The Common Ground

In the silent cemetery
Many friends have gone to wait
Until at last they all have gathered
There inside that unknown gate;
Friends and foes are likewise planted
In the sod, for all around
At last to all it will be granted:
They have come to Common Ground.

There the rich and poor together
Wait the day that ends all time;
Some for pleasures in Heaven's riches,
Some in sorrow of their crimes.
All at last do come together
In the sod, they all have found
That at last there is a place where All can come to Common Ground.

And the ones that there have gathered
No distinctions, all are poor.
For the treasures they have hoarded
Can't come in that narrow door.
Everything of worldly riches,
All big names of such renown,
Are behind and they have nothing
Save the sod and clay around.

So the poor as well as any Wait the end of time to bring
The accounts of all their lifetime
There before their God and King.
All together there in silence
No one great can there be found;
Each and all have come in muteness
To a final Common Ground.

Marion W. Davis

MOTHER LOVE

God surely knew the world would need

A gentle loving touch,

When He created mother love

That warms our hearts so much.

He must have known that children

Would need a guiding hand,

Someone who'd always be there

To care and understand.

God must have known our hearts would need

A special kind of cheer

When He endowed a mother's face

With smiles that would endear.

Of all the gifts that God does send

From His heavenly realm above,

There is none that is more precious

Than that of mother's love.
