Paul Dean or Elva Jean that got me in trouble.

After we moved to Wichita, Kansas I went to O.K. Elementary School the second semester of the 6th grade then Jr. High at John Marshall Jr. High School and then to North High. The summer I was sixteen, I worked as a car-hop at the Continental Drive-in where Melba worked as cook. After High School, I worked as a waitress at Brown's Cafeteria and Grill.

In November of 1963 I met Jerry Leddell Faulkner when he came to the house with Melba and her friends Jan and Mac. We were married September 13, 1964 at Olivet Baptist Church by Rev. Gordon D. Dorian. Jerry was in the U.S. Air Force stationed at McConnell AFB in Wichita, Kansas. Our oldest son William Jay was born September 17, 1965. Jerry got out of the Air Force in 1967 and went to work for Standard Precision in Wichita. In August 1968 he went to work for Pure Carbonic as a truck driver. Our second son Richard Dee was born February 18, 1969. In 1970 Airco bought out Pure Carbonic and the Wichita Plant was closed. Jerry was transferred to the plant in Kansas City, Kansas and in September, 1970 we moved to Kansas City, Missouri. Then in 1972 Airco opened a plant in Lawrence, Kansas so in June of that year we moved to Lawrence and bought a house and have lived here almost 25 years.

A few years passed and the boys had always wanted a sister so in 1982 we met a teen age girl that needed a home. After much prayer and counseling, we started proceedings to adopt her. It took longer than we initially thought it would, but in 1985 Theresa Marie legally became part of our family.

In 1984 Jay enlisted in the U. S. Navy and served 6 years in active duty. During that time he was stationed in Japan, Gulfport, Mississippi, Spain and Greece. In 1990 he got out of the Navy but remained in the Navy Reserves until September 1996. December 1, 1990 Jay married Deanna Lynn Shawbaker. Though that marriage did not last from it came a delightful blessing in the form of Amanda Jean who was born September 28, 1991. Although she lives most of the time with her mother, she spends a lot of time with her grandparents. Jay is currently employed at E & E Display in Lawrence.

On September 14, 1985 Theresa Marie and Terry Eugene Burkart were married. They have blessed us with three grandchildren and they along with Amanda Jean are the delight of my life. Courtney Nicole Burkart was born December 27, 1986; Kyra Marie was born December 22, 1990 and Carter Eugene was born February 10, 1996. Theresa and Terry and children live in Grimes, Iowa where Terry works for C.T. Farm & Country in Des Moines, Iowa.

Richard Dee works in construction at the present time but has his application in at Southwestern Bell and is awaiting an interview. Dee has not yet met "the one" he wants to be his companion and helpmate for life.

I remember when Melba and I were around 4 and 7 years of age I knew in my mind that I was older than she was because my birthday was five days before hers. Of course we got into a sibling squabble and no matter what Melba said, she could not convince me she was the oldest. She even tried to point out that she was almost three years old when I was born, but since my birthday came on the 11th of September and hers was not until the 16th of September I knew I was older. We finally went to Mom to settle it and I was really let down when Mom said Melba was right, my birthday did come first each year but Melba was born almost 3 years before me.

I was so quiet and shy that I was more the observer than a doer. I remember really being delighted at so many of the things that Peg and Pat did as they were growing up. When the twins helped Mom put eggs out for the setting hens to hatch baby chickens and then later they wanted to see the baby chickens so they broke all the eggs open to see but there were no baby chicks there. Also the time when the rooster started attacking the twins, Mom couldn't understand why the rooster was being so mean until she saw Peggy kicking the rooster. When Mom said something to Peggy about not kicking the rooster and it would not attack her. Peggy replied "I didn't kick the rooster, it was these new shoes that did it".

I have always loved all my sisters but I think that in a family as large as ours that some will have special bonds. I believe that Peg and Pat and Floye have been the ones that I seemed to have that kindred spirit with. My older sister Velma has always been my ideal and someone I always wanted to be just like. She is our sophisticate who is elegantly reserved and has always wanted the best for each of her siblings; Margaret Pauline aka "Polly" I always thought was the model of fashion. I believe she could have dressed in a gunny sack and have rollers in her hair and still would look better and neater than most people. Polly has such a giving heart and is always willing and ready to help others; Floye Kate was always my sunshine while I was growing up. She seemed to always know when I needed a hug, a smile or some kind of encouragement and was there to give it to me. Floye doesn't realize that she is the cohesive element in our family and that she has an encouraging heart; Melba Ruth, three years older than me was the one I laughed, fought and teased with the first eleven years of my life. Melba has a gift of gab and storytelling. She knows how to captivate people and involve them in what she is saying. When I was three years old another baby girl came into our family her name is Glenda Ellen (or Dindy Yell as she called herself for a couple of years as she could not pronounce her name). Glenda wants to be peacemaker, she always tries to achieve peacefulness with no adversity or discention, just total tranquility. In 1948 when I was five years old, our family was doubly blessed with twin baby girls, Peggy Jo and Patricia Ann. Peggy has confidence and has always known she is loved, anything she does she knows it will be okay for she is special and she has many that will love her no matter what. Peggy is pleasant and fun to be with; Pat is gracious and gracefully elegant and knows she has a counterpart that will always be there with her support. Pat is very creative and has confidence that has allowed her artistic ability to grow.

Along with my sisters, I had two older brothers, the first was John Edward who is "big brother" still to all his younger siblings. We all value his opinions and advice even if we don't always follow it to the "T". Ed is also a guardian of his siblings. He may stand back sometimes but he really wants to protect us at all times; My other brother is Franklin Braxton alias Frank who is next in line as our defender. He is our leader and spokesperson. He knows how to organize and is very good at delegating. He gets his sisters to do a lot of things we would not volunteer to do on our own. He expects the best from his siblings and believes he will get it. He cares deeply for his family.

This is my family in a nutshell. Right or wrong, this is how I see my brothers and sisters.

GLENDA ELLEN SERATTE COWELL

I'm Glenda Ellen Seratte Cowell #8 child. I was born on Oct. 15, 1946 in Westville, Oklahoma to Margaret & Finnis Seratte. They already had 2 boys: Ed--17, Frank--8 and 5 girls Velma--15, Pauline--13, Floy--11, Melba--6, & Sharon--3. Two days before my 2nd birthday, the twins were born --Peggy & Pat.

I am married to Jack Leroy Cowell who was born in Caldwell, Kansas on April 10, 1951 to Aloisa & Roy Cowell,. He had 2 older brothers: Ronnie was 9 & Jerry was 2.

We were married on Sept 14, 1996 after a 6 month courtship. My son and I moved to Wellington, Kansas where Jack had been living for about 19 years.

I have 2 children. My daughter, Amy Suzanne Bakeman was born in Denver, Colorado at Mercy Hospital delivered by Dr. Lord on March 20, 1973, the 1st day of Spring at 12:01 p.m.. She lives in Wichita, Kansas with a friend Drue & is working at USF Dugan Trucking Co. in Centralized Billing and has been there about a 1 year. My son Aaron Scott Bakeman was born in Wichita, Kansas at Wesley Hospital. delivered by Dr. Horbelt on August 5th 1978 at 6:35 p.m.. He was in a fatal car accident in Wichita, Kansas on Sunday morning March 23, 1997. Thus ended his young life, but oh so many memories!!

Jack has a daughter, Stacey Ann Cowell, who was born in Wellington, Ks at Wellington Hospital delivered by Dr. Marcus Lee on January 7, 1977 at 11:13 p.m.. She is attending K-State in Manhattan, KS and is in her 2nd yr. She is majoring in Business. During the summer she lives with her Mom in Belle Plaine, Kansas.

I am working at Sumner County Family Care Center (SCFCC) partnership of Dr. Anderson & Weigand M. D. in Wellington, Kansas, as a Medical Assistant. I have worked there since Nov. of 1996, which has been about 5 months.

As a young girl I remember growing up around our Aunts & Uncles & Cousins. We had a lot of special days that the "whole clan" was together and had wonderful times. My nickname "Buttons" came from one of those times when they were discussing naming me. The name "Eyelet Ellen " was mentioned and one of my Uncles said "You might as well call her "Buttonhole". Later, Uncle Walter heard the story and shortened the name to Buttons and he and Hattie Lee, Bud and Roy have called me that ever since. My whole family has been very near & dear to my heart. Our church friends also played a major part in our life. I always felt safe, secure & sheltered and liked it that way. I know that my older brothers & sisters helped our parents a lot to make the younger ones life easier and full of love. In January of 1955 the older ones that were living in Wichita came & moved us from Westville to the Big City.

Some special events in my life that I remember are: The vacation that I went with Uncle Walter & Aunt Sanna to Texas, New Mexico & Arizona. That was one of the reasons for my special relationship with their family. In August of 1960 I was diagnosed as having Rheumatic Fever & I remember overhearing my Mom say I may not be able to walk again. There I was 13 years old and had been crawling around and enjoying the attention I had been getting , but hearing that scared me and made me determined to get on with life and start walking again. In April 1962 I won Sedgwick County Division of the Junior Sword Drill & in May I won the Kansas Title at the Southern Baptist Convention. As a result of this, I was awarded a trip to Glorietta NM & on June 7th that year I went and had the most memorable time of my life. In September 1962 I achieved "Queen" status in Girl's Auxiliary (GA's). My niece, Vicki Ruth Seratte was my attendant at the Queen's Coronation.

After graduating from North High in Wichita, Kansas in 1964 I did continue my education sporadically. I attended WSU for 2 semesters where I took Speech, Psychology, Government, & Logic. Yes, there is one I did not do very well at all. I took a refresher course in Typing in 1973. From August 1992---Oct. 1992 I received my license in Onychology (Manicurist). I keep that updated each year. I took Medical Terminology in 1994 for one semester. I have been interested in Reflexology since summer of 1992. It's something I wish I could do as my career because of the fulfillment I receive when I give someone a treatment and the pleasure and the release of tension they feel when the treatment is complete. I do plan to start teaching & giving Seminars with "Hands On Training". I am also a Mary Kay Consultant and am planning to expand the role of teaching Skin Care that will give great results and the tips on the best healthy nails in this world. I also just signed up to be an Excel L. D. Service Rep and use a little bit of knowledge that I learned from those years working with the Telephone Co.

Jack is presently working at Sumner County Road & Bridge Div. as a Foreman. He has been there since May 1977. After graduating from Caldwell Sr. High in Caldwell, KS. He went to Cowley County Community Jr. College in Ark City & graduated in 1971. That summer he went to work for his cousin at Nispel Furniture Store in Caldwell & worked there for 6 years until he went to work for Sumner County in Wellington.

As a young boy he enjoyed swimming, boating, skiing, riding bicycle & motor scooter. he enjoyed the sports--football, basketball , track, volleyball & tennis. His family was in a boating club in Wellington for about 8 years. He remembers mowing lawns, shoveling snow, helping farmers with harvest to make money. He remembers mainly in the winter months on his Moms side (the Gerberdings) they would have card parties about every 2 weeks rotating to different houses. He was pretty close with the families on his Moms side and has very fond memories. He loves music and does sing in a Southern Gospel Group. He would love to sing in a real good group and have concerts and not be working at Sumner County.

We both had been married twice before. His daughter's mother is Alice Jones Hahner and they were married for 14 years. After being divorced about 2 years he married a younger lady named Julie Hillicker and they were married for 8 years. Amy & Aaron's dad ,H. Karl Bakeman and I were married for 17 years. Four years before that marriage I married an Air Force guy named Julius Keeling but that lasted for a short 6 months because I realized I had made a big mistake.

I have been a Christian ever since I was 8 years old and very active in church, but evidently did not let God guide me through my journey of life. I went to him mainly when I was at my wits end. The last 7-8 years I have given God complete reins and its so good to know that he is in control and now my life is more peaceful and serene and I am letting him allow me to enjoy what he has in store for me. Jack & I both have given God the place in our marriage that he is the base. God is so good if we allow him to be!! The Footsteps is one of my favorite poems. He carries us when we are overwhelmed or are overburdened.

PEGGY JO SERATTE WOOD

Peggy Jo Seratte was one of the youngest of Finnis and Margaret Galbraith Seratte's children (I say one of the youngest, as she is a twin). Peggy and Pat, more commonly called "The Twins", were beautiful babies but were very sick for about the first six months of their lives. This resulted in them being pampered and spoiled rotten. Daddy, mellowing out in his later years let them get away with a lot more than he did the older ones while they were growing up.

Peggy and Pat were not identical but a very special bond existed between them, unlike that of the older brothers and sisters. There was almost a telekinetic connection between them as they seemed to know what each other felt or thought, even when they were miles apart. This proved to be a joy at times and a burden at others. Peggy was always the happy-go-lucky, fun loving person going through life, living in the moment. Pat always had this incredible ability to sense if harm was about to befall Peggy and she would lovingly intercede and distract Peggy away from the danger. This instinct seemed to work both ways and they could usually tell with only a glance of the eye or a smile, exactly how the other felt.

Peggy met Jack (Woody) Wood in Wichita, Kansas while he was stationed at McConnell Air Force Base. They were married in 1967, After Jack got out of the Air Force in September, 1967 he went to work for Sperry Corporation in Wichita in November. Jeffery Allen was born January 30, 1968. While working full time, Jack went to college taking night courses at Wichita State University. Their second blessing, Gregory Brian (Greg) was born September 20, 1971. Peggy and Jack joined some of their friends in a camping group and most weekends in the summer found them on the lake. Jack and Peggy became very active in little league sports as the boys grew and became involved. Jack received his Bachelor's degree in Business in 1977. In 1981 Sperry Corporation transferred Jack to Savannah, Georgia as a field engineer at Gulfstream Aerospace Center.

They bought a house in Rincon, GA, a suburb of Savannah. Peggy completed her GED and went to college, receiving her certification as Dental Assistant, specializing in Periodontal & Orthodontic Dentistry. In August 1984, Jack was transferred to Little Rock, Arkansas with Sperry (which is now Honeywell) as Staff Engineer and customer support with Falcon Jet and Raytheon Aircraft Company. They live in Benton, Arkansas, twenty miles south of Little Rock. Jeff and Greg went to Bryant schools. Peggy went to work for a Periodontist in Little Rock, AR. Later she went to work in Benton, AR for another dentist, to be closer to home and have more time with the boys and be able to participate in their sports activities. In 1992, Peggy joined her daughter in-law Connie's Unit with Mary Kay Cosmetic, achieving the position of team manager and driving a "free" car. After a year she quit her dental occupation to devote more time to building her own business in Mary Kay Cosmetics. This allowed her to have more time for the boy's sports and family outdoor camping activities which they all enjoy.

Jeff attended high school at Effington High in Springfield, Georgia and Bryant High in Bryant, Arkansas. He played all the sports he could, baseball, basketball, football and American Legion baseball graduating from Bryant High in May, 1986. He attended Henderson College in Arkadelphia the fall of 1986 with baseball scholarship for a year then to WestArk Jr. College in Ft. Smith for another year. Then he went to UALR for a few semesters, working in telemarketing. In his spare time he did some fishing, umpiring and also helped to organize Little League Baseball in Saline County. Jeff married Connie Baylis in February 1991 and they moved to Denver Colorado in August, 1991 with his business in telemarketing. Connie was in retail and in 1991 started her business as a Mary Kay consultant, achieving Directorship. She is now driving her third "free" car (which is a 1997 pink Grand Prix). Their son Sean Edwin was born July 25, 1995. He is such a gift, all "boy", all smiles, sweet and beautiful (this is grandmother Peggy's version). Jeff closed his business in telemarketing in Denver in January 1997 and has returned to college to complete his degree in Business and is working part time at United Postal Systems.

Gregory attended Bryant high school, graduating in June 1989. He attended Henderson College in Arkadelphia in 1989-90 then went to UALR 1991-92. He worked part time for Affiliated Foods. Greg was active in American Legion baseball and played basketball with the First Baptist Church in Benton's team and also played in the Men's softball league a few years. Greg and Lisa Burdick married in February 1993. Lisa is employed with Mems Ambulance Service as Accounts Receivable Assistant. Their son Cameron Scott was born July 15, 1993. From such a small beautiful baby, he is growing to be strong loving happy child and he loves to say"yee-haw" (which he says his Dad taught him to say, but I know for a fact that isn't true, I believe it came from a movie he saw) but he does it with such style and grace. He is God's gift to us all.

Greg is presently working at Martin Browers and is attending night school at UALR working on his Bachelor's degree in Business.

MY FAMILY'S GIFTS TO ME

by: Pat Scharff

I wanted to write about the individuals in my family but I've always felt part of a unit, a team. We all had a responsibility, a part of the whole family. I decided to spell out the gifts I have received from each of the members of this unit that makes me a part of who I am.

DAD

Dad treated us each a little differently but equally. He was a very religious man. Handsome and strong, stern but gentle. I saw him as a patient man, kind and loving. He wanted us to accept what was and be thankful that it wasn't less. When he gave us a chore he expected it to be done without question. If it didn't get done, death had better be involved. "No one can make you do wrong, but you can choose to do right" was his philosophy. He taught me accountability and trust.

MOM

Mom was such a joy. She celebrated everything. She made do with what she had and enjoyed what little material things she owned. She was a forgiving soul and practiced God's love for everyone. She could make a feast from almost nothing. She loved people and all living things. Even as a child I wondered how she could love some people after they had hurt her. Mom loved them because God said forgive and that meant forgetting and she did. She taught me forgiveness and giving.

ED

Ed - my big brother- a quiet soft spoken man. He had Dad's smiling eyes and gentle smile. Ed is so thoughtful and thinks about each situation before commenting. I'm sure he must have a few faults but I've yet to find any. He had to take on some big responsibilities after Dad passed away. I'm so grateful to God for bringing Eva into our lives. As young as I was when Ed married Eva I thought she would take him away according to the biblical admonition, "a man shall leave his father and mother, and cleave only unto his wife". She turned out to be an even better sister than the others (she didn't always tell you to sit still). Eva was so supportive of Mom and Ed and I know it must have been very hard. She never complained of the burden of being a newly married couple and having us all depend so heavily on them. I've looked up to Ed all my life and that will never change. He taught me responsibility and admiration.

VELMA

When I think of Velma, I think of class, chic and pioneer (she'll hate me for this but it is true). A lot of the younger ones tried to fashion themselves after her. She was the moving force that saw a more profitable outlet for Daddy and the family. A "lady always", strong, silent, gentle and fun. She can be anything she wants to be. She is very intelligent, "our Martha Stewart". She was the one with the toughest job, seeing to it that we always conducted ourselves properly and hold our heads up high (a large family was sometimes looked down on). She was strong, compassionate and steadfast. She taught me strength and loyalty.

POLLY

Polly, smart, loving, kind and always there when you needed her. She loves people and appreciates them. She should have been a writer. She listens to people's hearts. She has a forgiving soul. God has blessed her and she has been a blessing to many people. She taught me to think positive.

FLOYE

Growing up, Floye was the one I counted on. In school they separated me from Peggy. I was so lonely without her close by, plus I had a lot of health problems, earaches, toothaches, sore throat, etc. (some of it may have been anxiety). I was afraid of being away from home but Floye seemed to know what to say or do to make it better, she was a natural care-giver. In later years, working with her, I saw how other people perceived her and realized how compassionate, fair and hard working she is. She expected twice as much from her sisters than anyone else. She worked hard no matter what and took pride in doing a job the best she could, then some. She taught me to be the best you can be.

FRANK

I admired Ed but was awe-struck by Frank most of the time, and still am. He moved in Ed's shadow for a long time. His grace, skill and intelligence finally afforded him a "head of the table" spot. He would work so hard and so many long hours and several jobs to keep the family going. Twenty-four hours literally just wasn't enough so I felt like he developed the twenty-six hour day. He wasn't around much because of the jobs, school, church, ball games and coaching. He didn't have time for mistakes he was a man on a mission. He worked hard and made time for what he thought was important. His family and friends were second to God. He married Carolyn just before Dad died. (I didn't understand why he wanted to marry anyone then as I thought he spent way to much time away anyway, so how did he know this girl enough to get married). It was a couple of years before I even tried to get to know her. She is truly a friend and I am so glad to be close to her now. Frank seemed to always know what he wanted to do. Sometimes he had to do other things first, but he never lost his focus. He trusted God and through troubled times became a stronger person. He taught me humility and honor.

MELBA

Melba gave me a lot of things, some not so good - but mostly, so much good. She was just older than me which meant she was in charge a lot. I don't think she enjoyed being in charge much because she would rather have fun. We worked sometimes, but she made it fun. She was a free spirit. Being the youngest, I wasn't always privy to what was happening in her life. She seemed to have a hard time settling into the pattern of life. Finally God got her attention and she began to enjoy herself as everyone else did. She was easy to be with, only gave advice if asked or thought nothing else had helped, so she couldn't do much harm in suggesting something. She was so tall and graceful. I thought she was beautiful, but if someone told her that she acted as if she didn't believe them. The way she could entertain us was by telling stories, not made up ones, the real life happenings that she saw. Her view of what happened was entertainment. She taught me humor and freedom.

SHARON

When I think of Sharon, I think of beauty, multi-talented and grace. She was unlike our friends sisters because she never seemed to be ashamed of us or try to get away from us. She was gentle, kind and helped Peg and I to look our best. As we grew up she was what I later named (my constant conscience). I thought her indian features were striking and heartwarming. Daddy would tell her she made a bigger mess cleaning than anyone he knew, but when she finished the house sparkled. She didn't change the way she cleaned, because that's the way she cleaned. She and Dad were alike in so many ways. Sharon had a quiet beauty, from the heart. I didn't always understand her but I always felt loved by her. She taught me graciousness.

GLENDA

When Glenda was only two, Peggy and I were born and from that point on took some of the limelight. "The Twins" were a sort of novelty in our family. My first memory of her was her hair, not blonde but white, like lightening. Looking at pictures of her at that age, you see she was born with a smile that invited you to smile back. The most important thing I remember about her is her ability to practice. She memorized the books of the bible, Bible verses and songs. She influenced my love for reading and music. She would spend hours reading (sometimes out loud) much to our chagrin. She also practiced learning to speak clearly and distinctly. There were times Peggy and I would listen to her talk to her dolls as an audience. Oh! the things she would pretend. She taught me to dream.

PEGGY

Then there is Peggy. I picture butterflies, birds, trees, flowers - little mother earth - gems, earth and all good things. Heart of gold - Silver streaks of wisdom, sparkling diamonds, rubies and shooting stars.

My partner in crime from day one. I was her anchor and she was my wings. She was like a butterfly that might get away if I didn't clip her wings just a little. I had to hold on so she wouldn't get eaten up by the frogs. She had her own way of doing things and she did them. Most of the time she absorbed life and people. We all were so taken with her openness and confidence. She attracts people. If you want what she has, she'll show you how to get it. A just "do it" person. She shared everything with me and I'm the lucky one to be her twin. I know we must have had disagreements but I only remember two times that we were upset with each other and it didn't last long. She taught me love and devotion.

All these gifts given, have helped this family bond and survive many difficult times. The celebrations of life are far sweeter when you have a family such as ours to share them with. These are just some of the gifts my family has shared with me: Dad - accountability and to trust people; Mom - forgiveness and a giving heart; Ed - responsibility and admiration; Velma - strength and compassion; Polly - think positive and it will be O.K.; Floye - have pride in a job well done; Frank - humility and honor; Melba - humor and freedom; Sharon - graciousness; Glenda - to dream; Peggy - 'LOVE' and devotion; With all these gifts and God's blessing I hope someday I will be able to pass on these treasures and memories of the wonderful people that gave me so much.

PATRICIA ANN SERATTE SCHARFF

Patricia Ann (Pat) was the youngest of twins born to Finnis and Margaret Galbraith Seratte (for almost forty years she had her twin sister Peggy believing that she was the oldest, therefore had the final authority). For a while you may have thought they didn't have individual identities as everyone referred to them as "The Twins" They were the babies and as such were spoiled and pampered but at the same time they were little dolls to the older siblings... they were special as there was two instead of just one. Another really neat thing about their childhood was that they became Aunts when they were only 5 years old. They were so proud of their new nephew Gary Dean Reece.

When they started to school (even though they were not identical, they still had a lot of identical traits). The teacher separated them because she thought they were copying off each other because without knowing it Pat would draw the same picture Peggy did. Mother always thought it was amazing that, even though they were not together, they always came home with the same broken crayons.

When the family moved to Wichita in January 1955, the twins were still in the first grade and the school authorities put them together that first year but the teacher soon discovered that Pat was good at English and Peggy was good at Math so Pat would do both their English assignments and Peggy would do both Math assignments and then switch. The next year (for no reason that they understood) they were assigned different classes. Not to be outdone, they met at recess to exchange their papers, if Pat could get Peggy off the slides.

The family lived on the West side of Wichita and joined Olivet Baptist Church located at 13th & High Streets. They were all involved in the various church activities. They attended Elementary and Jr. High in that area then went to North High. After Daddy died, there was some rough going, but with a lot of prayers and the help of church friends we got through it.

