

First off, I would like to thank everyone for being here today, to pay your respects to my Papaw Denny. He would be excited to see each and every one of you, who are here today to celebrate his life.

Whether you knew him as a Husband, Father, Grandfather, Brother, Uncle, or Friend I'm sure he made an impression on your life, in one way or another.

For me, He was a man I knew I could call if I needed anything. There were times when he dropped everything and changed his plans for the day to accommodate whatever need I had at the time.

Yet as I have grown older, served time in the military, worked through college and finally started a family of my own, it has become harder and harder to keep in touch, but he made it a point to call and check up on me every so often.

This final goodbye has come too soon and taken us all by surprise. If I could talk to you one more time, I would tell you that It warmed my heart to know you thought of me from time to time, whether it was a phone call or something you saw at a garage sale that you thought me or the boys might like, I appreciate the love you had in your heart.

Your presence here on earth will be missed, but I know one day in the future, we will meet again in heaven. Until then, I will pass your legacy down to my children and future grandchildren. I will miss you papaw and love you always. God rest your soul.