Pat met Jerry Scharff who was on furlough from Korea visiting his parents in Wichita. His next tour of duty was in Germany. When Jerry came home on his next furlough from Germany in 1965, they were married and Pat moved with him to Ausburg, Germany. While in Germany they acquired a beautiful white German Spitz named Shane. They had only been in Germany about six months when Jerry's Dad had a heart attack. When Jerry was notified he started for Kansas on an emergency leave on a military flight. In the meantime, Mr. Scharff died and Frank wired Pat a ticket on commercial flight to Wichita, Kansas and when she arrived in Chicago at O'Hara International Airport (that is no small place) as God's will would have it, imagine her amazement and delight when she looked up and saw Jerry on a layover there. She had the sad task of telling him his Dad had died but they were able to travel on to Wichita together. After the funeral, Jerry returned to Germany where he was given an early leave (as he was the only living male in their family) to return state side and Pat remained in Wichita until he returned. Jerry was assigned to Officer's Training School in Virginia and after that to Fort Benning in Columbus, Georgia where he was stationed until 1971.

Tabrinia Michelle (Shelly) was born January 4, 1969 and Katrina Lynn (Trina) was born July 3, 1971. They moved back to Wichita, Kansas in October 1971 and Jerry went to work for Cessna Aircraft and Pat worked for Coleman Outing Products for 10 years. In the course of all this they added another member to their family, a Chihuahua named Taffy, that loved to crawl into the pillow cases on the bed and scare you to death when you laid your head on the pillow and she would move or yelp, "she would almost give you a heart attack". Taffy was very much a part of the family for many years.

In 1979 or thereabouts Jerry went to work for Sperry Corporation which later became Sperry-Rand Corporation in Wichita. Then after Russ died in April 1981, and making several trips to Mineral Wells, Texas, he transferred to the Sperry plant located near the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport in Irving, Texas that winter. They bought a house and Pat and the girls moved down to Watauga, TX (a suburb of Fort Worth) in March, 1982. Later Sperry-Rand was bought by Honeywell, Inc. and Jerry works in the flight systems department.

Pat worked for Hitachi for two years then she worked several years for Texas Instruments in Fort Worth, Texas. She is now a Mary Kay Consultant and takes care of her three beautiful grandchildren.

Shelly lives in the Fort Worth area and is employed at Patterson Dental Products and was married to Henry (Hank) Waite and has three children; Chelsea Elizabeth, born September 14, 1988, Jonathan Eric born March 20, 1992 and Rachel Erin born November 24, 1993.

Trina graduated from North Richland Hills High School and attended TCJC in Fort Worth for two years, she plans to finish her degree in the near future. She started working for a landscaping firm in her sophomore year in high school and worked there for ten years. She is now employed for Honeywell in Irving, Texas and she lives in Arlington, Texas and she dotes on her nieces and nephew...

There has always been a closer bond between Pat and Peggy (than with the rest of the brothers and sisters, even though they are all close) as they have always been able to sense when something is happening to the other or they will have the same experiences even when they are hundreds of miles apart.

GETTING TOGETHER OF THE CLAN

Well!! we will do anything, almost to get together. Work day, sure! This is when we will be able to tell who does what...

We have the Brainstormer--- Miss Velma--- then, the Organizer --- Mr. Frank--- then the work begins. When we all get together--- of course there is food---Miss Floy will manage that department, which she is always very capable and willing to do... Our Brainstormer also keeps making sure that everything is ready---the paint is bought---has been over scraping paint off so some will not have excuses not to be over bright and early Saturday morning. To make sure that we don't look completely like bums, Keith, Floy, Glenda and Aaron drop by and scrape paint off the front porch (what we can reach).

Here it is Friday and the weather starts acting like it is going to be rainy all weekend. Seems to me, that some of the people might be saying prayers for the rain. That's not good enough, have you ever heard of umbrellas.

Saturday--- I can picture it--- early, early Saturday morning Jerry Scharff sneaks over and tries to get Grandpa to go fishing so that Grandpa won't tire out just sitting and watching and letting us know if things are looking pretty good. Actually Grandpa won't leave because he is afraid to leave with all these people running around. Jerry Scharff will decide to take on his regular role of SUPERVISOR along with Ed--- perhaps Gaylan will help since he is use to telling others what to do. Carolyn is very good at delegating some one to do something and then joining in and helping--- that's called a working supervisor. Now Granny, we will put her in her chair, we might have to tie her down and tape her mouth. ha ha ha! Gung ho Frank will suggest to get the ladders in position and start assigning jobs. Rusty up this ladder! Jeff or Jon on this one! Woody will start in this area! Two of you kids can help him! Peggy and Velma will get some of the girls started over in another area! There is never work to be done without a few deciding if there might not be a better way to do it. Could possibly be Karl, Jerry Faulkner or Melba maybe saying "well, you really should do it this way"... Then Floy starts getting the food out. Carolyn, Sharon and Glenda help her lay it out. About that time, Polly has her make up on and is ready to come and visit so she, Pat and Melba get a cup of coffee each and get their cigarettes--- and they are ready for a good time.

After lunch, the fun really begins (we'll rest and let the food digest--- then let's play and relax) some excuses... then Rusty will need to tell his Cajun jokes... then Frank... Back to work... The kids will have tired out by now and the elders will need to sit and discuss what else should be accomplished. So you know who will be doing the work--- the healthy 25 - early 40's.

All kidding aside it will be fun, because with the work there will be a lot of goof-offs and visiting.

Velma, Floy, Jim, Frank, Pauline, Sharon & Grandpa Melvin

Child Drowns In Pond Near Summers Home

Lincoln -(Special)- Funeral services for Carl Gene Galbraith, eight, who drowned late Saturday afternoon in an irrigation pond near his home at Summers, were scheduled for 2 p. m., today at the Methodist Church in Cincinnati. The Rev. DeVoe Whitley officiated. Burial was in the Cincinnati cemetery with the Luginbuhl Funeral Home of Lincoln in charge.

The boy had waded into the pond with Tommy Rust, a neighbor. His three sisters, Carrol Sue, Kathy Ann and Cheryl Faye were playing nearby when the oldest sister saw him wade into water over his head and ran to summon her father, Walter Galbraith. The boy, who was taken to the hospital in the family car, was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Additional survivors include his mother, Mrs. Walter Galbraith; a brother, James Clyde, of the home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Burk, Cincinnati.

WALTER'S CHILDREN
by: Cathy Galbraith Clark

In the summer of 1967 Clay, Celia, and myself, Cathy, decided to do something different than we had before. We started taking the car. It was a 1949 Plymouth that belonged to our Dad, Walter. He would kill me if he found out, so we marked the place that the car was at and we would put it back in the very same spot. Plus we replaced all the gas that we used with gas out of the tractor or the hay truck. Then we would get gas from the field man that came out to the oil well pump. One day or should say afternoon, Celia wanted to go for a ride so we loaded the car with Dennis, David, Cindy, and Cheryl. We had to take Cheryl or she would tell Walter, then we would have been in trouble like no other. This day Walter had taken the key so I hot wired the car and out into the cow pasture we went. This is the one where the milk cows are in. Celia and Clay had a bet on to see who fell off the hood of the car first. So on the first go round nothing. Then we started to speed up and on the first bump Clay went off, nothing happened. Then when we got to the second bump the car was going fast and Celia went flying off into the air and into the bushes on the side of the road next to the oil pump that was running. Nothing happened except Celia got a grasshopper in her blouse. But every year on the same day something happened to Celia for about 5 years.

TB Skin Test

Mrs. Beulah Diehl, county nurse, is giving the tuberculosis skin test to Mrs. Ricky Frakes. All food handlers, nursing home and day care employes are required to take the test, according to Bernard Umscheid, county health officer, who is assisting. He will issue a health card to each person who receives the skin test, and does not have TB. This is a program of the local Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. All persons who have a positive reaction will receive a chest X-Ray. If anyone is found to have tuberculosis, they are referred to their local physician. The TV-RD Association will assist in getting medication for the patient. If the physician states the patient must be hospitalized the TB-RD assist will make the arrangements. The TB-RD Association feels that this is a protection for the community. (E-E Staff Photo).

LIVING IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS
By: Madeline Galbraith Spears Cox

As far back as I remember Mama and Dad (Charles and Rachel Winfrey Galbraith) never quarreled or fought. I don't remember them ever arguing. They were strict as to what we should or should not do. They never spanked or "beat" us. Our punishment was to sit and be still either on the steps outside, or in cold weather, we sat in a corner.

Dad was a farmer raising corn, wheat, oats and cows, hogs, mules, and horses. We had a brood mare, Kate, that had a colt every year. Sometimes we kept them and other times Dad sold them. We always had at least two teams, like two mules or two horses and two horses to ride or hitch to the buggy only. A buggy was our transportation. Our wheat or corn was used for feed except the "best" was taken to the mill at Cincinnati (Mr. Barton was the miller). We never bought flour or meal. We milked two or three or four cows. We kept the milk in the well house in water to keep it cool. We had a diluter cream separator to separate the milk form the cream. We had a special cream bucket that mama put the cream in to take to the grocery store at Summers along with the eggs to sell or trade for things we needed. Mama always set hens (later we had an incubator) and raised chickens. She kept the pullets and we ate the roosters as fryers. Then when the pullets started laying, Mama sold the old hens to buy our clothes. She would keep ten or twelve hens to lay eggs to set for the next spring. We didn't buy much at the grocery store, only spices, sugar, salt, baking powder, soda, cocoa, coffee and tea. We raised the potatoes both sweet and Irish and kept them in a potato house heated with a wood stove to keep in the winter. Mama always canned apples, peaches, plums, strawberries, blackberries and vegetables such as tomatoes, corn, peas, green beans, cabbage, kraut, and pickles (both beets and cucumbers). We never bought meat, we raised and butchered hogs and beef. We would cure the hogs and Mama canned the beef. Mama made the soap we used both to wash and bath with. (See section I for Lye Soap instructions).

I only remember William, Margaret, Walter, Jo and myself hoeing corn and helping in the fields. As soon as I could follow Mama, I started helping milk the cows. I liked to. We milked all our cows by hand, morning and night. I don't remember Margaret or Bill helping, but Walter always helped with the cows. Jo was always out there, but I don't remember her milking. I think she helped Dad feed, shuck corn and mix brand with the yesterday's milk from the dilutor. They would feed hogs and shell corn for the chickens along with soaked oats. Dad never milked a cow as far as I can remember. Mama also raised turkeys that were hatched in the spring and sold in the fall just before Thanksgiving. That was to buy our winter clothes. The rest of the time she saved the money each week that was left from buying groceries to buy our school supplies with.

As far back as I can remember we all had to get up and eat breakfast together. Dad always read a scripture from the Bible and we had a prayer. No one ever missed this as long as I was at home. On Sunday (weather permitting), Mama got up at 4 o'clock to make dinner before we went to church. Dad would hitch up the team to the buggy and it would take us about an hour to drive to church. I think this gesture instilled in the whole family a closeness that has always remained.

OUR LIVES
By: Madeline Galbraith Spears Cox

One day Shirley ask me if I could tell their children how their Grandad Ross died. It is easier for me to write than talk, so this is our story.

I didn't know until my Mama died that no one wanted me. When I heard them, my brothers and sisters talking, the night after Mama was buried, none of them wanted me. So I went in and told them where ever my Daddy went, I was going too. So Daddy said that we were staying right there.

When Ross came along that was the happiest time of my life. I felt wanted, which is very important to a teenager. When we married every thing went as we planned. Everything we sold made more money than we thought it would. We always had money, which I had never had before. When Bobby Jack came along we were planning for a new house. My income was from eggs and cream like when I was growing up, except there were more hens. We had 150 layers and I was trying to save all the cream money and most of the egg money to get a Kelvenator refrigerator. We had no electricity down there then and gas refrigerators had come to the country. Thompson's got one and it was next on our list when summer time came.

Ross always kept fresh straw in the chicken house. On every Monday and Saturday we cleaned the roosts and floor. Ross had hauled it out and I was putting Bobby Jack to sleep wondering why he didn't come on in. When he did he said that he fell when he came out of the barn loft. He always pulled the truck up under the window and pitched the straw off into it. He had pitched the pitchfork down and it stuck in the ground with the handle (a broken handle with a long sharp splinter on the end) sticking up. As Ross climbed down on the truck racks, his foot slipped off (it was raining and his boots were wet) and fell the rest of the way onto the broken handle. It stuck by his rectum and by a blood vessel. We took him to the Siloam Springs Hospital. He lived six days before the blood vessel broke. We had brought him home the night before. The doctors said that he was healing good. That it was a clean wound and they didn't know the blood vessel was damaged.

The end of my life again but for my Daddy who had always said that life is what you make it. Don't think about what was taken from you, but what God has given you. I still had Bobby Jack, the light of my life. Granny and Grandad Spears were so good to me. Of course all my brothers and sisters were there for me. They all spoiled Bobby Jack so. (Sis and Roy too). So kids, see, you can spoil your children and they are still sweet. Just love them and they will be OK.

By: SHIRLEY SPEARS

Madeline is a stately woman, tall, attractive, and always determined to see the best side of people. She loves children with a special love seldom seen and to her grandchildren, this is wonderful. Little children are by far her favorites.

Madeline, Virginia Madeline Galbraith, was born in Summers, Arkansas, the eighth child of Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith. She lived north of Summers about 2-3 miles. Their farm house was on a little knoll of land and seemed a fitting place to raise a family. Her mother, Rachel, died when Madeline was about 14. The older sisters were already grown and on their own, leaving Madeline and Jo to take care of the household chores. They walked to Summers to school and both she and Jo attended there.

After her school years were over, Madeline and Ross Spears were married and lived over on the Spears' farm (Poor Farm) east of Cincinnati. Bobby Jack was a delightful arrival and their life seemed to be off to a good start. Life changed when Ross died from complications related to a farm accident when Bobby Jack was 11 months old. Madeline did not want to return to their house so she and Bobby Jack moved to the farm where Bobby Jack lives now. Her father, now up in his years, live with Madeline on the farm one mile east of the Old Union Cemetery in Cincinnati. Madeline's life changed again when Charles Martin died two years later.

Madeline married Columbus Jackson (Jack) Cox a few years later during World War II. They had one son Kenneth Darriel (Bud) Cox when Bobby Jack was about five years old. Madeline lived in Lincoln while Jack served over seas in the Army. When the war was over and Jack came home they moved north of Lincoln near Jack's home place. They later purchased part of the original place but lived a few miles east. It was on this farm north of Lincoln, near Jackson Highway, that they raised their two boys. After Bobby Jack had graduated, they moved to Lincoln on Sugar Hill Road. They lived on a farm there that Bobby Jack bought until Bobby Jack and Shirley married in 1960 and then moved into town. First in a house on 62 highway and then later where Madeline still lives on the corner of Bean Street and Jackson Highway (West Street). Bud and Paula were married in 1963 and after a few years moved out to Jack's home place north of Lincoln.

Jack died in 1991 and Madeline has lived by herself since that time. She has five grandchildren (Marty, Mark, Grasha, Jeannie and Becki), four great-grandchildren (Marsha, Monica, Sara and Stephanie) and one great-great-grandchild (Sonny) who loves the affection that she gives so freely. To say spoiled would certainly be an understatement, but we have all enjoyed the relationship she has with them. Madeline worked in the grocery business until her retirement. Jack farmed and was Water Superintendent of Lincoln for a number of years. They are Methodist by faith, Democrats by political preference and have always lived a good life.

MY CHILDREN
By: Madeline Cox

After writing this proclamation to Shirley, I don't want the rest of my family to think I don't love you all equally. What would I have done these last few years without you? My sons have cared for me so bountifully. I know they could not have done this without such loving wives. Shirley has always been by Bobby Jack's side and Paula has always been such a loving and caring person. Bud and Bobby Jack are so fortunate to find ones like them.

So children don't believe that "myth" (A daughter is a daughter all her life; A son is a son until he marries a wife).

SOME OF THE THINGS I REMEMBER AS THE "PHILOSOPHY" MY DAD LIVED BY

If you have a task to do, just do it; was one of the thing he said.
One old Barber in Lincoln said of Jack,
"He neither looked up to the rich nor down on the poor".

He was careful not to judge someone less fortunate,
"There but for the Grace of Go go I", he said.

Jack knew a long time ago he was not going to be the head of a company or President of the U.S., but He was a natural leader.
He was a good neighbor,
Your best friend.
His world was here in Lincoln.
He was concerned about the needs of the city and school.
He worried about the "young ones" having to start out in today's world.
He also worried about the Preachers and their families.
"You are one of my "favorites", He told everyone.

Tell all you see to make a commitment to Christ, don't put it off.

Real son of Confederate veteran honored Sunday

Jack Cox of Lincoln was honored Sunday afternoon in his home by the group Sons of Confederate Veterans for being a real son of a Confederate.

Cox's father was born in 1849 and joined the Confederate army in November, 1863, at 13-years-old.

The Major F.R. Earle Camp #1453, Sons of Confederate Veterans out of Fayetteville is headed by Jack Gibson of Summers.

A group of well-wishers and club members met in the Cox home in Lincoln to honor the Confederate descendent. Gibson said the organization presented Cox with a medal from their group, a one-year membership and a lapel pin.

AUNT MADELINE
By: Pauline S. Abraham

When I was a child growing up, we did not have all the modern forms of communication, transportation or entertainment (and I am not complaining). We did not have computers, television, stereo, CD's or boom boxes, in fact we had very few radios. We did have Bibles, books, pianos, organs, guitars, fiddles (I didn't know the difference between a fiddle and a violin) and harmonicas and great imaginations. Some of my earliest fondest memories are of reading the Bible and Mother Goose rhymes and fairy tales and one of my favorite was Cinderella. Big families was the typical, and in our family, the extended family was very important as far back as I can remember. Both of my grandmother were dead when I was born but I had Grandad Galbraith and Papa Bob and lots of Aunts and Uncles. Aunt Sannie became my grandmother image, but in my imagination I did a lot of pretending and I was very special, because like Cinderella I had a fairy godmother and Aunt Madeline was her name. When I wold go to her house, instead of a pumpkin for a coach and mice for footmen, she would give me a catalog to choose a dress or two that I would like to have and material would magically appear and she would make me a couple of pretty dresses just like the ones in the catalog. She was so beautiful and I could almost see her magic wand and she always smelled so good.

The "Ball" she prepared me for was life. She taught me to appreciate values not necessarily material possessions but to preserve and care for what God had entrusted to us. My first memories of Sunday School was at Eureka School and Aunt Madeline was our Sunday School Teacher and as she read us stories from the Bible and taught us Bible verses I first knew that God was real. When Aunt Madeline was at our house helping to care for us when Mother was sick or if we were at her house just like in Cinderella there was always a lot of cleaning to do and since "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" then CLEAN is what we must do. She and Uncle Cox approved my choice of Prince Charming and Russ loved them almost as much as I did. The glass slipper fit for a short while and we added to our "kingdom by the sea" (or is that a different fairy tale) a fair haired mischievous boy named Rusty and a beautiful baby girl named Rene'. Then tragedy happened, when I was visiting in Arkansas with Mother and Daddy and Rusty and Rene', our beautiful baby girl contacted staphylococcus pneumonia and died. We were at Aunt Sannie's and when they brought me back from the hospital my worst dread was to tell Rusty and as I walked in the door there was beautiful Aunt Madeline with her support and encouragement in the exquisite unique way that only fairy godmothers can...She didn't make it go away (there was no "magic wand") but she helped me to see the beauty among the ashes... A short time with our little angel was better than no time.

Velma was my example for pride of heritage and family. Mae was my example to enjoy life and its rewards. Aunt Sannie was my example for trust, perseverance and steadfast strength but Aunt Madeline was always an example to strive to be like because of her beauty and the radiance of her personality (and she always smelled so good). She also taught me to look for good in others. her smile and her belief in the goodness that is within everyone is her "magic wand" that she uses to dispel evil and engages truth and honor in all those she believes in.

The proof of this ability is revealed in her own family. She and Uncle Cox's love and trust in their boys and their wives and their grandchildren has rewarded them with two fine sons who are "outstanding in their fields" (not literally) and they are well known and respected in their communities.

Bobby Jack worked for the Highway Department and after a few years "retired" to farm full time. He was injured in a bridge accident so now he is a "gentleman farmer" and is a volunteer fireman and a "volunteer" to help anyone in the family or community that needs help. He always has a smile and word of encouragement for everyone even though he may be in pain himself (no one ever knows except maybe Shirley Jeanne). He has a "one-of a kind" remarkable wife that believes in herself and therefore believes in the abilities and talents of others and encourages them. They have two sons and a gorgeous daughter, four granddaughters and one great grandson.

Kenneth Darrel (Bud) is Executive Vice-President of the Bank of Lincoln and has been there 30 some years and has a beautiful talented wife and two very elegant daughters and soon to be a grandpa. Bud has his Dad's unique sense of humor and love for people and life in general (even though he sometimes tries to hid that fact). I have been fortunate to spend Sunday's with the family and it continues to amaze me the beauty and talent that exudes from each of them. The fun and play times we have together as well as the Musicals that are preformed. Bud, Paula, Becki, Curtis, Jeannie, Willy and Bobby Jack are all learning new instruments and of course Sara and Stephanie get in on it also. Paula has an Autoharp that Sara has tried and Stephanie has practiced on Jeannie's fiddle and sometimes she has to come to Jeannie to get her bow sharpened (that is what she calls having Jeannie put rosin on the bow). Aunt Madeline's strong faith and belief in God and in the goodness of others inspires each of her relatives to try to be more like her.

CHARLES MARTIN AND RACHEL ANN WINFREY GALBRAITH
AND CHILDREN
By: Madeline Galbraith Spears Cox

My daddy, Charles Martin Galbraith, was 60 years old when I was born. As early as I can remember I always thought he thought more of me than the older children. Looking back now, I realize he only had more time for me and Jo because he had several heart attacks and was around the house more. He was never cross with me but he had his rules that we all tried to live by, such as, scripture reading and prayer each morning at the breakfast table (we all had to get up and eat breakfast together). Then it seemed terrible, but now it was great.

Mama, Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith, was a happy person. Even when she was punishing us she was smiling or laughing (I think I know why now) since I had to spank one of my great grand children one time and I cried. So, I guess Mama laughed to keep from crying because she said it hurt her more than it did us.

I don't remember Sanna at home. She was married before I can remember. Before she and Walter went to South Carolina we always looked for them to come spend the night every Saturday night. Many years later when they came back to Arkansas to live, we lived next door to them. She was such a consolation for me. She was like the mother I didn't have while I was growing up.

It was the same for Winnie. She also married before I can remember. I can remember Winnie and Lee with Lynn and Mary Jo coming to spend the night on Saturday night. Then Sunday when they hitched the mules to the wagon to go home I would cry for her to stay and keep Lynn and Mary Jo and let Lee go by himself (maybe that's why he didn't like me very much).

Jack was our big brother that really held the family together. He always had the "were with" to help out when no one else had the money. He was there all the time for the rest of us when needed. Jack was such a tease, we never knew what he was going to do next, but he always had candy and gum for me and Jo when he came home from work.

Floyd left home and went to South Carolina with Uncle Jim Winfrey to work for the railroad. He didn't come home very much and he wasn't the tease Jack was. He always asked what we needed or wanted, for he really didn't know.

Bill picked at us more than any of them. He always had Jo and me in trouble. We were not allowed to laugh when we were eating (another of Dad's rules) so he would always make Jo and I laugh so we had to leave the table (Mama always fed us later). Bill was always there for us, like carrying me thru the mud holes to and from school. He didn't have to carry Jo because Highway 59 was graveled and cars could go thru even when it rained. Also Jack had a car by then and we didn't have to walk in the rain.

Margaret was my big sister I can remember at home. I loved to catch her not home and wear her high heels. I broke a heel off coming down the stairs one time before Mama caught me. When I told her she said that she would let Margaret take care of me. Which she did. Can you imagine 9 kids under foot 24 hours a day? Really, Margaret and I got along real good.

Walter was the easy going one of us. He always did what Dad told him and never fussed about it. When he worked out (like on the road or for the neighbors) (Park Parks), Walter always brought his pay check home and gave it to Dad. All the income we had when we were growing up was cream and egg money and a few old hens to sell now and then when they quit laying. Later on there was a milk route came by our house and we sold milk. This was easier than taking care of the cream. Walter took care of the stock, horses, cows, and pigs with me and Jo helping.

Madeline, when I was at home, I too had some of the older ones around here to tell what a sweet thing I was as I grew up. I don't remember ever being mad at any of my brothers or sisters.

Jo was another story. She was younger and so glad when I went to school so she could loose my ring (birthstone ring) in the creek. (I never wore it to the creek or to school) or so she could poke my favorite doll in the well. By the way, she says if Charley Washington ever cleans out that well, be sure to look for a China doll.

Jo and I had a rough time trying to make ends meet with buying the groceries, clothes and books for school and Dad was sick a lot. We were always worried about him. Dad always worried that we wouldn't have enough money for the winter. He tried to sell enough cows and hogs to tide us thru, but we never had any money left. I guess Jo really had the hardest time of any of us because I tried to make her do what I wanted her to do. Sometimes it really wasn't what she wanted to do. I did what I wanted to do - or could afford to do.

Shirley and Bobby Jack Spears

BOBBY JACK SPEARS
By: Shirely Martin Spears

Thirty five years ago on July 1, 1960 I married Bobby Jack Spears. Very much in love and with the "world by the tail", we entered "our lives" head on. It has not always been a life without problems, but without a doubt, a very good life full of love and enjoyment.

Bobby Jack was born on January 21, 1940 at home, in Cincinnati, Arkansas, to his parents, Ross and Virgina (Madeline) Galbraith Spears. Bobby Jack is tall (6'4"), dark, with blue eyes, dark hair (curly), squared shoulders, a winning smile, but more important than any of these, he is a good person. His personality is of a kind gentle nature, loving and patient. He could have had any vocation in life, but it was always the love of farming that called in his heart and mind. This calling, I'm sure, is as deeply ingrained in your being as living and dying. Along with kindness also comes a determined spirit and a good leader. Don't let his quietness fool you, you'll not walk over him in any situation. I personally do not know anyone that does not like and respect him.

Bobby Jack graduated from Lincoln High School in 1958 as vice president of his class and was always active in various organizations. He joined the 142nd Field Service Battery of the Arkansas National Guard while still in high school and served his duty time with a discharge in 1962. In his adult life he has worked in a lumber company and later for 10 years he was employed with the Arkansas Highway Department. Most of his work was at the Lincoln Maintenance Shop, but he also worked as bookkeeper at Springdale District Headquarters. He retired, so to speak, in 1970 to farm full time. Bobby Jack is one of those unique individuals that can do just about anything, and over the years he has tried many things and does all of them well.

We built our chicken houses in 1967 and 1969 on our farm on Sugar Hill Road in the western edge of Lincoln, Arkansas. This and our beef cows were part of our lives for many years. During these years we raised three children, Martin, Mark, and Jeannie Spears. Each one uniquely different, but with a shared feeling of belonging to the land. In 1976 we sold our farm in Lincoln and moved to Cincinnati, Arkansas our home. Shortly before our move, Bobby Jack, Mark and Jeannie were with a group of local farmers and the State Pollution Control office to determine the location of a fish kill on Cincinnati Creek. A faulty bridge rail dumped Bobby Jack and two other men into Cincinnati Creek injuring all three. Bobby Jack suffered a broken back, various other breaks and severe muscle/nerve damage. Little did we know this would change our lives forever. In every bad circumstance seems to come some good, and it was that way with us. The out pouring of love and concern for our family warmed our hearts and brought all of us closer together. It seems as though in hard times you feel God the most.

Our children always helped us and in return we tried to help them. It was important to all of us to lean on God's love and feel his presence within each of us. The First Baptist Church in Lincoln was the "home base" for our Christian love. We're all been members there and have served the church in various capacities over the years. Currently we attend Summers Missionary Baptist Church in Summers, Arkansas.

Living in Cincinnati has made many changes in our lives. This small community engulfed our family and has enhanced our lives, just as it had Bobby Jack and his parents and grandparents years before. Our children have grown up here, married, and are on their own. Our children are the sixth generation of Spears to farm in the Cincinnati valley. Marty and Elizabeth with two daughters, Monica and Marsha live near Lincoln. They have added a son-in-law, T.J. Robb and later a grandson, Sonny Ray. Mark and Christy are living in Cincinnati and have two daughters, Sara and Stephanie. Jeannie and Willy live near Cane Hill, Arkansas.

We all have always been very community minded and worked and volunteered our services when needed. Bobby Jack was instrumental in the formation of the Cincinnati Fire Department in 1980. He had served on the Lincoln Fire Department and when Cincinnati department was formed he served as fire chief and has for 17 years. He was also interested in an ambulance service for Washington County and helped survey rural areas and was active in starting the West Washington County Ambulance service. When ask, he could not set long enough at one time to serve on the board, so he helped appoint another from this area. When ambulance services changed in our area, Bobby Jack, Mark, Willy and Jeannie took their first responder training and have served both Cincinnati and Lincoln Fire Departments. We both have served on the election committees from Illinois Township. Bobby Jack has worked as the head election official for our township for many years and also worked elections in Lincoln before we moved. He currently serves on the Central EMS Board and the Old Union Cemetery Board where his Grandparents, Charles Martin and Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith are buried. In small communities and large ones too, I guess, many needs are there and you are always needed to fill those community obligations.

These things make up part of our lives and keep it full - sometimes more than we want it to be, but that what keeps thing going. We hope we have instilled in our children the love of God, love of land and environment, love of people and the ability to serve in some capacity to help others. If we have accomplished this, I am sure God will be well pleased with the results.

MARTIN JASPER SPEARS
by: Shirley Martin Spears

Martin, Marty, Tiger, we call him all of these and more. Marty our first born came into this world full of love and concern for others and a bundle of endless energy. Jack named him Tiger the first time we bathed this bundle of joy, and it stuck for ages. He was the first grandchild on both sides of the family and without a doubt he loved all the attention he received. He was named for my Martin side of the family, his great grandfather, Charles Martin Galbraith and the Jasper part of his name for his great grandfather, William Jasper, "Jap" Spears. What a name to hang on a little feller, no wonder we all called him Tiger.

Marty has always had a compassion for people and animals. He has never cared much for the preverbal proper way to do things, it just never seemed his way. Little did he care if we thought his hair was a little long, but he does care how you treat your fellow man and did you stop to care for something or someone in need. Marty is the social person of our children, ready for a fun story, and exciting trip, or just being with others. Our house was always full of his friends and he always was good to include Mark and Jeannie in with his adventures.

As Marty grew up in Lincoln and Cincinnati he always helped us on the farm. He, at an early age, thought the tractors and equipment were probably made just for him. While most boys his age played baseball in the summer, and he had made the team, he wanted to go to the field with his Daddy, Bobby Jack, and his PaPa, Jack Cox. This was the highlight of his day, many days. It was his life..a life that he shared with his mom and dad and Mark, and then later his little sister, Jeannie. It seemed he had an endless source of energy and always a willingness to try something new. When we were working, just a mention of something needing to be done, and he was always ready to go.

Hunting and fishing was always a part of his life that seemed to almost go the extreme, but not in his thinking. An old coon dog, a few traps, a rifle and shells, and a fishing pole and bait could make the beginning of many fun afternoons and evenings. It teaches a boy a lot about nature and this is still a prime entertainment source today.

Marty married Elizabeth Appleby in 1978 and they have two daughters, Marsha and Monica. They have lived in the Lincoln, Cincinnati areas and he currently works for a poultry equipment business. Marsha is now married to T.J. Robb and they have a son, Sonny Ray. Now, as time repeats itself, Sonny fondly calls him PaPa. Again you see this people side of Marty when you see him and Sonny together. He'll always have a very special place in our hearts and lives.

Beefalo Make Debut at County Fair

By Larry Hacker

The people of Northwest [illegible] were introduced to [illegible] at the Washington County [illegible] fair. Entries from three [illegible] were on exhibit in the [illegible] competition for ribbons, although [illegible] was the primary purpose of the exhibit.

[illegible] Ray Boyd [illegible] exhibition [illegible] beefalo to the [illegible]. There was much concern that these "wild animals" would disrupt the proceedings and [illegible] get spectators [illegible] children.

[illegible] were assigned [illegible] the corner of the [illegible] were well away from the "domestic" breeds. Other breeders around the "beefalo" area that [illegible] were quite complimentary [illegible] saying how easy it was [illegible] handle and groom them.

We were grateful for the assistance of Monica and Marsha [illegible] in preparing the animals for [illegible]. The ladies also did [illegible] of the bathing, grooming, [illegible] training and other chores associated with showing of the animals.

Monica noted that many of the exhibitors had "please don't touch" signs around their pens, perhaps due to the large number of kindergarten and lower elementary school classes visiting the fair. She suggested that perhaps some of the children might like to touch or pet a cow. A carefully supervised "Lady Greystoke" was mobbed and petted by dozens of classes over the next several days.

Among the many comments heard from the home folks were, "She is soft as my kitten" and "I have never touched a cow before." We enjoyed providing those kids with a thrill that their teachers said would last many weeks.

Monica Spears had her debut in the show ring, exhibiting heifers in three different classes. She led Harry Ruland's "Miss Dandy," a Kentucky Reb daughter, to the Grand Champion Female position. "Lady Coral," a full blood Baldy Junior Heifer entry sired by Mr. Georgie, was named Reserve Champion Female. ❑

MY LIFE
by; Monica Leigh Spears

On my first day of school, I was so scared I made my Mom stay with me all day long. One day before school in kindergarten, Dad left the ladder up on the outside of the house and my sister dared me to climb up there. So I did and she took the ladder down and left me there. I decided to slide down the antenna and it was wet and I fell and broke my arm.

The summer of my second grade year my baby-sitter, Micholene gave me a swirley because she told me I couldn't go to the park with Alishia and I went anyway. That was the same summer me and Alishia found a really weird worm with big blue eyes and red lips. It's face looked like it was painted on. We thought it was some kind of alien worm and were going to get millions of dollars for it.

In third grade I fell out of a tree at Sarah Woolsey's house and broke my arm. I got a paddling from Mrs. Dodson, my teacher, for talking to much. Does that surprise you?

In the sixth grade when I was eleven the worse thing that ever happened to me was on January 19, 1991 when my great grandpa Columbus Jackson Cox passed away of a heart attack. I knew he was in the hospital and I stayed the night with my friend. The next morning my mom called to tell me she was on her way to pick me up. When I asked her why she said she'd tell me when she got there. I started crying because I knew and hung up the phone. I think some of my most favorite memories from when I was a child where of me and my Papa. I didn't write about them cause I knew if I did I could not present them.

On January 9, 1993 my sister, Marsha Ann married T.J. Robb and they have a son, Sonny Ray Robb who will be one year old on June 4th. I think at this time of my life he is what I treasure the most.

In my future I plan to graduate from Lincoln High School and go to college at Texas State to become a doctor. I want to live in a beach house in Corpus Christi and have 1 or 2 kids.

This is part of a paper Monica wrote for Civic class 1995-96.

MARK WAYNE SPEARS
by: Shirley Martin Spears

Mark, well after having a brother that they called Tiger, we wanted him to have a name, just a name, no nickname. We liked Mark and the Wayne is for my brother, Jon Wayne Martin. It fit and still does today. Mark was always so much like his daddy, Bobby Jack Spears, in his quietness and build. Never did he reach 6'4", but I always thought he might. Of course, he has brownish red hair with a smattering of freckles, but he took that after his mother. Mark was always independent, dependable, and very family oriented.

As our children grew up on the farms both in Lincoln and Cincinnati, we always had an on-the-go type of life. Mark always wanted to be right in the middle of everything. He may have been quieter than Marty, but very much his own person with a determination to see things through until he finished the task he had set out to do. Mark helped in the haying and other things when he was much to small to be able to do the things he did. I guess that goes back to the determination factor.

Family has always been an important in Mark's life and he sure liked to be with us and his grandparents, Madeline and Jack Cox and also my parents Ethel and Jay Dee Whittenburg. Mark's family now, Christy Warren Spears and his two daughters, Sara and Stephanie live close to us in Cincinnati and we love it. Mark is by our house often and always offers to help do anything he can to help.

Mark has always liked the outdoors, from hunting and fishing to farming. His cows and land are ingrained in his daily life. He has worked different places, but when he is outdoors, he is the happiest. Mark is a carpenter mostly and that ranges from cabinets, finish carpentry to framing. A little of all makes a good balance. He is much like his dad when it comes to mechanical thing and building. He seems to always have that knack of knowing how something fits together, and a way to either build it or make it work.

After Bobby Jack was injured and Marty married, Mark worked so hard on the farm for us. We appreciated it very much. It was just an everyday occurrence to go to school or work, come home and help feed or do what ever chores needed to be attended to without ever a complaint. That is a great contribution to a family.

Jeannie always pegged her brothers at a very early age, with Marty to take up for her or love her but Mark was her teacher. He was her helper when no one else would show her how to make something work. Even yet, we see that same thing when he helps Sara and Stephanie do things from homework, horseback riding, to many other things that need just a little instruction. Patients is always a virtue, and Mark seems to have an ample supply. Mark's love of home is something we will always treasure.

SARA SPEARS
April 5, 1997

Hi, I'm Sara and I like to do many things. I'm interested in babies, animals, especially horses, reading, mathematics, fishing, music and visiting. I live in Cincinnati, Arkansas on a farm with horses, cows, dogs, and a cat. I go to school at Lincoln, Arkansas and next year I will be in Middle School. I am in the 4th grade now. I like my teacher, Ms. Green, and I make good grades, and I am on the Honor Roll. I like playing the fiddle and guitar with my Grandpa Bobby Jack. I want to get better. He's trying to teach me.

My daddy, Mark Spears, works on houses and farms. He's a good dad, strict but good. He lets me do a lot of things and takes me to rodeos and helps me with my horse, his registered name is Tar Baby T, but we call him Gray. I like to go fishing with him. He catches some fish, but I don't catch very many.

My mom, Christy Spears, works at school and sometimes farms with my Daddy. I don't think she has very much patience, but she like to do many crazy things. She's fun. I like to go with her to ball games and other places. My mom's always interested in helping other people and encouraging them and me.

My Grandpa, Bobby Jack Spears, is very sweet, and kind. He lets me do a lot of things with him. He took us to see a Hoot Owl nest last week, we do a lot of things like that. I go to check cows with him and I like to watch the baby calves. He cleans up saddles for me to ride on and he spoils us a lot. He plays music good. I wish I could. He plays the guitar, fiddle, banjo, and whatever he picks up. I like that.

My Grandma, Shirley Spears, is nice, and sometimes grouchy when she's tired. But she is always playful and teases me. Grandma lets me do a lot of things and she works at school on computers. She spoils me too. Grandparents are just like that, I guess. She takes real good pictures, sometimes I laugh because she sticks out her tongue. I love to visit her and write stories too.

My Nanny, Madeline Cox, spoils us a lot. She gives us whatever we want, even things mom and dad do not want us to have. Nanny has this great great big TV and we like to watch it. We go upstairs and find a lot of things to take home. She likes to sit out on the front porch and I go out and sit with her.

STEPHANIE SPEARS
April 5, 1997

My name is Stephanie Ann Spears and I live in the country near Cincinnati, Arkansas. We have dogs named Spot and Ranger and a cat named Putt'n Pooh and cows and horses. I like to play barbies and baby dolls. My teachers name is Ms. Beverly Irvin and I am in the second grade at Lincoln, Arkansas. I like her because she is nice. I study hard and make good grades. I like activities with Ms. Davenport. I like school because I get to learn new fun things. I like to play games, cards, ride bicycles, swim, and fish. We will go camping again this summer. I like to ride Gray, our horse.

My Dad, Mark Spears, goes to check cows and we stay home and while we stay home we play or watch TV. I like my dad because he is the only one that will take us camping. Dad polishes our boots when they need polished. He also buys us the boots and mom does not. We get lace-up boots every year.

My Mom, Christy Spears, works at the high school and we ride the bus up to the high school to come home with her. We sometimes come with my Grandma Shirley Spears. My Mom is the only one at my house that will buy me toys when it isn't even my birthday or Christmas. She also buys us candy. She is fun to be with, she like to play with us and play games with us.

My Grandpa, Bobby Jack Spears, reads us books. Grandpa is my goodest and favoritest Grandpa and so was my other Grandpa. He also takes us to check cows with him and he takes us to places some times. He is nice and fun to be with.

My Grandma, Shirley Spears, is nice and pretty. And she is good to us and she gets us candy when she goes to the store with us. I like to check cows with them when I am at their house. I like to throw rocks for the puppies, Freckles and Ring at their house and play outside.

My Nanny, Madeline Cox, spoils us. I like to go upstairs and play outside in her yard and go see Eilene next door. She gives us things even if Mom doesn't want us to have them. I like to play upstairs in her house with some baby dolls. I like to get the Weebles that my Dad and Uncle Marty used to play with and play on the floor in the living room.

JEANNIE MARIE SPEARS WILLIAMS
by: Shirley Martin Spears

Jeannie, when she came into this world, it turned ours completely upside down, in a nice sort of way. We went from a two boy family to a whole different family situation. From the first word of our expecting a baby, Marty and Mark, named her Jeannie Marie and informed us before her birth that if we did not use that name, they would call you Jeannie Marie anyway....well you know the story, Jeannie it was. O my, Jeannie was born with so much love around her, not only did we think she was grand, but her brothers thought she was the greatest thing going. Now, of course, Mark thought Jeannie was going to be able to do dishes in a week or two and Marty just knew she would make his bed, what a joke that was. In stead of Jeannie making their life easier, she just complicated it, and they loved her anyway. It was always odd the way they just knew she would be a girl, never a boy.

We raised Jeannie like a boy, kinda of, with many outdoor things a part of her live. Farming was not just something Bobby Jack did, but we all did. She picked out her cow when she was about a year old and of course, daddy said it was "ok"....that black cow with the white horns was the start of her cow herd and Little Blackie lived a long time. We had to sneak her off the place when we sold her, and at that she cried. Jeannie worked cows, raked hay, helped outside and yet she has always been a very feminine person, liking clothes and dressing up.

Jeannie has always loved people, animals, home life and challenges. The caring of farm life to the caring of people has been quite a transition. Nursing seems to fit her to a "T". Of course, she now lives in Cane Hill with her husband, Willy Williams, but farming is still one of those loves that remains with a person. When Jeannie first started dating, you could just see the look of shock on Willy's face when he would drop by and she would be doing something for her dad. He had never seen Jeannie in that light, and somehow working cows or raking hay, was just not how he had her pictured. Sometimes even today, she surprises him now and then doing things on the farm.

Jeannie has worked her way into the hearts of most everyone she knows, she has that way about her. The compassion and caring side comes through loud and clear and we all appreciate that very much. Many things occupy her character, from music, animals, artistic things, hunting, pictures, caring and doing for others and loving others. They can read her like a book, and they like what they read and the cover too. Marsha and Monica, Sara and Stephanie, and Sonny too, all love her in a very special way and her thoughtfulness and consideration is appreciated by all.

BABY WILLIAMS, WELCOME TO OUR WORLD!
by: Grandma Shirley Martin Spears

Oh my! A new baby in our family. We're excited to celebrate this 100 year anniversary of Charles and Rachel Galbraith with the news of pending arrivals of three new decedents. First Becki and Curtis Griscom, then Michelle and Steve Flickinger and now one of our own with Jeannie and Willy Williams.

Writing about Baby Griscom was fun and easy, but when we come to our own, it changes somehow into something much harder. We have waited a long time for this new arrival and it has not been a easy process. The excitement was great last month and when the news came, we were all happy for the new family. You want to give your children and grandchildren many things, sometimes limited by monetary means, but there is so much more to life that things money can buy and these are just a few gifts we would like to give to our Baby Williams.

LOVE: The first thing that comes to mind is the love that will surround you when you come into this world. Not only from parents, but grandparents, both Bobby Jack and I and Elmer and Karen Williams; then five sets of great grandparents to shower this baby with love and attention (Madeline Cox, Ethel Whittenburg, David and Boots Bryan, Mamie Williams and Irene and Fred Bartlett). Remember as you grow, love is one of those things that serves you well all through life. Love is generous and kind and you will need to return it to those that love you. It will not always be easy, but you will be a very special baby, loved by family and God. The greatest gift we can give is to teach you about God's love and encourage daily Bible reading and devotions.

KINDNESS: Kindness is one of those gifts that comes around full circle. You can not give to much kindness. Occasionally you may meet with some resistance, but for the most part, people will see that gift in you and want to return it many times more. Looking at those who love you so much, kindness can be seen as a way of life.

KNOWLEDGE: Of course, right off we will know without a doubt that you are the cutest, smartest, and best baby in the whole world, but maybe everyone will not agree with us...surely not, but you never know when someone forgets to think right. The knowledge needed to help through life is a continual and on-going process and it also will be never-ending. Look around and always be able to learn and grow from any circumstances. A level head on your shoulders and an inquiring mind are great gifts to have.

FRIENDS: The gift of friendship is a great gift, but does not always come easy. It is one of those gifts that gives back in return, and you never have enough that one more friend fits just right. Friends are gained by being a friend in return, so guard it well and remember the importance of a true friend.

LAUGHTER: You'll need this special gift to survive in our family for not only do we laugh, play and have fun, we love to tease and joke. The joy in your life will overflow and the laughter will be heard all your life. Laughter is one of those honored things that must be shared with others and it will make you pleasant to be around. The most important thing is to laugh with and not at people. Checking on our background, that will surely not be a problem.

HUMOR: It goes right along with the gift of laughter, and serves you well all your life. If you can see humor in situations, and remain sensitive to feelings it will go a long way in smoothing over many ruffled feathers in life. Humor brings about the laughter and joy that makes lives complete. This is not to say that all things in life will be perfect, but only to let you know how important it is to see the humorous side of life.

PATIENCE: My, this is a big heavy gift with many strings attached. Now, just to be honest, some of our family did not come blessed with this gift, but have acquired a little along the way. Some have trouble practicing this gift. Joking aside, it is important and is something you will need to work on very hard, but with our love we know you can.

ATTITUDE: Now these gifts just keep getting bigger and bigger.... attitude, now that is a big part of life. The ability to get along well with others starts with your attitude and will serve you well if you develop this gift. Some may want to give you an adjustment every now and then, and indeed you may even need it, so keep that smile in place, and a positive attitude showing and it will carry you through life very well. It seems that there is not many things worse than a bad attitude and nothing much better than a good attitude, so be sure your 'tude is looking good!

DEPENDABILITY: Boy, that is a big word for a tiny baby, but growing up you will find that people like this gift in a person. You can develop dependability and it will be appreciated. Many in our family has this excellent gift.

HONESTY: Being born into this age seems to have its share of people that do not think honesty is necessary but growing up with this gift is very important and will bring you honor. Use this gift with all you meet.

CONTENTMENT: This gift is an ever changing gift and sometimes hard to find. Be content with your life and live close to God, He will help you find the right place in life. Always have goals and ideas to work towards, but remember to be content in whatever situation.

FAITH AND GOODNESS: Gifts like these are worth a lot in everyone's sight. Learn to be an understanding and compassionate person and have faith in God and mankind. With the Bible as a guide and faith in God you will find that goodness just kind of follows right along with all the rest.

Baby Williams, with gifts like these of love, kindness, knowledge, friends, laughter, humor, patience, attitude, dependability, honesty, contentment, faith, and goodness, how could you go wrong. A loving family will always be there, ready to give that little, nudge, boost, or gentle push to head you in the right direction, and knowing most children, you will have a heart warming way to bring us back to our right direction also. You can see these attributes in the ones that love you so much. We are anxious to hold, love and teach you all we can so we'll see you in February. God has blessed you with a loving family and we know you will use these gift wisely.

MUSIC

Music has always been part of our lives -- Bobby Jack has a natural ear for music and can pick a tune on most instruments, Bud plays, Paula sings and plays, Becki played the piano when she was small, Grasha plays the piano and they both sing, Jeannie plays the piano and she and Mark and Marty all played instruments and can carry a turn well. Then there's me, I just listen well!

We have an assortment of instruments and can halfway play several - maybe not professionally, but to our own enjoyment. Years ago, Bud and Bobby Jack would play together, and now they are getting back to that again. We enjoy it.

READY TO RUN
and: Shirley Spears

Hello, I don't know you yet, but my name is Baby Griscom. The baby part is just temporary...come November, I'll have a real name just like everyone else. November, that seems like a long way off, but looks like I will arrive just about the time of my Great Great Grandpa Charlie and Great Great Grandmother Rachel Galbraith's 100th anniversary....now is that not starting life off to a tremendous start! They tell of how they came to Arkansas from Tennessee and raised their family near Summers. I hear good things about them.

Let me tell you just a little about my awesome family....Man, my bloodlines run true and sweet from Tennessee to Arkansas. My daddy, is Curtis Griscom and my mom is Becki Griscom. Of course they have fancy formal names, but I'll just call them Mommy and Daddy. My Daddy has a milk route that he drives every day. All the little kids along the route like him because he brings them candy and chewing gum, and visits and teases them...maybe I'll get to go with him when I grow up a little. My Mommy teaches at Lincoln Elementary and the little kids thinks she is pretty and nice....I can tell it will be that way with me too. They go to church at the Methodist Church in Lincoln and two days after my arrival was announced, it was Sunday, and before long, the whole church knew about me. It's nice to live in a small town and have friends that cheer your parents on.

Now my grandparents, that's another story...Do you know Grandpa Bud and Grandma Paula Cox? They are just the kind of grandparents a little tike like me needs, kind and loving. I already feel right at home in their house. The smells and sounds are familiar to my Mommy and they seem to fit me just right. I can hear my Grandma Paula humming a tune and my Grandpa Bud trying to pick it out on a guitar...they laugh and cut up a lot and that makes me feel good, all over. Grandma Paula plays the autoharp and Grandpa plays the guitar and mandolin. They are pretty special folks to hear people talk. I don't think they know I can understand all this, but you'd be surprise at what we "wee ones" know when we arrive in this new world. My Grandpa works at the Bank of Lincoln and has for a long time. He is some kind of important official. I'm not just sure what his title is, but the people like to do business with him because he understands them and cares about their needs. He has some cows and calves on his farm north of Lincoln in the little community of Gem. My family has lived here a long time. If my Grandpa and Mommy grew up there and my PaPa Jack, too, it must be a pretty special place. My Grandma Paula works at Lincoln Schools as the district bookkeeper. She has a lot of things to do and they like her a lot there. (I thinks she really keeps Grandpa lined out too, but we won't tell him that)...He probably lets her think he doesn't know much about little ones, but I can tell he's ready to take me riding on the tractor or four wheeler. You can tell right off that I am coming into the world well loved. My Grandma and Grandpa do a lot of things for people that they never tell anyone anything about.. I overheard someone telling of different people they helped but they might not want me to tell it either, but of course, you know these things too. They help out in the community, the cemetery, the school and lots of other places. They also help my Granny a lot. That's another story.

My Granny or Nanny--I guess you all know my Granny Cox, Madeline most call her. She grew up near Summers, Arkansas and married Ross Spears. Well, a few months after my Great Uncle Bobby Jack was born Ross died. Strange things happen in peoples lives I'm told, but that way she did get a second start and a chance to meet my PaPa, Jack Cox. They married and had my Grandpa Bud. I hear lots of stories about my PaPa and surely all of them can not be correct. Can you do that many things in a lifetime? Good people like that are hard to find, I hear. I also hear people talk about how tall my family is and how nice they are. I may not be supposed to tell you this, but I also hear how many tall tales they can tell...now they tell them for truth...just to tease you, and sometimes you can hardly tell the difference. They like to tease and play with little folk. I'm going to have to work on this one for sure, to be able to tell when they are a "fun'n" me. My Granny Cox (they all call her Nanny, but who knows, I may change that) lives in Lincoln in a big rock house. It's right close to the church we attend. She is by herself now, but when my Mommy stopped by to tell her the news about me, she was surprised, and maybe a little pleased.

I also have an Aunt Grasha and Uncle John Jones who live in Siloam Springs, Arkansas and they have horses....now I'm already seeing visions of horseback rides and saddles and the smells and sounds that go along with all those things. They have a baby colt now, and some baby calves, and puppies too. They train horses for other people and show horses at big events. I don't understand all about this, but doesn't it sound like fun! They even travel overseas to do horse training clinics. Wonder if I can just sneak on board an airplane when I'm a little older and head for Austria with them. My Mommy and Daddy would probably not go along with that, but you can try. They are the kind of aunt and uncle any little kid would like to have. Cousins will be around too. On my Mommy's side of the family, Sara and Stephanie, Marsha and Monica and little Sonny will keep me company, too. In this family it will seem like Jeannie and Willy, Mark and Christy, and Marty and Elizabeth will be like aunts and uncles also. They are all pretty close.

I can already tell the excitement is in the air and I am ready to bless this family with my arrival. I don't want to rush things too soon, but I'm ready to go, full steam ahead, and hit the ground running kinda of thing. They don't know just yet if I am a boy or a girls, but if the whispers are right, they don't even really care. They just want me to get here, look me over, check me out, love me, hold me, and care for me. It is exciting.

Well, you know how my Aunt Shirley is on this story thing, but I'm about through for today, I've got to snuggle back down in Mommy's tummy and get ready for a few more months of growth. It's nice and safe in here, but I'll be ready for a new adventure about November. Oh, by the way, I like it when they play and sing. Mommy sings or taps her foot and it gives me a warm feeling all over. I guess you had better have an instrument ready...or maybe I'll just sing for a while, my lung will need some exercise.

NOTES MADE BY FAMILY MEMBERS CONCERNING A FAMILY CHRISTMAS

I guess we have an old fashioned Christmas with all our family traditions, if not it is ours anyway. The family means a lot to you and all of us. Here is our version of why our family Christmas means so much to us:

How much God has bless us all. When you look at the people all around us and see the needy, it makes our hearts hurt and then the miracle of Christ enters and we respond by helping those in need. Christmas is that time of year, and it should last year 'round.

Just meeting all our family together and celebrating Christ's birth is a great family Christmas.

I just like being with all the family, visiting, caring, and sharing.

What I like about Christmas is always looking forward to visiting with families, traditions, and the excitement of Christmas. What I love the most is our families never loses sight of the reason of Christmas - - which is Christ's birth. We sometimes forget how lucky we are to have large loving Christian families. Thank you Nanny, Mom and Dad for raising us in a Christian home.

The best part of Christmas is being with family and eating and caring and sharing.

Family Christmas means to celebrate Christ's birthday and time to give gifts of love to symbolize Christ's gift to us when he came to earth to give his life. Christmas is an important time to share with each other and feel His love in our lives.

Christmas morning means warmth, laughter, friendship, and exhaustion! Singing together, church, and family time mean a lot to me.

Family Christmas means getting together as a family and makes me remember how lucky I am to have a big family who loves me.

I guess what I like the most about family Christmases is the warm feelings we all have and the love and caring that goes with our families. All of that is what makes it so good!

We have a lot to do at Christmas time and family is really important. We put up a tree early and then all the exciting things go with it. On Christmas eve we go to Nanny Ethel's and on to church with my other grandmother. On Christmas morning we eat breakfast together, this year at Grandpa and Grandma's. That's special to me. I like the sausage, eggs, biscuits and fun we have there. I like to sing carols too. I like to get together will all my family and celebrate Christmas with them.

Christmas time is special remembering the birth of Christ and the giving of gifts to celebrate his love and our love for each other. Maybe not material gifts, but gifts of ourselves.

Family Christmas to me is watching the excitement and glee of the little ones.... and with family Christmases there's always little ones. It also is a moment to look back and remember past Christmases and think of future ones. This can be both happy and sad, but you know that the family will always be there with love and support. This time of year serves to remind us of that.

What Christmas means to me? I turn another year older and I share my birthday with Christ. Giving and sharing with other people and teaching our son the meaning of Christmas.

Christmas means the birth of Christ and the giving of gifts.

Family Christmas is more than anything just being together. It has always been important to me.

The first and foremost thing that Christmas means to me is that God sent his son to earth on this day, so that I might have an even more wonderful life in heaven after my earthly life is over. I love having my family from all sides with me at Christmas, but if that can't be, I hope that I have taken full advantage of the other occasions during the year when we are able to be together. My family is my most prized earthly possession, and I love you all very much.

Christmas time seems to be a time of reflection on Christ who loves us so much to die for us and all those that are close to us that we love in a very special way. The caring, sharing, giving, being, and reflections are a way of remembering the walk we walk and the lives we touch daily. Are we what Christ would have us to be? Pray that we are!

Nanny you have always given of yourself to all of us and taught us how to love and share with each other. We appreciate you! Merry Christmas.

GRANDCHILDREN
Madeline Galbraith Spears Cox and Shirley Martin Spears

Madeline's children, grandchildren, then the great grandchildren, and great great grandchild I share on this side of the family and we are both proud of them from the funny little things, to the more serious side of them, to the bumble through stages too. They make life just a little more meaningful and a lot more fun. These are just a few thing about them that make them special to us.

Nanny tells about Papa always thought Bobby Jack was so cute. When Jack ask him to do something he didn't want to do, he never talked back, but Jack said that Bobby Jack would go sharpen his stabbing knife. This seems so out of character for him, but I see a totally different side that is always anxious to help anyone do anything. A loving, kind person that loves his family very much.

Nanny tells that Bud would say naughty words that he had heard Jack and the neighbor tell what someone said and laugh. Bud though it was funny until he was older then when he'd forget and say one, he would run in the house and shut the door (so God didn't hear him). Bud cares so deeply for friends and family and does so many good things to help people. Sometimes he puts up that tough exterior, but underneath is a very compassionate heart and Sara and Stephanie knows that Uncle Bud will help them do just most anything. They keep lots of secrets from Paula.

Marty was the first grandchild and was always the fun, caring, outgoing one. He enjoyed life where ever he was. Madeline tells of an imaginary friend, Bee Doe that he talked to, and you can be sure, Marty always enjoyed his play and visiting with others. I was always so glad that Marty came first, he sure loved Mark and Jeannie both.

Mark was quieter than Marty, but very much his own person. He enjoyed being outside and liked to see and do new things. Mark always made the most out of what money or things he had. Madeline tells about him keeping his money in his pocket hoping that someone else would pay for whatever he wanted, and of course they did. To this day, he can take care of his money.

Grasha came along and was the beginning of the girls. She was such a cute child and always wanted to follow Nanny and Papa around. Madeline tells about her asking if Papa would buy me that, no? And he usually did just that. Jack helped her with her love for horses and those memories are dear to her to this day. That same love for horses has become their business today.

Jeannie was the second granddaughter to Madeline and Jack and was raised defending herself with two older brother and playing with Grasha. She held her own and does even to this day. When all three girls later played they had such a good time together. Jeannie often questioned Papa and would ask him did he really mean that. Of course everyone never tired of teasing all the kids and they sometimes really did not know when they were telling the truth. She is still somewhat Tom-boy-ish and likes to live on their farm.

Becki was the third granddaughter and was really a Papa girl. She would sing with him all the cute little songs she and PaPa knew and she would play for hours with dishes and dolls. Each of the three girls had unique personalities and we have enjoyed seeing them grow into beautiful young ladies all graduating from the University of Arkansas, Two with teaching degrees and one with a nursing degree. (Some may question the young lady bit) Becki was the end of the trio of girls and then we started with four more. Becki teaches today and helps her second graders learn their little songs, but not some of the ones Jack taught them, I hope.

Marsha was our Christmas present in 1978 and we were ready for more grandchildren to be on the scene. Marsha loved to stay with us and Madeline and Jack. She did what Papa asked her to but would always come ask Nanny, do I have to do that. She liked to cook and now with a family of her own, with her husband, T.J. Robb and their adorable son, Sonny Ray, that cooking comes into play. Marsha loved her older cousins and aunt and Nanny thinks she wanted to be like them.

Monica was a Papa's girl. When she was at Madeline's house she was always with him. She sat on the back of his chair and combed his hair and put curlers in it. She ate Jalapeno (ballerina) peppers with him and ate everything he put on her plate so the starving (Ethiopians wouldn't get it. When she visited our house she like to go out and see nature things and always had an inquisitive mind. She is in school still and I enjoy seeing her daily. She is very interested in Science and Journalism.

Sara started the grandchild phase again with several years separating her from Marsha and Monica. She has always been our happy one, giggled all the time. She amazes me when she is so grown up and she loves to stay with us and Madeline. She like to be outside with dogs, horses, cows and what ever else is around. She is so enjoyable.

Stephanie has stayed with Madeline while the rest of us were at school and that has made a very special bond between them. She will set for hours and play with miniature dolls and toys. Stephanie likes to stay at both houses and she and Sara love to be at Sunday lunch. They both like the attention showered on they by one and all. They are very special little girls.

Then came our great and great great grandson, the first little boy in our family for 32 years. He is a happy lively little fellow and everyone loves to have him around. In 1996 he has began to talk and knows when you say, Sonny Ray, he'd better stop what he is doing. He is going to be a big tease, I think. Sonny is two now and full of life. Marsha and T.J. leave him with his Papa Marty and Granny Elizabeth and he thinks they are great! It is always nice to have little ones in the family again and soon (in November and February we will have more). Baby Griscom and Baby Williams will come then and we'll start spoiling those babies at an early age. Grandchildren are indeed a blessing and just in case you did not know, Nanny and I think ours are the smartest, prettiest and best in the world.

GILBREATH FAMILY
By: Shirley Martin Spears

Jo and Hat Gilbreath - relatives by marriage, but much more so in hearts. Jo and Hat have always just taken us in like one of their kids. From what I have been told over the years Bobby Jack rode horseback from the their home near Gem Community to Jo and Hat's and also to see Granny Spears, his Spears cousins at Roy's house and his Gilbreath cousins both at Jo and Hat's (Lester, Janetta, Murle, and Lonnie) and at Vilene and Penny's, their son Don. They all had a good time and soon he traveled back up through our Wilbank's place, through Clebert Springs Holler and on home or sometimes just followed the old wagon road behind their place. But, that was before my time, so I'll just write about now. When I was in high school, I met Janetta through FHA, and later Lester, Murle and Lonnie. They all took me in and I always had a comfortable feeling of love and acceptance at their house. This is the feeling most everyone talks about after visiting with them.

Jo has always accepted my tom-boyish ways well, and they have always been glad that we moved to Cincinnati and made this our home. Hat has a very big soft spot in his heart for Bobby Jack's Dad, Ross Spears and talks to us about him often. When you have lost a parent, this is a special gift from someone who knew your parent. Over the years their boys have hauled hay and helped with our farming and our boys as they grew up did the same for them.

Jo and Hat and their children have given much to the little community of Cincinnati that most people never know about. They generously donate their time and money to help those in need or the community to achieve a goal. They never make a big "to-do" about this, just quitely go about helping others. You may not have ever seen this side of them, but almost everyone in our community has felt their love and compassion for others. They have also always supported me in this never ending genealogy adventure I find myself involved in. Just an encouraging word, a bit of information, a tall tale, a little politics or maybe real stories makes for interesting conversations either at their house or ours. Just wanted you to know, Jo, Hat and your children, we appreciate all you do for and with us.

GALBRAITH FAMILY
by: Jo Gilbreath

DAD: My daddy, Charles Martin Galbraith, was 62 years old when I was born so I didn't know him as a young man. One time we went swimming and some went fishing down on Cincinnati Creek. I didn't know that dad could swim, he dove in clothes and all, stayed under so long I didn't think he would ever come up. When he did, well, he could swim like a fish. Afterwards I found out that before he moved to Arkansas, he could swim the Tennessee River at Concord, Tennessee. Another time I remember, I was playing basketball at Summers. We had to play on an outdoor court. Dad walked two miles and a half to watch me play and my old dog Bum came with him. Bum came right out on the court with me. Madeline had to hold him while I played ball.

MAMA: I was only eleven years old when mama, Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith, died but I remember her really well. She was a very sweet lady and never saw her out of humor or angry. She always had a smile for everyone. She loved flowers and always had the prettiest red Geraniums. I guess they were her favorites but she always had a big pot of Christmas cactus that bloomed at Christmas every year. I remember as well her egg custard she would make. I can taste it today... really good. She would always make it for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

BROTHERS AND SISTERS: Of my brothers and sisters, of course, the three little ones of Dad's first marriage died as babies. Jenny, I really didn't know her very well. I didn't see her until she and Uncle Joe Galbraith, Lynn, Lois, Jack and Mildred came out and spent a week with us. Then Jenny, Marvin, Mack and Jack came back in 1937.

Sanna was married before I was born so I didn't know her very well because she moved to Spartanburg, South Carolina and could not come home very often. When she did, they would come by train and Brother Jack would go to Westville, Oklahoma to meet them. I was always glad to see them. Her daughter, Hattie Lee was two months older than I am.

Winnie was a hard working lady. She could always have a good meal. Sometimes she would churn the cream in a half gallon fruit jar while she took the old cows to pasture. She and Lee lived on the Agnes Gilbreath place when John Loyd was born and Mama came and stayed a while. When Mama came home she rode Old Doll home. "Doll" was our old bay horse.

John Winfrey or "Jack" as everyone called him worked for the Highway Department. He run the grader and helped build Arkansas 59 from Summers to Siloam Springs. He was a good man and was always ready to help anyone that needed help. He was also a big tease and loved the children. Everyone loved him.

Floyd was a very handsome young man just didn't know him because when he was very young, he went to South Carolina to live with Uncle Jim Winfrey. He worked for the railroad.

William, guess you could say was my buddy and when I was little I called him Brother Bib. He was so good to me. He would take me fishing down on Coon Creek. He spent most of his time baiting my hook because I couldn't get the worm on the hook. Jack told me just to start them on head first and they would crawl on. I tried that but it didn't work.

Margaret was a very thoughtful person, always remembered everyone's birthday, and anniversary, and always had big dinners until she moved away. When Ed and Velma were little, I would go stay with them to baby-sit while Margaret helped put up hay or canned vegetables. She taught me how to bake cakes, but forgot to teach me how to bake pies. (ha)

Walter was good to Madeline and me. He would always go with us because we had to walk everywhere we went. He was a hard worker.

Madeline and I were and still are very close. She could always get Dad to let us go places so when I wanted to go, I would let her ask him. We always went together when we were dating. Ross and Harnage liked to play baseball, that is Ross did, so we went almost every Sunday afternoon. We had some very good times.

Chrissie Jo, "well", I really don't know if I am at the top or at the bottom of the totem pole, anyway, born in Summers, Arkansas on November 29, 1920, I am the baby of thirteen children of my Daddy's. I remember them telling that Madeline would come to the bed and say to Mama that she wanted to see the white baby and the black baby (that was me and Hattie was the white one).

Harnage "Hat" and I got together when I wanted my best friend to go with him so I introduced them. Well, it backfired, and I wound up with him. some of the family said we would never make it because we were both the baby of the families, but somehow we did. We'll have been married 58 years April 28, 1997. That is longer than any of the others.

Lester got on the tractor and said, "you start it this way, you pull `huh', turn `huh', and push `huh'". Uncle Penny said,"that was right and now it will start". Lester was born May 5, 1940 at home near Cincinnati, Arkansas. He grew up there and was in the National Guard for a while. JANETTA CAROL GILBREATH

Janetta Carol, "Jan", was born on February 13, 1942 at home. One Christmas she said that she wanted a `regcashister'. She really wanted a cash register. Another time when we got our electricity she said,"Oh Daddy, they are going to turn on the juice". Jan went to college at Arkansas Tech in Russellville, Arkansas and that is where she met Ray. Jan married Ray Pearson and had three children, all girls; Darla Rachelle, Rebecca Lee and Paula Renee. Jan was a school teacher, then retired from teaching to help Ray in his Chiropractic D.C. office. She was jack of all trades, a receptionist, secretary, and helper, putting the hot or ice packs on patients. The doctors found that she had cancer November of 1988. She had all kinds of treatments. Jan lived five years and then the Lord called her home the 17th of April 1993 at the age of 51 years, 2 months, and 4 days. She was laid to rest at Harrison, Arkansas in the Mapelwood Cemetery.

WILLIAM MURLE GILBREATH

Murle was born at home in Cincinnati, Arkansas on December 10, 1943, a little premature. He weighed about two pounds and a half at birth and was always small for his age. One day I was making the children take a nap, they were on pallets in the floor. Murle called out, "Mama, make Janetta get her seat out of my sace". He really wanted her to get her feet out of his face. Another time I had to leave him at home with Aunt Lel. He said, "I'll just get my bottle and go to bed". Murle went to work for Wal Mart at Siloam springs and was moved to Missouri. There he met and married Judy Randolph. They had two daughters, Michelle Lynn and Stephanie Ann. He worked for Wal Marts for twenty six years, retired, came back home and built a home on the Old Gilbreath Place. His house is on the hill where his great great grandmother's house was. He and Judy bought and cares for their registered Black Angus cattle and they are expecting a grandchild this winter.

LONNIE BART GILBREATH

Lonnie is the youngest, born on March 3, 1950 in Prairie Grove, Arkansas at Mock Clinic. When Lonnie was little, I sometimes took him to the milk barn and put him in a box while we milked. When he was about three or four years old we were going to Fayetteville. Hat was in a hurry and had passed several cars. Lonnie said, "Dad you are driving like a maniac". Another time we had company from Oklahoma City. We were eating supper or as some people call it, dinner, and Lonnie got up from the table before the rest. We were just visiting and he was kinda'left out. He got under the table and began to yell and kick the floor. Dr. Musick looked under the table and said, "Bart what is the matter". Bart said, "I want a T.V." Dr. Musick told Harnage to go get that boy a T.V., sure enough, it worked. Lonnie went to college at Arkansas Tech at Russellville, Arkansas. He married Lynn Ray and they had a daughter, Crystal, and later divorced. Lonnie then met Donna Rinke and on June 4, 1977 they were married. They have two boys, Bart and Boone. Lonnie worked for a gas company in Tulsa, Oklahoma for a while, came back to Fort Smith and worked for T.X.O. Gas Company and then went on his own as an independent geologist with his office in Fort Smith. They live in Greenwood, Arkansas. Donna helps him with his drafting when she can.

It seems to be from research, that John and James Galbraith came into the United States from Northern Ireland (Scotland was their families place of origin) in the early 1700's. Their father's name was probably from all records also named John Galbraith. The are recorded in Pennsylvania as early as 1713 and another place as 1718.

Nine of Family Work on Same Job

H. G. Winfrey, stone mason, passes on new ideas to his sons, eight of whom are also stone masons at work on the new American Bank and Trust Company building. Mr. Winfrey is shown with a trowel. The two sons nearest him are A. J. and C. H. Winfrey. Behind them are M. L., W. W., H. G., O. R., L. L., and F. P. Winfrey.

New Orleans, La

My uncle Marion (MA) was killed when he fell from a building in Atlanta, Ga, a few years after this picture was taken.

FATHER AND EIGHT SONS ARE MASONS ON BANK BUILDING

Family Stays Together on Journeys to Jobs in Various Cities

It's father and son day every day in the family of H. G. Winfrey, Sr., stone mason at work on the new home of the American Bank and Trust Company. Not only is Winfrey, Sr., devoting his time to the stone work on the twenty-two-story building, but the job calls also for the attention of his eight sons.

First you meet the father, a smiling, quiet man of 63. Then comes F. P. Winfrey, almost 42. Then down the line with M. L., W. W., C. H., H. G., Jr., O. R., A. J., at last to L. L., who at 27 is the youngster of the Winfrey family. First names are troublesome, so the father and sons call each other by initials.

It is not unusual for a man to take his son into the banking business or place him in the cross-roads clothing emporium, but it takes a real father to guide every one of his sons into the stone mason profession.

For four years now F. P. has gone where O. R. went and A. J. boarded the same train with L. L. and M. L. borrowed W. W's tools until it got to be such a habit that the Winfrey family now moves en masse.

"Since we do a lot of chipping perhaps its eight chips off the old block," L. L. explained. "Dad started when he was a boy. When F. P. became old enough to handle the tools he worked with dad. Since then every single one of us followed the same path and we can't imagine any other arrangement."

It might be serious if the Winfrey family were taken off the job on the present construction. Of the thirty-five masons, helpers and machinists, nine of them are Winfreys and able masons.

L. L. is the promotion manager for the family. It was his idea to put all their talents into one pot in the hope that brothers are thicker than strangers and would accomplish better cutting and trimming.

Most of the time the nine Winfreys get along like a family picnic. Once in a while, L. L. admitted, one of them may have a varying idea as to how a certain block should be dressed down. That requires a family huddle and everyone comes up agreed.

The Winfrey family originated in Concord, Tenn., where each of the boys received his stone mason training. They worked in Shreveport for two and a half years, where the Wilson-Winfrey Company was begun, with Winfrey as secretary-treasurer. The company is capitalized for $20,000. With the sons and father in its ranks, the company has successfully handled construction in Miami, Fla., Rochester, N. Y., Nashville, Tenn., El Dorado, Ark., and Houston, Tex.

Their contract for the present work merely calls for taking the stone from box cars and erecting it. Approximately 24,000 cubic feet, or 1800 tons of stone, will be required. An average day is required to set 800 cubic feet. The stone is Indiana limestone and of fine texture, according to L. L. Winfrey.

Mother Winfrey will arrive in New Orleans next week. She is as interested in stone work as the other members of the family. There are three sisters. Of the eight sons only two, C. H. and A. J., are not married.

An idea may be gained of the earning power of the nine Winfreys by noting the $12 a day wage of stone masons.

Since the nine have been working together they have suffered only two casualties. These were relatively minor, a slashed thumb and a crushed foot.

"It's a life-long amalgamation," was the final announcement of the family.

Dear Shirley & Bobby Jack,

First, please pardon my "stationery"! (was written on a yellow legal pad). I hope the inclosed materials are what you need and will be of help to you--or, in the least, of interest.

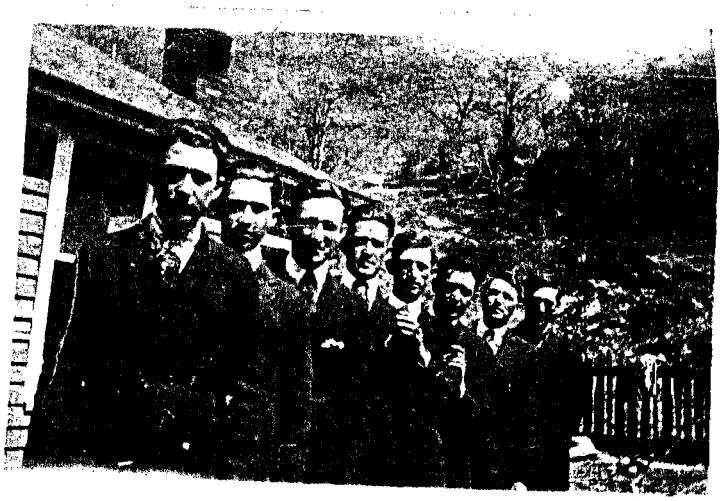
I suppose we are cousins since our grandfathers were cousins? - how many times "removed" I don't know. (Bobby Jack and Ann Winfrey share a mutual great great grandparents, Holmes Warren Winfrey and wife Lucinda Elkins Winfrey). I can vaguely remember, since I was 8 years old and that has been a loooog time ago- we spent a summer in Claremore and a summer in Oklahoma City. My father was a stone mason and he and his 7 brothers and father (Hal G. Winfrey, Sr) worked all over the United States on buildings. I'm enclosing an article regarding the family. My father was Frank P. Winfrey, the oldest of the living sons.

Most of this information was obtained from Hugh Winfrey - a cousin I had never met altho he has lived in Knoxville for 25 years. I seldom see any of my first cousins, of whom I have many. It's sad how families drift apart. When I was a child we all gathered at my grandmothers house often on Sunday afternoons.

There is no mention of the Galbraiths in the information I have - but there are several Galbraith families in this area. Let me know if we can be of nay further help.

- Sincerely, Ann Winfrey

This letter was sent to Bobby Jack & Shirley Spears after an inquiry into the Winfrey family through a Galbraith cousin that saw our name in the Clan Galbraith of North America news letter. Retyped to conserve space.



The Winfrey Boys —
LL-AJ-OR-HG-CH-WW-MK-FP

Sometime shortly after the Norman conquest of England, an immigrant from one of the low countries of Europe settled there. He was an artisian of some kind, a silversmith or a locksmith perhaps, who had a name which the English could neither spell nor pronounce.

In the usual course of events, he would probably have been given the English name of Smith.But shortly after his arrival in England, the annual tournament was held. The tournament was a three-division affair, divided according to classes in keeping with medieval tradition, with separate competitions called joust for the Knights, the fray or frey for the Freeman, and the melee for the Serfs. Being a very strong man and a Freeman, he was persuaded to enter the frey or fray. After winning, he became known as the man who won the frey, or "Winfrey".

The foregoing was related to Charles Winfrey, former Postmaster of Concord, TN., by Sir Richard Winfrey, Lord Mayor of Peterboro, London, England, in the early 1920's, when the Lord Mayor visited the United States as an exchange Protestant layman in 1920.

Matthew O. Winfrey, of Lexington, KY., former Superintendent of Schools of Middlesboro, KY., and State Superintendent of Schools For KY. related the following to Charles Winfrey.

Two Winfrey brothers came to America, one settling in or near Charlottsville, VA., the other going to Winston-Salem, NC. The two brothers founded the two branches of the Winfrey family in this country.

The North Carolina branch of the family spread westward into Tennessee, Georgia, Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri. They were for the most part Baptist, and retain the original spelling of the name "Winfrey".

Decendants of the Virginia branch are today mostly in Virginia, Kentuckey, Missouri, Kansas, and Colorada. The bulk of them are Methodists, and while most of them still spell the name "Winfrey", a number of them spell it "Winfree".

The above is a copy of a letter sent to my aunt Edna Easterly written by Charles H. Winfrey in 1957.

Hugh B. Winfrey

In 1827, after a disagreement with his stepmother, Holmes Warren Winfrey left his home near Winston-Salem, NC., and started west for Nashville.

Reaching Rogersville, TN., he stopped to help build a barn for William Kyle, father of Judge Hugh Kyle, and there met and married Lucinda Elkins, the daughter of Shaner Elkins. He went no farther west.

The children of Holmes Winfrey were James Hardin Winfrey, Rev.William Winfrey, John Johnson Winfrey, Hal Glaspy (Gillispie) Winfrey and daughters Lucinda Winfrey Haynes, Barsha Winfrey Johnson and Sydney Winfrey.

Of these seven children, one never married and another had no children. The other five produced a total of forty grandchildren.

Sydney Winfrey, youngest daughter of Holmes Warren and Lucinda Elkins Winfrey, died at age 20. She was a school teacher and never married.

James Hardin Winfrey married Edith Brown, known as Aunt Edie, but had no children.

The Rev. William L. Winfrey married Penelope Brewer and they had three children: William L Winfrey Jr., Penelope who married and settled in Illinois, and grace Winfrey Cleveland. After the death of his first wife, the Rev. Winfrey married Emma Webb. They had seven children, Mary Winfrey, who married George Disney, Lucinda Payne, Murrill, Maude,Warren, Herman, and Harry Lee Winfrey.

John D. Johnson Winfrey married Mary Braxton. Their children were Shaner Winfrrey, John Johnson Winfrey, Jr., James Hardin Winfrey, and Rachel Winfrey Galbraith.

Hal Glaspy Winfrey and Nannie Fawbush Winfrey had thirteen children. They were Holmes Warren Winfrey, Franklin Phillip Winfrey, Marion Lee Winfrey, Luciunda Hobbs, Walker Warren Winfrey, Charles Houston Winfrey, Hal Glaspy Winfrey, Jr., Sydney Winfrey Boyd, Oliver Ray Winfrey, Andrew Jackson Winfrey, Mary Winfrey Gross, Lynn Leon Winfrey, and Esther Winfrey Russell.

The four children of Lucinda Winfrey Haynes and John Haynes were J. Ned Haynes, Lucinda Haynes Alvis, Eva Haynes, and Hal Winfrey Haynes.

Barsha Winfrey Johnson and John J. Johnson had nine children. They were five sons, Thomas L. Nicholas, Holmes Warren, James and William L. Johnson, and four daughters, Ann Johnson Walker, Mollie Johnston Houston, Kate Johnston McReynolds, and Tilda Johnson Bell.

Dear Cousin Ann,

Thanks again for your visit. Mary and I enjoyed it very much. It always gives me a great deal of pleasure to discuss the Winfrey family and its history.

I am not the world's best when it comes to drawing up family trees, but I've extended the Shaner Winfrey-Eliza Bailey branch down to the present day. I hope our Arkanses cousins find it of intrest. The information we gave you yesterday plus the enclosed pretty well sums up every thing I have to date, but if there is anything that needs to be made more clear, please let me know.

I don't have any written information on it, but my grandmother Winfrey told us that the Braxton lineage can be traced back to The Declaration of Independence, and there was a Carter Braxton of Virginia who signed it.

Please feel free to visit or contact us any time. Meeting you was a real pleasure. The above invitation also goes for our Arkansas Cousins.

Sincrerly,

Your Cousin Hugh

Virginia's Honorable Traitors

Carter Braxton

There is no grave marker for Braxton in the family burial plot on the Chericoke estate in King William County.

Copyright 1996. Landmark Communications Inc.

Carter Braxton of King William County probably experienced more personal grief and misfortune than any of the other Virginia signers, although none could be attributable to his political activity.

His mother, youngest of King Carter's daughters to marry, died at his birth. His first wife also died at the birth of their second child, and six of the 16 children from that marriage died in infancy. His home, the first Chericoke, burned the week before Christmas, 1776, and cousin Benjamin Harrison mourned all the ``fine Liquors'' in Braxton's famous wine cellar that no doubt fueled the flames.

Braxton had inherited a great fortune, but early on it began to get away from him and his financial situation declined steadily and severely simply because he was not a good businessman. He was the beneficiary of Speaker Robinson's largess to the extent of 3,848 pounds, a very large sum in those days.

Braxton was a reluctant signer, but not because of his fondness for things English. He hated everything about New Englanders, who were pushing independence most strongly. But mostly he was reluctant for practical reasons.

He felt ``America is too defenseless a state,'' the lack of allies troubled him, and he feared civil war along the Colonies, among which land disputes already simmered.

Braxton, 39, favored first establishing a ``grand continental league'' and a ``superintending power'' before declaring independence.

``When these necessary steps are taken,'' he said, ``and I see a coalition formed sufficient to withstand the power of Britain, or any other, then I am for an independent state and all its consequences, as then I think they will produce happiness to America. It is a true saying of a wit -- `we must hang together or separately.' ''

It is not known for certain whether he was buried in Richmond or, as family tradition says, at Chericoke. There is no grave marker for Braxton in the family burial plot under a large magnolia tree on the private Chericoke estate, owned by a descendant.

Braxton, Carter (1736-1797), an American statesman during the Revolutionary War period, was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. He was born in Newington, Va., the son of a wealthy planter, and attended the College of William and Mary. He became a member of the House of Burgesses in 1761, where he served actively until 1771, and again in 1775. He was a member of the Continental Congress and the Congress of the Confederation from 1775 to 1776, 1777 to 1783, and again in 1785. Kenneth R. Rossman

BRAXTON, Carter (1736–1797), American Revolutionary leader, who signed the Declaration of Independence. He was born in Newington, Va., on Sept. 10, 1736. For most of the period from 1761 to 1775 he was a member of Virginia's House of Burgesses, and he supported its resolutions against British taxation and its nonimportation agreement. A member of the Continental Congress (1775–1776), he signed the Declaration of Independence "with regret" according to John Adams, because he hoped to avoid war.

In the Revolution, Braxton lost his fortune, which he had invested in American shipping. He served in the Virginia legislature from 1776 until his death, which took place in Richmond on Oct. 10, 1797.

BRAXTON RESEARCH

by: Shirley Spears and Pauline Abraham

The most we ever knew was that a great grandmother's name was Braxton and they were supposed to be from the Virginia Braxton's. According to a linage sheet Aunt Sanna had it followed these lines:

#1 - Rachel Ann Winfrey Galbraith, our grandmother.
#2 - Mary E. Braxton married John D. Winfrey
#3 - Jessee Braxton, born in 1809 and married to a Rachel Parker.

In a letter from the Hugh B. Winfrey, still living in Tennessee, he stated that his grandmother Winfrey (which would have been Mary E. Braxton Winfrey told about her grandfather Braxton signing the Declaration of Independence. Mary was born in 1844 so very well it could have been her grandfather, but research says, NO. Maybe Great Great Grandfather, Carter Braxton of Virginia did sign the declaration and some research has been done here. Carter Braxton died in 1797 and Jessee Braxton was born in 1809, so this information just does not fit. There is probably a generation, maybe two between the two. As of today, we have not been able to connect Jessee to Carter Braxton, but we also do believe this is really real.

Jessee Braxton was in Hawkins Co., Tennesse as early as the 1850 Tennessee Census as well as his family and the names and dates for the most part, match. He is included in the same county in both the 1860 and 1870 census.

This is the information we have on Carter Braxton and we will assume there is a #4 missing generation and starting with Carter Braxton as #5:

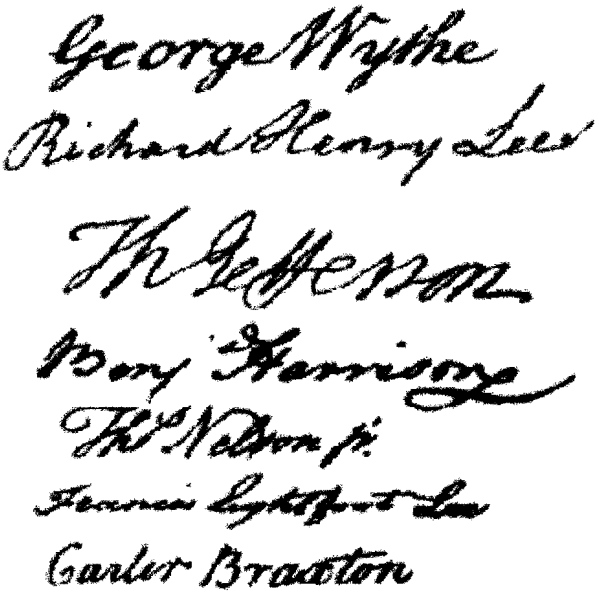
Virginia's Famous Signers

". . . we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor."

In the crucial decade before the American Revolution, Williamsburg was a training ground for a remarkable body of men. When it became clear that war with Great Britain could not be avoided, George Wythe, Richard Henry Lee, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Harrison, Thomas Nelson, Francis Lightfoot Lee, and Carter Braxton met in Philadelphia with representatives from other colonies to declare independence from the mother country. On July 4, 1776, the Continental Congress formally adopted the Declaration of Independence and took the first momentous step toward establishing a new nation.



George Washington did not sign the Declaration of Independence because in July 1776 he was in New York preparing to defend Manhattan against the British.

Braxton Chancery Suit

This is a suit in Chancery brought by Elizabeth Braxton, widow of Carter Braxton, the signer, to recover right of dower in part of 25,000 acres of land granted to George Braxton, November 25, 1743, at which time the land lay in Goochland, in that part which later became Amherst County, and devised to his son, Carter Braxton, by his last will and testament. She claimed that her deceased husband, Carter Braxton, transferred land to different parties in Amherst County without her releasing her right of dower in the same. The suit was begun 1802; dismissed 1809, "The Plaintiff not further prosecuting."

Carter Braxton was born at "Newington," King and Queen County, September 10, 1736, and died in Richmond, Virginia, October 10, 1797. He was the son of George Braxton, Jr., and wife, Mary, daughter of Colonel Robert Carter, of "Corotoman," and grandson of George Braxton, Member of the House of Burgesses for King and Queen, 1718-1733 and 1742 until his death,

14 "Virginia Will Records"

July 1, 1748. His son, George Braxton, Jr., succeeded him as Burgess.[1] Both of his sons, George Braxton and Carter Braxton were students at the College of William and Mary where they were attended by their negro servants.

Carter Braxton inherited a large estate in land and negroes from his father and grandfather. At the age of nineteen he married a wealthy heiress, Judith Robinson. Two years later she died, leaving two daughters: Mary Robinson Braxton, who married Robert Page, of Hanover County and Judith Braxton, who married John White, of King William County. After spending two years in England, he married secondly, in 1760, Elizabeth, daughter of Richard and Elizabeth (Tayloe) Corbin. The issue of this marriage was four sons: Carter, Corbin, John Tayloe and William Braxton.[2]

An attested copy of the will of George Braxton, Jr., father of Carter Braxton, the signer, which was found among the papers in this suit, is here given in full as, apparently, it has never heretofore appeared in print:

IN THE NAME OF GOD AMEN I George Braxton of St. Stephens Parish in King & Queen County do make this my last will & Testament in manner & form following first I Commit my Soul into the hands of Almighty God believing remission of Sins. and everlasting life by the merits Death & Passion of Jesus Christ my Lord & Saviour & my body to be buried at the discretion of my Executors hereafter named and as to what worldly estate it hath Pleased God to bestow upon me I dispose thereof as follows I give and bequeath to my Son George all my Land in King & Queen & Essex Counties to him and his Heirs forever. Maga. of Hist.*, VI, 433, that he was a Member of the House of Burgesses "for King & Queen 1758 and 1761 in which latter year the House ordered a new election to fill the vacancy caused by his death," is incorrect, as he died in 1749. The same error occurs in "WASHINGTON'S BURGESS ROUTE," (Va. Maga. of Hist. Oct., 1938). It was George Braxton, 3d, brother to Carter Braxton, the signer, who entertained Washington at "Newington," in 1755.

[This, the first of his name in Virginia, first appears among the fragments of the records of King William county in 1703, when he signed a power of attorney as "George Braxton, of Virginia, merchant." Later he is styled Colonel George Braxton. He was a member of the House of Burgesses for King and Queen 1718, 1723 and probably other years. One of his daughters was Elizabeth, who married ——— Brooke, and was mother of George Brooke, of "Mantapike," King William county, colonel in the Revolution and Treasurer of Virginia. The son was George Braxton, Jr., who was a member of the House of Burgesses for King William in 1748, and for King and Queen in 1758 and 1761, in which latter year the House ordered a new election to fill the vacancy caused by his death. He married Mary (daughter of Robert Carter, of "Corotoman"), whose tomb is also at Mattapony Church, and was the father of George Braxton and Carter Braxton, the signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Mattapony Church, an old Colonial parish church, is a large cruciform building, and is in perfect preservation.]

JOHN AND MARY MARTIN GALBRAITH, ESQ

This John Galbraith and his brother James Galbraith would be great, great, great grandparents ***

John Galbraith (son of Alexander and Nancy Agnes Miller) was born 1752, Northhampton Co., Pa and died 1814, Turkey Creek, Knox Co, Tenn. He married Mary Martin in 1778, Penn. Mary Martin, the daughter of James Martin and Ann Miller was born in 1756, Martins Creek, Northampton Co., Penn. She died May 16, 1821, buried in Pleasant Forest Cemetery, Turkey Creek, Knox County Tenn. They had 8 children.

JOHN GALBRAITH, Esquire

John Galbraith, Esquire, was born in 1752, Northampton, County, Pennsylvania, son of Alexander Galbraith, Esq., and Nancy Agnes (Miller) Galbraith. He moved to Virginia after his marriage to Mary Martin, daughter of James and Ann Miller Martin and settled on Falling River, in Berkley County, West Virginia, where he acquired land. In the many histories of the Kings Mountain Men, who were present and took part in that historic battle, John Galbraith, is said to have taken part in that battle and was previously with Francis Marion of South Carolina. One very important fact is John Galbraith received a land grant from North Carolina after the Revolutionary War and only those who took part in the battle of Kings Mountain received these grants. Records have been found pertinent to the fact he was also at he the Battle of Quebec in 1775, led by General Richard Montgomery. Since he never applied for a pension for his services in the Revolution, we have only traditions handed down by the early decendants. There were a number of John Galbraiths who served in the Revolution. A grand-daughter of his son, Joseph Galbraith, used his army service in the Daughters of the American Revolution. He also has a record for patriotic service to the Continental Army by furnishing that Army wheat.

Archibald McCaleb and John Galbraith took part in the War of 1812, at which time Archibald McCaleb was killed by the Indians on his way to join Andrew Jackson on September 16, 1813. From traditions left by the early descendants, it is our opinion that John Galbraith died as the result of this war.

He served as a representative for Greene county, at the State Constitutional Convention and took a seat as a member of that Convention in 1796. He was also a member of the Grand Jury for the same county.

He moved to Knox County, with his family and purchased a tract of land of near two thousand acres on Turkey Creek on January 4, 1794, from James Creswell. This land was situated on Turkey Creek, and near the confluence of the French Broad and Holston (now Tennessee) rivers. Here he built his plantation home and reared his children. He also operated a "Wagon Charge", from Tennessee to Virginia. John Galbraith was the owner of many slaves and operated his plantation with slave help, some of whose names are still familiar in the memory of the descendants. John and Mary Galbraith were buried in the Pleasant Forest Cemetery near Campbell Station, in Knox County, Tennessee. No stones mark their graves, and the location in not known. An explanation of this is; during the Civil War the Confederates were camped here and destroyed and mutilated stones and property. When the Civil War began, East Tennessee became a battle ground. And no southern people suffered more severely from this war than those of Knox County. As so many other families of Tennessee, the Galbraith families were divided with both armies using land and buildings for hospitals for both Union and Confederate forces.

He married in 1777 to Mary Martin, who was born on Martins Creek, Lower Mt. Bethel Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania, in 1756. Daughter of James and Ann Miller Martin, early settlers of Pennsylvania. Histories of her parents are covered under Martin section.

The eight children of John and Mary Martin Galbraith, Esq. were:

1) James Galbraith, b.1779; d.1818; m Jane Naleur
2) Alexander Galbraith, b.1781, d.3-15-1855; m. Eliza Ann Russell
3) Joseph Galbraith, b.December 28, 1786; d.Sept 15, 1837; m.Polly Fleming (1st) Elizabeth Love (2nd)
4) Samuel Galbraith, b 1790; d.July 25, 1854...? as to marriage
5) Thomas Galbraith, b Oct.23, 1791; d.Sept 23, 1864; m. 1851 to Elizabeth Tunnell Coulter in Cane Hill, AR.

JAMES AND ELEANOR MARTIN GALBRAITH

This James and Eleanor Martin Galbraith would be a great, great, great grandparent

James Galbraith (son of Alexander and Agnes Miller Galbraith) was born June 9, 1761, Lower Mt. Bethel Township, Northampton Co., Pennsylvania., died May 22, 1830, Green Co, Henderson Station, Tennessee. Buried Mt. Bethel Cemetery, Greenville, Tenn. He married Eleanor Martin in 1793 in Pennsylvania. Eleanor Martin (sister to Mary Martin) was the daughter of James Martin and Ann Miller and was born February 23, 1767, Martins Creek Northampton Co., Pennsylvania, and died June 10, 1850, Greene Co., Tennessee. Buried Mt Bethel Cemetery, Greeneville, Tennessee. They had 8 children.

James Galbraith first located near the mouth of Cove Creek, where the records in the Registers Office, Greeneville, Tennessee, states that he and John Crockett built the first mill in that locality in 1794. James Galbraith acquired land 500 acres in 1792, original grant from the State of North Carolina. He gave the land upon which the first Presbyterian Church was built in Greeneville. The church was made of logs. Henderson's Mill was the Post Office (now Afton, Tenn.) He later moved and had his residence on a farm six miles north east Greeneville, Tenn. His son, James Witherspoon Galbraith, was born in this home in 1804. The old home at Henderson Mills was a large log structure. James Galbraith was a man of much mechanical genius, he had on his farm a carding machine, oil mill, and other facilities which enumerate him largely. Among some of his workmanship is a dove tailed "Rockaby Baby Buntine Cradle". He made it possible for all his children to receive a good education. He married in 1793, Miss Eleanor Martin, of Pennsylvania, whose father James Martin was a prominent judge and soldier of Northampton County, Pennsylvania. Serving under the Proprietary and Colonel government, lieutenant of the Associated Regiment of Bucks County, Pennsylvania. He took part in the Indian Wars of 1747 and 1748.

JOHN AND MARGARET GALBRAITH

John and Margaret (NLN) Galbraith would be great, great, great, great, great grandparents of Bobby Jack Spears

It seems to be from research, that John and James Galbraith came into the United States from Northern Ireland (Scotland was their families place of origin) in the early 1700's. Their father's name was probably from all records also named John Galbraith. The are recorded in Pennsylvania as early as 1713 and another place as 1718.

ALEXANDER GALBRAITH, ESQUIRE

This Alexander and Nancy Agnes Miller Galbraith, Esquire would be a Bobby Jack Spears great, great, great, great, grandparents on both sides ***

There seems to be no definite conclusion of his birth, but it must be about 1720 in Ireland or Scotland. He acquired land by land warrant from the Province of Pennsylvania, in 1747, to be able to acquire land, he had to be 21 or over.

The year of emigration to America was sometime before 1747, and he married in Bucks County, not Northhampton County, Pennsylvania, about 1747-48 (I would think about 1746-1747.SJS), Nancy Agnes Miller, daughter of Thomas and Nancy Isabel (Thompson) Miller, of Scotch-Irish descent. (See section on Miller family) His first settlement was a tract or plantation of land situated on a branch of Alegheny Creek, in the Township of Mr. Bethel. He moved to Virginia and in the year of 1792 died. He paid tax in Virginia in 1792 about the end of the year. They lived at Fallings Creek, Berkley Co. West Virginia (may have been Virginia at that time).

It has been said by early descendants that he was the son of Scottish John Galbraith. It is obvious that the Mother's name was Margaret, sur-name unknown. Nancy Agnes (Miller) Galbraith was deceased in 1787, at the time of her father's estate settlement.

Records show he served in the Revolutionary War. Private 1st class in 6th Company, Capt. Patrick Campbell's Company, 6th Battalion, Northhampton County Militia, 1777-May 14, 1778, commanded by Col. Jacob Stroud.

He took the oath of Allegiance to the Continental Government from Thomas Sillyman, June 26, 1777. Thomas Sillyman return is dated October 11, 1777. Recorded October 16, 1777.

Agnes Miller, was born aboutt 1726 and died in 1786-87, Campbell Co., Virginia. She married Alexander Galbraith born 1720 and died in 1792. He was born in Scotland, 9 Children

ORIGINAL HELD IN COURT RECORDS OF CAMPBELL COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

A small section devoted here to the Miller-Martin families may be a help to understand the later migrations of the Galbreaths. Thomas Miller may have been the emigrant ancestor and there have been no records found of his ancestry, and the same is true of his wife, Isobella. In a small private plot, known as the Miller-Thompson-Ketchledge Graveyard, on the left hand side of the road leading from Martin's Creek to Ackermanville, about one mile southeast of the former is this marker:

> "Here lies the body of Thomas Miller who died the 27th day of October 1755, aged 66 years"

Of the death of his wife we know nothing, except that she survived him because of the following record; this abstract was sent to us by a descendant and all efforts to locate its source have proven futile, so far:

> Deed Book G-1 page 496 No location No date
> Isabella Miller and other to Samuel Miller To all people to whom these presents shall come, Thomas Miller of Mount Bethel Twshp., County of Northampton, State of Pennsylvania in his lifetime by virtue of two Proprietary Warrants, the one of them bearing the date of April 8th 1747 and the other dated June 5th 1752... and the said Thomas Miller died intestate, leaving his wife, Isabel, and two daughters and four sons: Agnes, Ann, William, Alexander, Samuel and Thomas.
> Now know ye that Isabel Miller, widow, and Ann Martin, daughter of said Thomas Miller....

Will of William Miller, Mt. Bethel Twshp;
Dated August 13, 1767

1767 Alexander Galbreath was one of the signers of the Inventory, Dec 10, 1767 of William Miller and Alexander Jr., was one of the witnesses to his will, dated Aug 13, 1767; proved Oct 12, 1767.

1773 Alexander Galbreath (Sr., or Jr.?) was one of the witnesses to the will of Alexander Miller, dated Oct 14, 1773; proved Nov 18, 1773. (John Galbreath was also a witness.)

1779 Alexander Galbreath (Sr., or Jr.?) received a deed from Edward Phair for 270 acres on the main branches of Falling River (in Bedford County, Va.) in 1779.

(There is no evidence that Alexander Sr., was ever in Virginia but deeds among his heirs indicate that the above may have been a deed to him. In 1782 we find Agnes Galbreath, widow, on the tax list of Rockbridge County, Va. Rockbridge County was taken off Augusta County in 1778 and the Martin kin seem to have located in Augusta County, not far from the Rockbridge County line. The above land may have fallen in Campbell County when it was taken off Bedford, for several of Alexander's children were definitely located in Campbell County.)

THE GALBRAITHS CAME IN 1801
by Snyder Roberts

The first Galbraith families in this area settled in 1801 on the Brushy Fork of Poplar Creek adjoining the northeast line of the McClung survey (see map). The Anderson County 1802 Tax list contains the name of Alexander Galbraith with 300 acres and his brother, James, with 880 acres. They had bought the land from John Hackett (A, p. 56) who was probably acting as an agent for Charles McClung. It is doubtful that James actually lived in Anderson County. In any event, he sold 212 acres to his brother Samuel in 1804, and another tract of 521 acres (F, p. 215) to the same brother which was registered in 1809. In 1810, Samuel bought an additional 42 acres (D, p. 141) from Michael Hossler which was located on Big Poplar near the county line. It may have included a mill.

The Galbraiths Are Numerous

The Galbraiths were among the most prolific reproducers in the area, and the branches of their family tree have reached out and become interwoven through marriages with numerous old line families in this and surrounding areas. Only a brief outline of the family can be covered within the scope of this article, but those interested in a comprehensive genealogical study should refer to the book Galbraith Clan and Their Descendants by Mrs. James Paul Galbraith.

The Galbraith Families

The Galbraith story starts with Alexander Galbraith I who may have been born in Scotland about 1720 and died in 1792 in Virginia. He had arrived in Bucks County, Penn. before 1747 and married Agnes Miller about 1747-8. Alex was a Revolutionary War soldier. Alexander and Agnes were the parents of 9 children, only 3 of whom were involved in the Poplar Creek settlement, namely: James Galbraith (1761-1830), Samuel Gaston Galbraith (1763-1850), and Alexander Galbraith II (1749-1835). Of these 3 sons only the latter one will be discussed.

Alexander Galbraith II

Alexander Galbraith II was born in Bucks County, Penn. in 1749, and died at the home of his son William near Wheat in Roane County in 1835. He married (1778) Rosannah Lyle (1756-1817). As noted above, Alex and Rosannah came to Poplar Creek, Anderson County in 1801. Little is known of these very early days. It is likely that he had a good education and he provided a good education for his children. One little item of information regarding Alexander that creeps into the story in an unusual manner may require some explanation.

Roane County Survey Books show, "In 1811, surveyed for Reuben Williams 14 acres on the waters of Poplar Creek and Pyles Turnpike, opposite Alexander Galbraith's still house." First, Reuben Williams was the son-in-law of Thomas A. Butler, and Pyles Turnpike ran roughly the same route as the present Oliver Springs-Oak Ridge 4-lane highway. The still house doesn't mean that Alex was an old "meanie", nor a moonshiner. The operation of a still at "that point in time" was perfectly legal, and in fact, it was customary for the better farmers west of the mountains to reduce the bulk of their corn and other grain crops by converting them to liquid form which greatly facilitated the transportation of their product across the mountains to thirsty and ready markets along the coast.

Alexander II and his wife, Rosannah, had the following issue:

1. Robert Galbraith (1778-1841). 2. Thomas Galbraith. 3. Mary (Stevenson). 4. Alexander Lyle "Big Lyle" Galbraith III (1786-1870) 5. William Galbraith. 6. Nancy (unmarried). 7. Elizabeth (unmarried).

Of the above children, only Robert and Alexander

III will need to be discussed.

Robert Galbraith

Robert Galbraith was born 1778 and died in 1841 in Anderson County. Allegedly, he married Ann Oliver, the daughter of "our" Richard Oliver, but this is an error because Richard Oliver was not born until 1800, and all of his daughters' husbands are known. Robert was evidently an extensive farmer. Robert was the father of the following children:

1. William J. Galbraith (1822-1882). 2. Robert Galbraith (1819-abt. 1880) married Clarinda C. McKamey). They were the parents of William Alexander Galbraith who married first, Martha Smith, and secondly, Lizzie Wright, who was the mother of Claude Galbraith. Hubert Galbraith of Clinton, and Robert Galbraith of Oak Ridge. Claude's home is on the Oak Ridge By-Pass highway and is on the old Galbraith original holdings. 3. Rosannah (no record). 4. Permelia (Kirkpatrick). 5. Isabella (no record).

Robert Galbraith's son No. 1 above, William J. Galbraith married (3-9-1843) to Mary Jane Butler (1827-1907). He served in the Union Army during the Civil War. William J. and Mary Jane had 9 children as follow:

1. Narcissa A. (1844) married Arch Henning. 2. Robert H. (1845-) served in the Civil War (Union Army). 3. Margaret (1845) married Samuel McKamey. 4. Sarah Charlotte (b. 1850) married William Jasper Smith (1848-1932). They are the parents of the celebrated local historian "Uncle" John T. Smith, Henry Smith, etc. 5. Frederick A. Galbraith (1853-1935) married Zerelda T. Garner (1859-1954) who are the parents of Elizabeth (Paepers), William Jesse, John R., Alice (Martin), and Fred. 6. Nancy (Garner). 7. Rosannah (Disney). 8. Mary (1867) unmarried. 9. William (1869) unmarried.

Alexander Galbraith III

Alexander Lyle "Big Lyle" Galbraith was born in Virginia in 1786, and died in Anderson County in 1870. He married (1810) Mary "Polly" Gallaher, daughter of James Gallaher, a well-to-do farmer who lived on Poplar Creek near the New Fairview Baptist Church. "Big Lyle" served as a Sergeant in Capt. Lunsford Oliver's Company in the War of 1812. He served as the High Sheriff of Anderson County for the years 1836-37. "Big Lyle", was well-known throughout the area, and was a man of considerable influence. He was well educated and a master at penmanship. His will is on record in Anderson County dated 4-1-1869. By his will, he partitioned his estate among his several children and heirs. Alexander, L. and Mary's children are as follows:

1. Alexander Galbraith IV. 2. William W. Galbraith (1816) married Nancy A. Wright. 3. Nancy A. (1818). 4. Sarah M. (1820). 5. George (1822) married Nancy McKamey (Butler). 6. Thomas (1825) married Margaret M. Russell. 7. Elizabeth (1827) married Stephen Jett whose children were: Thomas, Toll, Emmett, Oliver, Joseph, Bill, Rose, and Sarah. 8. Mary (1830) married Isaac Evans. 9. Rosannah (1833) married James L. McKamey. 10. Lucinda. Of the above children only No. 1 will be discussed.

Alexander Galbraith IV

Alexander Galbraith IV was born 1813 and died in Anderson County in 1862 (buried at Robertsville). He married (1839) Caroline R. Russell (1818-1889). This couple had the following issue:

1. Elizabeth J. (1842) married Samuel Greer. 2. James A. (1844) unmarried-served in Civil War (Union). 3. Sarah A. (1848-1874). 4. Mary M. (1845-1892) married William Duggins-the parents of Andrew and Sarah. "Sally". 5. Alexander H. Galbraith (1847-1913) married (1894) Ellen (Smith) Jett (1865-1954). Their children are: Jessie (Joe Hoskins), Annie (Harvey Freels), and Mary (James Sisson). 6. Robert P. (1849-1921) unmarried. 7. Lucinda A. (1851-1927) married Henry Day. They were the parents of Mattie (1879) who married William Hoskins, and Gertrude who married Charles Halburnt. 8. William H. Galbraith. 9. Martha F. (1858) married John Wornick. 10. George G. (1860-1937) unmarried.

William H. Galbraith

William Harrison Galbraith, No. 8 above, (1854-1916) married (1880) Sarah Caledonia Hudson (1864-1925). This couple had the following issue:

1. Caledonia T. (1880-1923) married Andy Baily. 2. Florence (1882-1923) married Benjamin Fields. 3. Alexander L. (1884-85). 4. Lansdon (8-23-1886-) married Lola F. Taylor. 5. John W. (1888-1955) married Mary "Marie" Halburnt. 6. Henry D. (1890-1936) twin. 7. Samuel Q. (1890-1890) twin. 8. William W. (1892-1906). 9. Thomas B. (1894-) married Matilda Collins. 10. George W. "Dick" (1897-1975) married Jennie Brown. 11. Mary M. "Maggie" married James H. Meade (1888-1959). 12. James L. (1901-1975).

Epilogue

The foregoing genealogical exercise is an attempt to reduce a large body of data to a simpler and outline form that applies to the local situation. It should enable the dozens of families and hundreds of persons involved to understand their relationship with the Galbraith families.

JAMES AND ANN MILLER MARTIN

This James Martin and Ann Miller are great, great, great, great, Grandparents

JAMES MARTIN, Esquire, born 1710 in Ireland, died May 29 (One source says May 20), 1767; Martin's Creek, Lower Mr. Bethel township, Northampoton Co, Pennsylvania. Parents unknown, but in checking the old Scotch-Irish histories we find the early Martins were Scotch, being from an ancient and honored clan of McMartin's of Letterfinaly.

James Martin was a man of prominence in his community, and was associated with the Hunter Settlement, of Lower Mount Bethel, in the forks of the Delaware.

The people of this settlement came from Northern Ireland and Scotland, and settled this section in 1728-1730. They had been persecuted by the British and forced to a new settlement.

In 1747-1748, James Martin appears in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, where he is named Lieutenant in a list of officers of the Associated Regiment of Bucks county. (See Pennsylvania, Archives, 2nd series, Vol. 11, page 433). April 12, 1749, he acquired 100 acres of land on Smalleys Creek (now Martin's Creek). Original deed to property recorded in Philadelphia, Penn., patent book, A, Vol 15, page 257.

Whereas the Hon. Thomas Penn and Richard Penn, Esqs., late proprietories of the Province, (now State of PA.), aforesaid, in and by this letter patent, bearing date the 12th day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand, seven hundred and forty-nine, did for the consideration therein mentioned, grant and assign two certain tracts of land situated on Smalleys Creek above the Forks of the Deleware then in the county of Bucks (1) 88 acres and allowances, (2) 32 acres and allowances.

On this property James Martin built a mill and a home and the creek became know as Martins Creek which name it bears today as the village which has grown up there. (Mark Spears went to Martins Creek, Pennsylvania in June of 1993 and this old mill has been restored to a house. The old church on Three Church Hill is now a museum, (Hunter Martin Museum) and the cemetery is kept in good repair). In this cemetery are still stones of Martin, Miller, Thompson, and other relatives.

This mill was also used as a Fort during the Indian uprising and the Revolutionary War. Further notes on this include: James Martin had the first mill on Martins Creek, so named in honor of his family, and used as a Fort designated as a place of safety for the use of refugees from the Indians. Shaunee Indians went on the war path in 1755; and it is listed as Martins Fort... the old stone mill at Martins Creek. This family was not only prominent in the township but in the county as well. They were Presbyterians in faith and are buried in the "Old Scotch-Irish" Cemetery, Three Churches, Lower Mt. Bethel Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania. His son Joseph followed him in the running of his mill. and owned land in Wayne, Nothumberland and Northampton counties.

Northampton County was erected by virtue of an act of assembly, passed March 11, 1752. It was named by Thomas Penn, who in a letter from England dated Sept. 8th, 1751 to Governor Hamilton, says...since I wrote Dr. Graeme and Mr. Peters to lay out some grounds in the forks of the Delaware for a town, I desire it may be called "Easton" from my Lord Pomfrets house, and whenever there is a new county, it is to be called "Northampton". (Then Bucks County).

The same act authorizing the erection of Northampton County, directed Thomas Craig, Hugh Wilson, Thomas Armstrong of Craig Settlement, and James Martin of Mount Bethel, to purchase land and take assurance to them and their heirs a piece of land, situated in some convenient place in Easton, on Lehietan in the Forks of the Delaware, in trust and for the use of the inhabitants of said county, and thereon build a court house, and prison, sufficient to accommodate the public service of said county, and for the use and convenience of the inhabitants.

Three hundred pounds was raised by tax for buildings. First court was held June 18, 1752, the Justices of our Lord and King were Thomas Craig, Timothy Horsefield, Hugh Wilson, William Craig, and James Martin. James Martin was appointed one of the Justices under Propietary and Colonial government June 9, 1752 and again November 27, 1757.

Data supplied in this record of this genealogy, showing James Martin as a justice of Northampton County, Pennsylvania, gives his descendants eligibility for membership into the Daughters of American Colonist D.A.C., and possibly for the colonial Dames, since he served in the Indian War.

James Martin's mill was designated for use of the refugees from the Indians. (Still standing.. restored for a house)

(According to historians, this should give further services for membership into historical societies.)

James Martin married in 1747 in Bucks Co., PA. to Ann Miller, born 1728, died June 24, 1799; Lower Mt. Bethel Township, Northampton Co., PA. She was the daughter of Thomas and Betsy Isabel (Thompson) Miller, of Pennsylvania. Both buried in Scotch-Irish Cemetery, Mt. Bethel, PA. They had 9 children.

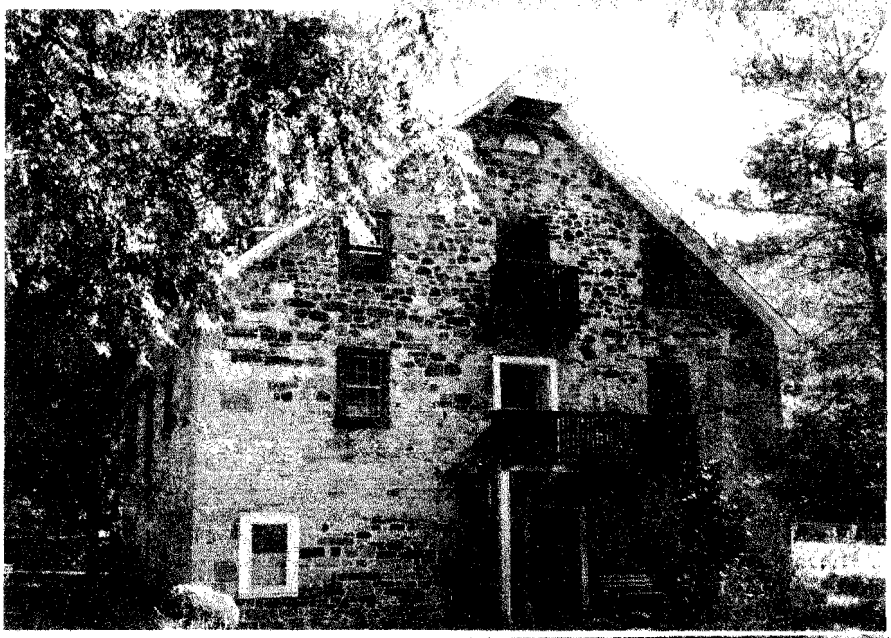
MARTINS CREEK
NORTHHAMPTON CO., PENNSYLVANIA

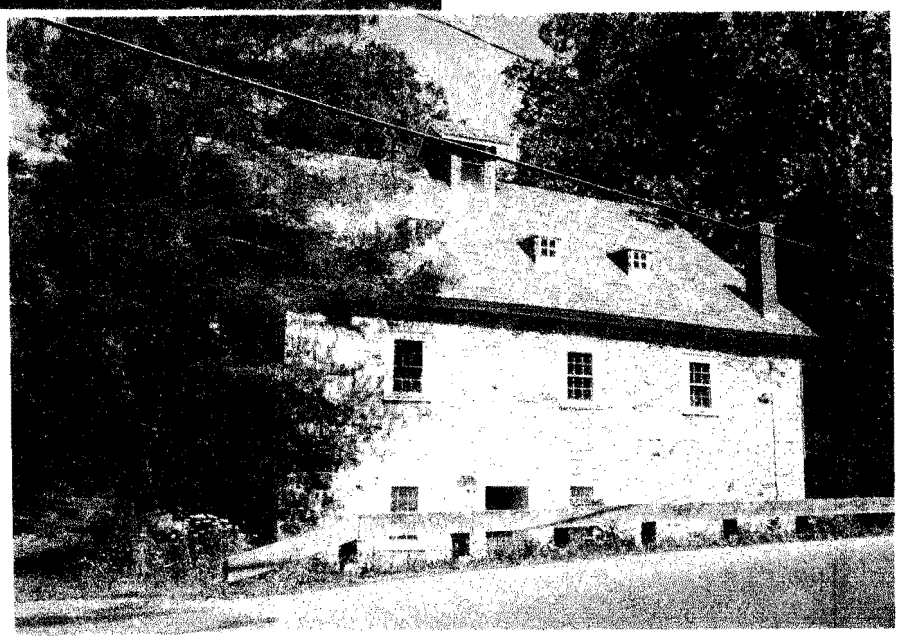
In 1993 Mark and Christy Spears and daughters, Sara and Stephanie traveled to Maine and back through Pennsylvania to see where the old folks originated. The old mill at Martins Creek was the one build by gr,gr,gr.gr grand-father James Martin when they settled here and named after the family, Martins Creek and Martin's Mill.



The Old Mill at Martins Creek has been restored and used as a house. It must be pretty good size and looks like three stories high. Mark took pictures from all sides so we could see the idea of the Mill building. The creek, Martins Creek runs under the bridge that you can see in the bottoms picture.

Looks as though they have added rock work to complete the restoration. They post a not trespassing sign near the road, but Mark chose to ignore it and made the pictures any-way.

we can see a little bit of the Martin history of our Galbraith family. Martins Creek is not far from Baston, Pennsylvania where the Galbraith's settled and the Millers had a farm close by. They took this trade into Tennessee from reports.



You can see the bridge and the drop off better from this picture. Note the old mill wheels in the bottom pictures. Some are not real clear, but you can get the idea from them. You can see them from the road and the one by the back door on the bottom picture is a nice touch. Thanks to Mark and Christy

Hunter-Martin Settlement Museum

Dear Shirley,

I was so pleased to get your phone call on Saturday. I still do not understand how you were led to me.

I am enclosing copies of everything we would have (which is very little). However, when your son comes I will be able to take him to James Martin's grave and the mill he built in the 1700's.

I will explain, briefly, the enclosed numbered items.
1. Copy of the business card given to me about eight years ago by a woman from Georgia who said she, too, was a direct decendant of James Martin. Said she had written materials about him and would send them. She never did. Perhaps you will be luckier. If you do secure anything--I beg you to send me copies for the Museum.
2. and 3. Copies of the ministers who served at the Presbyterian church.
4. Copy of the Presbytery minutes from 1929 when the church was disbanded. From Presby. Historical Society in Philadelphia.
5. From the same place, a copy of the discourse given in 1876. This contains whatever we know of the area. This is where I saw the names you mentioned. David Brainerd was a well-known Presbyterian missionary in this area and the first Presbyterian Church was a log cabin built in the corner of the cemetery where James Martin is buried (about 1738). Recently discovered how the Scotch-Irish came to this area. Thought they must have landed in New York or Philadelphia. Not so. They had landed in New Hampshire but could not stand the bitter cold winters and came here with Alexander Hunter. When Germans came later, they drove the Scotch-Irish out and thus the movement from here to other parts.

Bit of information relayed to me recently by the director of a nearby museum: "Sincerely believe that, with the exception of immigrants more recently, all the people in the U.S. originated from 50 families." Judging from the inquiries from all over the U.S. about their "roots", I'm convinced this thought bears some merit.

Route 611 North · Martins Creek, Pennsylvania 18063

Did not mean to ramble on like this. Hope you have much success in your quest and will send me copies of whatever you have so that it will be available to assist others in the future.

Hope to hear from you again.

Hastily, a

(Mrs.)

P.S. If you son needs directions or assistance, do not hestitate to call or write.

THE STORY OF EASTON

NATURAL BEAUTY, MINERAL WEALTH, AND THE PROXIMITY of three waterways—the Delaware and Lehigh Rivers and the Bushkill Creek—were the impelling factors in the minds of Easton's founders. Its site was cherished by the Minsi Indians of the Lenni-Lenape Nation, and was known to them as "The Forks." For the same reason of its fertility, this triangular strip was coveted by the early traders who had established amicable trade relations with the Indians. The trading posts of the first white settlers along the Delaware River soon gave way to farms and homesteads when the teeming abundance of the land was recognized.

In 1739, David Martin built a ferry house at the confluence of the Lehigh and Delaware Rivers. The ferry was a canoe type of conveyance, and livestock was forced to swim the river. Martin's crude log hut, the first building to be erected on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware River in the vicinity of Easton, was later enlarged to become a tavern. Here early sessions of court and numerous Indian conferences were held. At the time of Martin's coming to the "Forks" there were no highways in what is now Northampton County, though the Shawnees had a trail from the Delaware River to the Susquehanna River by way of Wind Gap.

With the infiltration of Scotch, Irish, English, French, and German pioneers, the small colony grew steadily, but not until 1752 did it acquire the name it bears today though prior to the laying out of the town it was named the county seat. In that year Thomas Penn wrote from England advising Governor Hamilton to lay out a town at the Forks of the Delaware, and to name it Easton, for the estate in Northamptonshire of Lord Pomfret (Penn's father-in-law).

The site of Easton was first surveyed in 1750 by William Parsons, surveyor general of Pennsylvania, and Nicholas ing his theory to the Spanish court. Steps lead down from each side of the monument to the paved quay running along the riverbank. A clear, unobstructed view of the Delaware is presented at this point.

Looking up the Delaware the foothills of the Blue Mountains stretch toward the river's source, and the New Jersey and Pennsylvania sides meet on the horizon at Weygadt Gap. The river edge of yellow sand and stone on the Pennsylvania side etches the winding Delaware against the background of foothills until it disappears from view behind Getter's Island. It was off this island on March 6, 1839, that the Alfred Thomas, a small steamboat of 100 tons, went down after an explosion of its boilers had killed six and injured many of the passengers and crew.

At Front and Ferry Sts. (L), is Scott's Park, a small plot dominated by a field-piece and flag pole, with benches, trees, and shrubbery that skirts the water's edge at the intersection of the Lehigh and Delaware Rivers. Near here the first ferry in Easton was owned by David Martin in 1739. After the flood of 1747, the owner built a larger ferry which continued in operation until 1807 when a wooden bridge was built across the river.

Martin, regarded as one of the best educated men in the province of Pennsylvania at that time, was one of the first four members of the American Philosophical Society, formed by Benjamin Franklin, and later served as headmaster of the Philadelphia Academy, now the University of Pennsylvania from 1750 to 1751, when he died.

(20) The SITE OF THE VERNON TAVERN, S. Front and Ferry Sts., where once stood the combined ferry house and inn, erected in 1750, was the scene of several peace meetings with the Indians. The first in 1756 lasted nine days while the second held the following summer was of shorter duration. Other Indian conferences were held in 1758 and 1762. More than 200 delegates from various Indian tribes attended these conferences presided over by the Governor and his military aides, one of whom was William Parsons, agent for the Penn's in Easton.

(21) The man-made FALLS OF THE LEHIGH seen off Front and Ferry Sts., rush into the rock delta glinting brightly in the sun.

The Delaware flows under two black, iron framework railroad bridges and disappears from view in the tree-studded distance.

(22) The WILLIAM PARSONS HOUSE (open on National holidays), NE. cor. of S. 4th and Ferry Streets, is the oldest residence still standing in Easton.

The house was built in 1757 by William Parsons, Easton's founder and later was occupied by George Taylor, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. It is kept up as a shrine by the George Taylor Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The building is constructed of rough-hewn, gray native stone. The windows and doorways are painted white. The sloping, slate roof forms a triangle over two small end windows. A rough, granite, squat chimney rises from one side of the roof. The structure is Georgian Colonial in design. The interior with its plastered walls and exposed timber joists is painted white.

(23) The NORTHAMPTON COUNTY HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY BUILDING (open 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., and 2-4 p.m. for consultation on genealogical and historical matters; museum open by appointment), SW. cor. S. 4th and Ferry Sts., is the former Mixwell House. In it are housed a number of exhibits, including a window taken from the old courthouse, the steering wheel and bell from the ill-fated Alfred Thomas, and a sword found on the line of march of General Sullivan's expedition to New York to quell the Iroquois uprising, and other relics, including por-stone, gravel, slag or other coarse material is added to the sand and water, the resulting mixture becomes concrete.

The name "portland" was given to manufactured cement by Joseph Aspidin, a bricklayer of Leeds, England, in 1824, and so named because it resembled in color a natural building stone taken from the then famous quarries of Portland, England. Not until 1890 and the introduction of the rotary kiln did the manufacture of portland cement become a commercial reality in the United States. Once relatively unimportant, the manufacture of portland cement is today regarded as one of the country's leading industries.

MARTIN'S CREEK 7.9 m., is a small hamlet set on the banks of the creek for which it is named. An emergency airport is situated here, and all transcontinental airliners before crossing the Alleghenies report here by radio to check position and weather conditions.

At 7.9 m. is the junction with State 712. L. on this.

The route passes an OLD FLOUR MILL still run by water power at 8.4 m.

BANGOR 14.4 m. (750 alt., 5,824 pop.). Huge slate piles rise in the outskirts. Bangor is noted as one of the largest slate producing towns in the country.

The borough was founded in 1773 and named for a city in Wales. In 1863, Robert M. Jones, a Welshman, traced the slate strata from the Delaware River inland, and at Bangor found conditions perfect for quarrying of the stone. A company was formed, quarries were opened, and in a short time Bangor grew from a hamlet to a good-sized borough. It was incorporated as such in 1875. A monument to Jones stands in front of the high school on Fourth Street.

The route again passes between two huge gray piles of slate, blotting out the view of the mountains beyond.

It is about 175 feet deep, and its walls show how slate lies in strata. The quarried slabs are lifted to the surface by a crane then carried on thick cables to little shacks perched upon nearby slate mounds. Piles of discarded slate lie about, some sliding down into abandoned portions of the cut. Thus the slate that has been taken from the earth and regarded as unfit for use is returned to the gaping pit whence it came—in a manner vastly different from the orderly, compact way in which nature has stored it under the soil.

Quarrying in Bangor represents an investment of $5,000,000. It is estimated that two-thirds of all the slate roofs in the United States were quarried from the deposits that lie along the southern side of the Blue Mountains in and near Bangor. Bangor slate was used for the roof of the White House and the enlarged executive quarters in Washington. While the use of slate and slate pencils by the school children of America has virtually been discontinued, hundreds of thousands of such products are still shipped yearly to South America and other parts of the world. The non-flamable quality of slate has brought about its increased use in the roofing of new structures, and its adaptability to simulation of tile and marble has brought about a renaissance in the industry.

In 1938, there were five quarries operating in Bangor, the Bangor Vein, the Columbia Bangor Slate Co., which maintained an average production of 20,000 square feet over a period of 46 years; the Bangor Jackson, the Bangor Fidelity, the West Bangor, and the North Bangor Slate Company, which is the oldest in this group.

EAST BANGOR 15.8 m. (800 alt., 600 pop.) is a quiet little borough settled in 1850 by Andrew Delp and incorporated in 1884. It was first named Delpsburg in honor of its pioneer resident. Later it became known as East Bangor because of its proximity to Bangor. Tree-lined streets, well-kept lawns and clean house fronts reflect the Welsh and English traits of the inhabitants.

Dear Rita Swope:

Every time I think of our family or Mark and Christy's trip to Pennsylvania, I remember you with great fondness. The time and effort you extended to our children was fabulous. Thanks again. They truly had a great trip and enjoyed to little extras you added to it. Their pictures turned out pretty good and we have all enjoyed them.

From the information we gathered for Mark to acquaint him with his ancestors, I put this together in the enclosed book. If you would exchange it for the pages I sent to you earlier, they might be a little more correct. We still have a big gap in the Miller family there. I can not believe that is right. I am ready to do some more research, just haven't found the time. It has been a really busy summer and fall. We dedicated this book to my husband, Bobby Jack, and his mother, Madeline, at their family reunion. It seemed to be the hit of the reunion. We have a scholarship fund there and the money from the books that were sold all went to it. We have sold about 45, so it really helped out.

I am also enclosing the information from a book about Easton that talks about a David Martin. Do you have any idea how this might relate to James Martin or do you know who James Martin's parents or other family might be? Just thought by chance their might be something there. Let me know if there is and I would be glad to send you money for copies.

Thanks again for all you have done for my family. I feel like I know you well.

Always,

Shirley

SEPTEMBER 14, 1993

DEAR SHIRLEY,

What a pleasant surprise to receive your book and letter! You surely are to be commended for all your efforts. It is so easy to read the pages and lose sight of how much work is involved.

I learned more about James Martin from you than we had available. However, I will contact several people and try to ascertain if James and David Martin were related.

You will be happy to know I took your first book to the Marx Room of the Easton Library and the curator is in the process of copying same. She also is making a copy for the Northampton County Historical Society and another for the Hunter-Martin Museum. I felt quite uneasy when I was the only one to have excess to all that information. This way it will be shared by many and the information available in the future.

Another person who is anxious to refer to the book is James Wright. He is an historian who teaches at Nazareth High School and also lectures on history. His weekly column in The Express-Times is always so informative and interesting, too.

Back to James and David Martin: In thinking about it, don't you think they were brothers? Only because the dates seem to coincide and the little history we know about them would indicate they both were very intelligent men, involved in the community.

I must correct an impression that is in your book. The first settlers were here about 1728. David Brainerd (the famous Presbyterian missionary) built a log cabin church inside the Presbyterian Cemetery. This church was cut in half, moved apart, and enlarged. From here the church was moved to the top of the hill and a brick building erected in 1803. The museum is housed in a former school house (1803).

Again, thank you for your update. It was such a pleasant surprise to hear from you. If I get any info, I will contact you.

Best regards, Rita

Historical Marker at Martin Hunter Museum
Lower Mount Bethel, Pennsylvania

Mark and Christy Spears with Sara and Stephanie visited the historical ancestor burial grounds in Martins Creek area and also places at Easton, Pennsylvania in 1993. These pictures were taken at that time. This is the cemetery at Three Church Hill.

Marker states:

Excerpts from the old diaries and journals of David Brainerd, missionary to the Indians of the Forks of the Delaware, 1744-1746, and from The Scotch-Irish of Northampton County - Preston Laury, attributed the Scotch-Irish as being the predominant first settlers of the area c. 1734. No church building existed when Brainerd on "Lord's Day, February 17, 1745 preached to the "white" people (my interpreter being absent) in the wilderness upon the sunny side of a hill."

Jane Wilson, an eye witness at age 15, pointed out the exact spot of his pulpit when she was 80 years old in 1810. Which was only a few yards from the Presbyterian loghouse of worship which stood in the North Corner of the Burial Ground and was built c. 1747. Replaced by a frame structure which was later enlarged by cutting in half, moving the sections apart & filling in the center portion. This building was hared by the German Reform and the General Evangelical Lutheran Congregation who in 1837 built their own Union Church across the road on the hill to the East, at a cost of $3,795.50. This Congregation officially disbanded in 1928. The Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Congregation was formed by a group from the Lutheran Church on the Hill and built their Church in 1884 directly West of this burial ground Hense the designation "Three Church Hill".

The earliest Marker of record is of Jean, wife of James Miller, d July 13, 1763 in her 27th year.

The latest marker record is of Julia Deats, wife of John Ketchiedge, b March 23, 1812 - d August 8, 1899.

There are 315 markers of record, as per Easton Public Library.

The Cemetery here is where the old family members of Miller and Martin are buried. This is Three Church Hill and on the preceding page, it tells a little about the history of this old place.

Mark and Christy Spears walked around the grounds where the cemetery and old church used for a museum is located near Martins Creek, not far from Easton, Pennsylvania where the Galbraith, Miller, Martin, families came into our country to settle and make their home and place in the new world. The first marker in the cemetery that is lettered, states the date at 1763, but our forefather were in this land before then.

The Hunter-Martin Settlement Museum is on the land here, a very nice lady, Rita Swope, helped Mark and Christy find thing that were of interest to them. Her son had a general store in Martins Creek and they met her there. She was very generous with her time and information and later they went to Easton to spend the night. The historical district in Easton has many interesting things and their library is a research library. Some of our things were mailed to the museum and the library to add to their collections. They were amazed that the Galbraith Book had information on that area that they had never seen before, but it fit right in with the knowledge they had. This must have been passed down by mouth through generations of Galbraiths.

Maybe you can take a trip to Lower Mount Bethel Township, Northampton Co., Pennsylvania and see Easton and Martin's Mill and Creek and visit your place in history.

MILLER FAMILY:

Our early Miller family are buried in a field in Factoryville, Pennsylvania. They were emigrants from Scotland and Ireland, and shed tears and brawn to hold their land, while fighting the Indians from their doors.

Then to deed ground, sacred ground, for their resting place from all this toil, and to have it turned into a corn field. But this is what has happened. A quote form Horatio Gasttes Shull, August 20, 1925. Pennsylvania.....

> Before their existence is forgotten through the lapse of time, it may be well to call attention to a private Scotch-Irish burial places in the Township: One found in the corner of a field on the west side of the junction of the old Easton and Stumptown roads, one-fourth mile north of Black Hill. In it were buried those who were prominent in the membership of Hunters Scotch-Irish Settlement at its founding. All stones have disappeared and field crops are grown on the graves of related people, Ketchledge, Thompson, and Miller.
> It is located in a field on what was the farm of a man known as "Honey" Young, opposite the junction of the Wind Gap and Ackermanville-Martins Creek roads, at the southern end of a small village named Factoryville. The ground covering those buried here is also cultivated. Headstones in a good state of preservation stand against four apple trees that mark the spot. Others probably may be found sunken by their own weight far beneath the surface soil. In this lonely conditions sleep our progenitors here in America.....

Thomas Miller and wife Isabel, were some of the early settlers in Pennsylvania. Thomas Miller had a mill on Schylkill in 1713, also Thomas Miller (Millwright) 200 acres on land on a branch of Manataueny Creek, March 20, 1719, located in Bucks or Berks County.

The Miller family are found in records of the Deed Office. Thomas Miller secured two land warrens dated April 8, 1747, and June 5, 1751 for a total of 260 acres in Lower Mt. Bethel Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania.

The Martin and Miller lands were three or four miles apart. James Martin married Ann Miller, daughter of Thomas and Betsy (Isabel Thompson Miller, and settled on Martins Creek, Mt. Bethel, Northampton County, and Thomas Miller settled on Quirton Creek, now Richmond Creek, about a mile from the village of Richmond.

Both are located in Lower Mt. Bethel, Northampton county, Pennsylvania. Miller's are still living (1939) in the immediate vicinity, where Thomas Miller settled.

ANTHONY AND MARGARET COPELAND MOORE

Anthony and Margaret Copeland Moore would be great, great, great, great grandparents to Bobby Jack Spears

Anthony Moore's parents were Scotch-Irish from the North of Ireland, coming to America about 1730-32 to Northampton County, Pennsylvania and settled in Hunter Settlement on Martins Creek.

Anthony Moore was born in 1732 in Northampton County, Pennsylvania. He married in the early 1760's to Margaret Copeland of Pennsylvania. Her father was probably David Copeland, but this is not certain. His name is found many times in the history of Greene County, Tennessee, then North Carolina. Anthony Moore was a ruling Elder in Mt. Bethel Presbyterian Church in Pennsylvania, which was organized in 1747 (other places state that this date was probably 1738)(SJS), and is now in Lehih Presbytery.

Anthony Moore was on his way to Kentucky to find a new home when he was enduced to locate and remain in what is now Greene County, Tennessee. The time of his settlement was near 1779, his son, David, was about ten years of age. The place know as Henderson, north of Tusculum College, now Afton, Tennessee, east of Greeneville, Tenn. He is said to be the first settler that far west in this county, and his daughter Peggy (Margaret) was the first white child born within the limits of this county. The home of Anthony Moore was one of the first places where the early pioneers assembled occasionally to hear a sermon preached by Dr. Damuel Doak, before the chunrch Mt. Bethel was organized in Greeneville. (This Mt. Bethel Presbyterian Church was named after the Mt. Bethel Church in Northampton County, Pennsylvania when they resettled in Tennessee). At the organization Anthony Moore was elected one of the constituting Elders and gave the new church the name of Mt. Bethel in memory of the church from which he came from in Pennsylvania. (This church is still in Pennsylvania (1993) and has become a museum at Three Church Hill Cemetery in Martins Creek, Pennsylvania). (In the Memorial Discourse delivered in The First Presybterian Church, Lower Mt. Bethel, Pennsylvania on October 1, 1879 the names mentioned that moved into Tennessee at this same time were James Galbraith, Anthony Moore, Daniel Copeland, Alexander Gaston, Thomas Wilson, ---Martin, Boyd and Hutton. This Anthony Moore owned and lived on the farm at the mouth of Martins Creek, Pennsylvania.) His long and useful life was closed in 1822 at the age of ninety years. His body was placed in the Mt. Bethel graveyard, where many of his descendants and friends are buried. Anthony Moore had brothers, William, Thomas, John and James Moore.

TEMPLE FAMILY

Major Temple, 3rd child of Thomas Temple and Mary Jane Jefferies, of Pennsylvania, removed to Mechlenburg, North Carolina in 1766.

Major Temple was with the North Carolina forces in the celebrated "Battle of Kings Mountain". In 1786 he came to Greene County, Tennessee, and selected a farm on Richland Creek adjoining the farm of the Rev. Hezekiah Blach, the founder of Greeneville College. On the Rev. Balch farm the college was established. Major Temple and Rev. Balch probably came together from North Carolina, as their farms were entered the same day, and each called for the line of the other. Both were Presbyterians.

The name Major Temple does not denote rank, but comes as a given name through the Temple family, who Thomas Temple I was a brother.

The Tennessee Temple's became influential in Greene county, not only because of property owned by its members, which was considerable for that day, but also because of their virtues, in fact, the Temple family has been prominent as far back as it can be traced, and its standing has been kept up. It has been said that Major Temple in 1884 had among his descendants twenty-five Presbyterian ministers, and two hundred Elders and Deacons. Major Temple was a ruling Elder in the Presbyterian Church at Greeneville, Tennessee and in 1799, he was appointed by the Legislature a Commissioner to lay out and govern the town of Greeneville. His son, John, was also appointed a Commissioner.

The musket that Major Temple carried in the Revolutionary War upon the stock of which is carved his initials M.T. and was called "Old Kings Mountain".

Mary Kennedy, wife of Major Temple is said to be a daughter of Daniel Kennedy of Pennsylvania, and a sister of Daniel Kennedy, Brigadier-General of the Franklin Militia. We have not been able to prove Mary Kennedy Temple to be a sister to Daniel Kennedy, if fact we think she was his aunt since she is said to be the aunt of Thomas Kennedy who was born in 1756 and died in 1836. He served in the Revolutionary War and moved to Garrard Co., Ky., and served in the Legislature of Virginia and Kentucky. He was a member of the Convention of Kentucky in 1791.

Goodspeed, in the History of Tennessee, states of Daniel Kennedy, that he is one of the most prominent pioneers of the state and deserves to rank with Sevier, Shelby and Cocke. (from Galbraith History Book)

Thomas Temple of Heytisburg, England, was the remote paternal ancestor of the Temples of this Genealogy. His will was proved May 15, 1594, he left ten children, all born in England. Among his grandsons were William Temple, of Coombs Lane, Parish of Atworth, or Bradford-on-Avon, who was the ancestor of the Chester County Pa., Temples; and William Temple of Tithing Wick, England, was the ancestor of the Virginia Temples.

The Wiltshire Temples have been prominent since 1600 and there is little doubt that all Temples have a common origin, as it is an old distinguished English family, dating back to the days of Wiliam the conqueror. An estate called "Temple Hall" was granted to the Temples and it is likely that he received his name from the estate.

The first Temple is said to have been a descendant of Leofrice, Earl of Merica, whose Consort was Lady Godiva of Coventry.

Our descent begins with Leofrice Earl of Merica, friend of Edward the Confessor and husband of Lady Godiva who died in 1057

The line is continued through his son Elfgar whose daughter Aldgyth married the last of the Saxon Kings, and whose son assumed the name of Temple from the Manor of Temple near Hellesborough.

The name appeared for many generations thus, de'Temple, after which the head of the family became plain John, William and Thomas.

It appears the coat-of-arms taken from the Duke of Buckingham's coat, according to the College of Heralds, gives the Temple family the right to it.

MEMBER BENEFITS

The Clan Galbraith Association publishes a quarterly newsletter, The Red Tower. Queries for missing ancestors are free to our members. Each issue contains informative articles about families in Scotland, Ireland, and North America.

Clan Galbraith gatherings are held every two years at different locations. CGANA's 1990 meeting was held in Salt Lake City, Utah, in conjuction with the Utah Scottish Highland Games. The 1992 Clan gathering was in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, home of the pioneer Galbraith of Donegal families. Members visited the Old Donegal Church, and the historic Derry Church and cemetery, where several members of this pioneer family are buried.

Our association has a diversified membership. If you have an interest in Scottish games, dance, music, or in family history and genealogy, you will find a warm welcome in our association.

Current dues are $15.00 for U.S. members.
$17.00 for Canadian members.
$20.00 for overseas members.

Our fiscal year begins June 1 and ends May 31. Each member will receive the four issues of The Red Tower for the year in which they join.

THE CLAN GALBRAITH ASSOCIATION

The Clan Galbraith Association is actively seeking members interested in family history, and Scottish customs.

Your interest in the Clan Galbraith Association is welcome. We are a worldwide family with diverse interests bound together by our Scottish heritage.

The name GALBRAITH is reportedly derived from the Gaelic words "Clan-a-Bhreatannich" or "children of the foreigner Briton." Our quarterly publication's name, The Red Tower, was taken from ancient Gaelic verse, which was translated to the following:

Galbraith of the Red Tower
thy pedigree.

The Red Tower is recognized as referring to Dumbarton Castle, former seat of the Royal House of Strathclyde.

The first known stronghold of the Galbraith chiefs was on Inchgalbraith (Galbraith's Island) in Loch Lomond until the chiefship passed to Baldernock in 1238. In 1296, the chiefship passed to Sir Arthur Galbraith of Gartconnel, the 6th Chief, and then to James Galbraith, 3rd of Culcreuch, and the 9th Chief, sometime around 1425. The Chiefship remained at Culcreuch until 1620, when Robert, 11th of Culcreuch, and the 17th Chief, forfeited the estates, and reportedly emigrated to Northern Ireland. The Chief line is to date untraceable, and there is presently no claimant to the title. CGANA's Constitution provides for Honorary Lifetime membership to be conveyed automatically to any individual who shall be duly and officially recognized as Chief of the Galbraiths.

The Origin of Our Association

The International Clan Galbraith Association was founded in 1977. Its primary goal was to interest Galbraiths throughout the world in preserving the last vestige of former Clan holdings in Scotland, (Culcreuch Castle and Galbraith Woods) located in Fintry, Stirlingshire, Scotland.

The Clan Galbraith Association of North America (CGANA) was formed in January 1980, at the request of the Council of Scottish Clans Association. In May 1981 the association held its first formal business meeting at Culcreuch Castle, at which time the constitution was adopted, and our first officers were officially elected.

CGANA GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Our goals are to rekindle the Galbraith Clan spirit and closeness among our members; to assist and encourage genealogical research pertaining to the Galbraith and related spellings; and to collect, collate, and store our family history and genealogical data so that it is readily available to our families and descendants.

The purpose of the Clan Galbraith Association shall be to preserve and promote the customs, traditions and heritage of the Scottish people, and to educate the public concerning our family history, literature, religion, architecture, music, poetry, and arts.

WHO MAY JOIN?

Membership in the Clan Galbraith Association is available to any person related by blood or marriage to the Galbraith Clan. This shall include the surnames Calbreath, Colbreath, Culbreath, Galbreath, Gilbreath, Gilreath, Kilbreath, and Kulbeth, or any of the other various spellings, or who can establish a reasonable presumption of descent from an ancestor meeting the name requirement.

CGANA is non-sectarian, non-political, and a non-profit association.

"THE BLACK OATH"

The Galbraiths refused to take this oath, and were banished from Scotland.

There was an oath framed to be impassed on the country as a test of their loyalty (as it was called) wherein they were to abhor the work in Scotland, or any such thing, and obey the Kings Royal command.

The oath called by the people, "The Black Oath".

I do faithfully swear, profess, and promis, that I will honour and obey my Sovereign Lord King Charles II, and will bear faith and true Allegiance unto him, and defend and maintain his Royal power and authority; that I will not bear arms or do any rebellious or hostile act against him, or protest against any of his Royal commands, but submit myself in all due obedience thereunto; and that I will not enter into any covenant, oath, or band of mutual defence and assistance against all sorts of persons what-so-ever, or into any covenant, oath, or band of mutual defence and assistance against any person what-so-ever by force, without his Majestys Sovereign and Royal authority. And I do renounce and abjure all convenants, oaths, and bands what so every, contrary to what I have herein sworn, professed and promised. "So help me God Jesus".

Coat of Arms

Historiography

The Galbraith Coat of Arms illustrated left was drawn by an heraldic artist from information officially recorded in ancient heraldic archives. Documentation for the Galbraith Coat of Arms design can be found in Burke's General Armory. Heraldic artists of old developed their own unique language to describe an individual Coat of Arms. In their language, the Arms (shield) is as follows:

"Per pale az. and gu. a trefoil slipped ar. betw. three bears' heads erased or, muzzled sa."

Above the shield and helmet is the Crest which is described as:

"A bear's head erased or, muzzled sa. in the mouth a trefoil slipped, as in the arms."

When translated the blazon also describes the original colors of the Galbraith Arms and Crest as it appeared centuries ago.

Family mottos are believed to have originated as battle cries in medieval times. A Motto was not recorded with this Galbraith Coat of Arms.

Individual surnames originated for the purpose of more specific identification. The four primary sources for second names were: occupation, location, father's name, or personal characteristics. The surname Gilbraith appears to be both characteristic and locational in origin, and is believed to be associated with the Scott's, meaning, "a stranger or foreigner, especially one who came from Britain." The supplementary sheet included with this report is designed to give you more information to further your understanding of the origin of names. Different spellings of the same original surname are a common occurrence. Dictionaries of surnames indicate probable spelling variations of Galbraith to be Galbreath, Galbreth, Gall, Gale, Gail, Galle, Gailbraith, Galebraith, Gallebraith, Galbrayth, Galbraythe, and Galbraiths. Although bearers of the old and distinguished Galbraith name comprise a small fraction of the population there are a number who have established for it a significant place in history. They include: EDWIN CARTER GALBRAITH (Galbreath) (b. 1913) American paleontologist who did extensive research and made many publications on the morphology of vertebrates and the stratigraphy of North American cenozoic deposits. THOMAS GALBRAITH (Gale) (1507-1587) English surgeon who served in the Army of Henry VIII in France in the year 1544, and in the Army of Philip the Second in 1557. He later practiced in London and wrote several professional treatises, most of them being written from 1563 to 1586. GEORGE WASHINGTON GALBRAITH (Gale) (1787-1861) Presbyterian Clergyman and educator who founded the Oneida Institute in Whitesboro, New York in 1827, and in 1837, Knox College in Galesburg, Illinois. Both schools were, at first, operated on the principle of instruction for students in return for manual labor. HENRY GORDON GALBRAITH (Gale) (1873-1942) American physicist and educator who, for many years, was Professor and Dean of the Ogden Graduate School of Science. He is known for his collaboration with A.A. Michelson in measuring the velocity of light, testing the rigidity of the earth, and extending Einstein's "Ether Drift Theory."

ORIGIN AND MOVEMENTS

OF THE SCOTCH - IRISH

In tracing the ancestry of those who bear the name Galbreth, Gilbreath, Gilbreth, Gilreath, Coadbreath and Colbraith, I think you will find the progenitor of each of these different lines descended from the spelling Galbreath or Galbraith.

In, "Engle's Pennsylvania Genealogies", we find, "The family of Galbraith is of the remotest antiquity, - the name being derived from the Celtic. The Galbraiths in the Celtic language are called Breatannieh, that is Britons, or the children of the Briton."

We find in, "The Scotch-Irish", by Hanna, vol 2, pp 422, "following is a list of some of the families of Scotland, with the names of the district and periods in which they appear first to have become established, to have attained distinction, or to have found place in existing records. Galbraith, Dumbartonshire and Sterlingshire before 1250". In the same volume, page 213, "When the Scotch baronage swore fealty to Edward I, at Berwick, in 1291, their names were written down in French by Edward's Norman scribes, Donal Galbrath de Kilbride, Dumbartonshire. Arthur de Galbrath, Wigtonshire.

Crawford's Peerage, pp 159, William Galbraith is noted as, "a person of good account", in the time of David II, about the middle of the 14th century. Hugh de Galbrath was provost of Aberdeen in 1342 and the same name appears in Forfarshire in 1506.

List of Highland Clans, as mentioned in two acts of Parliament, 1587 and 1594, taken from the, "Historical Geography of the Clans of Scotland", by T.B., Johnston and Col. James A. Robertson, we find number 41 to be, "Galbraith-sterling and Dumbarton".

James I began peopling Ulster with colonists from Scotland and the north of England in 1611. The plan was to put into Ireland a Protestant population that might ultimately out number the Catholics and become the controlling element in the country. The settlers were picked men and women of the most excellent sort and by the middle of the 17th century there were 300,000 of them in Ulster.

In the, "Adair Manuscript", about 1644, we find mention of one Mr. Humphrey Galbraith being about Derry. From, "The Scotch-Irish", by Hanna, vol 1, pp 533, "Humphrey and Robert Galbraith in Country Donegal, precinct of Portlough, in 1662". From, "Irish Pedigrees", by O'Hart, pp 287, "James Galbraith, Esq of Magevolin, M.P. for the borrough of Johnstown, County Donegal, from 1671 to 1692". From,

"Scotch-Irish pioneers", by Bolton, pp 351, "Capt. Robert Galbreath, 1706, 9 Killeshandra, Caban". "The Scotch- Irish", by Hanna, vol 1, pp 613, we find among many others, "Signers of Humble Address..", to William and Mary, in 1689, from the town of Ennishillon, Hugh and John Galbraith".

In volume 2, pp 301, "Old Virginia and her Neighbors" by John Fiske, "When these people began coming to America those families that had been longest in Ireland had dwelt there but three generations and confusion of mind seems to lurk in any nomenclature which couples them with the true Irish. The antipathy between the Scotch-Irish, as a group, and the true Irish, as a group, is perhaps unsurpassed for bitterness and intensity.

"On the other hand, since love laughs at feuds and schisms, intermarriages between the colonists of Ulster and the native Irish were by no means unusual. It was common in Ulster to allude to the Presbyterians as, "Scotch", to the Roman Catholics as, "Irish", and to the members of the English church as, "Protestants", without much reference to pedigree. From this point of view the term, "Scotch-Irish", may be defensible provided we do not let it conceal the fact that the people to whom it applied are for the most part Lowland Scotch Presbyterians, very slightly hibernicized in blood.

"The flourishing manufactures of Ulster aroused the jealousy of rival manufactures in England, who in 1698, succeeded in obtaining legislation which seriously damaged the Irish linen and woolen industries and threw many workman out of employment. About the same time it became apparent that an epidemic fever of persecution had Counter-Reformation, with the fierce war against Louis XIV, had stimulated intolerance in all directions. In 1704, the Presbyterians were forbidden to keep school, marriages performed by their clergy was declared invalid, they were not allowed to hold any office higher than petty constable, and so on through a long list of silly and outrageous enactments.

"For a few years this tyranny was endured in hope that it was but temporary. By 1719 this hope had worn away, and from that year, until passage of the Toleration Act for Ireland in 1782, the people of Ulster kept flocking to America....I think it probable that at least half a million souls were transfered from Ulster to the American colonies, making not less than one sixth part of our population at the time of the Revolutionary War."

Mr. Samuel Evans, on page 212, "1896 Congress Scotch-Irish", tells us that, "In 1718, 1719 and 1720 a large number of Scotch-Irish from Donegal and Derry, in Ireland, arrived at New Castle, Delaware. They were Presbyterians and evidently had been well educated. They were a stalwart race fitted to found a new settlement in the wilderness of Pennsylvania.....The following is the list of settlers prior to 1722, James Galbraith; Sr., and his sons James, Andrew and John;...". In the early marriage records of Pennsylvania, we find the names spelled Galbraith and Galbreath.

While there were settlements of Scotch-Irish at Williamsburg, North Carolina, in 1732, and at Altamaha, Georgia, in 1735, and at other points along the sea coast of the Carolinas and Georgia in the years that followed, the largest part of the Scotch-Irish coming to America landed in the state of Pennsylvania. Some moved west from Pennsylvania, but many moved south into Virginia and North Carolina. The reason for this move to the south is found in, "The Frontier In American History", by Frederick Turner, pp 99, "In short, a broad limestone band of fertile soil was stretched within mountain walls, southerly from Pennsylvania to the Carolina Piedmont. This whole area, a kind of peninsula thrust down from Pennsylvania, was rendered comparatively inaccessible to the west movement from the lowlands and equally accessible to the population which was entering Pennsylvania. This it happens that from 1730 to 1760 a generation of settlers poured along this mountain trough into the southern uplands."
On page 49 of, "Dutch and Quakers", by Yale Press, "The principal stronghold of the Scotch-Irish, was the cumberland Valley in southern Pennsylvania, a region now containing the towns of Chambersburg, settlers are still numerous.... . As for the Indians, they held that the Old Testament commands the destruction of all heathen, as for paying the savages for their land, it seemed ridiculous to waste money on an object when they could exterminate the natives at less cost. The Ulstermen, therefore, settled on the Indian land as they pleased, or for that matter on any land, and were continually getting into difficulty with the Pennsylvania Government, no less the Indians. ....After 1755 the Quaker method of dealing with the Indians no longer prevailed, the Scotch-Irish lived on the frontier in a continual state of savage warfare which lasted for the next 40 years. The Scotch-Irish were very clannish."

Virginia County Court Records, for Augusta and Rockbridge counties, during the period from 1749 to 1800, spell the name in many ways;- Galbraith, Galbreath, Gilbreath, Galbrath and Coldbreath. During this same period we find many of the Scotch that settled in the lowlands of Georgia and South Carolina, working up the rivers to North Carolina.
During the same period the settlers of the Carolina Piedmont were having trouble with the English governor of North Carolina. On page 118, of Frederick Turner's, "The Frontier in American History", we find, "In short, the interior (people of North Carolina) felt that they were being exploited, and that they had no redress, for the legislature was so apportioned that all power rested in the lowland regions. It must, of course, be understood that the movement was not free from frontier dislike of taxation and the restraints of law and order in general. In 1766 and 1768, meetings were held in the upper counties to organize the opposition and an "association" was formed, the members of which pledged themselves to pay no more taxes until they satisfied themselves that these were agreeable to law."
The trouble grew until May 1772, when the battle of Alamace was fought between the Regulators and the lowland militia of Governor Tryon. There were many killed and wounded and the Regulators were dispersed. It was during this period of trouble that hundreds of North Carolina backwoodsmen crossed the mountains to Kentucky and Tennessee.

The early settlers of Kentucky made their way thither either by the Ohio River, or, the far larger number, by the way of the Cumberland Gap and the Wilderness Road. This route began at Inglis's Ferry, on the New River, in what is now West Virginia, and proceeded west by south to the Cumberland Gap. The Wilderness Road was marked by Daniel Boon in 1775, was a mere trail, running from Watauga settlement in East Tennessee to the Cumberland Gap and thence by way of what is now Crab Orchard, Danville, Bardstown and Louisville.

Early Kentucky land grants show the name spelled Galbraith, Galbreath, Gilbreath, Gilreath and Coldbreath. In moving on to look for free land, some of these people crossed the Ohio River into Ohio and Indiana, others moved south into central and western Tennessee.

During the next thirty years, the people that settled in Tennessee saw many of their children moving on to Missouri and Arkansas. After a few years in these states, many of them, or their children, moved on west to Texas between 1850 and 1860, - a few also crossed the plains to Oregon and Washington at this time.

GALBRAITH - SCOTLAND
TIME TABLE
Complied by Shirley Martin Spears

Record of Men of the North was preserved in Whales. Maybe the British society had not been entirely destroyed in Scotland, especially in Strathclyde which lay furthest from Northumbrian England. Dumbarton was the capitol at one time and the Gaelic calls the Fortress of the Britons. At Loch Lomond lies the island of the British Foreigner. Somewhat of a time table follows taken from a passage copied from a book on Galbraith, unknown book and person that copied information:

1124 -Strathclyde with the Kingdom of Scotland
- list Galbraith chief suggest he was the social equal of the Gaelic royal house of Lennox.

- 1st Chief - Gilchrist Bretnach married daughter of Alwyn Og son of Mutrealhach, 1st Earl of Lennox in the new order.

- 2nd Chief - ----

- 3rd Chief - Gillespie, their son who bore the suggestive name of Arthur. the family stronghold stood on upper Inchgalbraith.
- Sir William, Arthor's son, was co-regents of Scotland-died shortly before the Scottish wars of independence.
- Son, Sir Arthur, supported Robert Bruce and outlived the Victory of Bannockburn after this time their fortunes varied with those of the house of Lennox.
- 9th Chief - James was the first of Culrcreuch in Strathendrick.
- James I returned from his 18th year in captivity in England and decimated his Stewart relatives. Among these were:

1425 - The Lennox Kingsman. James of Gilcreuch is said to have helped them to sack Dumbarton and to have fled west to Kentyre and Gigha with 600 Galbraiths and their families to escape the Kings wrath

1488 - James III murdered- reason for escape
- 12th Chief - Thomas took up with Lennox against regicides.

1489 - After the defeat of Talla Moss Thomas was hanged.
- 14th Chief - brother Andrew - Andrew escaped from the field in 1489 and received status in the general remission which followed.
- 15th Chief - Andrew joined Lennox to attempt a rescue and Young King James V from Douglases. Lennox was killed, but the King remained grateful.
- 16th Chief - James - The last office in long association between the Lower Galbraith and Lennox. He administered on behalf of Esme', its absentee first Duke.
- 17th Chief - Robert was a rogue who brought nemesis upon his house

1592 - Robert given a commission to pursue the Clan Gregor but misused his powers to prosecute Chief of MacAulay who had married his widowed mother against his wishes. He was denounced as a rebel.

1642 - Came to Ireland sometime before this time. His heir inherited nothing.
- and his grandson, James...
- 19th Chief - James, grandson mentioned above is the last traceable member of line.

James, father of John, first of our Galbraith line arrived in Pennsylvania in early 13-8 1700's when he is mentioned about 1713. He would had to be 21 to obtain land so we can project his birth date at least 1690's. It is our belief that our John is the son of this James and then his son was Alexander. No proof ties all this together. Maybe someday.

GALBRAITH OF DONEGAL.

I. The family of Galbraith is of the remotest antiquity—the name being derived from the Celtic. It was in the parish of Baldunoch, county Stirling, that the Galbraiths of Baldunoch, chiefs of the name, had their residence. In Frazer's statistical account of the inhabitants of the Isle of Gigha, the following occurs: "The majority of them are of the names of Galbraith and McNeill, the former reckoned the more ancient. The Galbraiths in the Gaelic language are called Breatannieh, that is Britons, or the children of the Briton, and were once reckoned a great name in Scotland according to the following lines translated from the Gaelic:

"Galbraiths from the Red Tower, Noblest of Scottish surnames."

The first of the name of whom we have any mention is JOHN GALBRAITH,[1] who was the father of the following. He probably died before the emigration of his sons from Ireland to America:

2. i. James, b. 1666; m. Rebecca Chambers.
ii. John, m. and left issue, but further than this fact we have no knowledge. After his arrival in America he remained several years in Philadelphia. Some of his children settled west of the Susquehanna, in now York or Adams county, and their descendants emigrated to Kentucky.

II. JAMES GALBRAITH,[2] son of John Galbraith,[1] of Scotch parentage, was born, in 1666, in the north of Ireland, from whence he emigrated about the year 1718, settling in Conestoga, afterwards Donegal township, then Chester county, Province of Penna. He was one of the founders of old Derry church, a man of prominence, and the head of a remarkable family. He died August 23, 1744, and is buried in the old graveyard at Derry. His wife was REBECCA CHAMBERS, daughter of Arthur Chambers. Of his children, we have the following:

* may be father of Alexander Galbraith restored also. The 22nd Mac Simi still lives in Beaufort Castle. The ruins of Beauly Priory nearby, in which the earliest memorials of his forebears lie, are well tended. His record as a Commando leader in the Second World War continued the distinguished military traditions of his house; while the record of his younger brother, the late Hon. Hugh Fraser, as a cabinet minister with an outstanding reputation for integrity, has provided a refreshing contrast to that of the wily Mac Simi who was the last nobleman to lose his head on Tower Hill.

The heir to the chiefship of Clan Fraser itself was one of the most admired of his generation. Freddie Fraser, Master of Saltoun, possessed a natural goodness and modesty combined with high intelligence which found their expression in his skill as a musician, and his charm as a companion. He was killed in action in the Second World War and his sister Flora is the 20th Lady Saltoun.

Galbraith

After the British (Welsh-speaking) kingdoms of southern Scotland had been extinguished in the Dark Ages, some record of the Men of the North was preserved in Wales. It may be assumed that British society was not entirely destroyed in Scotland, particularly in Strathclyde which lay furthest from the Northumbrian English. Its capital had been Dumbarton, the precipitous rock called in Gaelic the Fortress of the Britons. In nearby Loch Lomond lies the island called Inchgalbraith, Gaelic for the Island of the British Foreigner. Strathclyde was united with the kingdom of Scotland in 1124, and it is at the end of the century that the first Galbraith Chief appears, in circumstances that suggest he was the social equal of the Gaelic royal house of the Lennox. His name was Gilchrist Bretnach and he married a daughter of Alwyn Òg, son of Muireadhach, 1st Earl of Lennox in the new order. Their son Gillespic was father of a 3rd Chief of Galbraith who bore the suggestive name of Arthur. The family stronghold stood upon Inchgalbraith. Arthur's son, Sir William, moved into the centre of the national stage when he became one of the co-regents of Scotland.

Sir William died shortly before the outbreak of the Scottish wars of independence, but his son Sir Arthur supported Robert Bruce and outlived the victory of Bannockburn. Thereafter the fortunes of the Galbraiths varied with those of the house of Lennox. James the 9th Chief was the first of Culcreuch in Strathendrick, a cadet branch until then. It was in his time that James I returned from his 18 year captivity in England and decimated his own Stewart relatives. Chief among these were the ducal family of Albany and their Lennox kinsmen. James of Gilcreuch is said to have helped them to sack Dumbarton in 1425, and to have fled west to Kintyre and Gigha with 600 Galbraiths and their families to escape the King's wrath. After James III had been murdered in 1488, Thomas the 12th Chief took up arms with Lennox against the regicides. THE FORKS OF THE DELAWARE.

WHAT is now known as "The City of Easton" was originally called "The Forks of the Delaware." By this name it was designated by the Indians themselves, long before the appearance of the white man at this most beautiful and romantic spot, and though the white man gave it a new name, the Indian to the latest generation clung tenaciously to the title given by his fathers to the place where the Lehigh River empties its waters into the greater Delaware. To the Colonial and Continental authorities seeking a council with the original proprietors of the soil, Teedyuscung, the Great King of the Delawares, said—"I will treat with you nowhere else than at the Forks of the Delaware."

If we are curious to know how this original name of the place was exchanged for that which the city now bears, we are told that when the first settlers established themselves here, about the year 1739, the territory of Northampton County was a part of Bucks, and that when the new county was surveyed and the town established by the authority of Thomas Penn, it was directed by him that the County should be called Northampton and the town Easton. The town was thus named in honor of the house of Lord Pomfret in England, Thomas Penn having married the daughter of Lord Pomfret.

Who was the first adventurous white man to set foot on this most beautiful and romantic spot, or who first drew up his canoe on the pebble-covered tongue of land that originally extended far out between the Delaware and Lehigh rivers at their intersection, no one can tell; but as one stands on what remains of "The Point," as it was once called, and looks about him at the high hills and bold bluffs, on all sides shutting him in, he may imagine the wild and romantic scene that must have presented itself to the eye of the first white discoverer of "The Forks of the Delaware." High hills on all sides round frowned down, covered with dark and primeval forests; no house or human habitation was anywhere to be seen; no sign of civilized man anywhere appeared. Here the dusky children of the forest were the only inhabitants—and comparatively few they were in numbers who dwelt permanently in this wild and rugged region; for "The Forks of the Delaware" was rather a mere meeting place for the Indians than aught else — a place in which "to light the council fire" rather than a place of permanent dwelling. Better lands for the building of towns and the cultivation of the soil could be found elsewhere than amongst these high hills. The more powerful Iroquois had their habitation in the Genesee valley in western New York; the Lenni-Lenape dwelt eastward along the Delaware, the Delawares northward in the Minnisink region — but nowhere could a council fire be so well lighted as where the two great rivers joined their waters with the mighty hills as witnesses of their union. And to these council fires, long before the advent of the white man, the Indians came down the Lehigh from the west in their light birch-bark canoes, or down the Delaware from the north, holding here their conferences of peace or war, trade or barter, at the well-known and far-famed "Forks of the Delaware."

For centuries they had held undisputed possession of this charming spot, when the first white man, crossing the sands of New Jersey or descending the hills of the Lehigh, penetrated to this favorite Indian rendezvous. What his name or what his experience we know not, but we are told that one David Martin in 1739 built the first house at "The Point," as the intersection of the two rivers was then called —a log cabin, rude enough no doubt, but comfortable, and long celebrated as the scene of very important transactions between civilized and savage man. Here David Martin established his ferry, carrying the adventurous trader or the occasional traveller across either the Lehigh or the Delaware in his rowboat, for a reasonable consideration. The inquiry may naturally arise concerning the necessity for a ferry at a time when the white population was so sparse. Its existence at a date so early may perhaps be explained by the fact that when the town of Easton was duly laid out in 1750 by William Parsons a considerable population had already gathered on the New Jersey side of the river opposite, Thomas Penn in 1752 expressing some fear that what is now Phillipsburg might prove a dangerous rival to Easton, and suggesting that it might be prudent to secure all the land possible on the Jersey side of the river. At all events, Martin's ferry seems to have proved a profitable investment both to its original founder and his successors.

For it did not always remain a mere Ferry House, but was at an early date enlarged into a hotel, kept at first by one Nathaniel Vernon, and in his day it became the celebrated scene of many important Indian treaties, all of which were held here until the erection of the church on Third Street, which afforded larger and better accommodations. These treaties were attended by certain very celebrated persons on the white man's side—by the Governor of New Jersey and his staff, by the Governor of Pennsylvania and his staff, by William Parsons and Conrad Weiser and other eminent people; and on the part of the Indians, powerful chieftains representing at times as many as eighteen or nineteen distinct tribes here assembled—amongst whom the representatives of the powerful Six Nations held first place, though Teedyuscung, King of the Delawares, in his cocked-hat covered with lace, and arrayed in his broadcloth coat cut in the height of the French fashion, must always have been a commanding figure. These conferences often lasted for two or three weeks at a time, and upon them the destiny of empires depended. What grand speaking must have been done on that historic point of land by these dusky warriors, and what scenes of revelry were there witnessed when the Council broke up in peace, and "the lock and chain were taken off the cask of rum," to the terror of the white inhabitants and the wild joy of the savage lovers of the white man's fire water, who believed, as an experienced chief once declared, that "In every barrel of rum there were a thousand songs and fifty fights."

The great historic interest which clusters about this spot should, we think, induce the wealthy citizens of Easton to purchase "The Point" and transform it into a neat and well kept public park, in which there should be a suitable monument commemorating the great events which there occurred in Colonial times. A granite statue of an Indian, in full warrior costume, holding the pipe of peace in his hand; or a suitable memorial to William Parsons, the father of Easton; or both combined, might well mark and beautify the point of land, visible from all our railroads, which originally gave the name to "The Forks of the Delaware."

THE FIRST GERMAN SETTLERS.

IT is evident that from a very early period in the history of the settlement at "The Forks of the Delaware," German immigrants bore a very important, if not a very conspicuous part. Certainly they constituted, at a very early date, the major portion of the population. It is true indeed that they do not figure very largely or prominently in the early annals and records of events, but in the early history of Easton, as in that of many other sections of Pennsylvania, this is to be accounted for largely by the circumstance that the Germans, though often constituting the bulk of the population, were not acquainted with the English language. The English language necessarily had the preference in a colony of England; it was the only language employed in the courts of justice, in the Councils of the Province, and in all correspondence with the mother country. Such being the case, our German ancestors were of necessity excluded from office-bearing in the affairs of state to a large extent, and in all public transactions in the early period of the colony have therefore left a trace of themselves entirely disproportionate to either their numbers or their importance in the true life and development of the State. They were perforce constrained to leave to others the pleasing task of writing the history which they were helping so largely to make. Besides this, it is to be remembered that the German is constitutionally modest and retiring. He does not possess the disposition of some other nationalities to push and elbow his way to the front, preferring rather to sit quietly and bide his time. So true are these facts that it has been well said ern and western borders of the county, where they remained for several generations."[15] The Scotch-Irish settlements dating from about 1720, were the first to be made within the present limits of Lebanon County. They were also the pioneers in Hanover Township in this county, it being the part of Dauphin County that was cut off to form Lebanon County.[16]

From 1720 to 1730 the Scotch-Irish were moving northward from Donegal Township in Lancaster County to present Dauphin County, settling principally on the Swatara and its affluents, with "scattered settlements along the foot of the first range of mountains." The Presbyterian churches of Derry, Paxtang, and Hanover, the first two of which were organized in 1729 and the last in 1736, are historic memorials of the early Scotch-Irish settlements in this county. As the first permanent settlers in Dauphin County, the Scotch-Irish occupied the original townships of Derry, Paxton, and Hanover in considerable numbers as early as 1726.[17] By 1753 they had reached their maximum number in this county, their relative strength declining thereafter by reason of the emigration of themselves and their descendants to the South and West in large numbers.[18]

While the general movement of the Scotch-Irish in Pennsylvania was westward toward the Susquehanna and beyond, there was a notable exception to this in the early settlement effected by them in upper Bucks County (now Northampton County) in 1728. The pioneer settlers in present Northampton County comprised a group of Scotch-Irish, who, beginning in 1728, made a settlement at the Forks of the Delaware (Easton) in East Allen Township. Since William and Thomas Craig were prominent among these pioneers, the settlement was long known as the "Craig Settlement" or the "Irish Settlement," which by 1731 was sufficiently numerous to organize a Presbyterian church and to be known as the "Craig Settlement." The lands thus occupied were not legally open to settlers, and it was not until 1735, when Chief-Justice Allen acquired a large estate of five thousand acres in this district from Thomas Penn, that the Scotch-Irish settlers there received from him the titles to their lands. Judge Allen was friendly to the settlers, and his ownership of a large estate in the vicinity appears to have given to the settlement a stability which proved an additional incentive to the Scotch-Irish to continue to come to this region. As its numbers increased it came gradually to be known as the "Irish Settlement." By 1737 a church had been organized and the settlement, now well established, was flourishing. Ely is of the opinion that this colony was probably "an offshoot from the settlement at Neshaminy."[19]

Somewhat later than the founding of the Craig Settlement was the location of another group of Scotch-Irish in Lower and Upper Mount Bethel Townships in Northampton County, which was called "Hunter's Settlement" after Alexander Hunter, a leader among them. This settlement extended northward from Martin's Creek through Lower and Upper Mount Bethel Townships, beginning about 1730. In 1738 it was large enough to organize Mount Bethel Presbyterian Church, and was developing rapidly. In 1752 there were six hundred Scotch-Irish in Northampton County.[20]

A characteristic Scotch-Irish settlement was effected in present Bucks County, beginning about 1720 and still receiving additions in 1740. Between 1730 and 1740 the settlers purchased considerable land in the lower part of Warrington and Warwick Townships. Other Scotch-Irish settlements were made in Tinicum and Bedminster Townships and in Deep Run, Plumstead, and New Britain Townships, but by far the most important settlement made by the Scotch-Irish in Bucks County "was the one made at the

THE READING OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE IN EASTON, PENNSYLVANIA

The mural depicts a famous event in the history of Northampton County, Pennsylvania. On July 8th, 1776, four days after the Declaration of Independence was adopted, it was read to the people of the county from the steps of the old county courthouse which stood in Centre Square, Easton. A large crowd had gathered. The colonel and field officers of the 1st Battalion were among the select group gathered about the entrance to the building. Just before the reading started, a company of Light Infantry marched down Northampton Street to the beating of drums and the playing of fifes. The Ensign of the company carried a flag, the forerunner of our national emblem. A Philadelphia paper, published on July 11th of that year, in describing the ceremonies in connection with the reading of the Declaration at Easton, mentions the flag in the following words: - "the standard, the device for which is the thirteen united colonies, - was ordered displayed." This early flag with its stars and stripes may be seen at the Easton Area Public Library.

As the company of infantry was drawn up in front of the courthouse and the new flag held at attention, Robert Levers, a member of the Committee of Observation and Inspection formed in the county as a result of a resolution passed by the Association of the Continental Congress, read the imperishable document to a large, attentive and serious audience. At the close of the reading the bell in the cupola pealed forth the glad tidings of the birth of the Nation and the spectators "gave their hearty consent with three loud huzzas and cried out "May God long preserve and unite the Free and Independent States of America." Northampton County's liberty bell which pealed from the cupola of the old courthouse in July, 1776, is now on display in the Government Center....Excerpts taken from the book, A Frontier Village, by A.D. Chidsey, Jr., published by the Northampton County Historical and Genealogical Society, Easton, Pennsylvania, 1940; revised edition 1966.

The painter of the mural is Robert C. Burns, a well-known artist who includes among his works in Easton portraits of Henry F. Marx, at the Easton Area Public Library, and judges of Northampton County which hang in the main Court Room of this courthouse.

The mural was authorized by the Northampton County Commissioners, Martin J. Bechtel, Chairman, Arthur S. Riland and Henry E. Ragot, and has been displayed since February, 1961. In 1977, during the renovations to the courthouse and the construction of the new administration building, the mural was painstakingly removed from its location on a wall in the courthouse and temporarily stored. At the completion of the administration building it was rehung in its present location. This move required great skill and was accomplished by local artist Robert Doney.

GALBRAITH 100 YEAR CELEBRATION is coming to a close. Maybe not finished, nor would it ever be, but closed none the less. Pages were lovingly written, copied, compiled, and otherwise "wallered around" for your enjoyment. We all hope that you enjoy your book and will share with others your heritage. Special thanks need to go to Jeannie Williams, Pauline Abraham, Bobby Jack Spears, Mark Spears, Christy Spears and two little girls that have waited patiently while their Mom copied page after page. A special thanks also to the ones who dug up information and pictures to see these transformed into book form. A big thanks to two special family members, Madeline and Jo for their contribution to our book. What a shame that we did not do this while the others were still living. Read and enjoy and maybe years from now, another brave soul will update our book.

If you have corrections or additions to keep our master copy updated, call or write:

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS:

The GALBRAITH 100 YEAR CELEBRATION book is not copyrighted, it has been produced for your enjoyment and knowledge and may be copied freely. Many items have been compiled into one book and hopefully it is with the blessings of those who furnished information. I have ask in many instances and have been assured that it was all right to copy from different materials. Some materials have been collected over the years and sent to me from other people, in this material, I would not know who to acknowledge.

We have received materials from various libraries, and the McClung Historical Collection in Knox, Co., Tennessee, Morman Genealogy group, Elmer Galbraith book, Zelphia and Paul Galbraith's "Clan Galbraith" book, Hunter-Martin Museum in Pennsylvania, the Easton Pennsylvania Library, and many many more sources. We did not intend to infringe on anyone's material, but wanted it to go out to others interested in genealogy. In return, I would like to welcome you to use any of my personal research in the same manner. Already it is coming a genealogical wonderland with the 'Net' on computers and that will only increase the readily available articles and research extended to all of us. The Clan Galbraith of North American is interested in all families of like or similar spelling(s) and this may be of interest to you. See one of the articles for more information or call me and I will pass that along.

May you increase your interest in our family and do research on your own. Please share with the rest of us, we'll be most grateful. Sincerely, SJS

GALBRAITH 100 YEAR CELEBRATION is coming to a close. Maybe not finished, nor would it ever be, but closed none the less. Pages were lovingly written, copied, compiled, and otherwise "wallered around" for your enjoyment. We all hope that you enjoy your book and will share with others your heritage. Special thanks need to go to Jeannie Williams, Pauline Abraham, Bobby Jack Spears, Mark Spears, Christy Spears and two little girls that have waited patiently while their Mom copied page after page. A special thanks also to the ones who dug up information and pictures to see these transformed into book form. A big thanks to two special family members, Madeline and Jo for their contribution to our book. What a shame that we did not do this while the others were still living. Read and enjoy and maybe years from now, another brave soul will update our book.
